Message from the Dean

I extend a warm welcome to commencing and continuing students in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Sydney. Students in this University are part of a “community of scholars”, a very long tradition which includes teachers and students in the circles of scholarship, teaching, learning and research. The Faculty of Arts embraces that long tradition, and adds to it a set of values and practices which reach out to the broader community, locally, nationally and internationally. The University does this through the talented students from a wide range of cultures and backgrounds who enrol in our courses with their aspirations to participate in an outstanding scholarly and vocational environment and to prepare themselves for careers and professions which are personally fulfilling and make a social contribution. Also, our academic staff continue their own active learning through their high level research and scholarship, making national and international linkages with their disciplines, professions, the arts, literary and media communities, with industry, government, community organisations, fulfilling our responsibilities as educators, researchers and in community service.

The Faculty of Arts is both a community of scholars within its walls, its lecture theatres, seminar and tutorial rooms, language laboratories, excellent University library and museums, and also an integral part of the wider community. As students in the Faculty of Arts you are undertaking studies in fields which are central to the social, cultural, linguistic and intellectual development of Australian society; indeed central to our living standards and quality of life. In choosing to study in the fields of the humanities, social sciences, languages, music, in the Bachelor of Arts degree, the Bachelor of Liberal Studies or in one of the Arts combined degrees with Law, Science, Commerce, Social Work, Music, Engineering or Theology, you have not only chosen fields of study imbued with the spirit of learning for its own intrinsic human, social and cultural values, but chosen studies which are as vocationally relevant as the more apparently professional fields of scholarship.

You will be aware that a dichotomy exists in popular thinking between, on the one hand, learning for its own intrinsic pleasure - the thirst for knowledge and understanding both of the contemporary world and of the past which has shaped our diverse cultures, languages, literatures, music and artistic expressions, and, on the other hand, learning which is seen as vocationally oriented. This is a mistaken, in fact dangerous dichotomy. Scholarship concerned with acquiring, understanding and applying knowledge, involving rigorous analysis and critical inquiry, interpretations of human life and our social and cultural interconnections, the development of new ideas and new ways of understanding and shaping our futures, is as relevant and “useful” in the worlds of employment in the professions, government, business, industry and the community services as are studies within designated professional boundaries. The contributions made and yet to be made by the intensive study of history, English and Australian literature, philosophy, European, Asian and Classical languages and cultures, social sciences, music and performing arts to the social and cultural development of Australia and our region are as significant as the contributions made by science, technology and commerce. It is the interconnections of all these fields of inquiry and endeavour which are necessary to ensure the best distribution of high living standards and the quality of social and cultural life to which we all aspire. As students you are participating therefore not only in a proud tradition, but in the creation of a vibrant future.

You are joining a body of about 6400 students, consisting of around 4800 undergraduates and 1600 postgraduates, with an academic staff of about 300 and 85 general staff. Students come from a diversity of backgrounds: Australian and overseas born, of English and non-English speaking backgrounds, domestic and international students, students of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander background, recent school leavers and older students who may have begun or completed other forms of vocational or higher education, with a range of employment experiences, all creating a richness in the student population which contributes to the scholarly debates in formal tutorials and seminars and in your informal discussions.
You will find that courses which you have the opportunity to study in your Arts degree are located not only within the departments and interdepartmental centres which are in the Faculty itself, but also in other departments outside of Arts, specifically in Science, Economics and Education. In this way, the University and its courses transcend boundaries, provide opportunities for studies in depth and in breadth, provide the chance for you to specialise in your preferred disciplinary fields of European, Asian, Middle Eastern or classical languages, history (ancient and modern), anthropology, philosophy, English, linguistics, sociology, art history and theory, music, archaeology, government, economics, mathematics, psychology, geography and others, and also to combine your interests in interdisciplinary programs like Women’s Studies, Aboriginal Studies, European Studies, Celtic Studies, Religious Studies and Performance Studies (amongst others). Your future may see you take a fourth year to do an honours degree, and the Faculty of Arts is proud of its advanced level courses which attract students who wish to undertake research in depth in their chosen field. Or you may take a second or combined degree, enter postgraduate research or course work in this or another university in Australia or overseas, move into a diverse and varied range of occupations and professions - and, we hope, set the pattern of “life-long learning” which adds such richness to life. On graduation you will join about 44000 Arts graduates in the wider community, who retain a sense of identification with the Faculty of Arts.

As a new student, how can you find your way around this large and widely dispersed Faculty? The Arts Faculty Office with its central administrative functions is located on the western side of the main University quadrangle. The office will link you to the central University and more particularly serve as an information framework for the various departments, schools and interdepartmental centres listed in this handbook, where lectures and tutorials and numerous informal meetings, academic and social, take place. To find your way, both in the geographic and the scholarly sense, heads of departments and other academic staff, departmental secretaries and other administrative staff are a mine of information about their own departments and much more. Staff in the Faculty Office are equally concerned to help you. There is a great deal of information in this Handbook about University and Faculty regulations and about departments, centres and interdisciplinary programs in the Faculty and the units of study which are the building blocks of your degree. If you are not clear about general regulations and degree structures it is best to write to or call at the Faculty Office, while questions about subjects and courses and how they fit together in both the scholarly and logistical sense are best addressed to the department or centre concerned. Personal matters which affect your studies may need to be addressed in writing to the Dean or one of the Associate Deans. The University Counselling Service is also available to help you with any difficulties which might arise in coping with the demands of university life.

I encourage you to participate in the life of your departments, in the clubs and societies of the Faculty and the wider University. Studying Arts, either in itself as a foundation for your career and possible further studies, or in combination with other professional degrees, offers a unique opportunity to become part of the community of scholars, to benefit from and contribute to the richness and vigour of its discussions and debates, to benefit from the excellence of the libraries and museums. The Faculty strives to offer a community of learning which is personally, socially and culturally enriching and professionally relevant for your future place in employment, continuing scholarship and community life.

Bettina Cass, Dean
2. Brief introduction to Undergraduate Degrees and Diplomas

Undergraduate degree courses

Bachelor of Arts, pass degree: three years full-time (part-time study is possible within the time-limit of ten years); 144 credit points, normally 48 junior (first-year) and 96 senior; including at least one major (32 senior credit points) from a subject in part A of the Table of Units of Study.

Bachelor of Arts with Honours: as for the pass degree, with an additional Honours year in one subject. Genuine part-time candidates may spread the Honours requirements over two successive years.

Bachelor of Arts (Asian Studies), pass degree: three years full-time (part-time study is possible within the time-limit of ten years); 144 credit points, normally 48 junior (first-year) and 96 senior; including one major (32 senior credit points) in an Asian language and one major in a designated Asian Studies subject area.

Bachelor of Arts (Asian Studies) with Honours: as for the pass Bachelor of Arts (Asian Studies) degree, with an additional Honours year in a designated Asian Studies subject area. Genuine part-time candidates may spread the Honours requirements over two successive years.

Combined degrees: in most of these, by combining the Bachelor of Arts with another degree, the requirements for the Arts component can be reduced by 48 credit points. Only the following combinations are possible:

- Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws
- Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Social Work
- Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science
- Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Commerce
- Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Theology
- Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Music
- Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Engineering

Bachelor of Liberal Studies (jointly offered by the Faculties of Arts and Science): In the Bachelor of Liberal Studies students will undertake a broad liberal education which emphasizes communication and problem-solving skills. The degree is jointly administered by the Faculties of Arts and Science. To qualify for the Bachelor of Liberal Studies students will complete 192 credit points over a minimum of four years. These 192 credit points will include:

- at least 120 credit points from units of study at the Senior and Intermediate levels
- at least one major in each of Arts and Science
- at least 28 credit points (16 of which must be from Intermediate or Senior level units of study) from subject areas in one language other than English.
- a six credit point unit of study in communication and analytical skills or in other academic skills as prescribed.
- a minimum of six credit points from units of study in Mathematics or Statistics.

An Arts major generally consists of 32 Senior units from Part A of the Table of units of studies as described in the regulations for the Bachelor of Arts degree. A Science major consists of a minimum of 8 Intermediate and 24 Senior credit points from a single Science Discipline area.

Units of study available in the Bachelor of Liberal Studies are selected from those available in the Bachelor of Arts and those available in the Bachelor of Science. In addition, up to 28 credit points from units of study offered by the Faculties of Architecture, Economics and Education and the Boards of Study in Music and Social Work, the Sydney College of the Arts and the Conservatorium of Music may be counted towards the degree.

Diplomas

The following diplomas require the completion of 44 credit points in one subject area, including at least 32 senior credit points. They can be completed by full-time or part-time study within the time limit of five years. Only Part A subjects (those taught by departments and schools under the supervision of the Faculty of Arts) can be taken. Candidature is available to enrolled undergraduates and to graduates.

- Diploma of Language Studies
- Diploma of Arts
- Diploma of Social Sciences

The following diploma is available to undergraduates and graduates who wish to undertake an intensive course at an Indonesian and Malayan university for a year but not wish to count the work to a Bachelor of Arts degree:

- Diploma in Indonesian and Malayan Studies.

Combined degrees

New students undertaking combined degree programs are encouraged to discuss their course choices with members of the academic staff and student advisers prior to enrolment. Leaflets are available from the Arts Faculty Office setting out further examples of programs.

BEGINNING THE BACHELOR OF ARTS: FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How do I qualify for the pass degree of Bachelor of Arts?

You complete 144 credit points (cp), normally over three years, including at least one Arts major.

How do I qualify for the Bachelor of Arts with Honours?

You complete the pass degree, followed by a fourth year of advanced study in one subject area.

What is meant by “credit points”?

Credit points (cp) are allotted to each unit of study (uos). A unit of study is a semester-length course in a particular subject-area requiring between two and six hours of class attendance. The number of credit points allotted to a unit of study is 3, 4, 6, 8 or 12.

Is a “unit of study” the same as a “course”?

In Handbooks from previous years the word “unit” seems to have meant the same as “credit point”!

From 1998 on, the University of Sydney has adopted the terminology recommended by the Commonwealth Department of Employment, Education, Training and Youth Affairs (DEETYA). You may find that the academic staff sometimes use the old terms.

What is the difference between “junior”, “intermediate” and “senior” units of study?

Junior units of study are normally taken in your first year, intermediate and senior units of study have the completion of junior units of study as an entry requirement. The term “intermediate” is applied to 2000 level units of study offered by the Faculty of Science. All 2000 and 3000 level units of study taken for the Bachelor of Arts count as senior credit points.
How many junior credit points must I complete?
You must enrol in at least 18 junior credit points in your first year, and in no more than 48 (if you are a Combined Law student, you enrol in Legal Institutions I and II, Legal Research and Writing and 36 junior
credit points).

Are there compulsory elements in the BA degree?
No, except that you must complete at least one major from a subject-area in Part A of the Table of Units of Study. The other units of study can be from either Part A or Part B. Part B includes units of study offered by the Faculties of Economics, Education, Law and Science.
As long as a major is completed in Part A, a major may also be completed in Part B within the overall 144 credit points. Only Combined Law students can take the Law units of study.

What is the Table of Units of Study?
The Table, published in the Arts Handbook, lists all the units of study which can be counted to the degree, including their enrolment code, official title, credit point value and entry requirements.

What is a major and how many majors should I take?
Most majors consist of 32 senior credit points in a subject-area. You will probably take two majors although a degree with three majors (or with only one) is possible. The majors will be shown on the testamur (your degree certificate presented at the graduation ceremony). You will also receive a certificate showing all the units of study you have passed, including majors in Part B subject-areas such as Psychology and Government.

How can I get advice about selecting subjects?
First, you should read the subject descriptions in the Arts Handbook.
The Arts Handbook also includes a section discussing the principles of subject selection (page ). When enrolling you will be able to talk to representatives of the departments and schools. The Faculty Office staff can help you plan the structure of your degree at any time.

Can I count units of study not listed in the Table?
In special circumstances you may apply to take units of study from other degree programs or even from other universities. Note that you will not be permitted to take units of study which are of a technical, commercial, business or purely vocational nature.

I have studied at a tertiary institution already. Can previous studies be credited?
In general previous university studies can be credited, provided that they are recent and have not been used for a qualification. Graduates of other faculties commencing candidature in 1998 may be eligible for some credit (this is a new policy and does not apply retrospectively to continuing or re-enrolling students).

I have other commitments (family, employment)
- can I take the degree part-time?
Yes, but you must attempt at least 18 junior credit points in the first year and thereafter 16 credit points per year. Only a few units of study are available in the evening. If you have very demanding commitments it may be better to transfer to distance education study, for example at the University of New England.

Is there a time limit?
You must complete all the degree requirements within ten years from the date of admission to candidature (if you start in 1998, you must have completed by the end of 2007). If you have credit points from previous study, the time is reduced appropriately.

Can I interrupt my studies to travel?
You can suspend for a year (usually this is for travel or in order to earn some money by full time work). If necessary, you can apply for a further year, but after this the candidature usually is considered to have lapsed and you will have to compete again for admission.

Arts was not my first preference. If I do well, can I get into another degree program with a higher entry mark?
Yes, but this will be competitive and subject to the admission requirements of the other degree program. It is realistic to assume you will be completing the BA.

What are my chances of success?
Excellent. You have received an offer because the University believes you are qualified to complete the degree. Problems could arise if you are unable or unwilling to give your studies some priority over other interests, commitments and worries. Even if you have these problems, there are many ways in which you can find help and support within the university (these are publicised during Orientation Week). It is worth emphasising here that if your first language is not English, or if you have specific learning problems, you should consult the Learning Assistance Centre.

Administrative Assistants: Mrs M. Cortes, Ms G. Rizakos, Mrs. V. Woo (Anthropology)

Aboriginal Studies is a multi-disciplinary unit aimed at providing students with an understanding of many issues relating to Australian Aboriginal society. Basic units of study and subject areas discussed include: Aboriginal societies and their cultures, economies and politics; the nature of European colonisation; the relationships between indigenous people and other Australians; health issues; Aboriginal histories; Aboriginal writing; relationship to the Australian justice system; religions; performing and visual arts; language and literature; archaeology and contemporary cultural heritage issues; and ethnographic issues.

In Semester 1, students take the introductory unit Aborigines in Australia (ABST 2001), which is a prerequisite for later units. It is also a corequisite for any additional unit students may choose to take in their first semester. In subsequent semesters they select from the other units on offer, completing at least three additional units for the Pass degree.

ABST 2001 Aborigines in Australia 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Tamisari
Prerequisite: 18 Junior credit points
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 lec/1 tut/wk
Assessment: 2 Essays, exam

The unit will focus on contemporary Aboriginal social life in the context of the wider Australian society. The interweaving and transformation of colonial and indigenous societies, the significance of Aborigines for the nation's identity, issues of Aboriginal identity, race relations and contemporary cultural forms such as music and art are some of the topics to be examined. In the second half of the semester the focus will be on cultural and social meanings of land in different Aboriginal traditions in Australia. Changing systems of knowledge, belief and practice will be discussed in relation to current debates about the place of Aborigines in the nation, with a particular focus on land rights. A series of films is offered as an optional extra. A number of Aboriginal speakers are part of the unit.

Social Anthropology

The Department of Anthropology offers units of study in the discipline of Social Anthropology. Social anthropology may be described as the study of human societies and cultures. Although it shares much of its theory and method with a wide range of social and humanistic disciplines, it remains distinct in its emphasis on comparison, in its interest in the full range of human social and cultural diversity, and in its use of prolonged fieldwork in small communities as its primary research method. While often associated with the study of small scale stateless societies, contemporary social anthropology is increasingly concerned with the investigation and analysis of modern nation states. Anthropology is also concerned with general issues of human cognition and communication, with religion, performance, semiotics and representation. Units of Study currently offered by the Department focus on various aspects of both Aboriginal and immigrant Australians, as well as a wide range of Asian, Pacific and other cultures and societies.

An arts degree with a substantial social anthropology content is especially recommended for those seeking recruitment into the diplomatic service, overseas aid projects or a variety of business or other organisations whose activities are dependent on recruiting personnel with some understanding of the cultures and social institutions of Australia's Asian and Pacific neighbours and trading partners. A major in social anthropology should also prove useful for prospective high-school teachers interested in teaching the HSC subject 'Society and Culture'. There are also increasing opportunities for good honours graduates in social anthropology for contract-type employment in connection with Aboriginal land claims. Finally, for those who proceed to successful postgraduate research and training there is a chance to compete for academic positions both in Australian and overseas universities and other tertiary institutions.

Advantageous combinations in the academic sphere include Anthropology and Asian Studies or Aboriginal Studies, and Anthropology with Philosophy, Sociology or History.

Location
The department office is at the south-west corner of the Main Quadrangle, down the stairs to one level below that of the quadrangle.

Noticeboards
All noticeboards are in and around the foyer. Students should note that there are two sets of notice boards relevant to each year of their course.

Registration
All students (including those repeating a unit of study and those not enrolled for a degree) are required to register with the Department by completing a registration card.

All students should register with the Department during the orientation period, if they have not done so earlier.

Students who for any reason have not registered with the Department by the first day of classes should do so on that day.

Students will also need to register for tutorials. Announcements as to procedures will be made in the first lecture of the year and posted on the appropriate noticeboard.

Advice on courses
Members of staff are normally present among faculty advisers during enrolment week and in September/October for pre-enrolment, and many staff members are available during the orientation period. If students want to see a staff member before the year begins, they should apply to the Department office.

Assessment
Exact details of the methods of assessment to be used and the balance between them will be given in the unit of study outlines distributed at the beginning of the year.

Unit of Study Structure
Social Anthropology ANTH 1001 to 1004 are semester length Junior units of six credit points value. A combination of either ANTH 1001 in Semester One and ANTH 1002 in Semester Two or ANTH 1003 in Semester One and ANTH 1004 in Semester Two (twelve credit points in total) is a prerequisite for all other anthropology units. ANTH 2000 level units are one semester Senior units. ANTH 2001 to 2009 are eight credit point units. ANTH 2101 to 2109 are four credit point units. There are also two units, ANTH 2501 and 2502, especially designed for students intending to major in Social Anthropology. ANTH 2500 level units are a pool of four credit point options designed for students who are considering proceeding to fourth year honours. These include ANTH 3950 level units that have a specific regional focus. These are semester length units taking the form of a two-hour weekly seminar.

As a prerequisite for 3900 level units students must have completed at least sixteen credit points of senior level Social Anthropology units including either ANTH 2501 or ANTH 2502. Students are advised that only those with a credit average in senior level Anthropology should consider attempting ANTH 3900 level units.

Candidates for the Pass B.A. Degree may count up to 76 credit points from Social Anthropology towards degree requirements. A major in Social Anthropology will require passes in units of study totalling at least 32 credit points at Senior level including at least one of ANTH 2501 and ANTH 2502.

To proceed to Fourth Year Honours, students must have a Credit average in Senior level Anthropology units totalling at least 48 credit points. These units must include ANTH 2501, ANTH 2502 and four ANTH 3900 level units, including at least one ANTH 3950 level regional unit.
ANTH 1001 Intro to Anthropology
6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Lewis/Dr Mimica
May not be counted with: ANTH 1003 OR ANTH 1004
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: Five written assignments and Two, 2 hour exams

The first year unit is designed to introduce students to the concepts, methods and theories developed by social anthropologists in seeking some understanding of the immense variety of human social and cultural forms. Students take all of the following components:

Discoveries in Anthropology
This section is a general introduction to the unit. It asks how scholars in the western world became interested in other cultures and describes how they set about studying them through the fieldwork method and the formulation of concepts and theories that enable them to compare and contrast.

Myth, Cosmos and Shamanism In the Amazon
This unit deals with the phenomenon of shamanism as a classic subject of ethnographic inquiry and theoretical formulations in anthropology, history of religions, and psychoanalysis. Among these, the major and most productive positions are critically assessed through a detailed examination of selected ethnographic case-studies of several Amazonian Indian societies. The unit will also demonstrate the distinctiveness of anthropological understanding that derives from the radical character and critical epistemological potential of ethnographic research.

ANTH 1002 Intro to Anthropology
6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Feil/Dr Kondos
May not be counted with: ANTH 1004 OR ANTH 1003
When Offered: July
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: Five written assignments and Two, 2 hour exams

Gender in Melanesia: Digging for the Roots of Gender Differences
This first year unit will explore gender difference in Melanesia with special reference to Papua New Guinea. The accentuated gender dichotomies of the PNG world offer a telling counter-point to many of our own ideas of gender and students will enter this gendered world through attempts anthropologists have made to unearth and analyse these fascinating differences. Readings will include the classics, the reanalyses and the recent in both the 'traditional societies and in contemporary contexts.

Some Women's issues In Hindu Communities
The lecturers take as their major concern certain women's issues propelled through ways of living together in Hindu communities. These issues include conceptions of women as 'gifts', as 'forms of the goddess', as 'satirists', women as 'activists' and so forth. Anthropological and cognate literature will be addressed as well as relevant ethnographic films.

ANTH 1003 Intro to Anthropology
6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof Austin-Broos/Dr Maclean
May not be counted with: ANTH 1001 OR ANTH 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: Five written assignments and Two, 2 hour exams

The first year unit is designed to introduce students to the concepts, methods and theories developed by social anthropologists in seeking some understanding of the immense variety of human social and cultural forms. Students take all of the following components:

Introduction
The section is a general introduction to the unit. It positions anthropology among other western disciplines and explores scholars' interest in forms of social and cultural difference. Lectures will address fieldwork and textual studies and discuss their place in the study of culture and society.

Exchange and Social Difference in Melanesia
In his classic essay, The Gift, Marcel Mauss presented a radical argument for the primacy of exchange as the foundation of social life. The first section of this unit aims to explore the Maussian tradition of the analysis of exchange in a Melanesian context. It will be organised around three central themes: exchange as the constitution of sociality; the moral basis of exchange; the politics at the heart of exchange.

The unit will explore these issues through the examination of one system of ceremonial exchange in the central highlands of Papua New Guinea. The second part of the unit will then focus on an undeveloped aspect of the Maussian position — exchange not only creates relationships but is founded on, and creates, differences. In the study of Melanesia, which is characterised by extreme cultural and linguistic diversity, this is a primary concern. The second section of the unit will explore the relationship between the value of exchange and kin, cultural, linguistic and gender forms of difference.

These issues will be explored through the study of one of the more extensive systems of trade/ceremonial exchange in coastal or island Melanesia.

Cultural Politics In Postcolonial Singapore
An interesting aspect of the current debate on postcoloniality is its reworking of the anti-colonial discourses of the past, evoking again the cultural necessity of contesting Western hegemony. In East Asia, postcolonial contestation is nurtured by the political confidence that comes with economic growth and regional peace. How does the sense of "Asian triumphalism" gel with a discourse which continues to play on the theme of a victimised Asian positionality and subjectivity?

The unit will be an introductory exploration of the question of "East Asian postcoloniality". Over the past decade, Singapore has been in the forefront in the denunciation of the continuing influence of Western cultural imperialism. The traditional Western liberal concepts of human rights and democracy, it is argued, has to be inscribed "from an Asian point of view". The result is not so much a virulent turning against the West, as a construction of "Asian modernity" which takes on practices and discourses of Western capitalism by replanting them within an "Asian location".

Ethnicity & National Belonging in Australia
This unit is an introduction to the anthropological study of national and ethnic identification in Australia, and the relation between the two. It will highlight the contribution that anthropology can make to the study of issues of relevance in contemporary Australian society. The unit will cover three areas of study:

The first part will deal with the significance of national belonging in everyday life: Saying something like 'we in Australia are like this ...' or 'we don't like that...' appears as something ordinary. Yet how do people manage to use this 'we'. Clearly not everyone can. The unit will show how anthropology can help us research and understand the significance of the various ways in which this national 'we' is used.

The second part of the unit deals with the anthropology of migration and migrant settlement. We will concentrate on the processes through which migrants adapt themselves to becoming part of Australian society. We will particularly examine how migrants negotiate their double belonging to Australia and to their countries of birth.

The final part of the unit deals with inter-ethnic relations and in particular the relations between migrants and established Australians. Here we will examine issues that are often covered by the media such as the debates around Australian multiculturalism and immigration, and the nature of extreme-right Nationalism. The unit will highlight the significance of the contribution that anthropological research can make in allowing a less sensationalist discussion of the issues debated.

Papua New Guinea is Australia's nearest neighbour and former colony. The histories of the two nations have been intimately related since Australia's own escape from colonial status through federation. Papua New Guinea today is a region of extraordinary, if frequently disconcerting, political and cultural vitality. The stamp of a radical cultural distinctiveness and diversity remains unmistakable. But Papua New Guineans have also taken the material, cultural and political legacies of Australian colonialism and refashioned them to their own ends and in new contexts. Four wheel drive vehicles become objects of ceremonial exchange; Christian mythology is reworked in the form of 'cargo cults'; Local Government Councils become the new battle grounds of clan politics. The results are often unsettling to the Western imagination and its imperial assumptions. At the same time the legitimacy, power, and, indeed, the future of the Papua New Guinea state is currently a persistent subject of fear, speculation (in all senses of the term) and uncertainty. Characterised as a 'weak state', it frequently lacks authority and even a coherent presence at the local level. Pervasive complaints about a lack of 'services' and the break down of 'law and order' mark this absence. The first half of this unit will examine the history of Australian colonial rule in the light of the current vitality and uncertainty of all levels of Papua New Guinean politics. The importance of the colonial exploitation of Papua New Guinean land and labour forms a central theme of this history. At the same time the unit will demonstrate that colonial rule was founded on a fundamental contradiction. On the one hand the Australian Administration sought to transform the lives of Papua New Guineans and establish fundamentally new and alien forms of political and economic relationships. On the other hand it was a form of rule dependent on the preservation of local forms of power and social organisation radically at odds with these new political and economic goals. The continuing significance of the gift in Papua New Guinean social life and its contradictory relationship with processes of commoditisation will form a central theme of this argument. The unit includes detailed discussion of the frontier periods of first contact and their legacy for the colonial era. The second half of the unit concerns a number of dimensions of contemporary Melanesia often seen as indicative of social decay in media and commonsense depictions of countries in the region. Topics include: contemporary social inequality, including gender relations; the problematic aspects of contemporary political power in what are now independent nation-states; the emergence of small-scale regional ethnic and/or political identities which may form part of antagonistic relations between local communities and the state; urbanisation; and the impact of mining and other forms of large-scale development projects. Comprehending contemporary conflict and violence will be a theme running through these various concerns. Topics such as the so called resurgence of tribal fighting in Highland Papua New Guinea, the persisting role of sorcery and sorcery accusations; domestic violence; the rise and exploits of what are known as rascals—gangs of young men engaged in criminal activities; resistance to mining and other projects—best typified but not exclusive to the Bougainville crisis; and conflict stemming from the impact of legal and political systems largely derived from Western societies on non-Western socio-cultural forms. Unlike the simplicity of most media and commonsense explanations, the unit will examine the complexities of these issues in their historical setting.

ANTH 2006 Chinese Modernity: The Unfinished Project

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Yao
Prerequisite: ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: 2 essays, exam

This unit deals with epistemological and ontological problems within a hermeneutical framework of existential phenomenology and psychoanalysis. Two areas are explored: (1) the constitution and nature of inter-subjectivity as the ground of human sociality (from Hegel to Elias); (2) Jean-Paul Sartre's interpretation of human social relationships. Note: not recommended for good citizens and beautiful souls.

ANTH 2008 The Rise of Papua New Guinea Societies

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Fell
Prerequisite: ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
When Offered: July
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: 2 essays, exam

This unit will discuss the 'rise' of Papua New Guinea Societies from 10,000 years ago to the present. Recent archaeological perspectives will set the scene; ethnographic film will be employed to give a glimpse of the present. Classic literature will be used as well as innovative approaches to a wide range of ethnographic issues.

  - Prasad, Gopal. 1993. 'The Third World' is as ambiguous a concept as it is part of our everyday language. This unit explores this ambiguity which might be briefly identified as follows: 'the Third World' is seen in the West as a domain of poverty, oppression and deprivation at the same time as it is often seen in the popular consciousness as a reservoir of wisdom, which we have lost in our helter skelter materialism. It is seen (by business) as a source of cheap labour and resources at the same time as it is regarded as being the market of the future. And, of course, markets depend upon people having spending power. It is seen as a region of the passive and inarticulate at the same time as the wealthy nations fear its 'irrational' political movements and sense its potential power — represented, for instance, in Muslim resurgence.
Anthropology 2103 Gender in Cross-Cultural Perspective
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Nihill
Prerequisite: ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week

This course explores the construction of gender and sexuality cross-culturally. Tribal societies are the major ethnographic focus, with greatest attention given to Melanesian and, to a lesser extent African cultures through comparison with aspects of sexuality and gender in western society. The central concern is the relation of gender and sexuality to various biological themes. This begins with questioning the assumption that gender and sexuality are 'natural', that is, stemming from innate biological and psychological predispositions. The focus then shifts to the complex interrelations of sexuality, gender and power with the cultural construction of meaning. The way female and male bodies and minds are shaped through ritual dominates this theme, with comparison to non-rutual contexts such as gifts exchange used to highlight particularity. Gender and sexuality are thus considered with respect to wider political, economic and historical forces, together with how meaningful social action is culturally articulated. While most interest is directed to the relations of power and meaning to the body and bodily processes, wider dimensions of power and the role of social relations will also be explored.

Anthropology 2104 Cultures after Colonialism - The Caribbean
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Austin-Broos
Prerequisite: ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: 1 essay, exam

Lectures will explore how Caribbean people of African descent, and especially Jamaicans, constitute life as meaningful in a New World environment influenced by both Britain and North America as well as their west African heritage. Particular attention will be given to the 'culture of race' or 'colour-shade' in Jamaica and to Rastafarianism and other religious forms that engage and/or articulate a racialized world. The unit will address the plural society debate, structural and discourse analysis of race, and in what way various varieties of dualism specify Caribbean society.

When Offered: July
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: 1 essay, exam

Lectures will explore four major interpretations of postcolonial Aboriginal culture: structures of domination, the historical constitution of resistance, the practice of cultural continuity, and the symbolic construction of pan-Aboriginal identity. Particular attention will be given to transformations in Aboriginal forms of relatedness, and to the objectifications involved in a culture becoming part of a larger polity. Overall, the unit considers the issues involved in 'culture' being understood as historical experience rather than, simply, ontological fact.

When Offered: July
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: 1 essay, exam

The first section will consist of a review of the different forms of ethnographic film in terms of the following themes:
(a) The tension between the narrative and the visual in film, including the difference between the visual and the textual as modes of representation.
(b) The relationship between subject of film, film maker and audience.
(c) What is an ethnographic film? Should ethnographic film be considered in terms of the more general debate about documentary film.

When Offered: July
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: 1 essay, exam

This section explores the structures of dominance and subordination in Thailand, Burma, Laos and southwestern China. It will show how actual structures are an outcome of an interplay between Buddhist, Hindu, Confucian and Western notions, and how competition between rival centres and resistances from peripheries are enacted through appeal to complex reconstitution of these discourses. A significant part of this section will explore the consequences of the recent re-emergence of China as an economic and political actor in the region.

Anthropology 2108 Old & New Debates in Aboriginal Studies
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Tamisari
Prerequisite: ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
When Offered: July
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: 1 essay, exam

The unit will offer a historical as well as a critical assessment of the theoretical and methodological approaches in the writings and monographs which focus on early and contemporary debates on Aboriginal kinship, religion, conception, gender, social organisation, politics, economics, representation, land tenure and land rights. Attention will be given to the ways in which the meaning of country, Aboriginal Law, and land tenure have been recognised or disregarded in the context of development policies, Land Rights and Native Title legislation. The unit aims to trace the development of anthropological understanding of Aboriginal societies, and to explore the insights and limitations of various theoretical and ethnographic approaches.

Assessment: 2 essays and exam

During the first sixty years of this century two relatively small groups of anthropologists created the innovative and very powerful forms of analysis which are now called social and cultural anthropology. In both cases the aim was explicitly modernist: to provide forms of explanation congruent with explanations in the social sciences.

The first section of this unit deals with the basic methodological and interpretive tools that define the social anthropological project which were developed by Africanists during the heyday of British structural-functionalism. This series of lectures is designed to introduce students to these core concepts and techniques through the ethnographic work of some of the seminal figures in African anthropology: E. Evans-Pritchard (Zande witchcraft and notions of magical agency); Nuer time - ecological and social); Meyer Fortes (the Tallensi - lineage theory, ancestors, Oedipus and Job); Audrey Richards (Bemba initiation); Max Gluckman (Southern Africa - rituals of rebellion and legal processes); The Rhodes-Livingstone Institute use of genealogical and case-history methods); Jack Goody (Northern Ghana - African systems of succession and inheritance); African Systems of kinship, friendship, and marriage (some key issues). Lectures will also cover structuralist and other approaches to African worldviews: Victor Turner (Ndembu-liminality, communings and rites of passage); Mary Douglas (the Lele and taboo); Collin Turnbull (BalMuli cosmology and economy); John Middleton (Lucy bats myth and moral community); Marcel Grcaius (Dogon cosmology); Robin Horton (African traditional thought and Western science).

The second section will examine the emergence of cultural anthropology in the U.S.A. In particular, we will address the continuing dialogue between evolutionary and anti-evolutionary proponents in the rise and definition of culture and the position of cultural anthropology versus social anthropology as practised in Great Britain and elsewhere. From these starting points, we will move on to look at modern theories of culture including 'cultural materialism', 'cultural ecology', and 'interpretive anthropology' among others.

ANTH 2502 Theory and Ethnography
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Nihill
Prerequisite: ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
When Offered: July
Classes: 3 lectures & 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: 2 essays and exam

The aim of the unit is to examine the relation between theory and ethnography in anthropology. The central focus examines debates concerning the way history is variously incorporated in anthropological considerations of socio-cultural reproduction and transformation. By examining what 'history' may mean, the central problem is how to reconcile human consciousness to historical manifestations of power in their social and cultural setting. One aspect of this necessarily concerns how people experience and may conceptualise their histories which does not necessarily equate with an external or 'objective' perspective. The importance of both extraneous and local criteria will be given high profile. Local cultural formations are both a product of wider forces and frame their impact. While such a topic has been dominated by colonial and post-colonial situations, one important dimension is that local cultures themselves have historical profiles, with anthropology offering a number of studies of the internal processes and dynamics of relatively autonomous peoples. Examining the range of problems raised in historical anthropology will also see how anthropology has dealt with change throughout its own history. Classic and contemporary ethnographic material from Africa, South America, and Oceania will be discussed.

ANTH 3901 Social Anthropology of Pierre Bourdieu
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Hage
Prerequisite: 1. ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
2. ANTH 2501 OR ANTH 2502
3. An additional 8 credit points of ANTH OR ABST
When Offered: July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: one 4000 word essay

The unit will introduce students to the analytical apparatus of Pierre Bourdieu. Some central writings of Bourdieu will be closely read and his key concepts of field, cultural capital, class, habitus, strategy and symbolic violence, will be explained in the context of the specific social processes they aim to elucidate.

Through the readings we will evaluate Bourdieu's reflexivity, his critical approach to the production of social scientific knowledge. We will also examine his attempt at a practical (that is, in the process of research practice) transcendence of some classical oppositions in the social science between structure and agency, objectivity and subjectivity, the analysis of the culture of the self (Sociology) and the analysis of the culture of the other (Anthropology).

ANTH 3902 Confucian Capitalism: Discourse, Practice, Desire
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Yao
Prerequisite: 1. ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
2. ANTH 2501 OR ANTH 2502
3. An additional 8 credit points of ANTH OR ABST
When Offered: July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: one 4000 word essay
The discourse of so-called “Chinese or Confucian capitalism” is closely associated with recent economic growth in East Asia, particularly South China and Southeast Asia where Overseas Chinese interests dominate. This new form of capitalism is being presented by the state like Singapore as an alternative development paradigm especially for neighbouring societies ruled by “Asian values”. At the same time, academics in political science and business management are increasingly evoking “Confucian capitalism” as a means of understanding the management and organization of Chinese business.

This unit will examine the major texts of writers like Gordon Redding and others who draw on the essentialized and historical conception of Chinese culture in their formulation of the economic model. In the critique of Confucian capitalism, students will be guided in their reading of the ethnographic studies of the Chinese family firm in order to illustrate the variation of business practices and the diverse contexts in which they take place.

The fact that Confucian capitalism has been taken up by interests as far-ranging as the Singapore government and Western academia also leads to the question of desire and political interest. The seminar will be devoted to deconstructing the discourse by showing its implicit Orientalism in the imagining of the perfect “Chinese way.”

ANTH 3910 Culture and its Critics III 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof Austin-Broos
Prerequisite: 1. ANTH 1001 & ANTH 1002 OR ANTH 1003 & ANTH 1004
2. ANTH 2501 OR ANTH 2502
3. An additional 8 credit points of ANTH OR ABST
When Offered: March
Classes: one 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: one 4000 word essay

The unit will address some contemporary accounts of a holistic culture concept and then consider the critique of that concept in anthropologies concerned with colonialism, and with an emerging ‘global’ world. Topics for discussion will include (i) alternative ways in which to write histories of colonial and postcolonial engagement; and (ii) the relation between culture and the constitution of place. Anthropologists discussed will include Geertz, Sahlins, Wolf, Taussig, Comaroff and Marovich, Said, Clifford, Asad, Appadurai, Hannerz, and Miller.

The spaces on maps — the nations, the regions — are not given by nature, they are constructions of human society. So too are the spaces of private property, the home, the city, and ‘personal space’. These are all concrete expressions of the metaphysical and ideological constructions.

The way in which claims over space are acted out in everyday life (varying from the inter-personal to the inter-national level) are fundamental in human social existence. This course takes as central David Harvey’s critique of postmodernism, and will look also at writers like Lefebvre, Bourdieu, de Certeau and Foucault. As these are all Western thinkers, the course will assess their value when looking at Asian constructions of space.

Recent interest in theories (and practices) which refugire or mediate the mind/body distinction, so long dominant in Western academia, have abounded in many disciplines in the last twenty years. An initial interest in bodies and conceptions of bodies has given way, in many cases, to a focus on the process of human embodiment, seen as an existential or ontological problem. This unit will examine a spectrum of approaches to embodiment (especially European and American phenomenologies, but also poststructuralist and feminist ideas) which have been applied to human interactions and performances in a range of sociocultural settings. A serious engagement with these approaches will lead to a problematics of the theory-practice dichotomy itself, a timely issue in anthropology, performance studies, and many interdisciplinary projects.

Readings will be drawn from the work of such scholars as: Marcel Mauss, Maurice Leenhardt, Unni Wikan, Thomas Csordas, Michael Jackson, David Howes, Bryan Turner, Judith Butler, Drew Leder, and Edward Casey.

2. ANTH 2501 OR ANTH 2502
3. An additional 8 credit points of ANTH OR ABST
When Offered: March
Classes: one 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: one 4000 word essay

The unit aims to explore key themes in the anthropology of Melanesia (such as: kinship, exchange, gender, cosmology) but it should be clearly understood that this will be done through a detailed and critical reading of a selection of Melanesian ethnography. The aim is not to demonstrate these concepts but to explore the social and cultural reality that anthropologists have attempted to grasp through them.

3. An additional 8 credit points of ANTH OR ABST
When Offered: March
Classes: one 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 4000 word essay

This unit is about emotions and aesthetic experiences and how these may bear on social practices. It will examine certain Western, Hindu and Buddhist formulations which deal with these. One of the major concerns of the unit will be to explore the ways in which emotions may figure in the everyday practices of the different cultural contexts.

Honours Thesis

Prerequisite: 4001 and two of the following: 4002, 4003, 4004
When Offered: March
Assessment: The thesis should consist of 15,000-20,000 words which count for 35% of the year's mark.

All students are required to write a thesis as well as undertake coursework. Students should have their thesis topic approved by a supervisor before beginning detailed work on it; they may be required to present a preliminary paper on their topic at a seminar during the year. It should be noted that, in determining the class of honours finally awarded, primary attention is given to a student’s performance in Social Anthropology IV, and that no student will be downgraded because of poorer results in earlier years.

Ancient History

We teach the discipline of history and use it to offer undergraduate and postgraduate students at all levels a wide range of units on the history of the ancient Near Eastern, Greek, Roman and early post-Roman and Byzantine civilisations. We look at the evidence for this world: literature; documents on stone, metal, clay, wood or papyrus; coins; visual images and material sources. We use various historical approaches to try to recover the past in a way that is meaningful to the present. You can do as many units of Ancient History as you wish in a full sequence towards a BA degree, or you can do as little as one or two units as part of a degree specialising in something else, such as Archaeology or Fine Arts or Commerce or Law or almost anything. Ancient History units can be combined with other units in History (which is a separate subject) to make up a major in History.

Knowledge of an ancient language (Greek, Latin or a Semitic language such as Hebrew or Arabic) is not necessary for a full sequence of undergraduate units in Ancient History, but it is desirable and if you have a particular interest in Ancient History you should consider taking an ancient language among your first year units.

If you wish to do Ancient History IV Honours, you will need to have knowledge of an ancient language by your third year and to complete ANHS 2901 & ANHS 2902. Consult members of the Ancient History staff about the pre- or corequisites for Honours and what is involved in an Honours course.

Location

Ancient History staff are to be found on the 7th Floor of the Mungo MacCallum Building. Students may also contact Ms Robyn Doohan in Room 136, Mungo MacCallum (phone 9351 2156).

Noticeboard

This is on the 7th floor of the Mungo MacCallum Building between rooms 734 and 735.

Registration

There is no separate departmental registration apart from Faculty enrolment. Consult the noticeboard for the time and place of lectures and tutorials.

Junior level

Junior Units introduce the interaction of ideas and socio-political structures in the Near East, Greece and Rome. While they are complete in themselves, they also serve as a foundation for later study and units. You may take a single semester, but you should take both semester units if you want a proper feel for the varieties and similarities across these ancient societies.

When Offered: March
Classes: (2-3 lec and 1 tut/wk, semester 1
Assessment: one 1000w tut paper, one 2000w essay, one 1.5 hr exam

a) Death and Glory: the Hero in the Ancient World
Stories about heroes - their actions, thoughts, struggles, achievements - will be used as a window on the aspirations and values of the diverse cultures in the ancient Near Eastern and Classical worlds, particularly as they reflect the search for glory and the meaning of death, by such heroes as the Mesopotamian Gilgamesh, Sinuhe of Egypt, Saul and David of Israel, the Greek Achilles and the Roman Aeneas.

b) Power and Persuasion in Julio-Claudian Rome
Rome under the Julio-Claudian emperors saw the development of autocratic and imperial power. Its success lay in the elaboration of a language of power in both literary and visual terms alongside other strategies to persuade different elements of the population to accept the power of the emperor and of the Roman state. We shall examine the success and the failure of contemporary mechanisms of persuasion.

ANHS 1002 Power and Persuasion: Near East & Greece

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Weeks, Dr Welch
Prerequisite: None
When Offered: July
Classes: (2-3 lec and 1 tut/wk.
Assessment: one 1000w tut paper, one 3000w essay, one 3 hr. exam

c) Power and Persuasion in the Ancient Near East
Do the images of rampaging pharaoh in his chariot or the brutal Assyrian conquerors mean that these states had no idea of the subtleties of what today is called propaganda? Even if that were so, what of other societies like Israel and the Hitties? Examples from the Near East of the second Millennium B.C. show the varieties in relating ideas of religion and political order to socio-political life and also the similarity of the problems each faced.

d) Power and Persuasion in Greece
The Greeks were familiar with absolute power. It lived on their doorstep in the form of the Persian Empire. Every Greek knew that, whatever system an individual state adopted, it was not like Persia. But what was it then? How did the Greeks look at themselves and the ways they were governed? In the Fifth Century, individuals and states in Greece were supremely conscious of power. Sparta controlled other states as well as her own population; Athens controlled a tribute-paying empire. How did each of these states persuade itself and others that the power they exercised was legitimate? Who was and was not convinced? We will explore these questions through discussing institutions such as religion, military and social organisation, education and politics as well as the works of the historians, playwrights, artists, orators and philosophers who lived with, thought about, and commented on the powerful and the powerless in their own societies.

Discussing institutions such as religion, military and social organisation, education and politics as well as the works of the historians, playwrights, artists, orators and philosophers who lived with, thought about, and commented on the powerful and the powerless in their own societies.
ANHS 2001 Roman Imperialism: a Special Case? 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Martin Stone
Prerequisite: 12 Junior Credit Points of Ancient History or History or Economic History or 12 Credit Points of Ancient History/Classical Civilisation
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lec/1 tut per week
Assessment: one 3hr exam, one 3000w essay, one 1000w tut paper; 50% classwork, 50% exam

The empire of Rome made the Mediterranean World one. How did a single city win this controlling position? What were the experiences of Rome's predecessors (Sparta, Athens, Carthage...) and why did a city-state of the same order make the breakthrough which they did not? Material factors (military, demographic and economic) are balanced against imperial concepts (glory, service, faith and majesty) and the question posed: is this universal empire best seen as an achievement of conquest, an economic imperative or a world-community being formed? How applicable are our findings to other empires at other times or was Rome historically conditioned and unique.

ANHS 2002 History As They Saw It: the Near East 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Weeks
Prerequisite: 12 Junior Credit Points of Ancient History or History or Economic History or 12 Credit Points of Ancient History/Classical Civilisation
When Offered: March
Classes: (2 lec & 1 tut)/wk.
Assessment: one 3hr exam, one 2500w essay, two 750w tut papers; 50% classwork, 50% exam

The various schools of historiography in the Ancient Near East formed distinctive accounts of their own history. They are therefore a source not only for that history but also for religious, political and social concepts in their time. This course will seek to elucidate the Mesopotamian, Egyptian, Hebrew and Hittite historical perspectives. There will be consideration of the problems we face in trying to understand the mentality of another era.

ANHS 2003 Ancient Greek Democracy 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr O'Neil
Prerequisite: 12 Junior Credit Points of Ancient History or History or Economic History or 12 Credit Points of Ancient History/Classical Civilisation
When Offered: July
Classes: (1 lec & 1 tut)/wk.
Assessment: one 3hr exam or equivalent, one 3,000w essay, one 1000w tut paper; 50% classwork, 50% exam

Studies the rise and working of democracy in ancient Greece, concentrating on Athens from the time of Solon to the fourth century B.C., and looking at Chios, Syracuse, Rhodes and Achaia for comparison. We shall examine political institutions and social history, considering the role of such things as theatre, festivals and law and the lives of individuals, both the elite and the "forgotten people" such as women and slaves.

ANHS 2004 Pagans and Christians in the Roman World 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Brennan
Prerequisite: 12 Junior Credit Points of Ancient History or History or Economic History or 12 Credit Points of Ancient History/Classical Civilisation
When Offered: July
Classes: (2 lec & 1 tut)/wk.
Assessment: one 3hr exam or equivalent, one 3000w essay, one 1000w tut paper; 50% classwork, 50% exam

Examines religious beliefs, practices and associated values in the Roman world of the first four centuries AD, comparing pagans and Christians both in their personal and their civic/state religion. It highlights both similarities and differences in attitudes, experiences, aspirations and the general link between religion and society. It also looks at conversion and the mechanisms of religious change. What difference did Christianity make to the individual or to the state.

ANHS 2901 Ancient Historians Rethink History I 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Weeks
Prerequisite: Credit in 24 Senior credit points of Ancient History or History including ANHS 2901 & 2902 or HIST 2901 & 2902 Prereq (additional): Latin B101 or Greek B101 or equivalent
When Offered: March
Classes: one 2 hr seminar/week,
Assessment: 3000w seminar paper; participation in seminars

The main aim of these units is to prepare students for Honours in either Greek, Roman or Near Eastern History. This involves two semesters of 4 corequisite units in either a Greek or a Roman or a Near East option. It is possible to take some units separately, if you have the prerequisites or corequisites, but all 4 units in the relevant option are necessary to qualify you for entry to Honours.

In 52 Cleopatra VII inherited royal power in Egypt; in 49 Caesar crossed the Rubicon. Pompey's decision to move the Roman civil war to the East and Antony's need for a power base against Octavian ensured that Roman and Hellenistic history were inseparably linked for the next twenty years. This course studies the crises in the Mediterranean world from both points of view and seeks to understand how its two extremes affected each other. Only by following the Romans to the East will we understand the mechanics of their civil wars and the deep-seated changes which resulted from them. How did different societies react to the pressure of war? What role did the Hellenistic world play in shaping the consciousness of the victors as to what Rome was and what it was not? This period, with its richness of textual, architectural, numismatic and epigraphic sources, lets us employ a range of evidence and approaches in order to develop skills in historical research and analysis.

The image conveyed by the Assyrians themselves was one of brutality combined with great energy and efficiency. To understand the impact of their march to empire one must understand how they themselves portrayed it. This unit of study is designed to lead students to an understanding of a significant imperialism through reading Assyrian texts. It will concentrate upon laying the background both in terms of the general history of the region and theories of imperialism.

ANHS 3922 Assyrian Imperialism II

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Weeks

For further information see 'History IV Honours' under the Department of History section.

ANUS 3925

This is a senior level Classical Civilisation core unit of study.

The aim is to examine the roles and images of women as significant elements of ancient Greek and Roman society. It is of relevance not only to students specialising in the ancient world, but to anyone interested in exploring the origins of western attitudes towards women.

A study of the contradiction embedded in ancient societies between their images of women and the realities of women's lives leads to a more critical and clearer understanding of social structures and cultural life throughout history.

The unit of study focuses on four major periods: (1) early Greece; (2) fifth-century Athens; (3) the Hellenistic period; (4) Rome in the late Republic and early Empire. Topics to be discussed include women's daily life; legal status; male attitudes towards women and their role in society; the sexuality of women; women in religion; the role of myth in reinforcing gender hierarchy; role models; women in tragedy; the political influence of women in Rome. A variety of source materials is employed: literary texts, visual arts, legal documents, medical writings, inscriptions. These materials complement each other to form a general picture: in Rome, for instance, while literary texts provide evidence mainly for the women and the attitudes of the upper class, there are also abundant tombstone inscriptions which shed light on women of all ranks, including those of slave and freed-woman status.

CLCV 2301 Women in Ancient Greece and Rome
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr P Watson
Prerequisite: As for Classical Civilisation senior level.
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lec & one 1 hr seminar/wk.
Assessment: one 3hr exam, one 3000w essay, one 1000w seminar paper

This is a senior level Classical Civilisation core unit of study.

The plays of Classical Greece and Rome were written for performance, not reading, and any proper appreciation of them needs to take into account the conditions and style of performance. This unit of study aims to examine these and related issues such as the function of theatrical performance in ancient society and the reception of theatre.

It has been argued that no stage directions survive that go back to the original productions, and there are good reasons for this since the playwrights were normally also the producers.

The evidence for style of production therefore rests in the surviving texts themselves and in archaeological material that may be taken to represent actors and their masks. The unit of study surveys these categories of evidence and examines their reliability as sources. It also looks at the possibilities for staging of a number of extant plays.

Greek, Ancient

The study of Ancient Greek focuses mostly on Classical Greek, with some coverage also of the post-Classical period. Initial emphasis is placed on mastery of the language, and study of the literature and other aspects of Greek civilisation is approached primarily through the reading of texts, but the more advanced units provide an opportunity for study in greater depth of selected areas of Greek language, literature, history and philosophy.

Location
The lecturers in Ancient Greek are to be found on the east side of the Main Quadrangle in the region of the Clock Tower (for room numbers, see the Greek noticeboard). The Greek lecture room (N293) is at the end of a short corridor off the northern vestibule (entrance between the Clock Tower and the Great Hall).

Secretary
The Classics administrative office is in S411 in the Main Quadrangle. Telephone: 9351 2368.

Noticeboards
The noticeboards for information about units of study in Greek are in the northern vestibule next to Room N285 and near the door of the Greek lecture room.

Registration
Registration will take place in the first lectures. Enquiries may be made at the administrative office in the first instance. Students who propose to take the full series of units in Greek in third or fourth year may find it useful to discuss with the Department the choice of other subjects to be taken by them in their first year.

Units of Study in Ancient Greek
The Department offers a full range of units in Greek for both the pass and the honours degrees.

In first year three units of study are available, Advanced Greek 1, Greek 1, and New Testament Greek 1. For entry into Advanced Greek 1 students must have attained a satisfactory standard in either the 3-unit course or the 2-unit course in Classical Greek at the HSC examination or an equivalent qualification.

The Greek 1 unit of study assumes no previous study of Greek and aims at providing students with a basic knowledge of the language.

At Senior levels special entry units of study are offered (Special Greek 2 and Special Greek 3). These are intended to prepare students for more advanced work and are prerequisites for entry into Greek IV (Honours).

Greek and Roman Literature

Greek and Roman Literature (Senior)
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Suzanne MacAlister
When Offered: All year

Greek and Roman Literature comprises four units of study which can be taken either to make up a major in Greek and Roman Literature (32 senior credit points), or as separate units of study which may be combined with other units of study to make up a major in Classical Civilisation (see under Classical Civilisation entry).

Each year Greek and Roman Literature consists of two units of study (each one-semester in length and worth 8 credit points) so that a major may be completed as a two-year sequence. The areas of literature which are covered are epic poetry, drama (tragedy and comedy) and the ancient novel, with the proviso that the same areas are not offered in succeeding years. In 1998 Greek and Roman Literature - Epic (GRLT 2301) and Greek and Roman Literature - Novel (GRLT 2302) will be offered; these will be followed in 1999 by Greek and Roman Literature - Tragedy (GRLT 2303) and Greek and Roman Literature - Comedy (GRLT 2304).

The units of study offered provide a systematic coverage of the major areas of Greek and Latin literature by means of selected texts read in translation. They should be of interest to those who wish to familiarise themselves with the literature of Greece and Rome, but are not conversant with the ancient languages, and to students both of other aspects of Graeco-Roman antiquity, and of other cultures which have been influenced by the literary heritage of Greece and Rome.

No knowledge of the Greek and Latin languages is assumed. In addition to the textbooks, which are listed below, details of further recommended reading will be given at the beginning of lectures.

Registration
Registration will take place at the first lecture. For times and places see the Greek and Roman Literature noticeboard.

Noticeboard and Enquiries
Notices concerning the units of study will be placed on the noticeboard located in the northern vestibule of the Main Quadrangle next to the anteroom of the Great Hall. Enquiries may be made on 93512368 or 93512074.
GRLT 2301 Greek and Roman Literature - Epic
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr S MacAlistie, Dr A James, Dr L Watson

Prerequisite: As for Classical Civilisation senior level. For further details see under Classics, Greek and Roman Literature - Epic (GRLT 2301)

When Offered: March

Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk

Assessment: 1 essay + 1 3hr. exam

The ancient epics have shaped the European literary imagination up to our own day. What is the power that makes these narratives of concern to us today? They are masterpieces of story-telling, dealing with issues of universal concern such as life and death, love, war, and the journey of experience. A literary masterpiece, Virgil's Aeneid, pulls together all these themes, as a re-telling of earlier epic for the conquerors of the Mediterranean world. For its part, Greek epic begins in the context of oral story-telling, before the invention of writing, with roots that certainly go back to the Bronze Age; it functions both as entertainment and as an exploration and validation of social values. This unit of study provides an opportunity to explore ancient epic in depth, while raising questions about epic as a narrative form which point ahead to the novels studied in the Second Semester.

Textbooks:
- Homer Iliad trans. M. Hammond (Penguin Books)
- Virgil Aeneid trans. C. Day Lewis (Oxford U.P.)
- Catullus 64 (supplied by lecturer)

GRLT 2302 Greek and Roman Literature - Novel
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr S MacAlistie, Dr L Watson

Prerequisite: GRLT 2301 or 18 junior points

When Offered: July

Classes: 2 lec/1 tut/wk

Assessment: 1 essay & 1 3hr exam

Recently the ancient novel has become the focus of considerable critical interest. Modern literary theory has interrogated the ancient novel for its contribution to debates about the nature and origins of the 'novel'. Interpretation of the ancient novel has centred on its relationship to the ancient narrative tradition (both epic and oral narratives such as folklore), its making new of traditional motifs and themes, and its introduction of new material and preoccupations (especially love). The unit of study treats the ancient novel in terms of modern literary theory; it explores the differences between the Greek and Roman novels; it emphasises the importance of understanding the 'genre' in its cultural and social contexts.

Textbooks:
- B. Reavons (ed.) Collected Ancient Greek Novels (Berkeley and Los Angeles, 1989) (paperback edn)
- Petronius Satyricon trans. J.P. Sullivan (Penguin Classics)

Latin

Units of study in Latin deal with various aspects of Roman civilisation. Language study is regarded not merely as an end in itself but as a critical tool for the appreciation and understanding of Latin literature and Roman history, civilisation and society.

Considerable emphasis is placed on teaching by the tutorial method. For examination purposes formal weighting is given to essays and class exercises prescribed during the year, as well as to end-of-semester examination papers.

While every effort will be made to adhere to the units of study as described below, the availability and content of unit of study-strands will depend on staff resources.

Location
The office is Room S411 situated on the first floor of the eastern wing of the Main Quadrangle. The Latin Notice Board is in the Southern Vestibule of the Main Quadrangle.

Registration
Registration will take place at the first lectures. Students who propose to study Latin to Third or Fourth Year may find it useful to discuss with the Department the choice of other subjects to be taken by them in their First Year (cf. below on Greek).

Books
Recommended books will be listed on the Latin Notice Board before the end of teaching in Semester 2 of the previous year. Students should have a copy of each literary text to be prescribed for detailed study, and also a good Latin dictionary and grammar (see under Language Study). Books are often obtainable from the Classics Department or from academic Sydney bookshops, or, if time allows, may be ordered from book suppliers overseas. For the Roman history courses in Second and Third Year, at least one of the textbooks to be recommended should be acquired.

Information
Students seeking further information about courses, or about the books recommended for study, should call at the Classics office, or telephone 9351 2368. The Administrative Assistant will arrange for a member of the academic staff to advise them.

Intending Honours students
Students wishing to take Latin 4007-4008 (Honours Latin) should complete one of these sequences:

A note on Greek
Roman civilisation is in many ways indebted to that of the Greeks. A knowledge of Ancient Greek is invaluable for studying Latin literature and Roman history; so students who are considering taking Honours in Latin and who have not previously studied Greek, are strongly advised to take Greek 1001-1002. Students entering Latin 4007-4008 are encouraged to attain at least the standard of Greek 1101-1102 or Greek 2003-2004.
Latin Language Study Levels

When Offered: All year

There will be four Language Study Levels, to which students will be allocated according to their level of proficiency.

This consists of the units of study Latin 1001-1002 and 2301-2302: see entries above.

Classes 1 class/wk
This level is normally to be taken by Latin 2003-2004 and 3005-3006 students, and by those students in 1101-1102 who are seen as needing intensive work and revision in syntax. It will include further study of the language and grammar to consolidate reading and translation skills.

Classes 1 class/wk
This level is normally to be taken by Latin 1101-1102 students, except those seen as better suited to Level 2, and by those students enrolled in 3005-3006 who took Level 2 in their previous year of Latin. It will include translation from and into Latin, and training in comprehension and sight-reading skills. This level aims to improve students' knowledge of, and ability to use and appreciate, the Latin language.

Classes 1 class/wk
This level will include advanced training in sight-reading skills and comprehension, structural analysis, and some basic stylistics. It aims to improve students' ability to read Latin directly from the page, understand the implications underlying a text, and analyse the methods exploited by Latin authors to communicate ideas, events, situations and emotions. Level 4 will normally be taken by those students in Latin 2103-2104 and 3005-3006 who took Level 3 in their previous year of Latin. 4007-4008 students who have not as yet progressed beyond Level 3 will also take Level 4.

Textbooks:
Levels 2, 3 and 4:
(i) A medium-sized, or preferably a large, dictionary: eg.
C.T. Lewis and C. Short A Latin Dictionary (O.U.P.)
C.T. Lewis A Latin Dictionary for Schools (O.U.P.)
Chambers' Latin Dictionary (paperback)
Collins' Latin Dictionary
Cassell's Latin Dictionary
N.B. Very small dictionaries are too limited in scope and are not recommended.
(ii) At least one Latin grammar, preferably a comprehensive one:
G.G. Betts Teach Yourself Latin (hodder & Stoughton: paperback)
B.L. Gildersleeve and G. Lodge Latin Grammar (Macmillan)
J.B. Greenough and others New Latin Grammar (Bristol Classical Press: paperback)
B.H. Kennedy Revised Latin Primer (Longman: paperback)
E.C. Woodcock A New Latin Syntax (Bristol Classical Press: paperback)

LATN 1001 Latin 1.1

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Kevin Lee
When Offered: March
Classes: 4 lec & 1 hr tut/wk
Assessment: One 2hr exam, class work

The aim of Latin 1001 is to provide students with a foundation for acquiring a basic knowledge of the language.

Intending Honours students
Latin 1001-1002 students who are thinking of taking Honours in Latin should consult the Department during the year.

Textbooks:
Study materials can be procured from the Department's office. A small or medium-sized Latin dictionary is recommended too (see below Under Language Study).

LATN 1002 Latin 1.2

Classes: 1 class/wk

6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Kevin Lee
Prerequisite: LATN 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 4 lec & 1 hr tut/wk
Assessment: Two 2hr exams, class work

Latin 1002 takes further the basic grounding of Latin 1001. It caters for a wide variety of students, ranging from those who intend subsequently to proceed with Latin, to those who wish merely to have a background to their studies in other subjects in which a knowledge of Latin is valuable or indispensable - for example ancient history, classical archaeology, English, modern foreign languages, and medieval literature and history.

Latin 1001-1002 students who are thinking of taking Honours in Latin should consult the Department during the year.

Textbooks:
Study materials can be procured from the Department's office. A small or medium-sized Latin dictionary is recommended too (see below Under Language Study).

LATN 1101 Advanced Latin 1.1

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Dexter Hoyos
Prerequisite: HSC 2 Unit Latin
When Offered: March
Classes: 4 classes/wk
Assessment: One 2hr exam, one 3hr exam, one 2000w essay, classwork.

Works for detailed study
Classes: 2 lec/wk

6 credit points

Works by two important Latin authors will be studied, one in each semester. Lecturers will deal with aspects of the author's style and language, with the literary and historical background, and with structural problems raised by the work as well as with problems of text and translation. There will also be an evaluation of the author's specific aims, his success in achieving these, and the literary quality of his work.

Authors and texts to be studied will be listed on the Latin Notice Board before the end of teaching in Semester 2 of the previous year.

Reading course
Classes: 1 class/wk

Close study of a variety of Latin texts to develop reading and translation skills.

Language study (see separate entry below)
Classes: 1 class/wk

Students will normally take Language Level 2 or 3: see separate entry below.
LATN 1102 Advanced Latin 1.2
6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Dexter Hoyos
Prerequisite: LATN 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 4 classes/wk
Assessment: one 2hr exam, one 3hr exam, one 2000w essay, classwork

LATN 2003 Latin 2.1
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Dexter Hoyos
Prerequisite: LATN 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 5 classes/wk
Assessment: One 2hr exam, one 3hr exam, one 2000w essay, classwork

Works for detailed study
Classes 2 hr/wk
In each semester students will study one Latin author or selection. Authors and texts to be studied will be listed on the Latin Notice Board before the end of teaching in Semester 2 of the previous year.

Reading course
Classes 1 hr/wk
Close study of a variety of Latin texts to develop reading and translation skills. Students will normally take this course at level 2 or level 3.

Language study
Classes 1 hr/wk
2003 students will take Language Level 2 or 3: see separate entry below.

LATN 2004 Latin 2.2
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Dexter Hoyos
Prerequisite: LATN 2103
When Offered: July
Classes: 4 classes/wk
Assessment: One 3hr and one 2hr exam, one 2000w essay, classwork

Topics for detailed study
Lecture-strands will be grouped around a particular theme. In 1998 the theme is 'Tyranny and Terror in the First Century A.D.: The Age of Augustus and the Julio-Claudians'.

Major works of literature from each period will be studied (2hr/wk), and also the history of the period (1hr/wk). Literary treatment is at a more developed level than in Latin 1101-1102; wider areas of study and reading, moreover, are left to students' initiative. Thus an important era in the literature and history of Rome will be intensively surveyed.

Texts to be studied will be listed on the Latin Notice Board before the end of teaching in Semester 2 of the previous year. Students should acquire a copy of the published literary texts, and at least one of the books in Roman history listed.

Language Study
Students will normally take Language Level 4, which is a two-year course (1hr/wk; see also the separate entry below.

LATN 2103 Advanced Latin 2.1
8 credit points

Thesis
Students will research and present a thesis of 15,000-20,000 words; they will choose their topic in consultation with staff.

Archaeology (Prehistoric and Historical)

May not be counted with: Students may take no more than 64 senior credit points in a subject area.

This section of the School uses archaeological data to study the whole range of the human past. Throughout all units of study there is a focus on archaeological methods, techniques and theory, with an emphasis on the special nature of the material record, the scales at which it can be studied and the contribution archaeology makes to our knowledge of the past. Prehistoric Archaeology covers most of the period of human existence — the last 4 million years — and it is primarily through archaeology that we can discover and understand human physical and cultural evolution. Prehistoric archaeology studies the material manifestations of human experience, such as artistic traditions, economies, settlements and tool assemblages with an emphasis on worldwide perspectives. The archaeology of the prehistory of Australia and Oceania over the past 50-60 thousand years is a special interest of the section. Historical archaeology studies the last 300 years and combines physical and material evidence with written, oral and visual sources.

Structure
Archaeology (Prehistoric and Historical) (ARPH) offers Junior and Senior units of study towards a Pass degree and as a precursor to an Honours degree.

Three 6 credit point Junior units of study are offered. The first semester unit of study (ARPH 1001) consists of a worldwide introduction to the discoveries, methods, theory and history of archaeology. This unit of study is considered desirable for further archaeological studies. The second semester units of study consist of Australian prehistoric and historical archaeology (ARPH 1002) and an introduction to the archaeology of Asia (ARPH 1003). Students may take more than one of these Junior units of study towards their degree. ARPH 1001 is a prerequisite for entry to all Senior ARPH units of study.

Senior ARPH units of study at pass level, four 8 credit point units of study and five 4 credit point units of study are offered in 1998. There are also five 4 credit point units of study on practical research methods, and three special entry units of study.

Entry to Honours (ARPH IV)
In addition to meeting the entry requirements students are expected to have undertaken at least three weeks of approved fieldwork before entry to this level.

ARPH 1001 Introduction to Archaeology

May not be counted with: Students may take no more than 64 senior credit points in a subject area.
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 lec/wk, 1 tut/wn
Assessment: Six exercises, one 1500w essay one 2500w essay, one take-home test

Archaeology is the only study of the human past which is primarily about what people did rather than what they said. This unit of study is about the art and science of archaeology, its great discoveries, its methods and theory, and about humanity's four million years of existence. The unit offers a world-wide perspective on archaeology and the opportunity to study specific regional topics of your choice.

Textbooks:
C. Renfrew and P. Bahn. Archaeology: Theory and Method
ARPH 1002 Archaeology of Australia
6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Colley
When Offered: July
Classes: 3 classes/wk, one day excursion
Assessment: Nine exercises, two 1500w essays, two 1hr tests

Australian Aboriginal Archaeology
The archaeology of the Aboriginal occupation of Australia from initial human settlement until European colonisation — and after. The social and political implications of practising archaeology in Australia today are discussed.

Australian Historical Archaeology
Case studies in the archaeology of Australia, illustrating the colonisation of the continent by historically-known immigrants and their interaction with indigenous peoples, together with some of the methods of historical archaeological investigation.

Practical Work:
One day field trip (optional)

ARPH 1003 From Java to Beijing: Asian Archaeology
6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: A/Prof Fletcher
When Offered: July
Classes: 3 lec/wk, 1 tut/fn
Assessment: 6 exercises, one 1500w essay, one 2500w essay, one 2hr exam

An introduction to the archaeology of Asian society, from the early hominids of Java (1-2 million BP) down to the decline of the Ch'ing dynasty in the late 19th century AD. The region considered extends from Indonesia to China and the Urals to Japan. The formation and nature of human communities, from hunter-gatherer camps to the great imperial capitals like Beijing, will be placed in a broad environmental, economic and cultural context. This unit of study can also be counted as credit points towards Asian Studies. Places are limited.

ARPH 2001 Contact and Colonisation
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Colley and Dr Cremin
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 3hr/wk
Assessment: One 2000w essay, one 3000w essay, one seminar presentation, one open-book test

The archaeology of Aboriginal-outsider contact in an Australian context will be placed in world-wide perspective. The unit of study will also examine the relationship between archaeological evidence and other ways of knowing about Australia’s indigenous and settler past (eg history, ethnography, oral tradition).

ARPH 2003 The Archaeology of Society
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: A/ Prof Fletcher
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 3hr/wk
Assessment: Two 2000w essays, two projects

A global introduction to the processes and issues involved in the major transformation of human settlement behaviour since the end of the last glacial phase. The growth of cities in Eastern Asia will be examined. Essay and project topics are arranged on an individual basis in consultation with the coordinator. Topics may be chosen on a worldwide basis. This unit of study can be used to conduct a detailed study of one region or to gain experience of a diversity of regions and topics.

ARPH 2004 Stonehenge
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Cremin
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 3hr/wk
Assessment: One 3500w essay, one presentation, two 2hr tests

Stonehenge was not built in a day but over a millennium. That period was marked by significant changes in settlement patterns and social structures, technological innovation, the discovery and exploitation of new materials (jet, amber, gold, copper and tin) and an explosion in trade. We shall study Stonehenge as a prehistoric monument but will also analyse its role as an icon of British popular culture.

ARPH 2005 Archaeology of Modern Times
8 credit points

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Assessment: one 5000w essay; one presentation

This unit of study investigates the material culture of Australia from 1788 to the present day. Students are encouraged to develop their own projects in conjunction with professional archaeologists excavating in Sydney.

ARPH 2006 Australian and Pacific Archaeology
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Torrence
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: March
Classes: 3hr/wk
Assessment: Two 2000w essays, one take-home test

An examination of major areas, theories and problems current in Pacific archaeology, with some reference to Australian data.

ARPH 2008 Who Owns the Past?
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Colley
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: March
Classes: 3hr/wk
Assessment: One 2000w essay, one seminar presentation, one open-book test

This unit of study examines some major philosophical and ethical issues raised by the question ‘Who owns the Past?’ in world-wide perspective. We consider the practice of archaeology in the public domain, where the archaeologist has responsibilities to indigenous peoples, community groups, clients and government. Archaeology and cultural heritage management. Different ways of knowing about the past.

ARPH 2009 Looking at Drawings
8 credit points

Prerequisite: Six Junior credit points of Archaeology or Art History & Theory or 8 credit points of Aboriginal Studies
When Offered: Not offered in 1998

An introduction to the theory behind representational drawing and its application to the archaeology of all kinds of drawings. Open to students taking Aboriginal Studies, and/or Art History and Theory, and to students of the Sydney College of the Arts.

ARPH 2010 Archaeological Projects
4 credit points

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
ARPH 2011 Australian Aboriginal Archaeology

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Colley

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001

When Offered: March

Classes: 2hr/wk

Assessment: One 2000w essay, one seminar presentation, one open-book test

An examination of key research questions in Australian Aboriginal archaeology: theories, data and the application of archaeological techniques.

ARPH 2012 Australian Public Archaeology

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Colley

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001

When Offered: March

Classes: 2hr/wk

Assessment: One 2000w essay, one project, one in-class test

The practice of Australian archaeology (Aboriginal and Historical) in the public domain, where the archaeologist has responsibilities to indigenous peoples, community groups, clients and government.

ARPH 2013 Aboriginal Rock Art

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Clegg

Prerequisite: 6 Junior credit points of Archaeology or Art History & Theory or 8 credit points of Aboriginal Studies

When Offered: March

Classes: two 2hr/class/wk

Assessment: One 2000w essay, one equivalent of 2000w essay as take-home test, journal or project

Aboriginal Australian Rock Art and how it has been studied since 1788. This unit of study is taught in the first half of semester and may be taken in conjunction with ARPH 2014.

Open to students taking Aboriginal Studies, and/or Art History and Theory, and to students of the Sydney College of the Arts.

ARPH 2014 The Archaeology of Prehistoric Pictures

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Clegg

Prerequisite: 6 Junior credit points of Archaeology or Art History & Theory or 8 credit points of Aboriginal Studies

When Offered: March

Classes: two 2hr class/wk

Assessment: One 2000w essay, one equivalent of 2000w essay as take-home test, journal or project

The study of artefacts through classification and taxonomy, with particular emphasis on the use of multivariate techniques to extract information of interest to archaeologists from rock art. This unit of study is taught in the second half of semester and may be taken in conjunction with ARPH 2013.

Open to students taking Aboriginal Studies, and/or Art History and Theory, and to students of the Sydney College of the Arts.

Practical Work:

In class.

ARPH 2051 Excavation Techniques

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Clegg

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001

When Offered: Not offered in 1998

Students will be introduced to all aspects of excavation from research design to digging, recording and post-excavation analysis. Places may be limited and awarded on a competitive basis.

ARPH 2052 Rock Art Recording

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Clegg

Prerequisite: 6 Junior credit points of Archaeology or Art History & Theory or 8 credit points of Aboriginal Studies.

When Offered: March

Classes: Field and lab work equivalent to 4hr/wk

Assessment: Journals and presentations equivalent to two 2000w essays

This is a practical unit of study which stresses the stages in recording rock art. Why is it being done? What needs to be recorded? How will the recording be used? Skills to be acquired include finding and locating, seeing, recording, and processing the record to publication standard. Many different methods will be taught. For each we need to determine the resources and skills required, the reliability of the method, its cost in effort and money and the damage it may do. This unit of study is taught in the first half of semester. Places may be limited.

Students taking Aboriginal Studies and/or Art History & Theory, or who are students of the Sydney College of the Arts may request permission to take this unit of study.

Practical Work:

Assessed

ARPH 2053 Archaeological Surveying

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Clegg

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001

When Offered: Not offered in 1998

ARPH 2054 Residue Analysis

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Clegg

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001

When Offered: Not offered in 1998

This unit of study will teach students how to detect and interpret the residues of organic substances adhering to material from archaeological sites. Places may be limited and may be awarded on a competitive basis.

ARPH 2055 Soils Analysis

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Clegg

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001

When Offered: Not offered in 1998
ARPH 2606 Introduction to Archaeological Computing 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Johnson
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: (1hr lec & 3hr lab)/wk
Assessment: mid-semester test, minor project
Archaeology increasingly uses computers for recording, analysing and presenting data. This course introduces students to the basic skills necessary: finding information through the Internet and electronic access to libraries; recording information in spreadsheets and databases; preparation and presentation of information in reports and web pages; and use of computer graphics. Readings, exercises and other information for this course are placed on a WWW site. Assessment tasks are submitted electronically and students can use the Archaeological Computing Laboratory for this purpose. No prior computer experience is required although some familiarity with using a computer will be advantageous. This unit of study is taught in the second half of the semester. Places are limited to 20 and may be awarded on a competitive basis.
Practical Work:
Assessed

ARPH 2507 Lithics 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Torrence
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: March
Classes: 4hr lab/wk, classwork
Assessment: Workbooks, exercises and quizzes
How stone artefacts are analysed in terms of form, technology and material. Basic ideas in lithic analysis will be demonstrated, practised and experimented with. This unit of study is taught in the second half of the semester.
Places are limited to 15 and may be awarded on a competitive basis; preference may be given to students with a credit result or better in Archaeology (ARPH) 1001 and 1002.

ARPH 2508 Animal Bones 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator:
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
The identification of Australian and Pacific native and introduced animals is based on comparative anatomy. This unit of study will work on the identification of some archaeological collections and analyse the data collected to show aspects of the palaeoenvironment and of economic activities. Places may be limited and may be awarded on a competitive basis.

ARPH 2509 Shells 4 credit points
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998

ARPH 2600 Human Bones 4 credit points
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998

ARPH 2601 Radiocarbon Dating 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Barbetti
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 4hr lab/wk, classwork
Assessment: Workbooks, exercises and questionnaires
An introduction to the theory, practice and pitfalls of radiocarbon and other dating methods. This unit of study is taught in the first half of semester. Places may be limited and may be awarded on a competitive basis.
Practical Work:
Assessed

ARPH 2602 Electron Microscopy 4 credit points
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998

ARPH 2603 Practical Applications of Computer Graphics 4 credit points
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998

ARPH 2604 Field/Laboratory Project 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Staff of Archaeology
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 5 days field and/or lab work
Assessment: 5 assignments, one on each component of the unit of study
Practical introduction to site location, site recording, excavation and post-excavation analysis. Places are limited and may be awarded on a competitive basis.

ARPH 2605 Historic Artefacts Analysis 4 credit points
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of Archaeology including ARPH 1001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998

ARPH 3901 Archaeological Research Principles I (Special Entry) 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: A/Prof. Fletcher
Prerequisite: Credit results in 12 Senior credit points of ARPH including 4 credit points drawn from ARPH 250I-ARPH2605.
When Offered: March
Classes: One 2hr class/wk
Assessment: One 2,000w essay and two seminar presentations
An introduction to the philosophy and worldwide history of archaeology. Topics are to be chosen in consultation with the coordinator and serve as a preparation for the 8,000 word essay in ARPH 3902.

ARPH 3902 Archaeological Research Principles II (Special Entry) 8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr P. White
Corequisite: ARPH 3901
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: One 8,000w essay, one seminar presentation
The preparation, organisation and presentation of research. This unit of study is designed to prepare students for research and the preparation of long essays and theses.

Archaeology, Classics and Ancient History

The School of Archaeology, Classics and Ancient History has the following major teaching strands:
(i) Archaeology (Classical, Near Eastern, Prehistoric and Historical),
(ii) Classics (Greek, Latin, Greek and Roman Literature),
(iii) Ancient History (Greek, Roman, Near Eastern),
(iv) Classical Civilisation.

There are full sequences through to Fourth Year Honours in all these strands except Classical Civilisation which for the moment has only pass units of study through to 300 level. It is possible for a student to take as many sequences as desired within the School.

Study of an ancient language is not compulsory for pass students in Classical Archaeology, Ancient History or Classical Civilisation. It is however strongly encouraged for those who are taking their major in these subjects. It is not required for Prehistoric and Historical Archaeology. Reading in modern foreign languages is a valuable asset in all units of study, especially at senior levels, and students should take special note of the language requirements for entry to ANHS 3900 level units of study and Ancient History IV, and Archaeology (Classical) IV and Archaeology (Near Eastern) IV.

Archaeology (Classical)

When Offered: 1998

Archaeology

The Archaeology section of the School comprises a number of departments each of which presents sequences of courses. Some joint courses are also under development.

Classical Archaeology

The sequence of courses in Classical Archaeology aims at providing pass students with a well-rounded knowledge of Mediterranean, and especially Greek, Etruscan, and Roman archaeology, and it aims to give an insight into archaeological methods and the philosophy of the subject. The courses deal with all aspects of material culture and its interpretation.

There is a special emphasis on the evidence of art and architecture; major sites of the Classical world (such as Knossos, Mycenae, Athens, Delos, Rome, and Pompeii) are discussed in detail. The courses have a strong focus on pictorial material, and all lectures are illustrated with slides. For most courses (including the First Year course) all of the slides shown in lectures are available over the World Wide Web.

The pass course as a whole offers all the advantages of studies in the Faculty of Arts: development of critical ability, logical thinking, ordered memory, ability to organise and present material, historical analysis. At the same time it aims to provide a coherent picture of the evolution of civilisation in the Mediterranean area. In addition to its importance in its own right, it is of particular relevance to students of a number of other subjects, including Ancient History, Classics, Fine Arts, and Religious Studies.

It is recommended that students combine Classical Archaeology with courses either in other areas of Archaeology (for those interested primarily in the discipline of Archaeology, including field archaeology), or Classical Civilisation and Ancient History (for those primarily interested in the cultures of Ancient Greece or Italy), or Fine Arts (for those with interests in ancient and more recent art).

Students intending to proceed to Archaeology (Classical) IV Honours should read the entry requirements carefully, and structure their courses accordingly.

All courses are offered subject to the availability of staff.
ARCL 1001 Art and Archaeology of the Classical World 6 units credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Robinson
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 classes/wk
Assessment: One 3 hr exam, two visual tests, 5 tutorial exercises, one 3000w or two 1500w essays

Introduction to the art and archaeology of the Mediterranean and especially the Classical World. This course has a double aim: to provide a solid basis for those students who intend to pursue archaeological studies, possibly to a postgraduate level, and to give an overall survey to those who have an interest in the Ancient World as a complement to their studies of any aspect of Western civilisation. The course focuses on some of the most important archaeological sites of Greece, starting with the Bronze Age (Knossos, Santorini, Mycenae) before turning to the Iron Age, the Classical and Hellenistic periods (Athens, Delphi and Olympia). The course then moves to Italy, starting with the Bronze Age (particularly the flourishing Nuragic civilisation of Sardinia), then continuing with the Early Iron Age Villanovan culture of Central Italy, Greek colonisation, and the indigenous populations of the peninsula, particularly the Etruscans. The course concludes with Pompeii (with due assessment of the contributions made in recent years by an Australian team to our knowledge of its history) and Rome. Throughout the course we will be looking at the methods used by archaeologists to study the different classes of material, and at the history of the study of Classical monuments. Classical Antiquity has been of great importance far beyond the bounds of archaeology, and we will look at how the Classical past has been constructed and used in more recent times.

ARCL 1001 Art and Archaeology of the Classical World 6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. E. Robinson
Prerequisite: Classical Mythology (CLCV 1001)
When Offered: July
For details see under Archaeology, Classical (ARCL 1001).

ARCL 2001 The World of Classical Athens 8 units credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Green
Prerequisite: ARCL 1001 and 6 Junior credit points of Archaeology or Classical Civilization or Ancient History
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: One 3 hr exam, one visual test, one 3000w essay

The sixth and fifth centuries in Athens marked a major turning point in the evolution of western culture. It is marked in the materials remains just as much as in such inventions as history, theatre or scientific thought. This unit of study examines some of the major developments in architecture, pottery, sculpture and painting, and compares them with changes in religious practice, society, agricultural techniques and living conditions.

ARCL 2900 Special Topics on Classical Athens 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Green
Prerequisite: Credit result in ARCL 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: One 2hr seminar/wk
Assessment: One 3hr exam, one 3000w essay, seminar work

This unit of study is related to ARCL 2001 in content, but casts a more critical eye on the nature of the evidence, and on current debates in its interpretation; it also examines what we can learn of social attitudes from sources other than the literature which so often has an elitist bias.
Power Department of Art History and Theory

Pass course
Candidates for the Bachelor of Arts may count up to 76 credit points from Art History & Theory toward degree requirements. There is no entry requirement for Art History & Theory 1001, but this course is a prerequisite for Art History and Theory 1002.

The units of study that may be taken are as follows:
Art History and Theory 1001 & 1002 (2 semester units of study; 6 credit points each. These units of study are the prerequisite for Senior units.)
Senior units of study (8 credit points each; including the Special Entry unit of study ARHT 3901)

Art History and Theory IV (Honours)
Major
To do a major in Art History and Theory, a student must achieve between 44 and 76 credit points, consisting of 2 Junior level units of study: Art History and Theory 1001 (semester 1) and 1002 (semester 2) (total 12 credit points), and, at the Senior level, a minimum of 32 credit points (ie 4 units of study), and a maximum of 64 credit points (ie 8 units of study).

Students can either choose a wide range of units of study to create a generalist degree or choose units of study to create a more specialised major (for example, with a focus on Art history before 1900 or Film Studies or Asian Studies). Whatever the case, in order to ensure that all students attain the range of knowledge necessary for depth of understanding of the visual arts - and to maximise opportunities for future employment or research, all students are required to choose units of study from at least three of the six areas listed below, not including ARHT 3901, which is the Honours Special Entry course.

Students can choose additional units according to whether they wish to achieve a specialist or a generalist degree. For example, those hoping to work in an art museum might choose to specialise in European and Australian art or in Asian art with relevant courses in European art history. More detailed advice on such choices can be found in the Department of Art History and Theory Handbook.

Senior units
Students wishing to major in Art History and Theory are asked to choose at least one unit of study from at least three of the following areas. These units of study may be taken in the student's second or third year:

Area 1. European art history from the Early Renaissance to late 19th century. The discipline was founded and developed on European modes of representation through many parts of the world, including Australia.
ARHT 2010 Art & Society in Trecento Italy
ARHT 2011 Art & Experience in Renaissance Italy
ARHT 2012 Baroque Courts
ARHT 2013 Art of Ancien Regime France: 1648-1789
ARHT 2014 Art of the French Revolution
ARHT 2015 Realism and Impressionism

Area 2. Modernist, Post-modernist and Contemporary art. This area covers most aspects of visual culture from the late nineteenth and the twentieth centuries. It includes the study of photography, film and the moving image, popular culture, art, design and architecture.
ARHT 2020 Themes in European Art 1884-1914
ARHT 2021 Modernism
ARHT 2022 American Design & Visual Culture 1900-45
ARHT 2023 Postwar Art in Europe and the U.S.A.
ARHT 2024 Contemporary International Art

Area 3. Australian art. This area covers indigenous, colonial and post-colonial visual culture to the present. It includes the study of high art and popular culture, design, architecture and the heritage industry.
ARHT 2030 Contemporary Aboriginal art
ARHT 2031 Australian Colonial Art
ARHT 2032 Australian Modernism
ARHT 2033 Australian Art Since 1940
ARHT 2034 Australian Heritage & Architecture

Area 4. Asian art. This area covers modern and contemporary high art and popular culture in Northern and Southeast Asia.
ARHT 2040 The Art of Modern Asia
ARHT 2041 The Art of Southeast Asia
ARHT 2042 History of Momoyama & Edo Art
ARHT 2043 The art and architecture of modern Japan
ARHT 2044 Asian Film studies

Area 5. The moving image. This area covers the histories and theories of film and electronic media.
ARHT 2050 Film Studies I
ARHT 2051 Film Studies II (prerequisite ARHT 2050)
ARHT 2052 From Silent to Sound Cinema
ARHT 2053 Cross-cultural Perspectives On Cinema (prerequisite ARHT 2052)
ARHT 2054 Theory of Film, TV & Computer Animation

Area 6. General Studies. This area includes studies with broader time frames and thematics.
ARHT 2060 Masterpieces and Metapictures
ARHT 2061 Costume, Clothing & Fashion
ARHT 2062 Style
ARHT 2063 Art, Sex and Gender
ARHT 2064 Exhibition Studies

Special Entry Course
ARHT 3901 Theories of Art History
Units of studies in other departments which can be taken as part of the Art History and Theory degree:
ARHT 2070 Art Workshop: Advanced Art Workshop
ARHT 2071 Architecture School: History of the Built Environment I&2
ARHT 2072 Department of Women's Studies: Gender, Media and Consumer Society

Other units of study offered by other Departments may be accepted as part of the Art History and Theory degree, on the advice of the Department's Undergraduate Co-Ordinator or Head of Department.

Availability of Senior level units of study
Not all units of study listed below will be offered in any one year (except for the Honours 3901 unit of study which will be offered every year). Almost all will, however, be offered over the two years during which a full-time student does Senior units. There will always be a unit of study offered in each of the Department's six areas of study. Students should consult the Department before the enrolment period in order to check which units of study are being offered.

Assessment
Students of Fine Arts are required to:
- attend lectures and tutorials
- complete prescribed written work
- read the texts recommended

During each semester, coursework is credited towards the final result. Coursework consists of visual tests, essays, class papers and class participation in differing proportions. Students will be given details early in each course.

Registration
Students are required to register with the Department of Fine Arts in the R.C. Mills Building on Wednesday of the orientation period, on Wednesday 25th February 1998.

Supplementary charges
A charge will be made for all course readers.

Location
The Fine Arts Department is on the second floor of the R.C. Mills Building, A26. The departmental office, where enquiries may be made, is Room 215. The telephone number is 9351 2147; the fax number is 9351 4212.

Noticeboards
Noticeboards are located on the second floor of the R.C. Mills Building in the vicinity of the departmental office.

Honours Course: Art History and Theory IV
Art History and Theory IV candidates must have obtained Credit results (65% and above) in 60 credit points of Art History and Theory (including ARHT 3901: Theories of Art History). Senior units of study must have been taken in at least three of the areas listed above.

Art History and Theory IV comprises three semester-long units of study and a thesis. Attendance at regular research seminars is required.

While knowledge of another language is not compulsory, students wishing to proceed to postgraduate research in Art History and Theory are advised to acquire a good reading knowledge of a language other than English. Much significant scholarship is not translated (or if it is, much of its meaning changes); moreover understanding of languages other than English helps one's command of English. A student may be precluded from doing postgraduate research in a particular area if s/he does not have reading knowledge of the appropriate language(s).

Preliminary Registration for Art History and Theory IV units must be made in November of the preceding year. This is essential since ARHT IV units will only be offered in accordance with enrolment numbers. Registration must be confirmed during Orientation Week, on Wednesday 25th February 1998. A unit may be dropped if there is too small an enrolment. The area of the research thesis must also be chosen at the time of pre-enrolment, i.e. by November of the preceding year. Acceptance of the thesis research area will depend on the availability of a supervisor.

ARHT 1001 Art History and Theory 1001
6 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Professor V. Spate
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: One 1200w essay, one visual test (the Workshop option may be substituted for the essay in ARHT 1001 OR ARHT 1002.)

Art History and Theory 1001
Art History and Theory 1001 is the first of a two-part consecutive unit of study. Successful completion of Art History and Theory 1001 is a pre-requisite for Art History and Theory 1002. Each unit is worth 6 credit points.

These units of study offer an introduction to the study of Art History and Theory as it is taught at the Senior and Honours levels in the Department. The subject matter covers a wide range of art practices and media, film, design and costume, and includes the examination of artforms from different cultures. In each semester unit, historical analysis will be combined with discussions of the different methodologies and approaches to the interpretation and study of these visual materials.

As a unifying theme in 1998, Art History and Theory 1001 and Art History and Theory 1002 will focus on the visual representation of the human figure in different cultures and at different times in one culture. In doing so, it will examine how ideas about artistic production and the relation between the artist, the artwork and the spectator are culturally and historically specific. The year's programme will therefore emphasize the contexts and the meaning that such representations may embody - and how these change across time.

As examples, one can think of the change from symbolic, non-mimetic modes of representation in Medieval art to the Renaissance's mimetic art and its invention of new modes of representing space in which figures can enact narratives - or question what happens in early 20th century modernism when the representation of the human body is challenged. Another instance is the fundamental connection made by Aboriginal cultures between the human and the land, and the diverse ways this relation is embodied or addressed in recent indigenous art.

The study of visual representation involves not simply questions of style, but of ways of seeing. It asks whether, how and why people may 'see' differently in different times and cultures. It also examines how broader social relationships such as gender, race and class are visually represented. In the course of the year, students will acquire the essential skills of visual analysis and interpretation. These issues are posed across the two semesters. ARHT 1001 examines the representation of the human figure in European, Asian and Australian art from the early Renaissance to the early 20th century. ARHT 1002 extends and develops this examination across a number of artforms and media in the 20th century.

Practical Work:
Art Workshop I (optional)
Ms Kenyon and the Art Workshop staff
Art Workshop I consists of one semester-long practical art course chosen from the various media studied in the workshop. A satisfactory mark in Art Workshop I is necessary if the student is intending to take the Advanced Art Workshop semester unit in a senior Art History and Theory course.

ARHT 1002 Art History and Theory 1002
6 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Mick Carter
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: One 1200w essay, one take-home exam or slide test (the Workshop option may be substituted for the essay in ARHT 1001 OR ARHT 1002.)

Art History and Theory 1002 is the second part of a two-part foundation year. Successful completion of Art History and Theory 1001 is a prerequisite for Art History and Theory 1002. Each unit is worth 6 credit points.

(For further details, see entry for Art History and Theory 1001.
Practical Work:
Art Workshop I (optional)

Art Workshop I consists of one semester-long practical art course chosen from the various media studied in the workshop. A satisfactory mark in Art Workshop I is necessary if the student is intending to take the Art Workshop semester unit in a senior Fine Arts course.

ARHT 2010 Art & Society in Trecento Italy
8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Marshall
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: 1 lec & 1 seminar/wk
Assessment: Assessment seminar paper; essay

This unit of study will explore a range of alternative approaches to art produced in Italy during the late thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. Topics to be investigated: problems of monographic analysis; the implications of contemporary workshop practice; civic, familial and princely patterns of artistic patronage; the meaning of 'Tuscanisation' of fourteenth-century art through a consideration of other centres such as Bologna, Rimini, Verona, Padua and Venice.
ARHT 2011 Art & Experience in Renaissance Italy  8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Marshall
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: 1 lec & 1 seminar/wk
Assessment: seminar, paper, essay

This unit of study will explore a range of alternative approaches to Italian Renaissance art and architecture. Topics to be investigated include the concept of the Renaissance and the idea of progress; Quattrocento 'naturalism' and the function of the image; perspective as symbolic form; the Renaissance altarpiece; nudity and the body; Renaissance portraiture and issues of gender; the 'building boom' and the family palace; patronage networks, including the patronage of major Florentine families such as the Strozzi and Medici; civic ritual and public space; the mythology of Venice; art at the papal and princely courts, such as Ferrara, Rimini, Mantua and Milan.

ARHT 2012 Baroque Courts  8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Milam
Prerequisite: ARHT 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 1 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: essay, visual test, class work

This unit of study considers the place of the artist in European courts during the seventeenth century. The focus will be on the image of the ruler and the princely palace as a political and social symbol. Patterns of patronage and issues of artistic independence will be investigated through examples of major commissions in painting and sculpture, as well as the art of specific centres, including Prague, Rome, Paris, Madrid, London, the Hague, Potsdam and Saint Petersburg. Tutorials will involve a more careful examination of theoretical approaches to the expression of power, wealth and glory in visual form.

ARHT 2013 Art of Ancien Regime France: 1648-1789  8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Milam
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001 & ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 1 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: essay, visual test, class work

This unit of study explores the development of a national tradition of art in France from the establishment of the Royal Academy of Painting and Sculpture until the eve of the Revolution. Topics of lectures and tutorials include the circumstances leading to the foundation of the Academy and the development of academic discourse; the commitment to an official system for educating young artists, both in France and in Rome; the alliance between art and absolutism; the artist and the courtier; the public display of art and the creation of new audiences; the emergence of criticism; the portrayal of daily life, landscape and erotic subjects in relation to major currents of Enlightenment thought.

ARHT 2014 Art of the French Revolution  8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Spate
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: essay, visual test, essay paper

This unit of study will examine developments in French painting in relation to the social and historical transformations occurring in the period. Among the topics to be developed in lectures and tutorials are: the revival of history painting; the political function of painting; the relationship between the public and the private; the representation of gender; the relationship between individuality and tradition; the problems of creating a new art for a new society; revolutionary iconography; caricature; festivals; portrait painting; the expansion of minor genres of landscape and scenes of common life; the relationship of painting to its audiences, the art market and art institutions.

ARHT 2015 Realism and Impressionism  8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Spate
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: essay, visual test, class work

This unit of study will examine developments in French Realism and Impressionism with particular emphasis on their relationship to contemporary social and political developments. Students will be expected to read the major theorists of the period, and are strongly advised to read the novels of Flaubert, Zola, etc. Topics discussed in lectures and tutorials will include: Realism and the 'real'; the representation of gender, race and class; Realism, style and 'anti-style'; Realism and Naturalism; the avant-garde; academic Realism; institutional structures; the relation to tradition; Realist and Impressionist iconography; history painting, landscape and genre; the representation of modern life; the interpretation of Realism and Impressionism as politically/socially subversive forms; pleinairism; the city and the country; Realism and the erotic.

ARHT 2020 Themes In European Art 1884-1914  8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Broadfoot
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: essay/paper (total 5000w)

The unit of study will focus mainly on art in France, Italy, Germany and Russia (this focus will vary from year to year); it will examine the relationship between the visual arts and society, and will be concerned with the ways in which they produce meaning, and with their relationship with their audiences. It will not be a chronological survey of 'movements', but will examine selected topics including Modernism and Modernity; the city; the landscape and its human occupants; Orientalism, exoticism and primitivism; the construction of gender in pictorial images; art as social critique; aestheticism.

ARHT 2021 Modernism  8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Pefanis
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr lec & 2hr tut/wk
Assessment: essay/paper (total 5000w)

This unit of study will examine the origins of Modernism in the nineteenth century and its evolution in the twentieth, focusing on Modernism between the World Wars. It will consider Dada and Surrealism's radical threat to the "call to order" — their invocation of the absurd, of the anarchic, of irreason, madness and desire. It will also consider the relationship between the arts and contemporary philosophical and theoretical investigation and will take into account Postmodernism's disruption of the concept of Modernism. The focus of the course will be on European modernism. Australian and American modernism are examined in other advanced options.
ARHT 2022 American Design & Visual Culture 1900-45
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Smith
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: two 2000w essays, visual test, class work

The major theme explored in this unit of study will be the evolution of a distinctively modern visual culture in the United States, its relationship to industrialisation and the consumer society, its phases and diversification across media and usages, its key institutions and exponents, and its impact on other countries in the region (Mexico, Canada). Detailed studies of American painting, sculpture, architecture, photography, film, design, graphics, advertising, expositions and planning will be undertaken. Interpretations of American life in literature and sociology will also be relevant.

ARHT 2023 Postwar Art in Europe and the U.S.A.
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Moore
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 lec, 1 tut & occasional film screenings/wk
Assessment: 3000w essay & 2000w tut paper

This unit of study focusses on the North American and European advantages in the post WWII period. It offers a historical perspective on the critical categories of modernism, late modernism and postmodernism, and the recurrent idea of a cultural 'crisis' as articulated in art and criticism from the period.

ARHT 2024 Contemporary International Art
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Moore
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: one 1hr lec & one 2hr tut/wk
Assessment: 3000w essay or curatorial proposal & 2000w tut paper

This unit of study examines art practices, market and curatorial issues as they are being debated in contemporary art, and contextualises current challenges to established cultural categories, forms and histories. Certain practices, artists and trends are accorded paradigmatic status to identify issues of regionalism, the politics of gender, cultural identity. Changing ideas of 'The New Internationalism' in art are used to trace the slow combustion of dominant cultural traditions of Europe and North America. Tutorials will include visits to significant national and international exhibitions. Students are encouraged to work with contemporary museum holdings.

ARHT 2030 Contemporary Aboriginal Art
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Lecturer to be announced
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Consult Dep
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: essay/project, visual test

A study of the development of contemporary Aboriginal art, particularly since 1970, in the context of recent Australian social history, with special reference to questions of race and representation. The issue of speaking positions will be prioritised, with significant parts of the course being presented by Aboriginal artists. The main focus will be on the emergence of acrylic painting in the Desert areas, the revival of bark painting in Arnhem Land, the growth of Koori and Murri art cultures, and the appearance of art and craftwork at other places in recent years. There will be a thorough study of a variety of discourses surrounding this art, from those of tribal elders to the mass media with special attention to the discursive structures of the art market, of art museums, art criticism and art history/theory.

ARHT 2031 Australian Colonial Art
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Mackay
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2hr lec & 1hr tut/wk
Assessment: essay, tut paper, research project

Australian nineteenth-century art, architecture and photography are examined within the context of current debates on colonialism, imperialism, cultural identity and cultural diversity. The writings of post-colonial theorists are used to discuss Australia's shifting attitudes to its indigenous population, to issues of gender and cultural exchange, to landscape and the built environment. Students make visits to local sites during class hours.

ARHT 2032 Australian Modernism
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Moore
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lec, 1 tut/wk
Assessment: 3,000 wd essay, 2,000 wd tut paper, class participation

This unit of study will concentrate on visual imagery produced in and about Australia from 1880-1940 Themes to be covered include the landscape tradition, urban imagery, images of development, progress and nation. Specific issues examined include the changing character of debates on national identity, the construction of high culture as a nationalist project, Australian responses to modernism and modernity, centre-periphery cultural relations, the contradictions in the positioning of women, indigenous and migrant cultures within modernist and nationalist discourses.

ARHT 2033 Australian Art Since 1940
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Moore
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 lec, 1 tut & occasional film screenings/wk
Assessment: essay, tut paper/art review, class participation

This unit of study traces the shifting relations between modern art, modernism and postmodernism in Australia. These are examined against a field of other cultural, social and political discourses. Issues addressed include artists' responses to World War II, the Cold War and Vietnam; postwar migration; and multiculturalism; urban imagery; contemporary Koori art and Aboriginality in art by white Australians; ongoing shifts in the treatment of traditional subjects such as landscape, art and ecology; feminist, gay and lesbian cultural politics; art criticism; art and electronic technologies.

ARHT 2034 Australian Heritage & Architecture
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Mackay
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr lec & 1hr tut/wk
Assessment: essay, project (equivalent to 5000w essay)

Students are introduced to methods of interpreting cultural significance and heritage values in Australian nineteenth-century buildings, environments and material culture. The unit of study offers knowledges and skills that will assist in gaining work in related areas. Theories of everyday life, the modern past, local and marginal cultures are studied as well as approaches to conservation, preservation, the collection of objects and artefacts and their presentation to the public. Students undertake visits to local sites in class hours.
ARHT 2040 The Art of Modern Asia

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Clark
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 1 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: one 3000w essay & one 1500w tut paper

In Asia there has developed both the nationalist art of a series of modernising states, and a counter-establishment art which has frequently been modern in the Euramerican sense. In order to provide a more sharply focused historical approach, the unit of study will commence with a survey of development of modern art in Japan from 1850 to the 1980s. This will serve as a reference for subsequent examination of the Chinese experience, both in Republican China and, after 1949, in the People’s Republic of China, Taiwan, and Hong Kong. Further lectures and some tutorials will also look briefly at modern art in India, Thailand, and Indonesia.

Teacher/Coordinator: John Clark
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 1 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: one 3000w essay & one 1500w tut paper

The unit of study provides the student with four basic types of understanding for the art of our nearest neighbours which should be invaluable for further study and reference when visiting Southeast Asia. The main areas covered are the iconography and architecture of the Hindu-Buddhist kingdoms, craft practice (chiefly textiles) as an index of inter-regional links, the institutions of modern art and the modern state, and the political and gender-related issues of current practice.

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Clark
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 1 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: one 3000w essay & one 1500w tut paper

The unit of study examines the history of Japanese art in its early modern formation from the early 16th to early 19th centuries. Particular attention will be paid to painting and prints, and the latter third of the course will re-construct both the intellectual and social milieu which gave rise to Ukiyo-e prints and paintings of the courtesan quarters.

ARHT 2043 The Art and Architecture of Modern Japan

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Clark
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: one 3000w essay & one 1500w tut paper

The unit of study examines the development of modern Japanese art since 1850, and in addition to painting and sculpture, extensive reference will also be made to crafts and architecture. Some of the critiques of modernity and their recent postmodernist recapitulation will be examined.

ARHT 2044 Asian Film Studies

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Clark and another lecturer
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lec, 1 tut & 1 directed viewing/wk
Assessment: one 3000w essay & film analysis

This unit of study examines Asian cinema with reference to about fourteen films selected from the cinemas of Japan, China, and India. Students will learn how to analyse a film in terms of its cultural background and the history of film in the country from which it originates.

ARHT 2050 Film Studies I

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Cholodenko
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lec, 1 tut & film screenings/wk
Assessment: one 3000w essay, tut paper

Film Studies I is a unit of study in film theory, analysis and criticism. In addition to analysing a variety of film classics (for example, Mr Smith Goes to Washington, Citizen Kane, Vertigo) and engaging with theories of film from the past (for example, those of Eisenstein and Bazin) and present (especially the work of French film semioticians Christian Metz and Raymond Bellour and the English and American work derived from them), it develops poststructuralist and postmodernist approaches to film analysis and theorising. It correlates work by Barthes, Kristeva, Deleuze, Foucault, Derrida, Baudrillard and Virilio with specific film texts and theories, even as it privileges the work of Baudrillard and Derrida. The work of the unit of study is divided as follows:

Part I
Narrative fictional films and theories of textuality (including examination of methodologies of narrative analysis, cinematic codes and signifiers, notions and issues of cinematic realism, theories of montage and mise-en-scène, modes of narration, the construction of author and reader).

Part IIA
Cinema’s relation to desire (including examination of psychoanalytic semiotics’ notion of the imaginary signifier, the specular text, forms of visual pleasure, and the metapsychology of the cinematic apparatus; theories of transgressive film practices; auteurs and genre theory).

Practical Work:
Credit for coursework can be acquired not only through the writing of essays but also by successfully completing a concurrent Advanced Course in video at the Art Workshop.

ARHT 2051 Film Studies II

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Cholodenko
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002, ARHT 2050
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lec, 1 tut & film screenings/wk
Assessment: one 3000w essay, tut paper

This unit of study continues the work of Film Studies I and is structured as follows:

Part IIB
Cinema’s relation to desire in terms of the theory of both the independent film (exploring notions of experimental, avant-garde, modernist and postmodernist film practices) and the documentary film (engaging problems of authenticity, propaganda, information, education, observation, intervention, direct and indirect address).

Part III
Films on the catastrophe of history in relation to the work of Foucault, Deleuze, Derrida, Baudrillard and Virilio.

Practical Work:
Credit for coursework can be acquired not only through the writing of essays but also by successfully completing a concurrent Advanced course in video at the Art Workshop.
ARHT 2052 From Silent to Sound Cinema

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Jayamanne
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lec, 3hr film screening & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: essay, tut paper, film review

This unit of study will examine the cultural and technological forces that made film a major popular cultural form in the late nineteenth century by looking at some of the early silent film genres and their development into sophisticated forms of visual story telling and spectacle. In order to do this we will focus on two major American silent film genres of comedy and melodrama which include the work of Sennett, Chaplin, Keaton and Griffith. We will also be examining a selection of silent films from the national cinemas of Germany and the Soviet Union in order to understand the range and complexity of silent cinema. The transition into sound will be studied via Hollywood screwball/romantic comedy genre of the 1930s and 1940s. The final part of the unit of study will examine a selection of contemporary films that pay tribute to and work with ideas generated by silent cinema.

ARHT 2053 Cross-cultural Perspectives On Cinema

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Jayamanne
Prerequisite: ARHT 101, ARHT 1002, ARHT 2052
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 1 lec, 3hr film screening & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: essay, tut paper, film review

This unit of study will examine a range of cross-cultural film movements including those of Italian Neo-Realism, Indian Realism, Brazilian Cinema Nova, Cuban Cinema, New German Cinema as well as 1950s Hollywood, in order to explore questions of cultural politics. The unit will also study the theories and polemics of these diverse film making practices.

ARHT 2054 Theory of Film, TV & Computer Animation

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Cholodenko
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 lec, 1 tut & film screenings/wk
Assessment: one 3000w essay & tut paper

The unit of study examines the history of film, television and computer animation and the history and nature of their theorising. Through weekly screenings of major examples of the range of modes and types of animation, it propounds a theory of animation consistent with ‘post-structuralist’ and ‘postmodern’ approaches to film, art and culture—one that offers new ways to analyse and criticise both animation practices and received understandings of it (the institutions of Film Studies and Animation Studies) and to recontextualise not only animation but cinema. The unit examines the major writings on animation, including Donald Crafton’s ‘Before Mickey: The Animated Film 1898-1928’, Eisenstein on Disney, Leonard Maltin’s ‘Of Mice and Magic’ and Norman Klein’s ‘7 Minutes’, as they bear upon the works being screened and upon the history of theorising animation. The specific historical and theoretical texts on animation in general and these films in particular will be inflicted with the work of Baudrillard, Virilio and Derrida (work the unit of study privileges), as well as with contemporary writing in such areas as speed, war, science and technology, nuclear apocalypse, genetic engineering, artificial intelligence, virtual reality, automata/robots/cyborgs, video/computer games, theme parks, toys, etc.

ARHT 2058 Art, Sex and Gender

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Milam
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: one essay, one tute paper or equivalent (total 5,000 wds)

This unit of study will critically examine issues of gender and sexuality in western art history, with particular emphasis on women as patrons, as practitioners of art and as the subject matter of art and popular culture. The unit of study covers a broad chronological time-frame, and is organised around the following themes: feminist critiques of art history; women’s art practice; queer art and cultural theory.
ARHT 2070 Art Workshop: Advanced Art Workshop
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Kenyon
Prerequisite: Enrolment is limited to those students who have completed an Art Workshop I course in a studio relevant to the one they wish to take the Art Workshop Semester Unit in. Exceptions may be made on the production of a portfolio or other materials in an interview with the director of the Art Workshop.
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: 42hrs
Assessment: Students will make, catalogue, exhibit and maintain an exhibition in an art gallery.

At present students can only take one semester in Art Workshop studies at Senior level. This unit of study is offered in first semester only.

The Art Workshop Semester Unit of Study provides increased technical competence, intellectual insight and creative development through 42 hours of studio instruction and the production of an exhibition. Students have the opportunity to realise the problems associated with the production and exhibition of art. The unit of study is an invaluable introduction to producing art and meaning through object making and exhibition.

The unit of study will be offered in Ceramics, Drawing, Film/Video, Painting, Photography, Screenprinting and Sculpture.

ARHT 2071 Faculty of Architecture units of study
8 credit points

When Offered: Consult Dept
Faculty of Architecture units
Selected upper level units in Architecture offered by the Faculty of Architecture may be counted as part of a major in Art History and Theory. Art History and Theory students may take a maximum of 32 Senior Arts credit points (4 Architecture credit points= 8 Arts credit points) in the Faculty of Architecture, provided that for every 8 Arts Senior credit points taken in the Faculty of Architecture, 8 Senior credit points are also taken in the Department of Art History and Theory. See the Department of Art History and Theory for a list of approved Upper Level Architecture Units of Study.

ARHT 3901 Theories of Art History
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Smith
Prerequisite: ARHT 1001, ARHT 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 1 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: 6000w essay or equivalent

Compulsory for intending honours students

This unit of study aims to acquaint intending honours students with the main theoretical influences currently at work in the area of the Fine Arts. Intending Honours students should note the requirements for Honours above. This unit of study may also be taken by students who do not wish to proceed to Art History and Theory IV Honours provided the entry requirement is met. The unit of study may only be taken by third year students.

ARHT 4001 Art History and Theory IV Honours

Teacher/Coordinator: team taught
When Offered: All year
Art History and Theory IV Honours
The Art History and Theory IV Honours has 4 components: a dissertation and 3 semester-length seminars chosen from a pool of options. Intending Art History and Theory IV students are required to pre-enrol in October and make a preliminary registration with the Department in November of the preceding year. They should also have an approved dissertation topic by then.

Weighting: thesis 50%, options: 16 and 2/3% each.
Dissertation on an approved subject
15 000-18 000 words: this will be written under the individual supervision of a member of staff.

Seminar options
Not all options will be offered in any one year. These courses are based on weekly two-hour seminars. Students are required to submit written work totalling 5-6000 words for each option.

(a) Modernism/modernity
An exploration of the concept-formations 'Modern Art', 'modernism', 'modernisation' and 'modernity' through the close reading of key texts in art criticism, history, sociology and philosophy from Baudelaire to the present.

(b) Feminism and film theory
This unit is in two parts. The first will examine the history of feminist film theory and feminist criticism. The second will examine a selection of films that are not designated as 'feminist' to see how they can pose questions and problematise some aspects of feminist theorising on cinema.

(c) Australian colonial culture 1788-1870
This interdisciplinary unit, normally conducted in conjunction with the Department of English, will consider nineteenth-century Australian culture from two main perspectives: the production of culture in a colonial situation and the construction of images of a new world and its inhabitants.

(d) Romanticism—consult department for details

(e) Fashion classics
This unit will examine some of the classic formulations of clothing and fashion of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. It will consist of readings of Carlyle, Veblen, Simmel, Benjamin, Baudrillard, etc.

(f) The animation of cinema
An enquiry into the relation of animation and cinema, cartoon and live action film, via 'poststructuralist' and 'postmodernist' approaches to the subject, with screening and analysis of relevant films and reading of relevant writings of Baudrillard, Virilio and Derrida (which work this option privileges), as well as an in-depth examination and critique of texts addressing the specific films screened and issues raised by those films, including horror/SF, war, science and technology, nuclear apocalypse, genetic engineering, artificial intelligence, virtual reality, automata/robots/cyborgs, video/computer games, theme parks, toys, etc.

(g) Art history, theories and practices
The unit explores the varieties of art writing, particularly those which engage with the ongoing production of art and its institutions. This will be pursued through: (i) a study of the practice of individual critics of modern art; (ii) examination of the work of recent and current art writers, particularly in Australia; (iii) direct practice in a number of different art writing genres. The results of (i) and (ii) will be presented in the form of both class papers and essays; (iii) will take the form of writing exercises with stipulated frameworks.

(h) From critical surrealism to the postmodern surreal
This reading seminar sets out from the premise that the relationship between trends in post-structuralist and postmodernist writing and art and the thought of the critical surrealists is a crucial one, but one which remains largely uncharted, and whose time has come. Critical surrealism and the postmodern surreal will require careful specification: they are tendentious, volatile and slightly impossible ideas; both involve a poetics. Students will be asked to explore the relationship between the two domains, drawing on the psychoanalytic, ethnographic and political theory central to the aesthetics of surrealism.

(i) Mystic eroticism
The focus of this unit is upon the persistent habit of eroticised metaphor in Christian devotion and hence in visual images. Inspired by the heady language of the Song of Songs in the Old Testament, Christian verbal and visual culture was profoundly informed by mystic eroticism. In exploring the visualisation of such erotic metaphors, the course will consider the concept of original sin and Christian attitudes to sexuality and the gendered body. Other themes include the imagery of the sacred or mystic marriage; male and female visionary experiences and the representation of the Virgin Mary and of Mary Magdalene; representing the body of Christ.
(j) Art theory in China and Japan

Art theories in China and Japan will be discussed with some reference to recent critical theory. For China will be examined: shamanist belief and metaphors of state power; theories of representation; the literati empathetic expression; Marxist moralism in art. For Japan will be examined: binary constructions of cultural discourse; poetics of court romances; performer identification and performance in Noh and Tea; social aesthetics of chic and resigned acceptance; the 'national' and the 'authentic'; overcoming or going beyond the 'modern'.

(k) The South Pacific: Western images of the 'other'

Visual images of South Pacific peoples continued to intrigue the Western world throughout the nineteenth century; early interest in the painted image was later replaced by fascination with photographs and postcards. The unit focusses on postcolonial issues concerned with the representation of indigenous races as 'other'. It extends this debate into an examination of nineteenth-century ideas of collecting and display. Specific areas of study include theories of ethnocentrism, the stereotype, the body and regimes of power/knowledge.

(l) Australian art since 1945: current perspectives

This unit investigates selected themes in contemporary Australian art and art criticism. These include ideas about art objects and practices, the public sphere, cultural diversity, Aboriginal politics, art and the environment, regionalism and internationalism, new technologies, feminism and queer aesthetics. Participants will be expected to lead discussion on one of the broad seminar topics listed above. The readings specified for each week are to be read by all participants. Students will also be expected to visit exhibitions regularly and be familiar with current newspaper reviews and articles in art journals.

(m) Play and art in the 18th century

This unit is an inquiry into the analogy often made between art and play, with a specific focus on French painting during the Enlightenment. Attention will be given to the phenomena of games as subject and style in the history of art with the aim of determining a more precise criterion for assessing an image that operates as play. In addition to art historical discussions of emblematics and game imagery readings will draw from the fields of anthropology, sociology, cultural history, philosophy and aesthetics, literary criticism, and theories of viewer response.

Asian Studies

The University of Sydney has a long tradition in Asian Studies dating back to the establishment of the Department of Oriental Studies in 1918. In 1991 the School of Asian Studies was established to give a central focus to the University's considerable resources in teaching and research in the languages, culture, history and societies of Asia and to enable the Faculty to better respond to the country's need to produce many more graduates trained in Asian languages.

The School incorporates four departments: Chinese Studies, Indian Sub-Continental Studies, Japanese and Korean Studies, and Southeast Asian Studies. In addition to its specialist Asian language and cultural studies units of study the School and the Department of History offer two 6-credit point first year units of study, Modern Asian History and Culture, which provide a general introduction to Asia. Students are able to complete a major in the subject area of Asian Studies which is aimed at developing a broad understanding. Students of Art History and Culture, which provides a general introduction to Art History and Culture, which provides a general introduction to Art History and Culture, which provides a general introduction to the various countries and regions that make up what we call 'Asia'.

The School of Asian Studies offers a range of undergraduate courses at postgraduate level and postgraduate training by coursework or research.

The University of Sydney holds exchange agreements with several universities in the Asian region, including Waseda University, Hosei University, Kwansei Gakuin University and Tokyo Metropolitan University in Japan; Seoul National University and Yonsei University in Korea; and Universitas Kristen Satya Wacana, Salatiga, Indonesia.
ASNS 1101 Introduction to Chinese Civilisation

Teacher/Coordinator: TBA
When Offered: July
Classes: Three hours per week
Assessment: Classwork 20%; two 1,500-word essays (30% each); one-hour final examination (20%).

A broad-ranging, chronologically-arranged introduction to Chinese civilisation from prehistory to recent times. ASNS 1777 Asian Studies - Junior Courses Other Deps.
When Offered: July
The following Junior Units of Study offered by departments outside the School of Asian Studies may be taken as part of the Asian Studies major (see appropriate departmental entry for a description):

ARPH 1003 The Archaeology of Asia: From Java to Beijing
School of Archaeology, Classics and Ancient History.

ASNS 2111 China from 900 to 1900: Continuity or Change?

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. Dunstan
When Offered: March
Classes: Three hours per week
Assessment: Classwork 20%; 3,000-word essay 40%; oral presentation based on work for essay 10%; additional written assignments not exceeding 3,000 words 30%

How far has modern scholarship overturned the conventional image of pre-modern Chinese history as a series of dynamic cycles, devoid of progressive change? This unit of study, which focuses more on social and economic than on political history, attempts to provide a balanced answer to this question. Topics include the evolution of "gentry" society, the fate of serfdom, the role of lineage organization, the development of market systems, the economic role of government, environmental change and the structure of sample industries.

ASNS 2201 Age of the Imperial Guptas

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Oldmeadow
When Offered: July
Prerequisite: 12 junior credit points in Asian Studies, History, Economic History, Philosophy and/or an Asian language
Classes: 3 hrs/wk
Assessment: One 5000w essay, one 1000w tut paper

The civilisation of Ancient India reached its zenith during the time of the Imperial Guptas. This was the Classical Age of India. Then India was the most advanced nation in the contemporary world — she made some substantial contributions in the fields of mathematics, chemistry, astronomy, philosophy, poetry, drama, arts and culture. A selection of official inscriptions, coins and literary sources will be used. Part of the time will be devoted to historiography, touching on the debate on 'the Classical Age.'

ASNS 2207 Modern Indian Literature in Translation

When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: (2 lec & one 2hr tut)/wk
Assessment: One 5000w essay, one 1000w tut paper

Divided into two sections (a) modern novels and short stories and (b) modern poetry. The lectures will give an overview of modern Indian literature based on common themes and traditions in the vernacular writings from all major novelists.

ASNS 2212 Six Schools of Classical Indian Philosophy

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Oldmeadow
When Offered: March
Classes: (2 lec & 1 tut)/wk
Assessment: One 4000w essay, one 1000w tut paper

This unit of study will begin with a short study of Upanishads (800-300 B.C.) and then will focus upon the six schools of classical Indian thought which flourished between the third and twelfth centuries A.D. The six schools will be studied in three groups, each of which highlights particular dimensions within the history of Indian thought: the study of Sankhya and Yoga will highlight metaphysics and psychology; the study of Nyaya and Vaisesika will emphasise the developments in Indian epistemology and logic; and the study of Mimamsa and Vedanta will focus on the theory of language, views about the nature of consciousness and arguments concerning the ontological status of the physical world.

ASNS 2304 Early Modern Japanese History

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Tippton
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: (2 lec & 1 tut)/wk
Assessment: One 2500w essay, one tutorial paper, one exam

This unit of study will look at the social, political and cultural order under the Tokugawa shogunate from different and possibly contradictory perspectives: as a feudal order crumbling from the consequences of socio-economic changes and as a dynamic early modern society forming the prelude to modernisation.
ASNS 2308 Modern Japanese Social History

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Tippton
Prerequisite: 12 junior credit points in Asian Studies, History, Economic History, Government and/or an Asian Language

When Offered: March
Assessment: One 2500 word essay, one 1000 word essay, semester exam

This unit of study will begin with an examination of the social aspects of the Meiji reforms, evaluating interpretations of their aims and effects. The focus will then turn to the emergence of new social forces in the twentieth century, such as industrial workers, an urban middle class and a women's movement. We will also explore changes in daily life and attitudes to work and leisure as urbanisation and industrialisation progressed and assess the effects of the Second World War and the Occupation.

ASNS 2405 Southeast Asian History: Economic Change and Religious Conversion

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr van Langenberg
Prerequisite: 12 junior credit points in Asian Studies, History, Economic History, Government and/or an Asian Language

May not be counted with: INMS 1301, INMS 1302, INMS 2101, INMS 2102

When Offered: March
Assessment: Tutorial paper, one 3000w essay, one 2hr exam

This central theme will be the interaction between cultural and economic change during the 19th and 20th centuries in that region of Southeast Asia which today encompasses the nation-states of Indonesia, Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore and Brunei.

Examinations:
- the two major religious movements of the region — Islam and Buddhism;
- changes in economic systems and patterns of socio-economic relations;
- the development of nationalism as both 'cultural' and 'political' phenomena.

ASNS 2409 Performances East/West

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Day
Prerequisite: 12 junior credit points in Asian Studies, History, Economic History, and/or an Asian Language

When Offered: March
Classes: (one 2hr seminar & I tut)/wk
Assessment: Two 1000w essays, one 2000w essay

This unit of study examines a variety of Asian performance traditions and the role of Asian theatre in the new 'interculturalism'. Attention will be directed to the causes, nature and aims of Meiji government policies and their consequences, revolving around the question of whether or not the Meiji Restoration was a revolution.

ASNS 2414 Southeast Asian Politics

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr van Langenberg
Prerequisite: 12 junior credit points in Asian Studies, History, Economic History, Government and/or an Asian Language

When Offered: July
Classes: (2 lec & 1 tut)/wk
Assessment: One 3000w essay, tutorial paper, 2hr exam

The unit of study examines the contemporary nation-states of Indonesia, Thailand, Malaysia and Singapore as case studies in comparative politics. Together the four states encompass over 250 million people, more than a dozen major ethnic and racial communities, one of the important regional economic groupings in the world (Asean), three major religious cultures (Islam, Buddhism, Christianity), and the largest Moslem nation in the world (Indonesia).

In the past two decades Southeast Asia has undergone profound political and social transformation. Economic growth rates are amongst the highest in the world. Both wealth and poverty are growing in comparative terms. Agricultural economies are being industrialised. Authoritarian regimes are accommodating to democratizing pressures. The global media is impacting upon domestic cultures. Global capital is transforming economies and political power relations. New movements of religious revival are challenging state authority. Nationalisms and cultural chauvinisms interact and frequently conflict. Globalism and "post-coloniality" are now determining generational changes both of political leadership and in civil-societies in Southeast Asia.

The unit of study will concentrate on the study of the state, government and public administration, political cultures and national economies. It will seek to explain the patterns and dynamics of contemporary politics in this important and rapidly changing region and provide guidelines for evaluating future developments.

Textbooks:
The department of Chinese Studies offers programs for three separate groups (streams) of students: complete beginners (the non-background-speaker stream), students with some prior knowledge of Chinese (the intermediate stream), and fully character-literate native speakers (the native-speaker stream). Students who have taken HSC two-unit-Z Chinese or who are in doubt about which stream best suits their needs should contact the department to arrange a placement interview. All first-year students will be required to submit a formal declaration of their prior knowledge of Chinese. The department will assist students who have enrolled in an inappropriate stream or unit to correct their enrolment. It reserves the right to place students in the stream that it deems most suitable for them, and to impose severe assessment penalties on students who are found to have concealed prior knowledge of Chinese.

The department offers training in Modern Standard Chinese (putonghua, also known as Mandarin). Throughout the handbook entries, the word "Chinese" refers to Modern Standard Chinese. Students in all streams will also have the opportunity of learning Classical Chinese, the gateway to much of China's rich cultural heritage.

The second digit of the numerical part of each unit of study code indicates for which stream the unit of study is intended, as shown immediately below.

Second digit Stream

0 No streaming at this level
1 Non-background-speaker stream (the pre-1998 B-stream)
2 Intermediate stream (the pre-1998 AB-stream plus non-native-speaker A-stream students)
3 Native-speaker stream (the pre-1998 A-stream, native speakers only)
4 Two-hour elective unit of study ("option"), intended mainly for intermediate-stream students in their second year and non-background-speaker-stream students in their third year
5 Three-hour elective unit of study ("option"), intended mainly for intermediate-stream students in their third year and native-speaker-stream students in their second and third years
6 Special-entry unit of study, for students hoping to take Honours

The non-background-speaker stream. The main priority is effective training in Chinese through a structured language program continuing into third year. Provision is made for students to gain insight into Chinese culture through an introductory course in first year, readings in modern Chinese literature in second year, and a range of advanced options in third year. Business Chinese will be available as a third-year option. Students are encouraged to begin Classical Chinese in second year, but may defer it until third year.

The intermediate stream. For students who have passed HSC Chinese for non-background-speakers or have an equivalent level of proficiency in Chinese. First-year classes will emphasise the rapid development of Chinese language skills in order to provide a firm foundation for challenging options in Chinese literature, thought, etc., in second and third years. Business Chinese will be available as a second-year option, and the second-year core language unit of study will focus on contemporary issues.

The native-speaker stream. For students with full native-speaker competence in Chinese (including the ability to read materials in Chinese characters fluently). This program is for students who would like to study Chinese culture, literature and society in a Western academic context, and who are interested both in advanced study of Chinese-language texts and in learning about Western scholarship on China. Much of the program consists of advanced options; units of study which are compulsory for the major are the first-year sequences "Foundations in Chinese Studies (1 and 2)" and "Classical Chinese for Native Speakers (1 and 2)" and the second-year unit of study "Contemporary Issues in the Chinese World." Native speakers of Cantonese or other dialects who lack proficiency in putonghua will substitute "Putonghua for Cantonese Speakers" for Classical Chinese in first year, and join the intermediate-stream Classical Chinese class in second year.

For details of the program in each of the three streams, see the department's course information booklet, which will be available from the School of Asian Studies counter not later than the end of February. First-year students in the non-background-speaker and intermediate streams should consult the department's noticeboards at the beginning of orientation week for information about tutorial groups.

The following extra-departmental units of study may be counted towards the Chinese Studies major according to the rules set out in the course information booklet, and subject to the proviso that no unit may be counted towards more than one major by the same student:

- ASNS 2111: China from 900 to 1900: Continuity or Change? (Asian Studies unit of study, offered in March Semester)
- Chias in its World: from the Opium War to Deng Xiaoping (History unit of study)
- Government and Politics of Modern China (Government unit of study)
- Historical Development of the Chinese Economy (Economic History unit of study, not offered in 1998)

The department reserves the right not to offer all the units of study described below should there be unexpected staffing difficulties or insufficient student demand.

CHNS 1101 Beginning Chinese (1) 6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Keenan

May not be counted with: This and other non-background-speaker stream units of study may not be taken by students who are eligible to take intermediate or native-speaker stream units of study.

When Offered: March

*Classes: Five hours per week
Assessment: Information will be provided at the first class meeting.*

Introduction to Modern Standard Chinese for beginners. Foundation work on pronunciation, pinyin romanisation, elementary grammar and the Chinese writing system will be followed by an integrated program of grammar learning, vocabulary development and training in the skills of listening and speaking. Students will learn to read and write approximately 200 characters.

Practical Work:
Language laboratory work will be required.

Assumed Knowledge: Advanced or native-speaker knowledge of Chinese
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: Three hours per week
Assessment: Information will be provided at the first class meeting.
Lu Xun (1881-1936) was arguably the most important agent in a "literary revolution" reflecting socio-cultural upheaval in early twentieth-century China.
From the 1910s until the 1940s, foreign influences and indigenous concerns in the realms of social thought and literary theory helped shape a widely-read modern literature. This unit of study highlights works of fiction by Lu Xun and other major authors in the context of the intellectual history of the time.

In principle, third-year for intermediate stream and second- or third-year for native-speaker stream.

CHNS 3534 The Role of Literature in Modern China

Assumed Knowledge: Advanced or native-speaker knowledge of Chinese

May not be counted with: Students who have taken and passed the two-hour version of this unit in an old "umbrella" course may not enrol.

When Offered: Consult Dept

Classes: Three hours per week

Assessment: Information will be provided at the first class meeting.

In China, the twentieth century has been no less turbulent for literature than for history. A constant amid radical change has been ardent debate on the role of literature: should it be a means to political ends, an agent of social improvement or an independent body accountable only to the Muse? This unit of study explores writing on modern Chinese literature, and identifies literary scenes whose members have strongly disagreed in their answers to a perennial question: art for whose sake?

In principle, third-year for intermediate stream and second- or third-year for native-speaker stream.

CHNS 3535 Modern Chinese Women Writers

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Lily Lee

Prerequisite: CHNS 1302; or CHNS 2202; or CHNS 2102 and instructor's permission.

Corequisite: Students majoring in Chinese Studies should ensure that they enrol in the appropriate core unit (if applicable: refers to CHNS 2301 and CHNS 3101/3102).

Assumed Knowledge: Advanced or native-speaker knowledge of Chinese

When Offered: March

Classes: Three hours per week

Assessment: Information will be provided at the first class meeting.

From the beginning of the twentieth century, women writers of a new kind appeared in China. Influenced by Western ideas and strongly nationalistic, many of them gravitated towards reform and revolution. This unit of study will examine samples of their writing against the background of changes in women's lives and in the consciousness and self-perception of educated Chinese women.

In principle, third-year for intermediate stream and second- or third-year for native-speaker stream.

CHNS 3536 China's Avant-garde Fiction after Mao

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Patton

Prerequisite: CHNS 1302; or CHNS 2202; or CHNS 2102 and instructor's permission.

Corequisite: Students majoring in Chinese Studies should ensure that they enrol in the appropriate core unit (if applicable: refers to CHNS 2301 and CHNS 3101/3102).

Assumed Knowledge: Advanced or native-speaker knowledge of Chinese

May not be counted with: Students who have taken and passed the two-hour version of this unit in an old "umbrella" course may not enrol.

When Offered: Consult Dept

Classes: Three hours per week

Assessment: Information will be provided at the first class meeting.

China's avant-garde fiction of the 1980s and after reflects spectacular changes in PRC ideology and culture, and shows sharp discrepancies with "official" — state-sanctioned — representations of Chinese realities. Through primary and secondary readings in Chinese and English, students will examine forms and functions of such fiction in its historical context. Close reading of representative works will enable them to enhance their linguistic and analytical skills while tackling sophisticated, challenging literary texts.

In principle, third-year for intermediate stream and second- or third-year for native-speaker stream.

CHNS 3537 China's Newest Poetry: Friends and Foes

Prerequisite: Consult Dept.

Not offered in 1998.

Prerequisite: CHNS 1302; or CHNS 2202; or CHNS 2102 and instructor's permission.

Corequisite: Students majoring in Chinese Studies should ensure that they enrol in the appropriate core unit (if applicable: refers to CHNS 2301 and CHNS 3101/3102).

Assumed Knowledge: Good grounding in Classical Chinese

May not be counted with: Students who have taken and passed the two-hour version of this unit in an old "umbrella" course may not enrol.

When Offered: Consult Dept

Classes: Three hours per week

Assessment: Information will be provided at the first class meeting.

China already had a diverse poetic tradition long before the Tang "golden age." It includes the collection of odes and folksongs accorded scriptural status by Confucians; the richly beautiful Chu ci, laden with supernatural imagery, from the central-China state of Chu; and the carefully veiled political satires written against a background of massacre and usurpation in the brief, third-century Wei dynasty. This unit of study will introduce students to one or more of these or other pre-Tang genres.

In principle, third-year for intermediate stream and second- or third-year for native-speaker stream.

CHNS 3542 Poetry of the Tang Dynasty

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Prince

Prerequisite: CHNS 1302; or CHNS 2202; or CHNS 2102 and instructor's permission.

Corequisite: Students majoring in Chinese Studies should ensure that they enrol in the appropriate core unit (if applicable: refers to CHNS 2301 and CHNS 3101/3102).

Assumed Knowledge: Good grounding in Classical Chinese

When Offered: March

Classes: Three hours per week

Assessment: Information will be provided at the first class meeting.

In the eighth century, new developments in verse technique and changing social conditions led to an outburst of creativity that has made the Tang dynasty a byword for great poetry. This unit of study will feature close reading of selected poems mostly by major authors.

In principle, third-year for intermediate stream and second- or third-year for native-speaker stream.

In traditional China, autobiography had a very close connection with biography, and many autobiographical works were modeled on the format of the biography. Yet many other works have a more or less autobiographical character and are an expression of the author's life and personality. Some especially interesting examples will be selected for study.

In principle, third-year for intermediate stream and second- or third-year for native-speaker stream.

CHNS 3553 Daoist Texts 8 credit points

From Zhou Dunyi (1017-1073) to Wang Yangming (1472-1529), many philosophers worked to equip Confucianism with a system of metaphysics and of personal self-cultivation that would enable it to compete with its chief rival, Buddhism. From their efforts there emerged a Neo-Confucianism that remained the dominant creed in China for several centuries. This unit of study presents extracts from the writings of the principal Neo-Confucian thinkers.

In principle, third-year for intermediate stream and second- or third-year for native-speaker stream.

Japanese: About the Major

When Offered: March & July

Major Sequence in Japanese

Students following a major sequence in Japanese take both the core language unit of study (Introductory, Intermediate or Advanced, as appropriate) and, in the case of senior units of study, one 4-credit point JPNS unit of study, (designated by the UoS title followed by -J), in each semester.

The core Japanese language units of study (designated Introductory, Intermediate and Advanced) can be taken as a free-standing minor sequence, but other 4-credit point JPNS units of study must be combined with core language units.

Native speakers of Japanese should not enrol in core language units of study or other senior 4-credit point units of study. They can enrol in JPNS 8 credit point units provided they have acquired at least 12 junior credit points in other subject areas, i.e., they will not normally be eligible to take JPNS units of study until they are in the second year of a degree programme.

Japanese: Senior units of study

When Offered: 1998

Students following a major sequence in Japanese take both the 4-credit point, core language unit of study (Intermediate or Advanced, as appropriate) and one 4-credit point JPNS unit of study (designated by the UoS title followed by -J) in each semester.

In addition students may take one extended, 8-credit point, unit of study per year, provided that they have not taken the corresponding 4-credit point unit of study. It is therefore possible to take up to 24 credit points of Japanese per year. The 8 credit point units require a greater time commitment from students in the form of additional reading and written assignments. Students wishing to take further Japan-related units of study should do so by enrolling in appropriate units of study in the Asian Studies major.

The core Japanese language units of study (designated Introductory, Intermediate and Advanced) can be taken as a free-standing minor sequence, but other 4-credit point JPNS units of study must be combined with core language units.

Native speakers of Japanese should not enrol in core language units of study or other senior 4-credit point units of study. They can enrol in JPNS 8 credit point units provided they have acquired at least 12 junior credit points in other subject areas, i.e. they will not normally be eligible to take JPNS units of study until they are in the second year of a degree programme.

KRNS 1101 Korean Introductory Level 1 6 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr D.-S. Park
Corequisite: ASNS 1001
When Offered: March
Classes: 5hr/wk
Assessment: Continuous class assessment, semester exams.
This unit of study is a comprehensive beginners' course which will lay the foundation for acquiring oral, aural, reading and writing skills in Korean. The primary emphasis is on the spoken language in terms of communicative function. The secondary emphasis is on reading and writing skills within the bounds of basic grammatical structures.

Reading and writing
2hr/wk
The reading of simple Korean texts will be introduced from the fifth week of first semester. In addition to the set textbook, extra reading materials will be distributed in class. From the second semester, on the basis of grammatical structures introduced, students develop practical written communication skills. Exercises include the writing of memos, letters, and the description of objects and simple events.

Structure drill
1hr/wk
Relevant basic grammatical information will be introduced together with drills and exercises which will be used for conversation and reading classes.

Conversation
2hr/wk

Students will acquire oral communicative skills based on the given topics of conversation. Approximately one lesson of the textbook will be covered each week. Prior to each lesson, students are required to practise dialogues using the audio tapes available in the Language Centre. Various communicative approaches will be employed for the weekly class activities. Students are required to give a group oral presentation at the end of each semester.

Celtic Studies

Director Dr Helen Fulton
Course coordinator Dr Aedeen Cremin
Teaching staff Dr H. Fulton, Dr A. Cremin, Mr B.K. Martin, Mr G. Evans

Celtic Studies is an interdisciplinary programme of study administered by the Centre for Celtic Studies. It is offered at Senior level only, and students will be admitted if they have successfully completed 18 credit points in any two subject areas at Junior level. A major in Celtic Studies consists of at least 32 credit points at Senior level, including at least one unit chosen from CLST 2001-5. Units of study offer an introduction to Celtic culture over the past two and a half thousand years, and will be of interest to students of language, linguistics, literature, anthropology, archaeology, history and religion.

Office General Office, Department of English, Woolley Building.
Enquiries Dr H. Fulton, Room N409, Woolley Building, or Dr A. Cremin, room 736, MacCallum Building.

PLEASE NOTE: ALL UNITS ARE OFFERED SUBJECT TO SUFFICIENT FUNDING.

Cross-listed units from other subject areas

When Offered: Consult Dept
Students who are taking or have completed at least one unit from CLST 2001-5 may count one or more of the following units towards a Celtic Studies major. Students should consult the relevant section of the Handbook for further details of these units:

Department of History: The Celtic World
The British Celtic Frontier 1400-1600
The British Celtic Frontier 1600-1800

Department of English: Frontier, Norse and Celtic
Early Medieval Voyages of Body and Mind
Arthurian Literature
Middle Welsh (Special Entry)
Old Irish (Special Entry)

School of Studies in Religion: Celtic Mythology.

CLST 2001 Modern Irish Language and Culture 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr G. Evans
Prerequisite: 18 credit points at Junior level
When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 2 hour exam and one 2500 word essay

This unit provides an introduction to the language and culture of modern Ireland and includes some reference to Gaelic culture in Scotland. Students will acquire some familiarity with spoken and written Irish, the history of the language, and the contexts in which it is used in contemporary Ireland.

CLST 2002 Modern Welsh Language and Culture 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr G. Evans
Prerequisite: 18 credit points at Junior level
When Offered: July
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 2 hour exam and one 2500 word essay

This unit provides an introduction to the language and culture of modern Wales. Students will acquire some familiarity with spoken and written Welsh, the history of the language, and the contexts in which it is used in contemporary Wales, including media such as film and television.

CLST 2003 Early Celtic Europe 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr A. Cremin
Prerequisite: 18 credit points at Junior level
When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 2 hour exam and one 2500 word essay

This unit examines the prehistory and early history of Celtic-speaking peoples in Central and Western Europe and traces the development of the cultures of the British Isles. Early evidence for the Celts is considered in the areas of archaeology, linguistics and history.

CLST 2004 Modern Celtic Societies 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr H. Fulton
Prerequisite: 18 credit points at Junior level
When Offered: July
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 2 hour exam and one 2500 word essay

This unit examines the history, literature and culture of the insular Celtic countries from medieval to modern times. It also questions the concept of 'Celticity' and what this means today. The unit forms a continuation of CLST 2003, though this is not a pre-requisite. Evidence includes historical and literary material suggesting some aspects of Celtic culture in the medieval, renaissance and early modern periods.
CLST 2005 Celtic Art
8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr A. Cremin
Prerequisite: 18 credit points at Junior level
When Offered: July
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 2 hour exam and one 2500 word essay
This unit analyses the decorative style conventionally described as 'Celtic', i.e. an abstract ornament based on curves and spirals, and examines its relation to society, its development and its modifications through 1400 years of use (from approximately 400 B.C. to the tenth century A.D).

CLST 3001 Advanced Welsh Language
8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Mr G. Evans
Prerequisite: CLST 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: Three 1 hour seminars
Assessment: One 2 hour exam and one 2500 word essay
This unit continues work in modern Welsh language, literature and culture, with the aims of reading contemporary Welsh literature in the original language and considering the political and social location of the Welsh language in the context of modern Britain.

CLST 3002 Advanced Irish Language
8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Mr G. Evans
Prerequisite: CLST 2001
When Offered: July
Classes: Three 1 hour seminars
Assessment: One 2 hour exam and one 2500 word essay
This unit continues work in modern Irish language, literature and culture, with the aims of examining the contexts in which Irish is used in modern Ireland, its political and economic status and its use as a literary language.

CLST 3003 Modern British and Irish Literature
4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr H. Fulton
Prerequisite: 8 credit points in any subject area at Senior level
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3500 word essay
Beginning with Yeats and the Irish Revival of the late 19th century, this unit aims to survey the development of literary forms and styles in Ireland, Wales and Scotland during the 20th century, with an emphasis on the political role of literature in the emergence of nationalism.

CLST 3004 Cornwall, Brittany and Australia
4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr L. Olson
Prerequisite: 8 credit points in any subject area at Senior level
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3500 word essay
This unit is about the Celtic heritage of Cornwall and Brittany, as well as connections across their respective cultural boundaries. While concentrating on these regions in the Middle Ages, topics will also include life in an early 20th-century Breton village and the Cornish in Australia.

CLST 4001 Celtic Studies IV Honours
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr H. Fulton
When Offered: All year
Students intending to proceed to Celtic Studies IV Honours should consult the Co-ordinator as early as possible in their programme of study. Celtic Studies IV Honours is a 2-semester programme consisting of:
1. 4 one-semester units of study (2 hours per week) chosen from the Special Entry and IV Honours units of study in other subject areas in the Faculty for which the student has satisfied the entry requirements.
NOTE: since entry into third-year Special Entry units normally requires completion of second-year Special Entry units, intending Honours students should complete the Special Entry requirements in another subject area in their second year.
2. CLST 4001: a thesis of 15 000 - 20 000 words, written under the supervision of a member of staff nominated by the Co-ordinator.
The coursework is worth 60% of the total mark, and the thesis is worth 40%.

The English Department occupies floors 3 and 4 of the John Woolley Building. The Front Office, to which enquiries should be directed in the first instance, is on your immediate left as you enter the building on floor 3. Telephone 9351 2349 or 9351 3251, facsimile 9351 2434.

The English Department offers units of study in English and Australian Literature, and N404 (Australian Literature), N304 (English Language and Early English Literature), S356 (English Literature), and N404 (Australian Literature).

The English Department offers units of study in English and Australian Literature at both Pass and Honours level. Pass units of study are offered at both Junior and Senior levels, while Fourth Year Honours is offered as an additional unit of study at Senior level to suitably qualified candidates. Subject to the by-laws and resolutions of the Senate and Faculty, students may take up to 82 credit points out of the 144 required for the degree at Pass level from the one subject area. English constitutes a single subject area and Australian Literature another.

Australian Literature is available at Senior level only and the equivalent of 8 credit points from Australian Literature may be taken within a major in English. For details of Australian Literature units of study see the separate entry in the handbook under Australian Literature.

Registration

Students enrol in both English and Australian Literature with the Faculty of Arts: there is no need to register separately with the respective Departments until classes commence. Advice in choosing courses is available at pre-enrolment and enrolment time. Students should consult the departmental noticeboards for additional information.

Assessment

Under University by-laws, 'a course' consists of 'lectures, together with such seminars, tutorial instruction, exercises, exercises and practical work as may be prescribed'. To 'complete a course' means:

(a) to attend the lectures and the meetings, if any, for seminars and tutorial instruction;

(b) to obtain a passing grade for that course in accordance with the assessment criteria prescribed.

Details of the assessment in individual units of study are included with the descriptions of those units of study.

Units of Study in English available at Pass level

Junior level units of study

6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Williams
When Offered: July
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial
Assessment: Two short class exercises, one essay, end of semester exam

This unit of study provides an introduction to the systematic study of English language for interpretative purposes. Students will be introduced to a metalinguistic vocabulary for describing and analysing text and linguistic variation, and relations between texts and contexts. Major topics include historical changes to the English language, relations between different varieties of English, the study of grammatical structures from a meaning perspective, speech and writing variation, and relationships between visual images and language.

Textbooks:
A resource book will be available from the Department

2. Senior Level Units of Study in English

Teacher/Coordinator: Coordinator: Dr Ragerson
When Offered: 1998

Listed below are Senior level units of Study for 1998: for Australian Literature, see the separate Australian Literature entry.

Most Senior units of Study within the Department of English have a value of 8 credit points and require a time commitment of 3 face-to-face teaching hours. All units of study include some small-group teaching, either by seminar or tutorial. Where a tutorial is one of the 3 hours, tutorial times will normally be arranged in the first week of classes. The full range of units of study across the Department's offerings at Senior level is available to all students who have passed 12 Junior credit points of English, including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050, subject to the following restrictions and recommendations:

(a) units of study will be offered only if the enrolment in each is sufficient (normally 15-20 minimum)

(b) those students who have already completed Senior level units of study in English and wish to take further units of study in 1998 should consult the Department before enrolling in these units

(c) this handbook gives details of units of study offered in 1998. In general, Senior level units of study rotate from year to year, and provisional information about 1999 offerings will be available in the Department during pre-enrolment. The Department offers advisory assistance to students choosing their units of study at both pre-enrolment and enrolment time

(d) the range of units of study offered in the Department allows students to plan their Senior level studies in various ways. Some Senior units of study within the Department are 'period' units of study, covering specific historical periods ("The English Renaissance", for instance, or 'Chaucer and the Fourteenth Century'), whilst others cross both genres and historical periods in the exploration of a particular theme or themes ("Technologies of print media, 1600-2000", 'The Text in Critical and Cultural History', or 'Medieval themes in post-1500 literature'). Others again are 'Language' studies of various kinds, ranging from 'Anglo-Saxon, Norse and Celtic Studies' to a unit of study in 'Grammar and Discourse'. Students are advised to choose their units of study in such a way as to make up a coherent sequence over their two Senior years of English. Units of study have been designed and programmed with this consideration in mind and students are encouraged to acquaint themselves with as wide a range of periods, authors or subjects as possible in order to enable them to make informed choices about the particular areas or subjects they wish to pursue.

It is also possible for students with a special interest in a particular area to pursue that interest. Students with a particular interest in drama, for instance, might choose to follow that interest through in a sequence of units of study, taking 'Drama: Classical to Renaissance' in the first semester and 'Shakespeare and Co' in the second semester of 1998. Alternatively, those students with a special interest in, for instance, the Medieval and/or Renaissance periods (or in the continuation and transformation of medieval themes in later periods), in Nineteenth century literature, in Communication studies, in Anglo-Saxon, Norse and Celtic Studies, or in American Literature, have a number of possible ways open to them of pursuing such interests in such a way as to make for themselves a meaningful sequence of units of study. The Department offers students possibilities both to broaden their range of acquaintance with English, American and Australian literature and with related work falling under the banner of 'English' and/or to deepen their special interests in particular aspects of those literatures or that work.

The full range of units of study across the Department's offerings at Senior level is available to all students who have passed 12 Junior credit points of English, including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050, subject to the following restrictions and recommendations:

(a) units of study will be offered only if the enrolment in each is sufficient (normally 15-20 minimum)

ENGL 2001 Arthurian Literature 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Fulton, Mrs Taylor
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial
Assessment: One 4000 word essay and one 2 hour exam

This unit of study gives students the opportunity to study three closely related cultures of North-West Europe from the Early Middle Ages. These are the cultures of the Anglo-Saxons who migrated to England from Northern Europe, the Norse (or Scandinavians), who had a major impact on the rest of Europe in the Viking Age; and the Celtic peoples of Continental Europe and the British Isles (the Irish and the Welsh will be our focus here).

Two lecture hours per week will discuss the history of the Anglo-Saxons, the Celts and the Norse; their writing systems (including ogham and runes), the extent of the written corpus of all three cultures; society and the law; and the character of Anglo-Saxon, Norse and Celtic literatures studies in translation.

The third hour will be a tutorial. Each student will choose to study one of the following three languages at elementary level: Old English (Anglo-Saxon); Old Norse (Old Icelandic); Old Irish. The first lecture hour will introduce students to each of the three languages; thereafter each student will take one language only. Students' understanding of the language strand will be examined at the end of semester.

Note: Pass students who wish to continue their study of the language they have chosen in this unit of study, and have obtained a Credit or better in Anglo-Saxon, Norse and Celtic Studies, may apply to the Professor of English Language and Early Literature for permission to take one of the following Honours options in Semester II. (All these units of study are worth 4 credit points).

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Miller and others
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay and one 3 hour exam

A survey of the history of English drama to 1642. The unit of study begins with examples of Greek tragedy and Roman comedy. The study of medieval drama surveys the strength and variety of the native tradition before the Renaissance, as revealed by texts and records of both secular and religious dramatic activities. As well, it considers the status of the actor and the range of staging techniques and scenic effects practised in this period. Texts from the English Renaissance theatre of the late 16th and early 17th centuries include tragedy of state and tragedy of revenge, farcical comedy and romantic love comedy, and the history play as national epic. Attention will be given to the way these texts combine reworkings of ancient and medieval traditions with Renaissance innovations and to the way they combine theatricality with poetry and rhetoric.

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: July
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial
Assessment: One 4000 word essay and one 2 hour exam

This unit of study examines the centrality of travel and voyaging to the early medieval cultures of North-West Europe: Celtic, Anglo-Saxon, Old Norse. It begins with a consideration of why voyaging, both literal and metaphorical, was such an important theme in the literature of these cultures, and how and why early medieval people travelled. Next, several key reasons and the way in which these are expressed in Old English, Irish, Welsh, and Old Norse (Old Icelandic) texts will be investigated. Finally, the unit of study looks at the social constraints and customs that governed and controlled travellers in early medieval Europe.

ENGL 2010 Grammar and Discourse
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Williams
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial
Assessment: Three 1000 word assignments, one 1500 word essay and one 1.5 hour exam

An introduction to the use of grammatical description in writing, interpreting and critiquing texts. No prior systematic knowledge of grammar is assumed. The unit of study will be concerned both with grammatical classes (nouns, verbs, conjunctive adjunct...) and with practical questions such as: should I avoid use of the passive, as my grammar checker tells me to do? The orientation is to grammar as a descriptive 'tool' for understanding uses of language in social life. However, one of the outcomes of this unit of study will be a systematic understanding of primary features of English systems from the perspective of a functional grammar.

ENGL 2011 Jane Austen and her Contemporaries
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Coleman, Assoc. Prof. Gay
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1 hour lecture and one 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: Two 3000 word essays (optional 3 hour exam may replace the second essay)

This unit of study will survey the formative influences on Austen as a novelist of the rural gentry by tracking some of her reading in 18th century poetry, novels, and prescriptive literature. It will also examine her development as a writer, paying particular attention to the historical moment of her emergence into print. Topics to be covered include:
- Austen's contemporary women writers
- her relationship to the fashionable genres of gothic, sentimental, and jacobin fiction
- the positioning of her work within the framework of late eighteenth century debates about slavery, and about the rights of man/ rights of woman
- issues of class, gender, and generational conflict.

ENGL 2012 Legal Fictions
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Petch
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1 hour lecture and two 1 hour seminars per week
Assessment: One 1000 word assignment, one 3000 word essay and one 2 hour exam

Using a range of literary texts — short story, novels, poems — from 19th and 20th century English and American literature, this unit of study will focus on generic and narratological questions raised by the ways in which these texts report and represent testimony and evidence. The texts all have a legal focus, and some of them are based on actual crimes and cases, but no prior legal knowledge is assumed or required. The emphasis of the unit of study is on the discourses of institutions and the authority of the individual voice, and these issues will be approached through such aspects of story-telling as the point of view from which events are narrated, and the uses of various kinds of monologue (dramatic, interior, quoted).

When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay and one 3 hour exam

This unit of study will explore the relation between literary production and its political context in two periods of historical crisis, 1500-1660 and 1900-1940. For 1500-1660, topics include: the poetry of private experience and public affairs; the uses of history for contemporary self-definition; the contradictions of authority and resistance. For 1900-1940, topics include: the politics of modernism; totalitarianism; imperialism; sexual politics; the politics of labour. While noting the differences between the periods, the unit of study will attempt to discover common features across the periods concerning the relationship between literature and politics.

ENGL 2015 Medieval Themes in Post-1500 Literature
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Barnes, Prof. Clunies Ross, Dr Gardiner, Dr Rogerson
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: July
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial
Assessment: One 3000 word essay and one 3 hour ‘open book’ exam

This unit of study looks at the fashioning of the Middle Ages in creative composition from around 1500 to the present. It approaches a definition of ‘medievalism’ from the following perspectives:

- Conceptions of the heroic North in English and American literature of the 18th and 19th centuries
- The influence of 19th century notions of chivalry on the rise of nationalism and on the popular culture of Empire
- The Tristan legend in 19th century English poetry and Richard Wagner’s opera ‘Tristan and Isolde’
- Representations of outlaws and villains, like Robin Hood and Richard III, from the 16th century to the late 20th century crime novel.

Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 1000 word assignment, one 3000 word essay and one 2 hour exam

Pastoral, since classical times a celebration of country life and the rural world, enjoys renewed vitality in the wake of industrialization. This unit of study explores the role of pastoral in a selection of 19th century poetry and novels. A variety of critical and theoretical approaches will be considered in pursuit of such questions as: whether the pastoral mode represents a critique of capitalism or a retreat from it;
whether it gives voice to those silenced by written culture or promotes urban sophistication; whether it focuses post-Darwinian uncertainties or helps to fashion myths of national self-confidence.

Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour seminar
Assessment: One 1000 word assignment, one 3000 word essay and one 2 hour exam

An introduction to postmodernism which combines study of a selection of recent American, Australian, and English fiction and study of recent developments in theory, film, television, and computer technology. This unit of study provides a view of postmodernism as a new historical development which involves traditional literature, media culture, and new technology. The aim is to provide: an introduction to some recent theory; discussion of recent novels, film and television; discussion of the idea of mass culture and pulp fiction; the option of looking at the wider area which includes computer games such as Myst and the effect of the World Wide Web on the idea of fiction. Topics for discussion include: whether the 'literary' has been restimulated by the breaking down of distinctions between 'high' and 'popular' culture; meaning and style in contemporary culture; representations of sexuality and violence. One or two texts may be added in order to keep the course up to date with new works and directions in 1998.

ENGL 2018 Reading and Writing Practices
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Huisman, Dr Quinn
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial
Assessment: Four 1500 word assignments

The focus of this unit of study is on students' own reading and writing practices, and the different skills involved in producing and interpreting texts of different genres. Students will explore the nature of academic writing by studying and experimenting with different stylistic and compositional techniques. They will consider the interplay between styles of writing, such as exposition and narrative, and investigate theorised aspects of writing, such as genre, register, cohesion, argument and structure. Students will also discuss contemporary interpretative practices associated with both literary and non-literary genres. They will particularly examine texts associated with reading practices assumed to be more subjective, such as poetic texts, and those associated with practices assumed to be more objective, such as legal texts.

The unit of study will utilize IT (information technology) practically, for tutorial exercises, and theoretically, to encourage students to consider the change and development of reading and writing practices in a social context of changing language technology, such as the development of hypertext.

ENGL 2019 Semiotics, Narrative and the Subject
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Huisman
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: March
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour seminar
Assessment: Two 3000 word essays

This unit of study offers an historical overview of the development and post-structuralist critique of semiology/semiotics (processes of meaning-making) as an object of study, both within the European tradition, originating with the Swiss linguist Ferdinand de Saussure, and the American tradition, originating with Charles Sanders Peirce. It will also discuss the semiotic role of language in the construction of the social world, 'reality', through narrative. Particular reference will be made to the social theory of Michel Foucault on subjectivity and to the model of language as social semiotic of M.A.K. Halliday.

ENGL 2020 Shakespeare and Co: 'Mirthful Comic Shows'
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Huisman, Dr Quinn
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1 hour lecture and one 2 hour seminar/workshop per week
Assessment: One 2000 word essay and one 3000 word journal based on experience in the seminar/workshop

An intensive study of plays by Shakespeare and his contemporaries. Particular attention will be given to the impact of Renaissance and modern performance conditions, such as playhouses, companies, and audiences. Where possible, film or video versions and current Sydney productions will be discussed. This unit of study will also study the language of the plays, their relationship to traditions of comedy and to other genres, and varieties of critical interpretation. Seminar/workshops will experiment in the staging of key scenes.

ENGL 2021 Technologies of Print Media 1600-2000

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Hardie, Dr Lilley
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1 hour lecture and one 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word practical exercise and reflection and one 3000 word essay

Different technologies have fostered different cultures of reading and writing. This unit of study uses a series of historical case studies to examine a number of text cultures from the 17th century to the present. It will explore ways in which new media have affected access to and the academic study of texts, through electronic databases and website projects. Students will be encouraged to work with a variety of texts and media, but the unit of study does not assume any previous experience with electronic media. Seminars will include visits to the Rare Books Collection, and SETIS at Fisher Library.

Topics:
- the transition from manuscript collections to printed books
- the printing press and other forms of mechanical reproduction
- copyright and authorship, counterfeit and plagiarism
- the diversification of print culture (magazines, lending libraries, newspapers, anthologies)
- the rare book and the collector
- serial publication and genre fiction
- small presses and little magazines
- mass market publication: the paperback and the blockbuster
- electronic text, hypertext, databases and other forms of electronic media.

Textbooks:

ENGL 2022 Metamorphoses: the Text in Critical and Cultural History

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Christie and others
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1 hour lecture and one 2 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 1000 word assignment, one 3000 word essay and one 2 hour exam

A study of the critical and cultural history of some ‘famously reinterpretable’ texts. Looking at the interpretation of these texts over time and space will involve a consideration of critical approaches that are historically specific (e.g., Augustan, Romantic, ‘Aesthetic’), and conceptually or ‘ideologically’ specific (e.g., psychoanalytic, Marxist, feminist, post-colonial). The unit of study will emphasise questions of the origin, object, authority, and responsibility of criticism itself.

This unit of study will also look at revisions of prominent myths, the performance history of plays, and renditions of popular or canonical texts in different artistic forms (e.g., novels into other novels and into plays; plays into opera, orchestral music, ballet/dance, film, and television). It will thus offer an opportunity to investigate genre in the abstract as well as to ask questions about genre and ideology; high versus popular culture; cultural studies versus criticism.

Students will be notified of other relevant texts and collections of critical essays in the first lecture, when a course reader (comprising important material along with assignment and essay tasks) will also be available.

ENGL 2023 Twentieth-century English Literature

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Jackson, Dr Marks, Dr Spurr and others
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points of English including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
When Offered: July
Classes: Two 1 hour lectures and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: One 1000 word assignment, one 3000 word essay and one 2 hour exam

This unit of study explores the work of some significant 20th century writers during the period 1900 to 1945 by grouping them under a number of headings: science, culture and the machine age; Italy and other places; wars and their aftermath; two women writers; God, gods and godlessness. These groupings are designed to highlight both common preoccupations and the common historical developments and events which shaped and were shaped by these writers including, notably, the First and Second World Wars. Consideration will also be given to the origin of some of the concerns of these writers in the late 19th century and their continuation and transformation in post-1945 writers.

When Offered: July
Classes: One 2 hour seminar and one 1 hour tutorial per week
Assessment: Two 1500 word essays and one 3000 word essay

A study of British and American women writing lyric and epic poetry.

Topics of special interest will include:
- how different kinds of poetry solicit women’s attention and construe their femininity, especially how codes of chastity have affected women reading and writing erotic lyrics
- how certain men (such as William Collins, John Keats, Pablo Picasso, Ezra Pound) have advised or provoked women to read and write different kinds of poetry
- how successive phases and competing forms of feminism have affected and been affected by women reading and writing poetry.

ENGL 3 3. Special Studies Units of Study
When Offered: 1998
Special Studies Units of Study (Special Studies in English 1 and 2, Special Studies in Post-1500 Literature 1 and 2, and the 4 credit point units from ENGL 3500-ENGL 3522) are units of study which are designed as preparation for entry into Fourth Year Honours and all students wishing to enter Fourth Year Honours English must have gained credit results in these units of study. Provided students have the prerequisites for these units of study, however, they may take them without taking Fourth Year Honours. All students who gain a Credit or above in 12 Junior credit points of English, including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050 may take the first of these units of study, ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902 (ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902 cannot be taken separately). A pass in ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902 at Credit level or above, together with a pass at Credit level or above in 16 Senior credit points of English, constitutes the prerequisite for entry into ENGL 3901 and ENGL 3902 (which cannot be taken separately) and ENGL 3501-ENGL 3522. ENGL 3901 and ENGL 3902 are units of study in Literature since 1500 and ENGL 3501-ENGL 3522 are units of study in English Language and Early English Literature.

Students who wish to take units of study from ENGL 3501 - ENGL 3522 should consult the entry in the Handbook under Honours Entry English Language and Early English Literature.

ENGL 2901 Special Studies in English 1

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Coordinator: Dr Coleman
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 12 Junior credit points of ENGL including ENGL 1001 and excluding ENGL 1050
Corequisite: ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours per week (includes lectures, seminars and tutorials)
Assessment: Two 2000 word essays

Special Studies in English 1 and 2 (ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902)

These 4 credit point units of study cannot be taken separately. Together the units of study consist of two strands (A and B). Both strands A and B must be taken.

These units of study are designed to introduce intending Honours students to a range of skills and methodologies that the Department considers essential preparation for Honours work, whether students eventually specialise in English Literature since 1500 or in English Language and Early English Literature. Strand A (English Literature since 1500) Poetry: genre, history, criticism
Dr Christie, Dr Coleman, Dr Miller, Dr Spurr
Wide reading in poetry forms the basis for a study of topics such as: major modes and genres and their evolution; aspects of versification; canon formation; premises of criticism. This strand of the units of study is taught by a combination of lectures and seminars.

Textbook
Allison (ed.) The Norton Anthology of Poetry
Strand B (English Language and Early English Literature)

Orality and literacy
Dr Quinn

This strand will examine the interplay of orality and literacy in the generic traditions of English literature from the Middle Ages onward. It will investigate the nature of medieval oral traditions and manuscript culture, the discursive nature of Latin and vernacular literacy, the impact of printing on cultural practices, and the emergence of new written genres. It will also examine the rhetorical conventions and discursive traditions that lie behind various literary forms and explore their development with particular regard to the construction of a canon within the institution of English studies. A number of medieval and postmedieval texts will be studied, and connections made between the social and scholarly practices of their day (including ideas of transmission and tradition) and their resonance in twentieth-century textual theory.

Special Studies in Post-1500 Literature 1 and 2 (ENGL 3901 and ENGL 3902)

These 4 credit point units of study cannot be taken separately. Together the units require a student to take two of the options listed below, one in the first semester and the other in the second semester. Students may substitute for one of these options a unit from ENGL 3500 - ENGL 3522. Such students are not required to enrol with the Faculty of Arts in that unit.
First Semester Options
Professor Harris
By study of a group of significant texts (a poem, three novels and a non-fiction prose work), all published in 1859, this option explores the intellectual and cultural life of Britain in a year sometimes described as an annus mirabilis. The principal texts will be supplemented by readings in other texts, mainly ephemeral, of 1859: some independent library research will be required. Issues to be addressed include concepts of the past, present, and future; political stability, and religious belief.

The Poet As Critic: a special study of T.S. Eliot
Dr Spurr

Close readings of several of Eliot’s seminal literary-critical essays will explore the methodology of his literary theory and the wide range of his interests in European, English and American literature. Both his theory of criticism and its practical application in his study of a variety of authors (Dante, Milton, Samuel Johnson, Matthew Arnold, Baudelaire, Edgar Allan Poe, his contemporary Modernists and others) will be discussed.

Eliot’s contribution to the ‘essay’ and the relationship of his literary-critical principles and analyses to his own development as a poet and the evolution of his cultural and religious ideas will also be examined.

Novel Cities, 1930-1990
Dr Hardie
A constitutive concern of theories of modernity has been the development, from the nineteenth century, of modern urban cultures and subjects. This course examines a number of modern and contemporary novels to explore the representation of modern and postmodern urban subjectivity. Issues to be considered include the narrativisation and figuration of old and new world urban topographies and questions of gender, sexuality, class and ethnicity.

Texts:
Djuna Barnes Nightwood
Ralph Ellison Invisible Man
Ayn Rand The Fountainhead
Iain Sinclair White Chappell, Scarlet Tracings
James Ellroy L.A. Confidential

ENGL 3511 Literary Theory and Medieval Studies 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Professor Clunies Ross
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay

This unit of study is designed to give an overview of Medieval Studies as an academic discipline, with special reference to English language and literature. Students specialising in English Language and Early English Literature are encouraged to take this unit of study in either their Third or Fourth Years.

The unit of study moves from a brief history of the study of English and Germanic philology to an assessment of the academic location of the discipline within Departments of English in the late nineteenth century to the present situation, in Australia and internationally. It will then look at the impact of the major twentieth-century intellectual movements in literary theory, linguistics, patristics and anthropology upon medieval English studies. The unit of study will review some of the current concerns of medieval English studies, often referred to by terms like the New Medievalism and the New Philology, and assess where they are likely to go in the near future.

ENGL 3500 Medieval Manuscript Culture 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Rogerson
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: Assignments

This unit of study is concerned with the primary documents recording the literary culture of England from the Anglo-Saxon period to the Early Modern period, and the processes of textual production before Caxton brought printing to England. Palaeographical and other skills acquired in this unit of study provide a valuable foundation for research in medieval studies. Materials will be available from the Department.

ENGL 3501 Elementary Old English 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Jones
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One essay and one exam

This unit of study aims to give students a basic knowledge of Old English, the language of the earliest written documents in English, and to study closely a small number of Old English texts. The approach will be through tutorial-type sessions rather than lectures.

Textbooks:
Reading Old English - An Introduction (available from the Department)

Preliminary reading:
M. Godden and M. Lapidge The Cambridge Companion to Old English Literature (Cambridge, 1991)

ENGL 3512 The Exeter Book 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Harbus
Prerequisite: Credit or above in ENGL 3501
Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 2500-3000 word essay

This unit of study assumes an elementary knowledge of Old English and offers a detailed study of a group of short poems from the Exeter Book usually referred to as the Old English elegies. They include The Wanderer, The Seafarer, The Wife’s Lament, The Husband’s Message, Wulf and Eadwacer and The Ruin. Knowledge of the grammar and phonology of Old English will also be consolidated.

Textbooks:
A textbook will be available from the Department

ENGL 3513 Old English Prose 1 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Jones
Prerequisite: Credit or above in ENGL 3501
Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 2500-3000 word essay

This unit of study will involve an extensive study of selections from Aelfric’s Catholic Homilies. It will assume a competence in reading Old English and will concentrate on Aelfric’s thought and its relevance to church and society in his time.

ENGL 3502 Reading Middle English 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Rogerson and others
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assignment: Assignments

This unit of study examines a range of English verse and prose from the thirteenth to the fifteenth century, produced in a variety of literary, social, and geographical contexts. The aim is to provide students with a sound basis for reading medieval English texts and recognising significant aspects of their composition and transmission. Accordingly, emphasis will be laid on equipping students to discuss Middle English language (vocabulary, grammar, phonology, writing practice) and to relate formal aspects of such texts to their cultural background. This unit of study complements the others in the group, especially Medieval Manuscript Culture and will be a particularly useful base for students working in Middle English literature and the history of the language (although it is not a prerequisite for any other unit of study).

Textbooks:
J.A. Burrow and Thorlac Turville-Petre A Book of Middle English 2nd edn (Blackwell, 1995)
ENGL 3503 Chaucer 1: Troilus and Criseyde
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Barnes
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay
This unit of study considers the literary traditions of Western historical writings as they developed in Britain and gave expression both to universal Christian concerns and to the insular consciousness of nationality. Particular attention will be given to works of Bede, Geoffrey of Monmouth, and Gerald of Wales, and some reference will also be made to the Bible, Virgil's Aeneid, Besebus' History of the Church, Augustine's City of God, Orosius' Seven Books of History against the Pagans, Gildas' Ruin of Britain, Gregory of Tours' History of the Franks, and the History of the Britons.
Textbooks:
Geoffrey of Monmouth The History of the Kings of Britain, trans. L. Thorpe (Penguin, 1965)
Gerald of Wales The Journey through Wales, trans. L. Thorpe (Penguin, 1978)
Some material will also be available from the Department

ENGL 3504 Medieval Drama 2
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Rogerson, Mrs Taylor
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay
This unit of study considers the fifteenth-century dramatic cycle of biblical and legendary episodes known as the N-Town play, together with a number of morality and miracle plays. These plays will be placed on close textual study with particular attention to staging techniques. Modern reconstructions of some plays will feature in the unit of study.
Textbooks:
John C. Coldewey Early English Drama: An Anthology (1993)

ENGL 3505 Piers Plowman
Teacher/Coordinator: Mrs Taylor and others
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay
This extraordinary and voluminous masterpiece is one of the greatest English literary texts. Composed in alliterative poetry of the late fourteenth century, it combines sermon, dream vision, allegory, satire, and complaint.
Textbooks:
A.V.C. Schmidt (ed.) The Vision of Piers Plowman: B-Text (Everyman, 1978)

ENGL 3506 Varieties of English Grammar
Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Jones
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 2500-3000 word essay
This unit of study compares ways of talking about English grammar — systemic, generative and traditional among others — and considers why one might choose one approach or another to a particular problem.

ENGL 3514 Views From Camelot and Troy in the Fiction of Medieval England
4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Barnes, Dr Speed
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay
Camelot and Troy feature in numerous fictional narratives of medieval times, not only as glamorous settings, but also as powerful images of paradoxical forces, sites, variously, of safety or risk, friendship or betrayal, achievement or loss — essentially masculine worlds which may nevertheless be shaped by women. Consideration of the culture of Camelot will focus on three anonymous Arthurian romances recounting adventures undertaken by Arthur and familiar Arthurian heroes. Consideration of the culture of Troy will focus on the Trojan tales in Gower's Confessio Amantis and Henryson's The Testament of Cresseid.
Textbooks:
Gower materials will be available from the Department

ENGL 3515 The Literature of History in Medieval Britain
4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Speed, Dr Fulton, Mr Jones
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay

ENGL 3516 The Quest for Origins
4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Barnes, Professor Clunies Ross, Dr Speed
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay
The quest for social and cultural identity through reference to legendary and historical origins is a major concern in English and Scandinavian medieval literature, and this unit of study explores the expression of that quest in a number of English and Norse texts (in translation). In the Scandinavian context the focus will be on: (i) the mythologising of landscape, mapping of the cultural geography of pagan Iceland by Christian writers, and use of genealogy to connect the past with the present; (ii) the founding of Iceland's west Atlantic colonies. Of special interest in the English context is the story of Havelok, king of England and Denmark, which was recounted variously as history and romance. The English Havelok will be the focal text for an investigation into the medieval and modern discourse of the nation.
Textbooks:
Geoffrey of Monmouth The History of the Kings of Britain, trans. L. Thorpe (Penguin, 1965)

ENGL 3517 Phonology 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Jones
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One assignment
This unit of study will consider ways of describing the sounds of languages, English in particular. It will introduce students to the acoustic study of speech sounds and the way acoustic and articulatory information are brought together in linguistic description.

ENGL 3507 Media Communication Theory 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Fulton
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: Classwork and one 2500 word essay
This unit of study offers further work in media studies for students who have already taken Communication and Media Studies (ENGL 2006). This is not a formal prerequisite but the unit of study does assume some basic knowledge of media studies. Topics include the rise of mass media, theories of media in society, institutional aspects of the media, theories of media text production, and the construction of media audiences.

Textbooks:
D. McQuail Mass Communication Theory (Sage, 1991)

ENGL 3518 The English Language Since 1066 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Jones
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: July
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay
From the end of Old English to the present day the major themes are the assimilation of the influences of French and later of other cultures, the creation of new written practices, the erosion of linguistic diversity and the rise of a standard language, the roles of printing and of education, and the creation of national languages. A variety of texts from all periods will be studied.

ENGL 3519 An Introduction to Lexicography 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Simes
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 24 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902
When Offered: March
Classes: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: Assignments
In his Dictionary of 1755 Dr Johnson defined a lexicographer as 'a writer of dictionaries; a harmless drudge, that busies himself in tracing the original and detailing the signification of words'. What kinds of dictionaries are there? What do they contain and how does it get there? How are words defined? Who writes dictionaries? What authority do they possess? Are the products of the drudgery harmless? This unit of study examines the history, practice and theory of English dictionary-writing. It also looks at new developments in lexicography, including applications of the computer. A basic knowledge of grammar will be assumed.

Honours Entry - English Language and Early English Literature

When Offered: All year

Students who are seeking to qualify for entry to English IV Honours specialising in English Language and Early English Literature must have attained a total of at least 48 Senior credit points in English, at Credit grade or above. These 48 credit points must include ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902 and at least 16 credit points from the units of study listed below (i.e. ENGL 3500-ENGL 3522). Students who are in doubt about their eligibility should consult the Professor of English Language and Early English Literature.

In order to qualify to take ELEEL Honours options as part of their Pass degree, students must have attained a total of at least 24 Senior credit points of English, at Credit grade or above, including ENGL 2901 and ENGL 2902.

It is expected that some basic Fourth Year Honours units of study (marked *) will be offered every year and that all others will rotate on a 2-year cycle. Students should make their prior choice of units of study bearing this information in mind. They are advised to discuss their choice of Honours units of study with the Coordinator of Fourth Year English (ELEEL) in order to establish a balanced programme of work. It is expected that students will normally choose units of study from at least two of the six discipline groups in ELEEL LISTED BELOW. FOR INFORMATION ABOUT UNITS OF STUDY ACROSS THESE DISCIPLINE GROUPS WHICH ARE NOT LISTED HERE, BUT WHICH WILL BE OFFERED IN 1999, consult the Coordinator of Fourth Year English (ELEEL).

Group 1: The field and the skills (ENGL 3511, ENGL 3500)
Group 2: Old English (Anglo-Saxon) Studies (ENGL 3501, ENGL 3512, ENGL 3513)
Group 3: Middle English and Related Literatures (ENGL 3502, ENGL 3503, ENGL 3514, ENGL 3504, ENGL 3505, ENGL 3515, ENGL 3516)
Group 4: Text and Culture: Theory and Practice (ENGL 3517, ENGL 3506, ENGL 3507, ENGL 3518, ENGL 3519)
Group 5: Old Icelandic Studies (ENGL 3508, ENGL 3520)
Group 6: Medieval Celtic Studies (ENGL 3509, ENGL 3521, ENGL 3510, ENGL 3522)

Note: Group 6 units of study are intended for students who have undertaken the old Irish or Middle Welsh language strand in Anglo-Saxon, Norse and Celtic Studies (ENGL 2000), but students who can demonstrate a good linguistic background in other languages may be admitted.

All ENGL 3500-ENGL 3522 units of study are worth 4 credit points. Students in Fourth Year Honours complete the equivalent of 10 semester units of study (this means either 10 coursework units of study from the discipline groups listed above or 7 coursework units of study, plus a thesis which counts for the equivalent of 3 units of study). A Fourth Year Honours student may, with permission, take the equivalent of up to 4 semester units of study from Australian Literature or English Literature post-1500.

Note: Although Old Icelandic I-II (ENGL 3508 and ENGL3520), Old Irish I-II (ENGL 3509 and ENGL 3521) and Middle Welsh I-II (ENGL 3510 and ENGL 3522) are listed as separate 4 credit point units of study, it is normally expected that a student will study these languages throughout the year. Students must pass the First Semester unit of study at Credit grade or above before being admitted to the Second Semester unit of study. Students who have studied one of these languages in the Senior unit of study Anglo-Saxon, Norse and Celtic Studies (ENGL 2000), and have obtained a Credit grade or better in that unit of study, may, with permission from the Professor of English Language and Early English Literature, enter either Old Icelandic II or Old Irish II in Second Semester.

English Honours Language and Early English Literature

Teacher/Coordinator: See Description
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 48 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901, ENGL 2902, and at least 16 credit points from ENGL 3500-ENGL 3522
Corequisite: ENGL 4502
When Offered: March
Assessment: See Description

See entry under Honours Entry — English Language and Early English Literature for additional information.

Honours IV Only (ENGL 4501 and ENGL 4502) Units of Study

The following units of study are available only to those students who are enrolled in English Honours Language and Early English Literature 1 and 2 (ENGL 4501 and ENGL 4502).

Group 2 Old English Studies
Beowulf
Prof. Clunies Ross, Dr Huisman, Mr Jones
Prereq: ENGL 3501 (Elementary Old English)
Classes: Semester 1 and 2: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One 2 hour exam and seminar paper written up as essay

Beowulf is the finest surviving Old English long poem. In this unit of study it will be studied as a whole. Selected passages will be set for close study (translation, manuscript readings and editorial treatment of crucial passages, metre, language, etc.). The unit of study will also briefly consider the manner of the period of the great Germanic migrations as it is used in Old English heroic poetry (in the poems Widsith, Deor, Waldere and the Finnshub Fragment, as well as in Beowulf).

Textbooks:
F. Klaeber (ed.) Beowulf and the Fight At Finnsburg 3rd edn with supplements (D.C. Heath, Boston, 1950)
Joyce Hill (ed.) Old English Minor Heroic Poems (Durham and St Andrews Medieval Texts, corrected repr., 1987)
Group 5 Old Icelandic Studies
IV Honours only Old Icelandic
Asst. Prof. Barnes, Prof. Clunies Ross, Dr Quinn
Classes: Semester 1 and 2: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: Two 3000 word essays

In this unit of study students' knowledge of the language will be extended, and a variety of texts in prose and verse will be read. In the first half of the year a complete saga will be read, Hrafnkels saga (text in Gordon's Reader). The second half of the year will involve the study of one of the most original works of the European Middle Ages, the Edda of Snorri Sturluson, a treatise on myth and Old Norse poetry. The section of the work known as Gylfaginning will be set for close study.

Textbooks
E.V. Gordon An Introduction to Old Norse 2nd edn. rev. A.R. Taylor (O.U.P., 1957 or latest reprint)
Anthony Faulkes (trans.) Snorri Sturluson, Edda (Everyman Pb., 1992)

Group 6 Medieval Celtic Studies
IV Honours only Old Irish
Dr Fulton
Classes: Semester 1 and 2: One 1.5 hour seminar per week
Assessment: One essay and one 2 hour exam

Textbooks
Will be arranged at the beginning of the year.

English Honours Post-1500 Literature
Prerequisite: Credit or above in 48 Senior credit points of ENGL, including ENGL 2901, ENGL 2902, ENGL 3901 and ENGL 3902
Corequisite: ENGL 4002
When Offered: March & July

English IV Literature Post-1500

Students take three options, including at least one from options 1-3.

1. The English Renaissance
2. Eighteenth-century literature
3. Literature of the Romantic Period
4. Romanticism and the Nineteenth Century
5. American literature
6. The Edwardians

Students also submit a long essay on a topic to be approved. Long essays are 12,500 words in length and are due at the end of the mid-year vacation. The long essay has the weight of one option.

The assessment in each option is a 2 hour examination, a 2000 word assignment and a 3000 word essay.

The English Renaissance
Dr Miller

First semester: Two mythographers
An intensive study of Philip Sidney and Edmund Spenser, through their writing and rewriting of major Renaissance genres (pastoral, romance, sonnet sequence, judicial oration, epic). We shall consider their use of these genres in creating and questioning Renaissance mythologies of Protestant nationhood, monarchical and aristocratic authority, love and sexuality, and the place of the poet.

Sidney Old Arcadia
Astrophil and Stella
Defence of Poetry
Spenser The Faerie Queene, Books I-III

Second semester: A Short View of the English Stage
Three groups of plays from key phases of Renaissance drama, which also develop the themes studied in first semester. (a) The creation by Kyd and Marlowe of a tragic idiom capable of interrogating religious and political orthodoxy. (b) Plays from the middle part of Ben Jonson's career, exhibiting a virtuoso classicism and a tension between didacticism and comic anarchy. (c) The formally experimental and mythically suggestive use of romance in the late plays of Shakespeare.

Kyd The Spanish Tragedy
Marlowe Tamburlaine, Parts I and II
Doctor Faustus
Jonson Sejanus
The Alchemist
Bartholomew Fair
Shakespeare Cymbeline
The Winter's Tale
The Tempest

The Eighteenth Century and the Modern Era
Dr Indyk

This option will focus on the response by writers of the 18th century to the emergence of forces which have helped to shape our own age, and to such issues as relativism, domesticity, urbanisation, literacy, mercantilism, democracy, mass production and the regulation of social power. Since much of the impact of these new social forces was registered in the medium of prose, particularly the novel, the "big books" of the period will constitute the core of the option, though reference will also be made to the work of Swift and Defoe early in the century.

(Warning: This is an option for readers who like immersing themselves in long novels.)

Texts will include:
Henry Fielding Tom Jones (Penguin)
Samuel Richardson Clarissa (Penguin)
David Hume An Enquiry Concerning Human Understanding (OUP)
Laurence Sterne Tristram Shandy (Penguin)
Edward Gibbon The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire (Penguin, abridged edition)
Ann Radcliffe The Mysteries of Udolpho (OUP)

Dr Christie

It is impossible to read the compositions of the most celebrated writers of the present day without being startled with the electric life which burns within their words. They measure the circumference and sound the depths of human nature with a comprehensive and all-penetrating spirit, and they are themselves perhaps the most sincerely astonished at its manifestations, for it is less their spirit than the spirit of the age (P. B. Shelley).

This option studies those writers of the period from about 1780 to 1832 who were "most celebrated" in their own time or have been since. It explores (amongst other things) the relationship between 'literary' issues of form and genre, language and image, on the one hand, and, on the other, the broader political, scientific, cultural, and philosophical developments that affected and/or reflected "the spirit of the age". Special attention will be given to the effects of changes in the social and economic conditions of writing, publishing, and reading. While ample time will be allocated to those works of the major poets Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, and Keats reproduced in Duncan Wu's Romanticism: An Anthology, the selection of texts for the course is intended to suggest the diversity of literary forms and of literary practitioners during the period.

Anthologies:
Burke, Paine, Godwin, and the Revolution Controversy, ed. Marilyn Butler (Cambridge)
Romanticism: An Anthology, ed. Wu (Blackwell)
Romantic Women Poets 1770-1838, ed. Ashfield (Manchester)
Single-author Texts:
- Radcliffe The Romance of the Forest (World's Classics)
- Godwin Caleb Williams (World's Classics)
- Austen Northanger Abbey ... &c (World's Classics)
- Edgeworth Belinda (World's Classics)
- Scott Waverley (World's Classics)

- Peacock Nightmare Abbey (Penguin)
- Hazlitt Selected Writings (World's Classics)
- Hogg The Private Memoirs and Confessions of a Justified Sinner (World's Classics)
- De Quincey Confessions of an English Opium-Eater ... &c (World's Classics)

Romanticism and the Nineteenth Century
Dr Jackson

'There are two men, recently deceased, to whom their country is indebted not only for the greater part of the important ideas which have been thrown into circulation among its thinking men in their time, but for a revolution in its general modes of thought and investigation.' (J.S. Mill, 'Bentham') Mill's 'two men' are Jeremy Bentham and Samuel Taylor Coleridge. But the opposing modes of thought and ways of seeing he associates with them are arguably not confined to Bentham and Coleridge alone: they might be said to shape the work of other writers during this period. Beginning with the investigation of some antagonistic tendencies within 'Romanticism' this option will explore some of the ways in which certain experiences and preoccupations central to the work of Wordsworth, Blake and Austen persist, develop and are transformed during the nineteenth century.

Texts:
- Austen Sense and Sensibility (Penguin)
- Blake Selected Poetry ed W.H. Stevenson (Penguin)
- Wordsworth as selected from Wordsworth ed. Gill (Oxford Authors)
- Mill 'Bentham' and 'Coleridge' (any available edition which includes these essays)

When Offered: All year

Australian Literature Honours 1 and 2 (ASLT 4001 and 4002)

Students will take a full-year seminar in critical theory and four semester options.

All students will submit a long essay on a topic to be approved. Essays are 12500 words in length, and are due on Monday 19 October 1998.

Australian Criticism and Critical Theory (compulsory)
Dr Brooks, Dr Anderson

This seminar will consider nineteenth-century, earlier twentieth-century and more recent developments (including post-structuralist, post-colonial and feminist approaches). It will examine both original works of literary theory and uses made of them by Australian critics. A reading list will be made available at the beginning of the year.

Semester Options
Australian Pastoral
Assoc.: Prof. Mitchell, Dr Indyk
Classes: July Semester

The pastoral is possibly the most ancient of Western literary forms—it is certainly one of the most durable. This option examines the way in which a literary tradition works through continuity and change, by tracing the various manifestations of the pastoral form in Australian literature.

The option will begin with the classical examples of pastoral from Theocritus and Virgil, and then proceed through selections from Harpur and Kendall, Paterson and Lawson, to a closer consideration of some twentieth-century versions of the form, in Hugh McCrae, Shaw Neilson, Katharine Susannah Prichard (Working Bullocks), Judith Wright, David Campbell, Les Murray, David Malouf (An Imaginary Life) and John Forbes.

Contemporary Writing
Classes March Semester
This option will examine a wide range of texts written over the last few years to show the variety of thematic and stylistic concerns in contemporary Australian writing. The following texts will be considered, with others (including plays) to be prescribed at the beginning of the option:
- Carey The Unusual Life of Tristan Smith (U.O.P.)
- Fogarty New and Selected Poems (Hyland House)
- Grenville Dark Places (Picador)
- Indyk and Webby (eds) Poetry (Angus & Robertson)
- Jolley The Georges’ Wife (Penguin)
- Malouf Remembering Babylon (Penguin)
- Modjeska The Orchard (Pan Macmillan)
- Murnane Emerald Blue (Penguin)
- Porter The Monkey’s Mask (Hyland House)
- Scott Before I Wake (Penguin)
- Scott True Country (Fremantle Arts Centre Press)
Some Influences on Australian Fiction

Assoc.: Prof. Kiernan
Classes: July Semester

This option will widen the context for discussion of Australian writing by considering the influences (acknowledged or assumed) of some key European texts on Australian writers of fiction, poetry, and drama from the 1890s to the present. The prescribed texts - Flaubert, Madame Bovary, Dostoevsky, Crime and Punishment, Tolstoi, Anna Karenina, Chekhov, The Seagull - will be supplemented by class material on key European texts on Australian writers of fiction, poetry, and drama from the 1890s to the present. The prescribed texts - Flaubert, Madame Bovary, Dostoevsky, Crime and Punishment, Tolstoi, Anna Karenina, Chekhov, The Seagull - will be supplemented by class material on symbolist poetry and by individual further reading.

Australian Women's Writing

Professor Webby
Classes: March Semester

A survey of writing by women in and of Australia during the past two hundred years. While the main focus is on developments in the novel, attention will also be paid to other important genres, including poetry, autobiography, journalism and literary criticism and the relationship between them. Texts will include:

Cambridge A Woman's Friendship (U.N.S.W. Press)
Cappiello O Lucky Country (U.Q.P.)
Fallon Working Hot (Sybylla Press)
Ferrier (ed.) As Good As a Yarn with You (C.U.P.)
Langford Don't Take Your Love to Town (Penguin)
Lever The Oxford Book of Australian Women's Verse
Modjeska Poppy (Penguin)
Steed For Love Alone (Angus & Robertson)
Sussex (ed.) The Fortunes of Mary Fortune (Penguin)
Teann Ride on Stranger (Angus & Robertson)

Note: Students may also be given permission to choose up to two semester options from those offered for the MA program or for English Language and Early English Literature IV. One full-year option may be taken from those offered for English Literature IV, in place of 2 semester options.

European Studies

Why do European Studies?

The European Studies program enables students with an interest in European society, politics, history and culture in the early modern and modern periods to pursue a program of study at Senior level across a wide range of subject areas. Students are able to specialise in streams that include Early Modern Europe, Modern and Contemporary Europe, or to choose from a broad range of units of study dealing with European society, politics, culture and history combining different streams. Students enrol in core courses as European Studies' students, but enrol directly in options in the relevant departments offering them. The European Studies Centre offers the possibility of majoring in European subjects during your university degree (see below). The Beginnings of Modern Europe is offered as a European Studies unit of study which can be done independently of a European Studies major. From 1998, you can specialise in European Studies as a major in the Bachelor of Arts in second, third and fourth year.

Choose from units of study in:

Archaeology, Art History and Theory, Philosophy, History, English, Government, French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Latin, Law, Modern Greek, Semitic Studies, Spanish, Yiddish.

The entry requirement for European Studies is 24 Junior level credit points. Students majoring in European Studies (a minimum of 32 credit points at Senior Level) enrol in at least one compulsory core unit of study in European Studies worth 8 credit points. Compulsory core units of study are chosen from a pool of two or more approved cores offered in any one year. Remaining units of study will be chosen from a designated list of options offered in the area of European Studies by participating departments. Students will also complete EITHER 12 credit points of a European language other than English at advanced level (the equivalent of A101) OR 28 credit points of a European language other than English at introductory and intermediate level (the equivalent of B101 or A2101 and B201). Credit points of study that specifically involve the learning of language are excluded from the number of credit points which make up the minimum for a major (32 credit points) in European Studies.

European languages that can be studied at the University of Sydney are:

French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Modern Greek, Latin, Yiddish and Spanish.

Students must complete cores and options across at least two language/country areas over the period of their major. They should seek advice from the Director regarding combination of cores and options.

Although there are no Junior level European Studies units of study, History 102, 103, 104, The Making of Modern France (French), 'Self and the World' (Philosophy) and any relevant language units of study, are recommended to students intending to major in European Studies as background survey units in European history. European Studies students intending to take units of study offered by the School of Philosophy are strongly advised to have completed at least one 1st year philosophy subject (6 credit points) before enrolling in any 2nd or 3rd year philosophy subjects.

Prerequisites and requirements can only be waived by permission of the Director.

Registration

Students must register with the European Studies Coordinator and with the Department from which they are selecting their option, in addition to their normal University enrolment in the unit of study. Full details will be available in the European Studies program handbook, a copy of which can be obtained from the European Studies Centre or from the student's facultative handbook, a copy of which can be obtained from the European Studies Centre.

Students enrolling in this subject enrol at Faculty level in HSTY 2005 Contemporary Europe: East and West in Contemporary Europe Sem 2

Credit Point Value: 8
Dr Glenda Sluga
Classes: 2 lec & 1 tut/wk
Assessment: one 3hr exam or equivalent, one 3000 wd essay or equivalent; 60% classwork and 40% exam.

Students will develop a critical understanding of different analytical approaches to contemporary cultural and social issues in Europe, East and West, since World War Two. The Unit uses secondary analyses, first person accounts and film, and is arranged around several themes. These include the Cold War and its ramifications, changes in the politics of Left and Right, the impact of new social movements, nationalism, the effects of migration and racism and the unification of Europe. Students will examine the comparative impact of these themes on the politics and cultures of nations in East and Western Europe and the daily lives of the women and men experiencing them. Attendance at film screenings which often go beyond the one hour of allocated lecture time will be a compulsory component of the unit of study.

Students enrolling in this subject enrol at Faculty level in HSTY 2005 Contemporary Europe, and also register their enrolment in this core at the European Studies Centre. European Studies students enter a designated tutorial group and are taught by a European Studies staff member.

EUST 2003 - see separate entry
GOVT 2406 ReForm, Revolution and Post-Communism

Assessment: Examination 40%, Essay 40%, Class Work 20%

At the end of the 1980's the communist regimes of Europe collapsed, leading to the emergence of a number of newly-independent states. This development was unexpected, because the communist regimes had seemed so powerful and solidly established. This course will analyse why such regimes fell and in particular why the attempts at reform of them failed. It will then look at the attempts to build a new post-communist future characterised by political democracy and a market economy. Specific attention will be given to issues like the attempt to develop a post-communist identity, efforts to construct a new political system and the course of economic reform and its consequences for political development. The focus will be principally upon Russia but some attention may also be given to other communist states.

Students enrolling in this subject enrol at Faculty level in the government unit 'Reform, Revolution and Post-Communism' and then register their enrolment at the European Studies Centre. European Studies students enter designated tutorial groups and are taught by a European Studies Staff member.

European Studies Senior Level Options

The following options are cross-listed with the Departments designated after the title of the unit of study. EUST 2003 The Beginnings of Modern Europe: An Introduction to Renaissance Europe 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Anne Reynolds, Department of Italian
Prerequisite: 18 Junior credit points
May not be counted with: Faculty permission required for major.
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 Lectures & 1 tutorial a week
Assessment: Tutorial paper x 2000 words, end-of-semester essay x 4000 words.

This unit of study surveys three main centres in Italy in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, Florence, Rome and Venice. It treats from an interdisciplinary perspective society and culture in its different manifestations: social conditions, cultural forms, the roles of the artist and the intellectual, courts and patronage, the position of women, and the tradition of humanism. The relevance of the period known as the Italian Renaissance to Modern Europe is an over-arching theme.

Students enrolling in this unit of study enrol at Faculty level in 'EUST 2003 The Beginnings of Modern Europe: An Introduction to Renaissance Europe' and also register their enrolment in the European Studies Centre.

Units of study in the Department of French Studies are concerned with French language, literature, culture and society, including the many Francophone cultures outside France. Units in the Department are language based—they all deal with French language material. Most classes are conducted in French.

The modular structure of the units allows great flexibility of choice for students, who may be taking the subject as a major or who may be taking it as an adjunct to other studies.

The first year units stress practical language acquisition and the development of reading skills, as well as an introduction to French life and civilisation.

In later years, students are able to improve their language and cultural skills as well as specialising in one or more of four strands:
- French linguistics
- French literature, drama and cinema
- French society and culture
- Francophone studies

Students should note that not more than 82 credit points from the same subject area may be counted towards the degree.

The Department will advise students who may have completed units before 1998 as to their equivalences in terms of the units introduced in 1998.

Language levels

The Department offers two language streams: one for students who already have a knowledge of the language ("Advanced French") and another for absolute beginners ("Introductory French" in the first year; "French" in later years). In the first year only, a stream ("Intermediate French") has been designed for students whose competence falls between these two levels.

Students from all streams may qualify for Honours in French by completing the appropriate sequence of units (see below, under Honours Stream).
Placement of students in the three first year levels is usually as follows:

- FRNC1101/FRNC1102: complete beginners; or less than 2 years of French; or less than 75% in 2 unit Z HSC French
- FRNC1201/FRNC1202: SC French; or less than 85% in French 2 unit general; or more than 75% in 2 unit Z HSC French
- FRNC1301/FRNC1302: French 2 unit or 3 unit or more than 85% in 2 unit general HSC French

Students who do not fall easily into one of the categories above, including advanced and native speakers of French, should contact the coordinators of the relevant units and may be asked to sit for a placement test.

A semester length unit is available for students who wish to acquire only a reading knowledge of French.

Programme of units of study
The structure of the Junior and Senior programme is outlined here. Detailed descriptions of units, including information on prerequisites and corequisites, will be found in a separate section below.

Units of study for students not specialising in French Studies
Students not specialising in French Studies can choose flexibly from the whole range of units offered by the Department in practical language and/or content study, within the limits imposed by prerequisites and corequisites.

For those wishing to acquire a reading knowledge of French, the following unit is provided:
FRNC1501 French Short Reading Course (6 credit points, one semester)
The following units of study are available to students with no knowledge of the French language:
FRNC1701 Modern French Civilisation 1 (3 credit points, first semester) and/or FRNC1702 Modern French Civilisation 2 (3 credit points, first semester)

Introductory Stream
For students intending to specialise in French Studies and who enter at "Introductory" level, a typical programme of units (12 or more credit points in first year, and 16 or more credit points in later years) would be as follows:

First Year
FRNC1101 and FRNC1102 Introductory French 1 and 2 (6 credit points each)
The following additional units are also available:

Third Year
FRNC3105 and FRNC3106 Modern French Language 5 and 6 (4 credit points each)
FRNC3901 and FRNC3902 Modern French Special Entry 1 and 2 (4 credit points each)
The following units are also available for students qualifying for entry to the Honours programme:
FRNC2901 and FRNC2902 French Special Entry 1 and 2 (4 credit points each)
FRNC3901 and FRNC3902 Modern French Special Entry 3 and 4 (4 credit points each)

Fourth Year Honours
Full-time
FRNC4001 and FRNC4002 French IV-1 and IV-3 (24 credit points each)

Part-time
FRNC4011, FRNC4012, FRNC4013, FRNC4014 French IV Parts 1, 2, 3 and 4 (12 credit points each)

Details of entry to Fourth Year Honours are given below under the heading Honours Stream. Note that for entry to the part-time stream Faculty permission is required and special conditions apply.

Intermediate Stream
For students intending to specialise in French Studies and who enter at "Intermediate" level, a typical programme of units (12 or more credit points in first year, and 16 or more credit points in later years) would be as follows:

First Year
FRNC1201 and FRNC1202 Intermediate French 1 and 2 (6 credit points each)
The following additional units are also available:
FRNC1701 and FRNC1702 Modern French Civilisation 1 and 2 (3 credit each)

Second and Third Year
Students in this stream will, depending on their level at the end of their first year, follow the pattern of either the Introductory French stream or the Advanced French stream in their choice of Senior units.

Advanced Stream
For students intending to specialise in French Studies and who enter at "Advanced" level, a typical programme of units (12 or more credit points in first year, and 16 or more credit points in later years) would be as follows:

First Year
FRNC1301 and FRNC1302 Advanced French 1 and 2 (6 credit points each)
The following additional units are also available:
FRNC1701 and FRNC1702 Modern French Civilisation 1 and 2 (3 credit points each)

Second Year
FRNC2303 and FRNC2304 Advanced French Language 3 and 4 (4 credit each)
FRNC2301 and FRNC2302 Advanced French Reading 1 and 2 (4 credit each)
FRNC2303 and FRNC2304 Advanced French Special Entry 1 and 2 (4 credit each)
The following other units are also available for students qualifying for entry to the Honours programme:
FRNC2901 and FRNC2902 French Special Entry 1 and 2 (4 credit points each)

Third Year
FRNC3305 and FRNC3306 Advanced French Language 5 and 6 (4 credit each)
FRNC3301 and FRNC3302 Advanced French Reading 3 and 4 (4 credit each)
FRNC3301 and FRNC3302 Advanced French Special Entry 3 and 4 (4 credit points each)
The following units are planned for 1999:
FRNC3311 and FRNC3312 Specialist French Language 1 and 2 (4 credit each)

Fourth Year Honours
Full-time
FRNC4001 and FRNC4002 French IV-1 and IV-3 (24 credit points each)

Part-time
FRNC4011, FRNC4012, FRNC4013, FRNC4014 French IV Parts 1, 2, 3 and 4 (12 credit points each)

Details of entry to Fourth Year Honours are given below under the heading Honours Stream. Note that for entry to the part-time stream Faculty permission is required and special conditions apply.

Major in French

A major in French requires 40 credit points at senior level, including FRNC3106 or equivalent and at least 8 points from the following: FRNC2601, FRNC2602, FRNC2701, FRNC2702, FRNC2711, FRNC2712, FRNC2801, FRNC2802.

A major in Advanced French requires 32 points at senior level including FRNC3306 or FRNC3312 or equivalent.

Honours Stream

The requirement for entry to Fourth Year Honours is a major in Advanced French or in French, with credit average in 48 senior units, including FRNC2901, FRNC2902, FRNC3903, FRNC3904 or equivalent. Details of the Fourth Year programme are set out in the descriptions of units, below, under FRNC4001 and FRNC4002.

Assessment

Assessment in the Department is cumulative and based on classwork, regular exercises, essays, tests and, in some cases, examinations.

Linguistics

Students whose main interest is French linguistics rather than literature or civilisation would derive particular benefit from taking Linguistics 101 (preferably in first year).

Information and advice

More detailed information is contained in the booklet Undergraduate Studies available from Room 687 in the Christopher Brennan Building.

Noticeboards

On level 6 of the Brennan Building.

Textbooks and duplicated material

Booklists are subject to revision, and students should check with the Department before purchases are made.

Textbooks are supplemented by duplicated material produced by the Department. A charge of $20 is made.

Quotas

The Department is opposed to the notion of quotas in strands, but staffing problems and planning difficulties may make some restrictions unavoidable. It may also be necessary to withdraw unit offerings which attract too few students.

Student applications

Applications for exemption from Departmental rules or from arrangements with respect to particular units will be referred to the Department's Committee for Undergraduate Studies. Applications for credit and advanced standing must, however, be submitted to the Faculty.

Overlapping of units

Students may not take any two units which overlap substantially in content. The Department will advise students who may have completed units before 1998 as to their equivalents in terms of the units introduced in 1998.

Departmental government

Students participate formally in Departmental decision-making through the Staff/Student Liaison Committee and the Departmental Board.

Descriptions of units

The descriptions of units below are set out in order of unit codes. For the place of each unit in the programmes offered by the Department, see the section Programme of units, above.

FRNC 1101 Introductory French 1

6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Caffarel

Prerequisite: FRNC1101 or equivalent

When Offered: March

Classes: 1 lecture, 4 tutorials per week

Assessment: Class work, assignments, tests, examination

This unit of study is an intensive second language learning programme for beginners, which requires students' active participation and a minimum of six hours home study per week. The course is based both on communicative methodology and a functional approach to language. Through using the French language in a range of contexts, students will develop spoken communication (speaking, listening) and to a lesser extent written communication (reading, writing) skills in order to exchange information and services, ideas and opinions and express feelings and emotions. Through the use of language in various communicative activities, such as role playing, the student will begin to build up a knowledge of vocabulary, idioms and structures, to develop an understanding of the function of language and of the relationship between language, society and culture.

The syllabus involves the use of a text book, audio and video tapes, as well as computer assisted language learning programmes designed to develop grammatical and comprehension skills (oral and written).

This unit of study continues in Semester 2 as FRNC1102 Introductory French 2.

Prerequisite: SC French; or less than 85% in French 2 unit general or more than 75% in 2 unit Z HSC French

When Offered: March

Classes: 2 lectures, 3 tutorials per week

Assessment: Class work, assignments, tests, examination

This unit of study is designed for students who have studied some French but have not taken the Higher School Certificate 2 unit or 3 unit examinations. It consists of two segments (Practical Language and Reading) that together develop speaking, listening, writing and reading skills, while providing an introduction to contemporary French culture.

This unit of study continues in Semester 2 as FRNC1202 Intermediate French 2
1. Practical Language
Assoc. Prof. Steele
Classes Semester 1: 1 lecture, 2 tutorials per week
Assessment class work, assignments, tests, examination
This segment provides a systematic review of the grammar of spoken and written French, building on students' previous experience of the language. Students will be encouraged to develop their speaking fluency in everyday situations and the ability to read a variety of modern French texts.

2. Reading
Prof. Martin
Classes 1 lecture, 1 tutorial per week
Assessment class work, assignments, tests, examination
This segment provides an introduction to reading skills and elements of literary analysis through the study of a series of modern short stories.

Textbooks:
A. Valdman and C. Pons Chez nous (Prentice Hall)
Reading Anthology of texts to be provided by the Department

FRNC 1202 Intermediate French 2 6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Steele
Prerequisite: FRNC1201
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lectures, 3 tutorials per week
Assessment: Class work, assignments, tests, examination
This unit of study is the continuation of FRNC1201 Intermediate French 1. It consists of two segments (Practical Language and Reading) that together continue to develop speaking, listening, writing and reading skills, while providing further insights into contemporary French culture.

Having completed FRNC1202 Intermediate French 2, students in their second year will enter either FRNC2103 French Language 3 of FRNC2303 Advanced French Language 3, depending on their results.

1. Practical Language
Assoc. Prof. Steele
Classes Semester 1: 1 lecture, 2 tutorials per week
Assessment class work, assignments, tests, examination
This segment builds on and develops the language and cultural skills acquired in the first semester course

2. Reading
Dr White
Classes 1 lecture, 1 tutorial per week
Assessment class work, assignments, tests, examination
This segment concentrates on the further development of reading and analytical skills through a study of texts reflecting aspects of contemporary France.

Textbooks:

FRNC 1301 Advanced French 1 6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Grauby
Prerequisite: French 2 unit or 3 unit or more than 85% in 2 unit general HSC French
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lectures, 3 tutorials per week
Assessment: Class work, assignments, tests, examination
This unit of study is designed for students who have completed a 2 unit HSC French course or equivalent. It consists of two segments (Practical Language and Reading) that together seek to develop speaking, writing, listening and reading skills, while providing an insight into contemporary French culture.

The unit continues in Semester 2 as FRNC1302 Advanced French 2

FRNC 1302 Advanced French 2 6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Grauby
Prerequisite: FRNC1301
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lectures, 3 tutorials per week
Assessment: Class work, assignments, tests, examination
This unit of study is the continuation of the first semester unit FRNC1301. Like that unit it consists of two segments (Practical Language and Reading) that together seek to develop speaking, writing, listening and reading skills, while providing an insight into contemporary French culture.

Having completed FRNC1302 Advanced French 2, students in their second year will enter FRNC2303 Advanced French Language 3.

1. Practical Language
Ms Bourvèau
Classes Semester 1: 1 lecture, 2 tutorials per week
Assessment class work, assignments, tests, examination
This segment continues to use a communicative approach to language learning. Students' active participation through team work, role playing and other interactive techniques is an essential aspect of all classes.

2. Reading
Texts and Society: French National and Cultural Identity in the 20th Century
Dr Grauby
Classes 1 lecture, 1 tutorial per week
Assessment class work, written and practical assignments
This segment provides a socio-historical and cultural framework for students' studies within the Department and develops reading, analytical and critical skills through the close study of a variety of contemporary, authentic texts. The segment presents an overview of the social transformations France has undergone this century and the political challenges it confronts as it attempts to redefine its role in the world and in Europe.

FRNC 1701 Modern French Civilisation 1

3 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Steele
When Offered: March
Classes: 1 lecture, 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: Class papers; examination

This unit of study provides a historical context for the study of contemporary French society, culture, political institutions and ideologies. It traces a number of historical developments (the process of nation building for example) while concentrating on the period preceding the Revolution of 1789, the Revolution itself and its legacy. Texts and other materials from a wide variety of sources are used to illustrate the content of the unit. Lectures and tutorials are in English.

For students in the Advanced French language stream, however, tutorials are given in French, and language and vocabulary development are seen as an integral part of the unit.

This unit of study continues in the second semester as FRNC 1702 Modern French Civilisation 2.

3 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Steele
When Offered: March
Classes: 1 lecture, 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: Class papers, examination

This unit of study is designed for students who wish to acquire a reading knowledge of French. There will be one weekly grammar class and two weekly reading tutorials.

At first, the classes will concentrate on general reading skills. Then a variety of mainly modern French texts will be read, graded to suit the evolving skills of the student and chosen (often from electronic news reports) to reflect aspects of life in France to-day.

Students who have completed the Short Reading Programme may subsequently enter an appropriate Junior Level French language unit of study if they choose to do so.

May not be taken by students currently enrolled in other French courses.

Communicative Structures in the Novel
This unit of study looks at 3 major novels (from the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries) and introduces students to some of the main theories of literary analysis. Students' active participation in discussions, group work and debates is an essential aspect of all classes.

The programme of study aims to develop students' ability to read literary works in French, to reflect on and discuss these works, and gain confidence in their use of analytical concepts and theoretical frameworks.

It is strongly recommended that students acquaint themselves with the texts prior to the beginning of classes.

Specialist students will normally opt to take FRNC2802 French Literature 2 in second semester.

Textbooks:
A.F. Prévost L'Histoire du chevalier des Grieux et de Manon Lescaut (Garnier-Flammarion)

European Theories of the Theatre

Assoc. Prof. McAuley

Classes Semester to be announced: 2 classes per week
Assessment class work, assignments

This unit is not a history of theatre theory, but rather an attempt to provide a historical perspective to some current issues of concern in theatre practice (e.g. the representation of gender, intercultural performance, narrativity and the role of text, power relations in the creative hierarchy...) and to explore some seminal texts in the European tradition.

Seminar 1: Chrétien de Troyes and the Medieval Romance
Chrétien de Troyes Yvain (Champion CFMA)

Seminar 2: L’Évolution du genre romanesque au XVIIe et au XVIIIe siècles
Marivaux La Vie de Marianne (Folio)
Laclos Les Liaisons dangereuses (Garnier-Flammarion)
Short fiction texts will be distributed

Seminar 3: European Theories of the Theatre
To be announced

Seminar 4: Approche sociolinguistique du français contemporain
Ms Bourvée

Classes Semester to be announced: 2 classes per week
Assessment class work, assignments

The seminar offers an introduction to contemporary sociolinguistic theory, methods and results with special emphasis on the ways in which French is used in different circumstances and settings. It examines not only the linguistic data but also the social environment in which contemporary French is used and looks at issues such as the conflicts between French and regional languages, language varieties, language attitudes and language legislation.

Seminar 5: Theory and practice of translation
Mr Gabriel

Classes Semester to be announced: 2 classes per week
Assessment class work, assignments

This unit is designed to give some insights into the basic problems involved in literary translation. Particular attention will be paid to the notion of translation loss and to the development of techniques for minimising such loss. Students will come to grips with these questions by working on a series of assignments.

Seminar 6: Ecriture oppositionnelle et ‘minorisation politique’: la notion de ‘différence’
Dr Winter

Classes Semester to be announced: 2 classes per week
Assessment class work, assignments

This seminar will focus on the notions of ‘dominant culture’, ‘political minority’ and the construction of ‘difference’, through the study of non-fictional and fictional texts that address issues of gender, sexuality, race and class. The related question of what makes a text ‘minor’ or ‘major’, ‘marginal’ or ‘mainstream’, within a given socio-historical context, will also be addressed. The core text provides a theoretical analysis of the notions of sexual and racial ‘difference’; other non-fictional material will be studied as appropriate. It is also expected that some fictional texts will be studied; these texts will explicitly or implicitly position themselves within the ‘political minority’, and thus outside and/or in opposition to the ‘dominant culture’.

Seminar 7: Ideology and Utopia
Assoc. Prof. Sankey

Classes Semester to be announced: 2 classes per week
Assessment class work, assignments

Through the study of utopian texts, this course will explore the evolution of the utopian genre in France from the 17th to the 20th century and trace the relationship between the fictional text and the social, historical and political realities in which it is grounded.

Seminar 8: La Représentation du corps
Dr Grauby

Classes Semester to be announced: 2 classes per week
Assessment class work, assignments

This course will involve critical theories on the body in the text, as presented in French philosophy (Descartes, Merleau-Ponty, Foucault), psycho-analysis and feminist thought. An intensive study of the representation of the body will be proposed in three French novels of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

Germanic Studies

The Department of Germanic Studies offers Units of Study in both the German language and in the written culture for which that language is the medium. Language teaching is regarded as a central part of the curriculum and the Department endeavours to place all students who wish to study the German language in a language class that will improve to the maximum their competence in the skills of speaking, reading, writing and listening to German. The cultural studies available in the Department extend across the field of literature in the German-speaking countries, and include some seminars within the broader field of German culture and society.

All students, however much or however little prior experience they have of the language, have access to the full range of Units of Study in German, subject only to normal rules of progression. Junior Units are available at Introductory, Intermediate and Advanced level; Senior Language Units at Intermediate and Advanced level (see below). All students, whether they come to the Department as beginners in the language, or with an HSC in German, or even as native-speakers, can take a Major in German and from there proceed to an Honours Year and/or postgraduate study in the subject.

Units of Study in German language

The Department distinguishes three broad levels of study in its Language Units: Introductory, Intermediate and Advanced. In all cases, students will be directed by the Department as to the appropriate Language Unit for them to enrol in. (For advice to commencing students as the Unit they should initially enrol in, see the section Junior Units of Study below.) Students who enrol in either Introductory or Intermediate Level Units of Study and make normal progression, will spend no more than one year of study at that level before advancing to the next Level above. Thus all students who complete more than two years of study in German language (as is necessary for a Major in German) will have reached Advanced Level. However the Advanced Level itself embraces a wide range of classes. Students commencing with a two-unit or three-unit HSC in German and taking a major in the subject will mostly complete three years at Advanced Level, attaining a very high standard indeed.

Units of Study in German literature and German culture

Units of Study in German literature and German culture at Senior Level normally require prior completion of 12 points of German at Junior Level, in order to ensure that students have a sufficient command of the language. But students lacking the formal prerequisite who nevertheless believe their knowledge of German is sufficient are invited to discuss the matter with staff in the Department, when the prerequisite may be waived. These Senior Units of Study may be counted for a Major in European Studies, and in some cases in other interdisciplinary areas of study.

The Major in German

To complete a Major in German you must complete Senior Units of Study in German to the value of 32 Credit Points. Of these 32 Points, 16 must be gained in language Units of Study (i.e., in 2200 and 2300 Units of Study), and 16 must be gained in non-language Units of Study (i.e., in 2500, 2600, 2700 and 2900 Units of Study). With respect to the Major, Senior Intermediate Units of Study (2200 Units of Study), which are worth 8 Credit points each, are deemed to consist of 4 Points of language study and 4 Points of non-language study.

In all the Department’s Junior Units of Study the language content and the cultural content are combined. Junior students will enrol initially in a First Semester 6-Point Unit of Study at their appropriate Level. However all students are urged to consider the advantages of enrolling simulaneously in the Additional 3-Point Unit of Study appropriate to that Level. Junior Additional Units are offered at both Introductory and Advanced Levels; students taking the Intermediate 6-Point Unit of Study are advised to take the 3-Point Unit of Study at Advanced Level. The same advice is applicable for Second Semester: two further 3-Point Units of Study are offered then. Enrolment in these additional 3-Point Units of Study is not necessary in order to take German in Senior years. But particularly those students who intend to continue German and make it a principal component of their Degree should be aware how much these Units of Study will strengthen and deepen their fundamental grasp of the language, and so help them to perform better in the Senior courses.

All students with very little or no experience of the language should enrol in the Unit of Study Junior Introductory German 1 (GRMN1111) Your attention is drawn to the possibility or taking classes for this Unit of Study at a late-afternoon/evening time. In as far as possible, some further streaming of students according to their prior experience of the subject will be made in this Unit.
All students with a 3-unit HSC in German, or a 2-unit HSC with a result of 70 or above, should initially enrol in the Unit of Study Junior Advanced German (GRMN1311). All other students with an HSC in German (e.g., 2-unit below 70, 2-unit Z or 2-unit General) should initially enrol in the Unit of Study Junior Intermediate German (GRMN1211). Students with an HSC in German or other considerable experience of the language will be required during the orientation period to take a language placement test organised by the Department. On the basis of this test they may be directed to change their enrolment to another level in order to meet their particular skills and needs better.

Honours
All students may qualify for the Honours year, regardless of the Language Level at which they commenced in the Department. However students who commenced at Introductory Level and wish to embark on Honours are advised to discuss the matter with the Department at the earliest possible opportunity. For a formal statement of the entry requirements for German Honours I and German Honours II you should consult the Table of Units of Study. You will need to complete 48 Senior Credit points, with at least 32 of them at a Credit or better. Of these 48, sixteen must be in Senior Language Units of Study (GRMN2200 or GRMN 2300 Units of Study). For entry to the Honours Year in 1998, you need to have completed either the Course German 290 or the Course German 390. In subsequent years, 16 of the 48 Senior Credit points must be in Special Entry units of Study (2900 Units of Study).

Access to University courses
Students wishing to enrol in Access to University courses in the Department of Germanic Studies must consult the Department before enrolment with the Centre for Continuing Education.

Noticeboards
These are on the eighth floor of the Christopher Brennan Building. During the orientation period first year students should consult these boards for time and place of all classes.

Information
Members of the Department will be available before semester begins to give advice about courses. Enquiries may be made at the Administrative Assistant's office. From mid February, students should consult the course coordinators, details of whom will be posted in the noticeboard. The Department issues its own handbook, which is distributed free to all students at the beginning of the year; it contains further information on the Department and its courses.

Administrative Assistant
Room 887, 8th Floor, Christopher Brennan Building. Telephone: 9351 2380, fax: 9351 5318.

Registration
In addition to enrolling with the University, students in all years must register with the Department on the 8th floor, Christopher Brennan Building. First year students who have taken HSC German will also be required to take the placement test at this time.

Registration for Junior and Senior courses in German will take place daily from Wednesday 25 to Friday 27 February, between 9 am and 5 pm. Students registering for some Unit of Study will be asked at the time of registration to make a small financial contribution towards the cost of the photocopied material which they will receive from the Department. This is only to cover the overhead costs involved and does not represent a charge on the intellectual content of the copied material. Details will be available at the time of registration.

Textbooks
Because of unforeseen difficulties in the supply of books, set texts may have to be changed after the Handbook has been printed. Students should consult the noticeboards before buying textbooks.

Reference books
There are many good reference works available, and students should buy the best that they can afford; members of staff will gladly give advice.

History

Why do History?

History is a rigorous discipline aiming to understand past human cultures. In doing so it is excellent training in how to think, analyse, research, write and communicate — what employers now call 'general' and 'transferable' skills — vital to a modern ever changing world. Students learn to work as individuals and in groups, to communicate effectively using all verbal and written forms (including the latest technology), to analyse problems and present answers. History furnishes students with a liberal education and provides them with a sense of the past, an appreciation of context, continuity and tradition, an understanding of the processes of change, and a perspective on present culture.

Grads of this Department have found satisfying careers in such fields as advertising, public relations, museums, arts administration, politics, research, journalism, the law, as well as more traditional fields such as academia, teaching and public administration.

The Department of History at the University of Sydney is the oldest in Australia, one of the largest and offers a wide range of historical subjects and areas. It has the largest Honours School and Postgraduate Research School in New South Wales, and one of the largest in Australia. It affords all students great opportunities to further their historical studies.

The History Junior level units of study and the Senior level themebased units of study emphasise approaches to history, overview and generalisation. The Senior year specialist units of study allow students to focus on particular problems, periods and countries.

Those seeking further training in historical research and method can undertake honours entry courses. These courses are open to all students with a credit or above grade in Junior History and are compulsory for all intending Honours IV students. In second year honours entry enrolment, students are introduced to historical theory and method. The Special Studies Seminars of third year honours entry emphasise the application of theory to practice in a concentrated study of a specific time and place or topic. In the History Honours IV year students undertake supervised research and seminars designed to further develop skills in the theory (General Seminars) and practice (Special Studies Seminars) of history.

History - Undergraduate Course Structure

When Offered: March

Undergraduate course structure

Units of study are counted towards the degree in credit points. The credit point values and entry requirements can be found in the Table of Courses.

History Junior level: Junior level units of study are introductions to the study of history.

History Senior level: Semester-length Senior level units of study are either Thematic (contrast and overview) or Specialist (particular problems, periods and countries). Special entry courses (2900 and 3000 courses) provide students intending to proceed to History IV with higher level work in historical theory and practice.

To major in History, a minimum of 32 credit points at Senior level must be completed.

History Honours entry units of study are open to all history students who qualify even if they do not plan to proceed to History IV Honours.

Attendance requirements

The Faculty of Arts requires satisfactory class attendance. The Department of History interprets 'satisfactory' as attendance at a minimum of 80% of tutorials/seminars. Unless written evidence of illness or misadventure is furnished, students who attend between 50% and 80% of tutorials/seminars will be liable to a penalty. Students who attend less than 50% will be deemed not to have fulfilled the requirements. The University does not recognise employment as excusing unsatisfactory performance, nor are timetable clashes a valid excuse: students should not take a unit of study unless they can meet the above attendance requirement.

Assessment

Students are required to:

- attend lectures and tutorials
- participate in class discussion.
- complete satisfactorily such written work and examinations as may be prescribed

Overlap

No student may take a unit of study that contains a significant overlap with work done previously or being done concurrently.

Availability of units

The Department reserves the right not to give all the units of study described below should there be unexpected difficulties in staffing or insufficient student demand.

History - History Units, and units run by or with other departments

When Offered: March

Department of Ancient History

Units of study in Ancient History and History at Senior level are mutually accessible to students from these two departments. History students may choose from the following list of Ancient History senior units to count towards a History major. For full details see the description in the Ancient History section. Units of study available in 1998 are as follows:

March Semester:

- Roman Imperialism: A Special Case?
- History as they saw it

July Semester:

- Ancient Greek Democracy
- Pagans and Christians
- Assyrian Imperialism
- The Mediterranean World 52-30 B.C.

Department of Economic History

Since 1984, the Department of History has cooperated with the Department of Economic History in a limited program of making units of study in either department available to students enrolled in the other. History Senior level students may take units of study in Economic History Senior level, to count towards a History major. Students who have passed Economic History Junior level can enter History Senior level units of study without taking History at Junior level.

Department of Government and Public Administration

Under an agreement made between the Department of History and the Department of Government and Public Administration, units of study in Japanese history and government at Senior level will be mutually accessible to students from these two departments and may count towards a History major.

Department of Semitic Studies

Units of study in the Department of Semitic Studies listed below are available to History students and may count towards a History major (see the Department's entry for their descriptions).
Israel in the Modern Middle East
Conflict and Peace in the Middle East: the Arab-Israeli Conflict
Department of Women's Studies
Units of study in the Department of Women's Studies students listed below are available to History students and may count towards a History major (see the Department’s entry for their descriptions)

Gender, Science and the Body
School of Asian Studies
Units of study in the School of Asian Studies listed below are available to History students (see the School’s entry for their descriptions). Junior level courses in Modern Asian History and Culture 101 and 102 may be counted towards a History major and will be offered to History and Asian Studies students.

Early Modern Japanese History
Modern Japanese Social History
Modern Southeast Asian History: Economic Change and Religious Conversion
Introduction to Chinese Civilisation:

Centre for European Studies
Units of study in European Studies listed below are available to History students and may count towards a History major (see the Department’s entry for their descriptions).
The Beginnings of Modern Europe: An Introduction to Renaissance Europe

Students participating in any of the above arrangements must register with both the Department of History and the other Department or School.

History - General Information
When Offered: March
Department handbook
All History students should obtain a copy of the departmental handbook, available free of charge from the History Enquiry Office, 8th floor, MacCallum Building.

Plagiarism
The Department encourages critical analysis and independent written work. Plagiarism is not acceptable. Students may obtain a copy of the Faculty’s policy on plagiarism from the Faculty Office.

Reading in foreign languages
Reading in foreign languages is a valuable asset in many history courses. Students should note that the Faculty of Arts has beginners’ courses in many languages. Some third year honours entry units and some History IV Honours thesis topics may require reading knowledge in a particular language.

Grade distribution
The Department follows Academic Board and Faculty of Arts guidelines in awarding a determined percentage of each grade. The Department may scale marks in order to fit these grade guidelines.

Policy for late work
Department policy is:
(i) Applications for extensions must be made on or before the deadline for submission.
(ii) Late work handed in up to the designated return date (without an extension) is subject to penalty.
(iii) No extensions will be granted beyond the designated return date for the relevant written work. In cases where documented misadventure or serious illness prevents students from submitting work before the designated return date an alternative assessment task will be set.

The final deadline for handing in work of any description is the last day of lectures. Exceptions may be made for work originating from a presentation in the last week, with the deadline being the last day of the first week of stuvac. Permission will be required of the Curriculum and Teaching Committee for extensions beyond this point.

Location
The Department is on the 7th and 8th floors of the Mungo MacCallum Building, the 7th floor of the Christopher Brennan Building, and the 3rd and 4th floors of the west wing of the Main Quadrangle.

Enquiry Office
The History Enquiry Office is on the 8th floor, Mungo MacCallum Building, Room 837, telephone 9351 2862, fax 9351 3918.

History - Junior Units of Study
When Offered: March
The Department offers a wide range of Junior level units of study. Before deciding which one to take, please read the unit descriptions and consider their interest, value and usefulness. This may be a good time to get a basic grounding in some period of history which you have not studied yet. HSC History is not required for entry to Junior History. Students intending to do Senior History have to do at least 12 credit points of Junior History. We advise that you choose the Semester Two unit that matches your first semester unit (see the following table) but this is not compulsory. Students should note that they may study 12 credit points at Junior level in Ancient History, Economic History, or Modern Asian History and Culture instead of History Junior level courses as the entry requirement for History Senior level. You may also take these courses in addition to Junior History units of study. Students may take up to 18 credit points in junior level History and a further 12 credit points of either Junior Ancient History, Economic History or Modern Asian History and Culture.

Students choose from the following units of study in 1998:
March Semester
HSTY1021 Medieval Europe in the Age of Feudalism
HSTY1031 The World of the Renaissance and the Reformation (1498-1648)
HSTY1041 Late Modern European History 1789-1914
ASNS1001 Modern Asian History and Culture 101

July Semester
HSTY1022 Europe in the High Middle Ages, ca. 1100-1350
HSTY1032 The World of the Revolution and Romanticism (1648-1848)
HSTY1042 Late Modern European History, 1919-1998
ASNS1002 Modern Asian History and Culture 102

Each unit of study has three contact hours per week in lectures and tutorials throughout the semester.

History Senior - Specialist and Thematic Units of Study
When Offered: March
Classes: 3hr/wk, unless otherwise specified, in varying combination of lectures, tutorials or seminars in a semester
Assessment: Varies with Courses: A range of 6000 words in assignments/ essays and no exam to 3000 words and 3 hours of formal exams.

Senior level History units of study consist of both Thematic and Specialist units of study. Both are essential to the development of a good grounding in the discipline. Thematic units of study focus on a particular theme or problem and explore this in relation to one or more societies and cultures. Specialist units of study focus on particular periods and cultures and explore a broad range of issues within this specific historical context. Both attempt to explore a variety of methodological and theoretical approaches in the ‘recovery’ of the past.

Thematic Units of Study:
HSTY2000 Crime and Deviance
HSTY2001 Religion and Society
HSTY2008 Film and History
HSTY2009 The Black Experience in the Americas
HSTY2010 Personal Narratives
HSTY2011 Indigenous People in the Pacific
Specialist Units of Study:

HSTY2005 Cultural Transmissions, 1750-1914
HSTY2004 Larrkins, Anzacs and the Modern Girl
HSTY2005 Contemporary Europe: East and West in Contemporary Europe
HSTY2006 China in its World
HSTY2007 The 100 Years' War
HSTY2012 The Strut with Destiny
HSTY2013 Modern Russia: State, Society, Culture
HSTY2014 Australian Social History 1919-1998
HSTY2015 Heoros and Inquisition
HSTY2017 Japan and World War II
HSTY2018 The Mediterranean World in the High Middle Ages.

History - History Second Year Honours Entry

Prerequisite: HSTY2901
When Offered: March

Although Honours entry courses are a necessary qualification for entry to the History IV (Honours) Year, these courses may be taken by any students who meet the entry requirements regardless of whether or not they intend to proceed to History IV. Normally students will complete HSTY2901 and HSTY2902 in their second year of enrolment and eight credit points of the HSTY3000 units of study in their third year of enrolment in order to qualify for History IV.

History - History Third Year Honours Entry

Assyrian Imperialism
The Mediterranean World 52-30 B.C.

History - History IV Honours

Prerequisite: HSTY2901
When Offered: March

Departmental statement: The work of History IV students is overseen by the History IV Meeting, which comprises all teachers of History IV, and by the Meeting's Coordinating Committee, which comprises the History IV Coordinator, the Head of Department, and the Chair of the Curriculum Committee. History IV students are required to register with the department in October of the preceding year. Intending History IV students will discuss their programs of study and research for 1998 with the History IV Coordinator. Students should have decided on their area of thesis research before the summer vacation. Their final combination of coursework and thesis topic will be approved by the Coordinator.

Program: History IV students are required to write a thesis and attend two courses—a General Seminar and a Special Studies Seminar. General seminars are broadly based and conceptual, with a strong historiographical or inter-area element. General seminars are held in Semester One. Special Studies Seminars (which are open to Third Year Honours Entry students) are designed to allow the student detailed work in a more specialised area of interest and run over Semesters One and Two. The thesis will be worth 50% of the final mark, the General Seminar 20% and the Special Studies Seminar 30%.

Thesis: The thesis will be written under the individual supervision of a member of staff. Students and their supervisors see each other regularly and work together to ensure that departmental guidelines on dates for progress and submission are adhered to. Any problems with a thesis, at any stage of research or composition, should be taken up with the supervisor or with the Coordinator. Theses are to be between 15,000 and 20,000 words in length. Bibliography and footnote citations are not included in word length, but discursive footnotes and appendices are.

Deadlines and late work: History IV has three deadlines outside those scheduled in specific seminars. Consult Department for these dates. Work not submitted by these dates will be considered late. Requests for extension of time for late work must be made in writing to the History IV Coordinator at the earliest possible date and before the relevant submission dates. Extensions will only be granted for serious illness or misadventure. Late work should be handed in at the Departmental Office and may not be marked if submitted without these prior arrangements. Students will be advised as soon as possible if such work has not been accepted for marking. A record will be kept of work which is late without extension and presented to the History IV Meeting, which will take notice of this in its final assessment and ranking of students.

Seminars: Students choose one of the above Special Studies Seminars which appear under Third Year Honours Entry units of study and one of the General Seminars which appear under History IV Honours.

History IV Honours Special Studies Seminars:
Classes: 2hr seminar/wk
Assessment: March Semester: 4000 words written work, July Semester: 6000 words written work
30% for March Semester, 60% for July Semester, 10% for participation over the whole year

History IV General Seminars:
Classes: March Semester: 2hr seminar/wk
Assessment: 4000 words written work (90% for written work, 10% for participation)

Students choose one of the following General Seminars.
HSTY4003 Historical Thought and Writing in the Age of Modernity
Course coordinators: Dr Zdenko Zlata
Classes March Semester: 2hr seminar/wk
Assessment 4000 words written work (90% for written work, 10% for participation)

This seminar will deal with historical writing in the past 250 years. First the understanding of history as process from Gibbon and Herder through Hegel, Ranke, Michelet and Burckhardt, to the Whig, National and Marxist history and second the idea of structure and various attempts to locate history within the social sciences since the 18th century, particularly Marx, Tocqueville, Weber and Nietzsche, the Annales school, cultural historians of the 20th century (Huizinga, Geertz, Clendinnen), and finally 'structuralists' and post-structuralists, such as Levi-Strauss, Foucault, and Eliade.
HSTY4004 Writing the History of Popular Culture
Course coordinators: Assoc Prof Richard Waterhouse
Classes March Semester: 2hr seminar/wk
Assessment: 4000 words written work (90% for written work, 10% for participation)

This seminar begins with a discussion of the meanings of the terms 'culture' and 'popular culture' and how those meanings have changed in the last century or so. The curriculum of this class is also concerned with the historiography of popular culture and the methods used by historians (e.g. ethnography, material culture studies) to recover the lives of those who have left few written records. The case studies, drawn from a range of pre-industrial, urban industrial and post industrial societies, are designed to allow students to determine the merits and disadvantages to the various methods and approaches studied. Finally, this seminar will examine the relationship between popular and other forms of culture: it is a fundamental tenet of the course that culture is a process, that no form of culture may be understood in isolation.

HSTY4005 Sex and Subjectivity in History: Reading Autobiography as a Source
Dr Penny Russell
Classes March Semester: 2hr seminar/wk
Assessment: 4000 words written work (90% for written work, 10% for participation)

In this seminar we investigate some of the many forms - including memoirs, letters, diaries and oral history - in which women and men have written their life stories. Treading lightly on a range of cultures and historical eras, we consider the narrative structures of autobiographies and examine the development of identity and sexual subjectivity through memory, writing and relationships. We draw upon historical and theoretical literature to analyse particular examples of autobiographical writing in the light of their value to historians.

HSTY4006 Place and Meaning in the Past
Dr Lyn Olson
Classes March Semester: 2hr seminar/wk
Assessment: 4000 words written work (90% for written work, 10% for participation)

This seminar deals with the use of the evidence of places and the material remains found at them in historical study. The opportunities and limitations of such material will be assessed in the light of written, textual evidence. The seminar will be constructed around places or clusters of places, carefully chosen to bring out issues in historical study, from a wide variety of past societies, from 'early early History' to historical Sydney.

Assessment: One 3hr exam or equivalent, 3000 written work; 60% classwork and 40% exam.

This course will consider how European cultural values and institutions were transferred to the United States and Australia. The curriculum will include the social and cultural histories of cities and frontiers, the role of popular and high culture, the social and cultural relations between Europeans and indigenous peoples.

One important outcome of this course will be a demonstration that the social and cultural histories of cities and frontiers, the role of popular and high culture, the social and cultural relations between Europeans and indigenous peoples.

The threads of modernity, gender and nation-making weave through the period 1860 to 1930, when Australians were, in effect, made 'modern'. In a political climate dominated by nationalism, Federation and war, in a suburban landscape of modern architecture and domestic technology, popular stereotypes of Australian men and women evolved from society's engagement with new notions of time and space, urban and rural culture, modernism high and low, changing sexual and family politics, and the seductive attractions of modern life.

HSTY 2005 Contemporary Europe: East and West in Contemporary Europe 8 credit points

When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: one 3hr exam or equivalent, one 3000w essay; 60% for classwork, 40% for exam

Long before the Pacific was officially 'discovered', it had captured the European imagination. Pacific people have continued to be represented according to changing Western priorities. In this course we examine the assumptions and conceptual models which have coloured European representations of the area. In doing so we contrast Indigenous accounts, including fiction, arts, autobiography and film.

HSTY 2012 The Tryst with Destiny 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Jim Masselos
Prerequisite: 12 credit points of Junior History, Ancient History, Economic History or Asian History and Culture
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: One 2hr exam or equivalent, 4000 words written work; 60% classwork and 40% exam.

This course explores the historical experiences of South Asia since independence in 1947. The nations covered will be India, Pakistan and Bangladesh with some comparative material provided by Indonesia and Singapore. The overall theme will be how the leaders handled the challenge of creating new nations and of their successes and failures. Aims: To develop a broad knowledge and understanding of South Asia since the end of World War II. Outcomes: To develop sensitivity to different political cultures and promote comparative skills in historical analysis.

HSTY 2013 Modern Russia: State, Society, Culture 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Zdenko Zlatar

When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: One 3hr exam or equivalent, 3000 words written work; 60% classwork and 40% exam.

Russia is a European state" Catherine the Great proclaimed. This course will examine the Westernization of Imperial Russia under Peter the Great and his successors, the origins and role of the radical and nationalist intelligentsias, and their debates over Russia's place in the world, and its attitude toward the West. It will then deal with the coming of the Revolution, the revolutions of 1905 and 1917, and the Soviet regime until its collapse and the emergence of post-Soviet Russia.

HSTY 2014 Australian Social History 1919-1998 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Richard White
Prerequisite: 12 credit points of Junior History, Ancient History, Economic History or Asian History and Culture
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: one 3hr exam, 3000 words written work; 60% for classwork, 40% for exam

The twentieth century has seen major transformations in Australian society. From the aftermath of the Great War, the course follows the traumas of Depression and World War II, into periods of less dramatic but still profound change: the post-war boom through the Menzies years, the threats posed by the Cold War, the Bomb and the discovery of the teenager, the impact of immigration, the 1960s, the Whitlam government, the Hawke-Keating years and life in the 1990s.

HSTY 2015 Heresy and Inquisition: the Inquisition and Social Change in Europe 1000-1325 A.D. 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr John Ward
Prerequisite: 12 credit points of Junior History, Ancient History, Economic History or Asian History and Culture
When Offered: July

Prerequisite: 12 credit points of Junior History, Ancient History, Economic History or Asian History and Culture
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: One 3hr exam, one 3000 words written work; 60% for classwork, 40% for exam

This course first considers the major interpretations of America's role in the world and the forces shaping America's foreign relations, including national mission, national interest and imperial expansion. It then looks for a pattern in historical experience through a study of selected problems, such as the American Revolution, Manifest Destiny, 'Open Door' and New Imperialism, World War I and New World Order, Cold War and Warfare State, Cuban Missile Crisis and Vietnam War, Decline of Empire and 'End of History.'

HSTY 2017 Japan and World War II
8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Rikki Kersten
Prerequisite: 12 credit points of Junior History, Ancient History, Economic History or Asian History and Culture
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: one 3hr exam, one 3000 words written work; 60% for classwork, 40% for exam

The 50th anniversary of the end of World War II provoked furious debate in Japan on how the history of the war should be written. POW's, 'comfort women', forced labourers and atomic bomb victims were some of the many issues that were agonised over. This course will examine the historiography of the war from Japanese perspectives. It will use the methodology of discourse analysis to examine the issues informing history education, and how historical debate has affected Japan's foreign relations.

HSTY 2018 The Mediterranean World in the High Middle Ages
8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc Prof John Pryor
Prerequisite: 12 credit points of Junior History, Ancient History, Economic History or Asian History and Culture
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: One 3,000 word essay and one take-home examination of 3,000 words.

This course is made available only over the Internet. There are no traditional lectures or tutorials. Students need access to the Internet via their own computers, modems, and Email or via these resources available through Fisher Library or the Sydney University Information Technology Unit. Prospective students must consult Professor Pryor (tel: (02) 9351 2840).

Beginning with the Mediterranean powers of Islam and Byzantium in decline in the eleventh century, the course examines the processes of that decline and the rise of Western Europe. Particular attention is paid to the physical geography, oceanography, and meteorology of the Mediterranean basin and to the evolution of historical processes with reference to human technology. Byzantium, the Muslim Near East, Genoa, Pisa, Venice, the Kingdom of Sicily, the Aragonese empire, the Papacy. Economic, political, and religious relationships between the Mediterranean World and Eurasia and Africa.

HSTY 2901 Writing History: Reading the Past
4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Glenda Sluga, Assoc. Prof. Shane White
Prerequisite: Credit average in 12 credit points of Junior History, Ancient History, Economic History or Asian History and Culture
When Offered: March
Classes: 1 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: One 1,000 word tutorial exercise and one 3,000 word essay.

Attendance at both lectures and tutorials is compulsory. Writing History offers students an introduction to the way in which historians have constructed their stories of the past. In 'Reading the Past,' selected examples of history writing are set in the context of theoretical discussions of larger themes. The themes focus on popular objects, actions around which historians think about the past. We will discuss social theories (eg. marxism, feminism, structuralism, post-structuralism); emphasise the way in which theory grows out of the need to solve historical problems, questions, and is integral to the construction of an historical narrative.

HSTY 2902 Writing History: Recovering the Past
4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Glenda Sluga , Assoc. Prof. Shane White
Prerequisite: HSTY2901
When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lecture & 1 tutorial/wk
Assessment: Two 2000 word essays or equivalent.

Attendance at both lectures and tutorials is compulsory. Writing History offers students an introduction to the way in which historians have constructed their stories of the past. In 'Recovering the past' we build on the work done in 'Reading the Past' regarding the relationship of history to theory. The emphasis in 'Recovering the Past' is on the kinds of sources used by the historian in writing their history, in public histories, in oral histories, in the making of documentaries as well as academic history.

HSTY 3001 The History of Travel and Tourism

When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: 2 seminar papers, each 2000 words (written work 90%, participation 10%)

How is motherhood constructed as a social institution? In this course we investigate the relationship of motherhood and other social, economic and political institutions in Australia since 1850. Themes will include the mother as citizen; mothers and demography; mothers and medicine; single mothers; mothers dethroned; the suburban mum; motherhood and feminism; mothers and the church; the maternal body.

HSTY 3032 Australian Motherhood II 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Jan Kociumbas
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 credit points of History, including HSTY2901 and HSTY2902
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: 6000 words written work (one 2000-word seminar paper, one 4000-word research essay) (written work 90%, participation 10%)

This course will explore the unique character of Australia's experience in the world from White Australia to multiculturalism, from British 'race patriotism' to 'Eurasian nation'. It will trace the emergence of a distinctive foreign policy tradition out of the special problems created for a European-derived society located in the Asian-Pacific region. It will consider the implications of this experience for national identity and the tensions between the community of culture and the community of interest. In the process it will examine many of the major issues and events in the history of Australia's relations with the world down to 1945, including colonial liberalism, the 'Monroe Doctrine for the South Pacific', The White Australia policy, the making of the Commonwealth, the fear of Japan and the 'Yellow peril', dependence on 'Great and Powerful Friends', the AIF and Anzacs, and The British 'betrayal' in World War 2.

HSTY 3041 Australia and the World I 4 credit points

When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: 4000 words written work (written work 90%, participation 10%)

The course examines Australian approaches to foreign affairs since the Second World War against a background of changing perceptions, ranging from those of the Cold War, the non-aligned Afro-Asian movements, the Third World, North-South groupings and APEC. These Australian approaches will be contrasted with those of selected Asian regions including China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and Indonesia. Other regions (including Japan and South Asia) will be examined in second semester in a course entitled Asia and Australia.
HSTY 3052 Asia and Australia 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Rikki Kersten, Dr Jim Masselos
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 credit points of History, including HSTY2901 and HSTY2902
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: 6000 words written work (written work 90%, participation 10%)

The course continues discussions started in Australia and the Asian World semester unit. After an initial discussion of the dynamics of relations in the Asia Australia region and APEC, the course examines specific case studies of Japanese and South Asian policies in the region and towards Australia in the present from approximately the end of the Second World War to the present day.

HSTY 3061 Racism and Imperialism 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Ken Macnab
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 credit points of History, including HSTY2901 and HSTY2902
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: 4000 words written work (written work 90%, participation 10%)

This seminar explores the origins, nature, rationalisation, representation and interpretation of European imperialism in two ways. This semester will focus on ideas of racism and imperialism in England c.1850s-c.1950s as revealed particularly in the literature of Anglo-Indian authors such as Kipling, Woolf, Forster and Orwell.

HSTY 3062 Orientalism and Empire 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof Edmund Burke
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 credit points of History, including HSTY2901 and HSTY2902
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: 6000 words written work (written work 90%, participation 10%)

This seminar focuses on Orientalism, in its various forms as social science, cultural manifestation, and discourse of domination, all shaping and mediating the interrelationship between European imperial hegemony and its subjects. Students will acquire knowledge and practical expertise in the historiography, key interpretative concepts, historical methodology and major sources in the area of empire and orientalism and practical experience in a variety of research and presentation techniques.

Italian

The Department of Italian aims to promote research and learning in the broad area of Italian studies. Units of study are designed to develop the four macro language skills (listening, speaking, reading, writing) in the target language, Standard Italian. All units of study aim to develop analytical and critical skills which will enable students to pursue studies in all areas in which the Department has competence. Those areas include:

- Italian literary history and criticism, with particular emphasis on the Middle Ages and the Renaissance (fourteenth to sixteenth centuries), seventeenth and eighteenth-century studies, the Romantic period, twentieth-century literature and society;
- Italian drama, with particular reference to medieval religious drama, Renaissance theatre, the Commedia dell' Arte, performance studies;
- Italian Language studies, especially sociolinguistics in the Italian and Australian contexts, second language acquisition, language teaching methodologies, philology.

General outline of units of study

There are four entry-level units of study: Beginners' Italian (ITLN 1101/2), Intermediate Italian (ITLN 1201/2), Advanced Italian (ITLN 1301/2) and Advanced Italian (Native Speakers) (ITLN 1401/2), each of which is a 6 credit-point semester-length unit of study.

Extension oral/aural units of study can be taken concurrently with the first three entry level units of study. Beginners' Oral/Aural (ITLN 1311/2), Intermediate Oral/Aural (ITLN 1231/2) and Advanced Oral/Aural (ITLN 1331/2) are each a 3 credit-point semester-length unit of study. Students may take up to 18 credit points of Italian at Junior level.

Beginners' Italian is for students with no previous experience of the language. It concentrates on basic language study in Semester 1, and combines literary and historical perspectives with further language study in Semester 2. Intermediate Italian is for students with HSC 2UZ Italian at a satisfactory standard, or equivalent. Advanced Italian is for students with a minimum of HSC 2U Italian at a satisfactory standard, or equivalent. Intermediate and Advanced Italian combine language consolidation and extension with the study of twentieth-century literature and drama in their historical contexts. Advanced Italian (Native Speakers) caters for students entering University with extensive secondary schooling in Italy. It combines advanced language with the study of twentieth-century literature and drama in their historical contexts.

The Oral-Aural extension units of study employ a range of media to develop the listening and speaking skills of non-native speakers in all contexts. They are strongly recommended for students who intend to major in Italian. Note that each Oral/Aural extension unit of study has a 6 credit-point co-requisite.

Senior Units of Study

From 1998 all Senior units of study in Italian are "modularised" as well as "semestrised". Students may choose any Senior unit of study for which they have the prerequisites and/or the assumed knowledge. It is expected that in practice students will take a 4 credit-point unit of study in Language and a 4 credit-point unit of study in the range ITLN 3700-3799 in each semester, but a wide range of combinations is possible. Consult Program Advisors prior to Faculty enrolment.

Major in Italian

Students may take up to a maximum of 64 Senior credit points in Italian. A Major in Italian normally consists of a minimum of 32 Senior credit points, including language study to a minimum of ITLN 3202 (for those who entered Junior level as Beginners or Intermediate students), or ITLN 2302 (for those who entered Junior level as Advanced students), or ITLN 3402 (for those who entered as Advanced Native Speakers).

Cross-listed Units of Study

Consult Department. In general, no more than 8 credit points from another subject area may be counted towards a major in Italian.
Honours in Italian
Students entering Italian IV Honours must have completed the four semester-length preparatory units of study in Italian 2 Honours and Italian 3 Honours.

Administrative Assistant and Departmental Office
Mrs Joyce Allegretto, Room N313, Level 3, northern wing, Mills Building. Telephone 9351 2874; fax 9351 3407; e-mail joall@italian.usyd.edu.au.

Location
Staff offices are located on Levels 1-3 of the northern wing of the Mills Building, and Level 3 of the Mungo MacCallum Building.

Noticeboards
All course and student information is displayed on noticeboards near the stairs in the Mills Building, Level 2, northern end.

Registration in the Orientation Period (February 1998)
In addition to formal Faculty enrolment, all students must register with the Department at a designated time in the Orientation period. Consult Departmental noticeboard in February for times and places of registration.

Timetable
A provisional Departmental timetable will be available in January 1998, but may be subject to change when enrolment numbers are finalised. Students must consult the Departmental noticeboard in the Orientation period for latest information on all units of study. All classes in the Department of Italian begin in the first week of semester.

Course placement and advanced standing
Students should enrol with Faculty strictly according to the prerequisites. Prerequisites for all Italian units of study are given in the Table of Units of Study at the front of this Handbook, and in the entries below.

A student who is qualified to enter a higher level course may not enrol in a lower level course. Students who have taken HSC Italian and students who have any formal training from other sources must identify themselves to the Department at the time of Registration in the Department in February 1998.

Native speakers of Italian and other students with advanced knowledge of Italian language and culture must identify themselves at the time of registration. It may be appropriate for such students to seek advanced standing and enter Senior level courses, but only after they have completed at least 18 Junior credit-points in one or more other subject areas.

Evening classes
Subject to demand and funding, Beginners’ Italian 1 and 2 will be available in the evening in 1998. Intending evening students should advise the Department (tel. 9351 2874) as soon as possible.

Program advisors and teacher/coordinators
There are designated teacher/coordinators for each unit of study, and program advisors as follows:

Junior Level: Dr Modesto, Dr Rubino and Dott. Zanardi
Senior Level: Assoc. Prof. Fitzpatrick, Dr Kiernan, Dott. Marmini, Assoc. Prof. Newbigin and Assoc. Prof. Reynolds
Honours, Fourth year and Postgraduate: Prof. Carsaniga, Assoc. Prof. Newbigin, Dr Reynolds.

ITLN 1101 Beginners’ Italian 1

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Modesto, Dr Rubino, Dott. Zanardi
Prerequisite: ITLN 1100
May not be counted with: ITLN 1201, ITLN 1301, ITLN 1401

When Offered: March & July
Classes: 5 tut/wk
Assessment: one 3hr exam, class work, assignments

Beginners’ Italian 1 introduces the main structures of Italian language, in context and working systematically from spoken patterns to written forms. The unit of study develops all four language skills, with particular focus on the development of grammatical accuracy. Reading of appropriate short texts is introduced from Week 1.

Oral/aural skills are further developed in Beginners’ Oral/Aural Italian 1, which is strongly recommended to students intending to proceed to Senior level units of study.

Spanish & Latin American Studies

Units of study in Spanish are offered, subject to the availability of staff, at beginners' and intermediate level. The first year unit of study also contains an introduction to Spanish and Latin American civilisation, and the second year unit of study contains a strand on literature in Spanish. These units of study are offered at the University of Sydney with the co-operation of the Department of Spanish and Latin American Studies at the University of New South Wales. Students who satisfactorily complete these courses are eligible to apply to the Faculty for permission to undertake further study at the UNSW. Information on related language, literature, linguistic, film and history courses available at the UNSW is available from the Spanish language staff or from the Language Centre, which is responsible for these courses. Sydney students may enrol in Spanish 1001/1002 and Spanish 2001/2002.

Spanish 1001/1002 is available to junior-level students in the Faculty of Arts who have no substantial prior knowledge of the language, and who are accepted into the quota for the unit of study. In 1998 the junior-level quota will be two groups, each of 20-25 students. Under no circumstances may Spanish 1001/1002 be taken by junior-level students who have completed HSC Spanish or who have equivalent knowledge of the language. Students with a prior knowledge of Spanish who enrol in Spanish 1001/1002 without checking their eligibility may subsequently be obliged to withdraw and enrol in another subject. However, students with HSC Spanish, or an equivalent knowledge, may apply to the Faculty of Arts to undertake more advanced units of study in Spanish by enrolling at the U.N.S.W. as a cross-institutional student. In 1998 there will also be a third enrolment group of 20-25 students for Spanish 1001/1002, which will be available to non junior-level students who wish to acquire a working knowledge of Spanish. Such students should enrol in the third group as UNSW cross-institutional students. The third group will be taught at this campus where there is sufficient enrolment (20 or more) or at the UNSW campus if the enrolment for the third group is insufficient.

Spanish B 2001/2002 is available to students who have completed Spanish 1001/1002 at this University or who have completed the equivalent elsewhere and been granted either credit or advanced standing.

Further enquiries may be directed to the Faculty of Arts Office, telephone 9351 3129, or the Language Centre, telephone 9351 2683. It is not possible to take a major or Honours in Spanish on the University of Sydney campus.

Since the teaching of Spanish at the University of Sydney is partly dependent on non-recurrent funding and external support, students should establish its availability with the Language Centre or with the Faculty Office prior to enrolment.

Registration: Wednesday, 25 February, 11.00 - 1.00pm, Language Centre, room AV1.

Linguistics

Of all the skills that human beings possess, language is the most quintessentially human. The practices and institutions that we take for granted, such as law, religion and science, would not be possible if not for the communication of symbolic and abstract meanings that language makes easy. No other animal has anything even approximating human language, and this is no doubt the reason for the complete absence of such institutions even among our closest relatives, the great apes.

In spite of the fact that we all use language intensively each day and are constantly surrounded by its spoken and written forms, most of us are completely unaware of its true nature and structure. This is because it is so close for us, so much a part of our daily lives, that we use it unconsciously. It is a skill we take for granted like riding a pushbike or driving a car. But this easy, largely unconscious skill is very deceptive, for all human languages are highly complex systems for communication, with greatly elaborated structures and rules. Linguistics is the discipline that takes language at its particular object of study, to uncover its structures and rules and to understand how these are used in human acts of communication.

Linguistics studies the full range of aspects of human language. It investigates the phonetics, grammar and semantics of individual languages, but through this seeks to uncover the features common to all human languages, the 'linguistic universals'. These are equivalent to the set of constraints on what is a possible human language, the so-called universal grammar. Various linguistic theories have been proposed which attempt to characterise this underlying structure of all languages; these theories are then used as a guide for the description of individual languages and revised accordingly. Languages which seem on first view to be very different may turn out, on closer scrutiny, to share many important deeper similarities in terms of their overall structural patterning.
Linguistics occupies a privileged position in the field of the humanities and sciences in that it touches on many of the central issues that concern a number of disciplines. Because language is concerned with communication between humans, it is relevant for the social sciences like anthropology and sociology; but because it is the central instrument for thinking and other cognitive tasks, it is also important to psychologists. Problems of language also loom large in fields like philosophy and literary criticism. Finally linguistics has many practical applications in fields like language teaching, general education, and computer science.

Units of study
The Department of Linguistics offers units of study at Junior, Senior and IV Honours level. The entry requirements for these are set out in Table A units of study.

Pass units
Junior level units of study are a general introduction to the study of linguistics and provide the foundation for Senior level units. However, they are designed as self-contained units and, therefore, may be useful for those not proceeding further with linguistics.

To major in linguistics, students must complete 32 Senior level credit points, including 16 from two of the following units of study: LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004.

Students are free to choose from any offered units of study in Linguistics provided they meet the prerequisite requirements. However, students may choose to specialise in one of two distinct areas of linguistics by completing a recommended pattern of units of study.

Areas of specialisation
Theoretical Descriptive Studies
This area of specialisation will be useful to anyone with an interest in the structure of language and especially professionals whose work requires them to have a good insight to the way language is built and is used to express ideas. Students completing this major will be able to deal with phonological, grammatical or semantic data from any language and produce an explicit, systematic and theoretically informed description of them. Graduates will be fully trained in the techniques and analytical skills needed to produce such useful descriptions. In addition, they will have learned very valuable skills of argumentation in ways for weighing one possible description over alternatives. These skills are useful in many professions from computer programming and language teaching to bilingual education programs and publishing.

Social Discourse Analysis
This major offers a range of theoretically informed approaches to discourse analysis found nowhere else in the world. Students finishing this major will be able to recognise and use the methodological and theoretical tools most suited to their interests, and be able to produce systematic, theoretically-informed, data-driven analyses. There is a strong applied component with the understanding that discourse is central to most, if not all, human endeavours. Those completing this major will not only be up to date on cutting-edge discourse theory, but also be able to use that knowledge in areas such as education and the law.

Students interested in either of these specialisations should contact the Department for further information.

Linguistics IV Honours
Linguistics IV Honours has two components: coursework, comprised of from two to four units of study drawn from the Linguistics 3900 series of units of study, and a thesis. The weighting of the thesis and coursework components will vary according to the number of units of study a student chooses to take, i.e. 2 units of study (1/3), thesis (2/3); 3 units of study (1/2), thesis (1/2); 4 units of study (2/3), thesis (1/3). The weighting will be decided in consultation with the Head of Department.

Students considering enrolling in Linguistics IV Honours are encouraged to consult with the Head of Department as early as possible, preferably towards the end of their third year.

Departmental coursework guidelines
Students are advised to obtain a copy of the Departmental coursework guidelines which states our policies regarding such matters as assessment, grade distribution, and late submission of work.

Timetable
Students should consult the Departmental noticeboard prior to the commencement of each semester for timetable information.

Location
The Department is located in the Transient Building (F12), on the second floor (above the Co-op Bookshop). The main enquiries office is Room 218 (telephone: 9351 4348; facsimile 9351 7572).

Registration
Students taking any of the linguistics units of study should register with the Department, if possible during the week before each semester.

Enquiries are welcome at any time.

LNGS 1001 Structure of Language

| Teacher/Coordinator: Prof W A Foley |
| Prerequisite: None |
| When Offered: March |
| Classes: (3 lec & 1 tutorials)/week |
| Assessment: One 3hr exam (50%), essay or other written assignment (50%) |

LNGS 1002 Language and Social Context

| Teacher/Coordinator: Dr T Borowsky |
| Prerequisite: None |
| When Offered: July |
| Classes: (3 lec & 1 tutor)/week |
| Assessment: One 3hr exam, various written assignments or essays |
How do we use language to create and signal our social relationships? How are our conversations structured and creative? How do we study language as it is actually spoken in everyday life? How and why do languages change and dialects form.

LNGS 1003 Languages of Australia

| Teacher/Coordinator: Dr J Simpson |
| Prerequisite: None |
| When Offered: July |
| Classes: 3 lec & 1 tutorial/week |
| Assessment: Various written assignments plus essay |
Introduction to the languages in Australia, illustrating methods of studying language in its social, cultural and historical context. The languages will include: Aboriginal languages, Aboriginal English, community languages, AUSLAN and Australian English. Topics to be discussed: Language acquisition; multilingualism; code-switching; language variation: social and regional; language standardisation and non-standard dialects; language change; conversational style; language as a marker of social identity; language change; pidgins, creoles and Aboriginal English; sign languages; written languages; literacy; language in education; language and culture; language and the law.
LNGS 2001 Phonetics and Phonology 8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr T Borowsky
Prerequisite: LNGS 1001, and either LNGS 1002 or LNGS 1003
When Offered: March
Classes: (3 lec & 1 tutorial)/week
Assessment: Fortnightly problem sets; 2 hr exam
Introduction to articulatory phonetics: the vocal tract and speech production, basic acoustic phonetics: the phonetic alphabet. Generative phonology: distinctive features; phonological rules; phonological systems and phonological representations.

LNGS 2002 Syntax 8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr C Manning
Prerequisite: LNGS 1001 and either LNGS 1002 or LNGS 1003
When Offered: July
Classes: (3 lec & 1 tutorial)/week
Assessment: Written assignments, class
Basic concepts and rules of syntax, i.e. the principles by which grammatical units such as phrases, clauses and sentences are formed. Constituents and phrase structure. Relations between sentences. Typological variation in the structural coding of syntactic functions. Grammatical relations: semantic and pragmatic bases. Syntactic derivations in a cross-linguistic perspective: passives, antipassives, dative, causatives. Complex sentences: complementation, relative clauses, adverbial clauses, serialisation, switch reference.

LNGS 2003 Functional Grammar and Discourse 8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. J Martin
Prerequisite: LNGS 1001 and LNGS 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: (3 lec & 1 tutorial)/week
Assessment: Essay, other written work
This unit of study is concerned with the way in which language is organised to make meaning. Accordingly it takes a functional view of grammar, considering in detail the ways in which the grammar of English is organised to build up our picture of reality, to enable us to interact in conversation and to make our contribution coherent and relevant. Lectures and tutorials are designed to give students analysis skills that will enable them to analyse texts from any English register. These skills will include the analysis of ideational, interpersonal and textual meaning in the clause, the nature of inter-clausal relations, and the structure of nominal, verbal and adverbial groups and prepositional phrases, this course provides a foundation for further work on texts in context in the Social Discourse Analysis major.

LNGS 2004 Discourse Analysis 8 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr S Kiesling
Prerequisite: LNGS 1001 and LNGS 1002
When Offered: July
Classes: (3 lec & 1 tutorial)/week
Assessment: Essay, other written work
An exploration of the structure and functions of contextualised utterances produced by real speakers. Students learn to collect, transcribe, and analyse discourse from perspectives that focus on the units and structure of discourse, as well as those which focus on the creative and aesthetic aspects of discourse.

LNGS 2005 Australian Languages 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr M Walsh
Prerequisite: LNGS 1001 and either LNGS 1002 or LNGS 1003
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments
This unit of study aims to give an overview of the languages of indigenous Australians. Of the 250 distinct Aboriginal languages spoken in 1788, most are dead or dying and just 20 languages are expected to survive another few generations. This unit of study will challenge this grim and oft-quoted statistic. We will see that new Aboriginal languages have emerged, apparently moribund languages have been gaining strength and distinctive Aboriginal ways of talking have survived. We consider why some languages have prospered while others have declined. We explore how Australian languages have responded to the challenges of non-Aboriginal settlement, in such arenas as education, land rights and health.

LNGS 2006 Language Variation and Change 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr S Kiesling
Prerequisite: LNGS 1001 and LNGS 1002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments
Students will learn to gather, code, and analyse vernacular speech, including machine coding and statistical analysis. A survey of: general patterns of language change; the relationships between society and linguistic structure; and variational approaches to style (register) shifting.

LNGS 2007 Computer Applications in Linguistics 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr T Borowsky
Prerequisite: LNGS 1001 and LNGS 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignment, report, programming task, class
Computers play an increasingly significant role in the study of language and linguistics. This unit of study introduces students to the many uses of computers in the humanities with specific reference to linguistics: computer lexicography; building and searching text corpora, examining speech signals, collocations, style, authorship, discourse structure and syntactic constructions. Training in accessing information on languages and linguistics through library catalogues, electronic mailing lists, FTP sites and the World Wide Web. Other linguistics courses (like phonetics, field methods, historical linguistics and semantics) will rely on some basic knowledge of the use of computers, as can be gained from this course.

LNGS 2008 Language Acquisition 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr T Borowsky
Prerequisite: LNGS 1001 and LNGS 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments
Issues in, and approaches to, the study of language acquisition in generative linguistics: a comparison of theories; innateness; maturation; topics in the acquisition of phonology, morphology, syntax and semantics. Each student will have first hand experience in studying the emergence of language.
LNGS 2009 Historical Linguistics 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr T Borowsky
Prerequisite: LNGS 2001
When Offered: July
Classes: (2 lec & 1 tutorial)/week
Assessment: Written assignments, class

This unit of study looks at the mechanisms of change within a particular language as well as across groups of related languages. This raises the question of how languages can be related: whether through sharing a common ancestor; by being in contact for a long time or by being consciously planned. In each instance we must either rely on knowledge we can gain from languages still in use or on records of extinct languages or earlier stages of existing languages. Because the records are often sparse it becomes necessary to reconstruct earlier stages and the course provides the tools for undertaking a reconstruction. Once we reconstruct a common ancestor language we are then able to make inferences about the culture of the people who spoke it as well as where they lived and how they moved about. Each level of linguistic structure is relevant to the study of language change so that the course considers how sound systems change over time as well as changes in meanings and grammatical systems.

LNGS 3001 Introduction to Chinese Linguistics 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr J Simpson
Prerequisite: LNGS 2001 and either LNGS 2002 or LNGS 2003
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignments, tutorial papers, essay, class

The unit of study will focus on the structure and social context of a Chinese language. The place of the particular Chinese language within the family of Chinese languages will be discussed, both synchronically and diachronically. Under 'social context' will be discussed location of speakers, status of language, attitudes towards language, writing systems, and pragmatics. Under 'structure' will be discussed phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, lexical semantics, cross-sentence linking and information structuring. The unit of study will also introduce students to different approaches to functional work (including both West Coast functionalism and systemic functional grammar) to generative work (including Government-Binding and Lexical Functional Grammar).

LNGS 3002 Phonological Theory 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr T Borowsky
Prerequisite: LNGS 2001
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Fortnightly problems, presentation, research paper

LNGS 3003 Discourse Semantics 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. J Martin
Prerequisite: LNGS 2003
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignment, class

Semantics in relation to discourse analysis will be explored - semantics as it fits into a model of text in context relations. Discourse from the perspective of functional linguistics will be examined, focussing in detail on textual relations beyond the sentence - including participant identification, conversation structure, conjunctive relations and lexical cohesion. The role of grammatical metaphor in organising information flow will also be considered, and on a complementary range of interactions between grammar and discourse features - eg the role of Theme and New (method of development, point and hierarchy of periodicity), the role of Subject (modal responsibility); and the role of case relations (cohesive harmony). The unit of study will take systemic functional analyses of English as point of departure, but with attention given to other languages and theoretical perspectives (eg ethnomethodology, rhetorical structure theory) where relevant.

LNGS 3004 Modern Formal Theories of Grammar 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr C Manning
Prerequisite: LNGS 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

Focus on a particular formal theory of grammar; Generalised Phrase Structure Grammar, Government Binding Theory, Lexical Functional Grammar, etc. Topics in the formal properties of grammars constituency, configurationality, the role of the lexicon, morphology, rules, acquisition, etc.

LNGS 3005 Morphology 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr M Walsh
Prerequisite: LNGS 2001 and LNGS 2002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignments

LNGS 3006 Semantics and Pragmatics 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr J Simpson
Prerequisite: LNGS 2002 or LNGS 2003
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

LNGS 3007 Genre and Register 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. J Martin
Prerequisite: LNGS 2003
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

This unit of study will focus on the analysis of genre and register, from the perspective of functional linguistics. A range of approaches to genre analysis will be considered, including the pioneering work of Bakhtin and Mitchell and the more contemporary research which inspired Australia’s genre-based literacy programs (Labov and Hasan). The issue of modelling genre relationships will be examined in detail, including typological and topological approaches. Register analysis will be considered from the perspective of well studied registers such as science and media discourse, taking into account the work functional linguists and critical discourse analysts. Attention will also be given to qualitative and quantitative techniques, and to multi-modal analysis (including verbiage, image, music, etc.).

LNGS 3008 Computational Linguistics 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr C Manning
Prerequisite: LNGS 2002
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

A general introduction to the foundations of, and selected topics in, computational linguistics. Corpora and text processing: markup, regular expression searching, collocations, concordances, and clustering. Grammar formalisms and their use in phonology, morphology and syntax, including finite state, context free, and modern feature grammars. Discussion of problems and progress in understanding and generating conversational natural language, speech recognition and production, information retrieval and extraction, and machine translation.

LNGS 3009 Critical Discourse Analysis 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. J Martin
Prerequisite: LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

This unit of study will explore critical discourse analysis in particular language in relation to the distribution of power, with respect to the social variables of gender, ethnicity, class and generation. Linguistic manifestations of power will be examined across a range of contexts, including the media, science industry, administration and education.

LNGS 3010 Issues in Functional Semantics 4 credit points

Prerequisite: Two of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

LNGS 3901 Language and Culture 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. W Foley
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points of Linguistics, including 2 of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lec/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

Introduction to analyses of various problems in cultural and social studies that benefit from input from linguistic expertise and issues in linguistic analysis that require explication in a wider ethnographic perspective. Topics include: structuralism, language and cognition, linguistic relativity (Sapir-Whorf Hypothesis), ethnography of speaking.

LNGS 3902 Educational Linguistics 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr J Gibbons
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points of Linguistics, including 2 of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignments, class

LNGS 3903 Crosscultural Communication 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr S Kiesling
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points of Linguistics, including 2 of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

A survey of explanations for interactional style differences among different cultures (information structure, speech act theory, ethnography of communication, politeness), and a survey of some culturally differing linguistic features (silence, turn-taking, politeness, speech acts), through case studies and critiques.

LNGS 3904 Structure and Use of a Language Other Than English 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr C Manning
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points of Linguistics, including 2 of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

In-depth study of a non-Indo-European language. Brief overview of the LOTE in relation to its linguistic history and current setting. Summary presentation of phonological, lexical, morphosyntactic and semantic systems followed up by the study of these systems in use in a range of text material. Selected sociolinguistic issues relevant to the LOTE offered in a particular year (eg language standardisation, orthography design, language shift and maintenance.

LNGS 3905 Field Methods 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr J Simpson
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points in Linguistics, including 2 of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Essay, other written assignments

Techniques for eliciting, recording and analysing linguistic data collected from a speaker of a previously undescribed language. Formal elicitation of individual words and simple phrases. Analysis of the phonology and basic morphology of the language. Text collection. Individual focus on some aspect of the phonological, lexicogrammatical or semantic system of the language.
LNGS 3906 Ethnographic Approaches to Literacy
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof. W Foley
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points of Linguistics, including two of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignments, class

This unit of study will look at literacy practices in a number of cultures, ranging from white middle class America to small isolated communities in the Pacific. It will be demonstrated that cultural practices of literacy are highly variable. Literacy needs to be understood as an assemblage of skills related to different genres, linked together only by virtue of sharing the same script technology.

LNGS 3907 Language and Identity
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr S Kiesling
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points of Linguistics, including two of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: written assignment, class

The expression of social identities and relationships through language, including the connection between social groups (eg gender, ethnicity, age and language use. variation, discourse strategies, and style-shifting/register.

LNGS 3908 The Cultural Construction of Narrative
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr S Kiesling
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points of Linguistics, including two of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignments, class

How narratives are organised and evaluated across cultures, including European/American, Aboriginal, and non-western narratives. Collection and analysis of narratives.

LNGS 3909 Advanced Phonetics
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr T Borowsky
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points of Linguistics, including LNGS 2001 and one of LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignment, class

LNGS 3910 Advanced Issues in Syntax
4 credit points

Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points, including LNGS 2002 and one of LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignments, class

LNGS 3911 Advanced Historical Linguistics
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr M Walsh
Prerequisite: Credit average in 24 senior credit points, including LNGS 2009 and one of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003 and LNGS 2004
When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: 2 seminars/week
Assessment: Written assignments, class

LNGS 4000 Linguistics IV Honours
24 credit points

Prerequisite: Credit average in 48 senior credit points of Linguistics, including LNGS 3006 and 3 of LNGS 2001, LNGS 2002, LNGS 2003, LNGS 2004
When Offered: All year

Registration Thursday 26 February 1998, 2-5 p.m., Brennan Building Room 885. All students, particularly those enrolled in MDST2001, should register with the Course Coordinator at that time.

Medieval Studies is an interdisciplinary programme of study administered by the Centre for Medieval Studies. It is offered at Senior level only and students are admitted if they have successfully completed a minimum of 18 junior credit points in any two subject areas from part A of the Table of Units of Study. A major in Medieval Studies consists of at least 32 senior credit points, including MDST 2001. For admission to Medieval Studies IV Honours students must have completed units of study to the value of at least 48 Senior credit points including MDST2001, and 16 credit points from the Units of Study MDST2091 through to MDST2098.
All students intending to undertake units of study to count towards a major in Medieval Studies are strongly advised to consult the Course Coordinator before the commencement of the Semester.

Junior-level students prospectively interested in Medieval Studies should consult the Director about their choice of Junior-level units of study.

The purpose of units of study in Medieval Studies is to enable students who have developed an interest in various aspects of medieval civilization to pursue a programme of studies at Senior level which offers a wide range of subject areas and removes as many departmental prerequisite and corequisite barriers as possible. Access to some units of study which is otherwise not permitted is possible for Medieval Studies students.

For students counting units of study in other departments towards a major in Medieval Studies, the prerequisites are those of Medieval Studies, as listed below, not of the departments in which the courses are offered.

Students are advised to take units of study to the value of at least 16 credit points for Medieval Studies. The maximum number of credit points in Medieval Studies which can be counted is 64.

A wide range of units of study are available, both from the Centre for Medieval Studies and also from other departments.

Approved subject areas

- Arab and Islamic culture
- Arabic, Celtic Studies, English, Fine Arts, French, German, Hebrew, History, Italian, Jewish civilization and culture, Latin, Modern Greek, Music, Philosophy, Religious Studies
- Semitic Studies

MEDIEVAL STUDIES IV HONOURS

Students intending to proceed to Medieval Studies IV Honours should consult the Course Coordinator as early as possible in their programme of study.

The Prerequisite for Medieval Studies IV Honours is at least 48 Senior credit points in Medieval Studies including at least 16 Credit points of Medieval Studies 2091-8, all with at least a Credit average.

Medieval Studies IV Honours is a 2-semester programme consisting of:

1. A thesis of 15-20,000 words, written under the supervision of a member of staff nominated by the Course Coordinator.

2. 4 one-semester units (2 hours per week) chosen from the Special Entry and IV Honours units of study in other subject areas for which students have satisfied the entry requirements.

NOTE: since entry into IV-Honours semester units requires completion of Senior-level Special Entry units of study, its important that intending students consult the Director to ensure that their choice of units of study at Senior-level is appropriate to their intentions for IVth year.

The coursework is worth 60% of the total mark and the thesis is worth 40%.

MDST 2001 The Written Record of the Middle Ages
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. J. Clifton-Everest

Prerequisite: At least 12 Junior credit points in one subject and 6 in another, both from Part A of the Table of Courses.

When Offered: March
Classes: 2 lec., 1 tu/tut
Assessment: 2 x 2000 word essay

3-hour formal exam or equivalent take-home

This option examines medieval European traditions of the written record as they appear in both documents and books. Lectures address broad historical and cultural topics: the movement from oral to written tradition; literacy and the languages of written record (both Latin and vernaculars); the functions of writing in administration, law, intellectual pursuits, and leisure; the social contexts of writing. They also introduce students to the skills necessary to work with medieval manuscript texts of various kinds: palaeography, diplomatic, codicology, and sigillography. Tutorials pay particular attention to practice in reading and discussing individual examples of medieval writing so that students gain an overview of the production and function of medieval European documents and books and the ability to transcribe representative manuscript records and to comment purposefully on their typical and distinctive features.

MDST 2002 The Medieval Intellectual Tradition
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr J.O. Ward

Prerequisite: At least 12 Junior credit points in one subject and 6 in another, both from Part A of the Table of Courses.

When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lec./wk, 1 tu/tut
Assessment: One 1 hr formal exam or equivalent take-home plus one 2,000-word essay

This course examines the intellectual institutions of the Middle Ages: monastic and cathedral schools, urban and grammar schools, studia and universities. It also introduces students to the major categories of intellectual life: the trivium and quadrivium, theology and philosophy, grammar and rhetoric, Roman, Canon and customary Law, and medicine. The approach is broadly chronological. It begins with the encyclopedists of the Early Middle Ages and the contrast between the apparent literary chaos of the age of Gregory of Tours and the 'disappearance' of the vast apparatus of ancient learning symbolised by the (destroyed) library of Alexandria. The achievements of Bede and his generation form a useful apparatus of ancient learning symbolised by the (destroyed) library of Alexandria. The achievements of Bede and his generation form a useful

Modern Greek

Assessment: Assessment is partly by examinations or class tests and partly by essays and regular coursework. Oral language tests are used at various levels, and carry particular weight in Modern Greek 2001 and 2002.

The Department of Modern Greek is centred around the Sir Nicholas Laurantius Chair of Modern Greek, which was endowed by the benefactor whose name it bears, supported by many other individuals and organisations, particularly from the Greek community of N.S.W. Units of study in the Department are mainly concerned with the contemporary Greek language, and with Greek history, literature and society in the last two centuries. Earlier periods, however, are not neglected, especially in third- and fourth-year.

All students, whatever their previous contact with Greek, have the opportunity to take a major in the subject and to progress to the Honours year and postgraduate work. The major may begin either at the basic level with MGRK 1101, or at the post-HSC level with MGRK 1201 or 1301. Final decisions on the units in which students are placed rests with the Department. For details of first-year placement and the major, see below.

MGRK 2901 and 3901 can be taken as additional in second- and third-year by students who meet the entry requirements. They are a prerequisite for MGRK 4001 or 4002, which lead to the honours degree. There is also a full range of postgraduate courses.

Textbooks

All students enrolling in Modern Greek for the first time will be placed in courses by the Department in one of the following units of study:

- MGRK 1101: A unit for students whose Greek is below HSC standard. Students are divided into groups with similar skills and needs — beginners or intermediate. Students who have HSC in Modern Greek are only placed in MGRK 1101 in exceptional circumstances.
- MGRK 1201: For students who show proficiency in both spoken and written Greek, and who have taken 2-unit or 3-unit HSC in Modern Greek; in exceptional cases a student with excellent knowledge of the language but with no formal qualifications in the subject may be placed in MGRK 1201.
- MGRK 1301: Those who have had a substantial period of education in a school where Greek was the medium of instruction, or who have reached this high level of linguistic expertise by some other means, are placed in MGRK 1301. To enrol in this unit, students will need to fill in a Native Speaker form, to be signed by the Head of Department. Placement in these courses and groups is made by the Department on the basis of students’ HSC results and their general level of proficiency in the language. In borderline cases placement tests may be held at the beginning of the year. Arrangements for placement tests will be made at the time of departmental registration during the orientation period.

Non-degree students

Subject to observance of final dates for application there should be places available in 1998 for students undertaking a degree, especially in Arts or Education, at another tertiary institution, if they wish to take a course from this Department and count it towards that degree. It is recommended that students enquire at the Arts Faculty Office as early as possible.

Other non-degree students, not enrolled in degree courses at tertiary institutions, should apply to the Arts Faculty Office for details of application procedures and fees payable.

In most cases it will be possible for non-university students to attend courses by enrolling through the Centre for Continuing Education by the Access to University scheme. Contact the Department for details of application and fees payable.

Majors in Modern Greek:

To complete a major you must complete senior units of study in Modern Greek to the value of at least 32 credit points. Of these, no less than 16 should be in language units (2203, 2204, 2301, 2302, 3205, 3206) and no less than 16 in non-language units (2501, 2502, 2503, 2504, 2901, 3901). The 8-point Intermediate Modern Greek units (2001, 2002), for the purposes of the major, are counted as 4 points of language and 4 of non-language study.

Lecture times:

As some of our students are working full-time, or studying at another university, many teaching sessions are held in the late afternoon. For some classes there is a choice between an early and a late time.

Further Information and advice:

From the Department Office: Room 306 in the Christopher Brennan Building, where notice-boards and departmental handbooks are available to inform you. Go in person, or telephone 9351 3658 (fax 9351 3545). If you have something to discuss, our Departmental Administrative Assistant will either deal with the issue herself, or make you an appointment with another member of Department.

Registration:

In addition to enrolling with the University, you should register in the Department office between Monday 24 February and Friday 28, 9.30 a.m. - 5.00 p.m.
Modern Greek

When Offered: 1998

The senior Modern Greek language units MGRK 2203, 2204, 3205 and 3206 are planned as a sequential language course (in that order) for those intending to major in the subject, containing oral and written elements. Each unit will develop students' language skills in general whilst having a particular focus reflected in its title. Each unit should also be of use to suitably-qualified students not planning a major in Modern Greek who are interested in the subject indicated by the title. MGRK 2204, 3205 and 3206 may be taken by native speakers also enrolled in MGRK 2301 and/or 2302; MGRK 2203 may not.

MGRK 1101 Basic Modern Greek A

When Offered: March
Assessment: Continuous assessment; one 2-hour exam
Prerequisite: MGRK 1201

A continuation of Post HSC Greek: Language Structures A, with increased emphasis on syntax.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 1301 Modern Greek for Native Speakers A

3 credit points

Prerequisite: A Native Speaker form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: March
Assessment: Continuous assessment

Native speakers for the purpose of this unit are defined as those who have had a substantial period of education in a school where Greek was the medium of instruction, or who have reached this high level of linguistic expertise by some other means.

The unit seeks to increas students' precision of expression by developing their vocabulary and enlarging their syntactical range, while dealing with subjects unlikely to have been met in school.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 1102 Basic Modern Greek B

6 credit points

Prerequisite: MGRK 1101
When Offered: July
Assessment: Continuous assessment; one 2-hour exam

A continuation, within the same groups, of Basic Modern Greek A. By the end of this unit students in the Beginners group should be able to acquire goods and services in a Greek environment without resorting to English, and to send a simple letter to a Greek correspondent. Students in the Intermediate group should reach the linguistic level of a good 2-unit HSC candidate.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 1201 Post HSC Greek: Language Structures A

3 credit points

Prerequisite: Modern Greek HSC 3-unit or 2-unit (70+), or equivalent language proficiency determined by the Department. The Department reserves the right to take a final decision in any case of dispute over the appropriate unit.
When Offered: March
Assessment: Continuous assessment; one 3-hour exam

A detailed survey of Modern Greek grammar and its implications for orthography. A variety of different methods will be used to explain grammatical structures, morphology and syntax, and to give practice in their use. This written language course will be integrated with an oral element, taught in smaller groups and designed to reinforce the same grammatical and syntactical structures, whilst developing increased fluency in selected areas.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 1202 Post HSC Greek: Language Structures B

3 credit points

Prerequisite: MGRK 1201
When Offered: July
Assessment: Continuous assessment; one 3-hour exam

A continuation of Post HSC Greek: Language Structures A, with increased emphasis on syntax.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 1302 Modern Greek for Native Speakers B

3 credit points

Prerequisite: MGRK 1301 or a Native Speaker form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: July
Assessment: Continuous assessment

Continuation of Modern Greek for native speakers A.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 1501 Cultural and Historical Survey (Eng.) A

3 credit points

When Offered: March
Assessment: One 2-hour examination, one 1200-word paper

The unit, together with MGRK 1502, provides an introduction to the history and culture of speakers of Greek in the post-classical world. Coverage will be fullest after 1800. Political and social developments will be linked to the reading of Greek texts in translation, illustrating how Greek culture and literature have reacted to historical change and ideological repositioning. The two units together provide a good introduction to Modern Greece and Cyprus for those who wish to study them without learning the language.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 1502 Cultural and Historical Survey (Eng.) B

3 credit points

Prerequisite: MGRK 1501
When Offered: July
Assessment: One 2-hour examination, one 1200-word paper

A continuation of Post HSC Greek: Language Structures A, with increased emphasis on syntax.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 1503 Cultural and Historical Survey (Gr.) A

3 credit points

Prerequisite: High-school qualifications from Greece or Cyprus; Modern Greek HSC 3-unit or 2-unit (70+).
When Offered: March
Assessment: One 2-hour examination, one 1200-word paper

The unit is very similar to MGRK 1501, except that many of the texts concerned will be read and studied in Greek. Together with MGRK 1504, MGRK 1503 lays the foundation for subsequent academic study of Modern Greek, providing an outline which will integrate the alternative courses available from MGRK 2501-2504.
Textbooks:
Supplied through Department
MGRK 1504 Cultural and Historical Survey (Gr.) B
Prerequisite: MGRK 1503
When Offered: July
Assessment: One 2-hour examination, one 1200-word paper
This unit is parallel to MGRK 1502 and a continuation of MGRK 1503.
Textbooks: Supplied through Department

MGRK 2001 Intermediate Modern Greek A
Prerequisite: MGRK 1102
When Offered: March
Assessment: Continuous assessment, 1400 word paper, 2 2-hour examinations
This unit is a continuation of Basic Modern Greek B. Its core is practical language segments aimed particularly at developing skills of listening, speaking and writing. It also provides introductory lectures on the history and culture of speakers of Greek in the post-classical world. Political and social developments described in lectures will be linked to the reading of texts, some in Greek, illustrating how Greek culture and literature have reacted to historical change and ideological repositioning.
Textbooks: Supplied through Department

MGRK 2002 Intermediate Modern Greek B
Prerequisite: MGRK 2001
When Offered: July
Assessment: Continuous assessment, 1400 word paper, 2 2-hour examinations
This unit is a continuation of Intermediate Modern Greek A, with the same content and purposes.
Textbooks: Supplied through Department

MGRK 2203 Style and Expression
Prerequisite: MGRK 1202
May not be counted with: MGRK 1301, 1302, 2301, 2302
When Offered: March
Assessment: Continuous assessment and one 2-hour examination
The unit builds upon the structures analysed in MGRK 1201-1202. Its particular purpose is to develop students' ability to write substantial continuous passages of Greek, concentrating on different methods for the effective building of clauses into sentences and sentences into paragraphs.
Textbooks: Supplied through Department

MGRK 2204 Comparison of Greek and English
Prerequisite: MGRK 1202
When Offered: July
Assessment: Continuous assessment and one 2-hour examination
Students' ability to discuss language for analytical and teaching purposes is enhanced in this unit by comparative examination of patterns found in Greek and English; necessary linguistic terminology is introduced in both languages. There is also practical concentration on translation between the languages in areas of special difficulty.
Textbooks: Supplied through Department

MGRK 2301 Advanced Greek for Native Speakers A
Prerequisite: MGRK 1301, 1302, or a Native Speaker form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: March
Assessment: Continuous assessment
A continuation of MGRK 1301-1302 into senior years.
Textbooks: Supplied through Department

MGRK 2302 Advanced Greek for Native Speakers B
Prerequisite: MGRK 1301, 1302, 2301, or a Native Speaker form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: July
Assessment: Continuous assessment
A continuation of MGRK 2301.
Textbooks: Supplied through Department

MGRK 2501 The Other Road to Greek Modernity
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. A. Dracopoulos
Prerequisite: MGRK 1302, 1502 or a Native Speaker form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: March
Assessment: A 2 and a half hour examination and a 2000 word essay
This unit examines attempts to modernise Greek literature at the beginning of the twentieth century by C. P. Cavafy, K. G. Karyotakis and other poets, together with a new trend in Greek criticism put forward by T. Agras and K. Paraschos. These efforts were later overshadowed and marginalised by the dominant discourse of Greek Modernism, that which is associated with the group known as the Generation of the 1930s. Parallels are drawn to the European literary context and relevant developments in Greek political life.

MGRK 2502 Text and Context in 19th-century Greece
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. V. Karalis
Prerequisite: MGRK 1302, 1502 or a Native Speaker form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: July
Assessment: A 2 and a half hour examination and a 2000 word essay
This unit analyses representative texts dated between the preparations for Greek independence at the end of the 18th century and the first stage of Greek urbanisation at the end of the 19th. It explores mental models, cultural values, patterns of imagery and conceptual frameworks introduced by Greek intellectuals to create a specific construction of reality for the Greek people, particularly over the relation of the past to the present, and with special regard for the gradual discovery of divergent histories (women, oppressed minorities) within the main history. The unit ends with discussion of the new textual devices introduced by demoticism at the end of the 19th century.

MGRK 2503 Origins of Modern Greek Culture 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Professor M. Jeffreys
Prerequisite: MGRK 1302, 1502 or a Native Speaker form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: March
Assessment: A 2 and a half hour examination and a 2000 word essay

Modern Greek literature and culture may be traced back directly to the rise of popular vernacular culture in the last centuries of Byzantium, carried forward into the great dramatic works of the Cretan Renaissance and the Erotokritos. This unit examines Byzantine and Post-Byzantine culture from a number of different viewpoints, both as important developments in themselves, as significant indices of developing Modern Greek identity and for their influence on what was to follow.

MGRK 2504 Literature of Resistance (1936-1975) 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. A. Vincent
Prerequisite: MGRK 1302, 1502 or a Native Speaker form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: July
Assessment: A 2 and a half hour examination and a 2000 word essay

From 1936 to 1975, with rare interruptions, Greece was ruled by foreign occupation, semi-fascist authoritarian regimes or cold-war governments dominated by anti-left policies. Most Greek writers did not identify with these governments, and many suffered persecution, from restriction of civil rights to exile, imprisonment and torture. The unit examines the impact of this situation on the form and content of Greek writing in a variety of genres, looking at various attempts made to construct views of society alternative to that of the current establishment.

MGRK 2901 Linguistic and Cultural Studies 4 credit points

Prerequisite: A Special Entry Eligibility form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: March
Assessment: Continuous assessment

An introduction to some basic theoretical concepts in the fields of language, society and culture, and their application to aspects of (a) the Greek media and their cultural framework, and (b) the Modern Greek language in its everyday use. The particular focus in the latter section is on sociolinguistic aspects of bilingualism, in Greek and English, in a multicultural society. Technical terminology will be provided in both Greek and English.

MGRK 3205 Varieties and Registers 4 credit points

Prerequisite: MGRK 1202
When Offered: March
Assessment: Continuous assessment and one 2-hour examination

Modern Greek is the contemporary form of a language with nearly 4000 years of recorded history, all of which can be used to enrich its expression. But especially in the last 200 years speakers of Greek have been hampered by the coexistence of different competing varieties, especially katharevousa and dimotiki. This unit enables students to recognise some major historical varieties and their implications, and to read some simple examples. Comparison is made with registers within the contemporary language.

MGRK 3901 Theories of Literature and Culture 4 credit points

Prerequisite: A Special Entry Eligibility form signed by the Head of Department
When Offered: July
Assessment: Continuous assessment and a 2-hour examination

A study of a variety of concepts, theoretical approaches and methodologies useful for the analysis of (a) Modern Greek society and culture as a whole (developing equivalent elements of MGRK 2901) and (b) Modern Greek literature.

Textbooks:
Supplied through Department

MGRK 4001 Modern Greek Honours 1 48 credit points

Prerequisite: A major in Modern Greek, together with MGRK 2901 and 3901
When Offered: March & July
Assessment: Essays for each seminar and the Long Essay

This unit is the regular way of taking the Honours Year in Modern Greek, beginning in the March semester and ending in November. Students attend three advanced seminars (each extending over the two semesters) and complete associated work. They will also write one Long Essay. One seminar is fixed:

- The classical heritage in Modern Greek culture, exploring how Ancient Greek culture and literature have been received and used by later periods.

The other two seminars to be offered will be selected according to staff availability and student preference from a list consisting of:

- Greek poetry since A.D. 1800
- Greek prose literature since A.D. 1800
- Byzantine and early Modern Greek literature
- Popular culture in Greece
- Each student in IV Honours will also write a Long Essay of about 15 000 words on a subject chosen in consultation with the Department's staff. Individual guidance will be provided.

Music

The Department of Music has a distinguished record of music scholarship, composition and teaching, and has produced many of Australia's leading music professionals. The Department offers a wide range of courses for several degrees which are designed for both intending professional musicians and students who will pursue other careers. The Department has its own branch of Fisher Library and a Computer Music Laboratory on site in the Seymour Centre. The Department also presents an extensive range of public concerts on the main campus to support its performance courses.

Music is offered as part of the Bachelor of Arts degree for up to three years at pass level and for four years at honours level. The BMus course involves one-to-one tuition, and is offered in performance, composition, or (in third and fourth years) in musicology. Applications for entry to the BMus course are made through the UAC.
Computer Music Composition 1

Gordon Monro
Prereq Computer Music Composition 1
Assessment practical exercises, documented composition project
Digital sound manipulation, with an emphasis on creating new sounds from existing sounds by digital signal processing techniques. Delay lines and waveguide filters. Pitch shifting. Stretching in time (phase vocoder), spectral manipulations, digital mixing, realisation of complete pieces.

Computer Music Composition 2

Gordon Monro
Prereq Computer Music Composition 1
Assessment practical exercises, documented composition project
Digital sound manipulation, with an emphasis on creating new sounds from existing sounds by digital signal processing techniques. Delay lines and waveguide filters. Pitch shifting. Stretching in time (phase vocoder), spectral manipulations, digital mixing, realisation of complete pieces.

Advanced MIDI Applications

Mr Franklin
Prereq A previous seminar in electronic or computer music, or equivalent practical experience, is a prerequisite for this course. If you are unsure whether your experience is suitable, please consult Jim Franklin
Assessment by presentation of two 5-minute pieces: the first in the form of edited sequences, working materials, and cassette or DAT recordings; the second as a live performance and cassette or DAT recording, together with copies of MAX patches and descriptions of synthesiser patches on disk.

Australian Aboriginal Music 2

Allan Marett
Prereq Australian Aboriginal Music 1
Assessment one essay
An introduction to key aspects of Aboriginal music from the mid-eastern coastal region of Australia. Social and ceremonial contexts, musical form, texts, dance and recording contexts. Students are given the opportunity of working with field recordings.

Concert Performance 1

Winsome Evans
Prereq permission of the Head of Department based on an assessment of performing ability
Assessment, interpretation and technique in performance, the quality of program notes, stage presentation and professionalism
Students perform for a total duration of 45 minutes in the Department's Wednesday and Thursday Lunchtime Concert Series in the Great Hall, Maclaurin Hall and Old Darlington School. The lecturer provides a written critique at each performance. At the start of the seminar guidance is given concerning the writing of program notes.

Concert Performance 2

Prereq Concert Performance 1
As for Concert Performance 1.

Concert Performance 3

Prereq Concert Performance 2
As for Concert Performance 2, except that the attendance requirement is 70% and the performance requirement is 60 minutes; two critiques of other students' performances are also required.

Conducting

Nicholas Routley
Prereq permission of the Head of Department

Performance Studies
Course coordinator Associate Professor G. McAuley
Teaching staff Dr Tony Day (Southeast Asian Studies), Assoc. Prof. T. Fitzpatrick (Italian), Assoc. Prof. P. Gay (English), Dr J.L. Lewis (Anthropology), Dr I Maxwell, Assoc. Prof. G. McAuley (French Studies)

Courses in Performance Studies focus on many genres of cultural performance: theatre, dance, music, ritual, carnival, spectacle, etc. They draw on work in semiotics, linguistics, anthropology, sociology, literary theory and theatre history. In particular, we explore theatrical events (viewed as a process of construction of meaning by performers and spectators) and the collaborative work processes which produce such events, and attempt throughout the courses to situate European theatre traditions in relation to performance traditions emanating from other cultures.

Students observe and analyse performance projects undertaken in conjunction with the artist-in-residence scheme funded through the Centre for Performance Studies. Practical analysis usually involves attendance at a number of workshops or rehearsals.

Location
Centre for Performance Studies, Woolley Building A20 Manning Road.
Telephone 9351 2706, fax 9351 5676.

Major in Performance Studies
A major consists of 32 Senior credit points in Performance Studies.
N.B. A major in Performance Studies is a necessary prerequisite for students intending to take Drama as a subject in a Diploma in Education or Master of Teaching.

Intending Honours students
Students wishing to take Performance Studies IV should PRFM 2001 and 2002, PRFM 3901 and at least 16 points in other Senior level PRFM units. A pass at Credit level or above in these courses is required for entry to Honours.

Credit results in other Senior level and Special Entry units in humanities subjects together with an appropriate practical background may, with the approval of the Course Coordinator, be accepted as the prerequisite for entry to Honours.

Registration
Students should register at the Centre for Performance Studies on the Thursday of Orientation Week.

PRFM 2001 Histories of Theatre and Performance

PRFM 2002 Performance Process

PRFM 3001 European Theories of Theatre

Course coordinator Associate Professor G. McAuley
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

PRFM 3901 European Theories of Theatre

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. McAuley
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

The object of this unit of study is to read some of the seminal texts in the European tradition (Aristotle, Diderot, Stanislavsky, Meyerhold, Artaud, Brecht among others), and to situate some major contemporary theatre practitioners in relation to this tradition. The aim is to provide a historical perspective to current issues of concern in theatre practice (such as the role of the director, power relations in the creative process, intercultural performance, narrativity and the role of text, etc.) and to explore the continuities and ruptures between past and present.
PRFM 3002 Documentation of Performance
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. McAuley
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

Video has brought new opportunities and new problems to theatre practitioners and theatre scholars. In this unit of study we explore aesthetic, political and ethical questions in relation to the recording of live performance; students gain 'hands-on' experience in using both video and still photography to document performance, and assess the value of different modes of documentation.

PRFM 3003 Space in Performance
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. McAuley
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

Space is a major signifier in theatrical semiosis and in this unit of study we deal with such things as the actors' use of stage, off-stage and audience space; the relationship between real space and fictional place; proxemic relations and gesture and their role in creating and communicating meaning; the framing function (in Goffman's sense of the word) of space in the performance event; the use of objects to articulate and make meaningful the space; and the use of space as a major structuring element in performance. Theoretical considerations will be supplemented and contextualised by visits to a number of Sydney theatres and practical workshops.

Practical Work:
Visits to a number of Sydney theatres and workshops

PRFM 3004 Shakespeare on the Globe Stage
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Fitzpatrick
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

What might it have been like to be at an original production of Shakespeare at the Globe? We will examine textual clues, information about performances, and documents relating to the architecture of the playhouses. The weekly seminars in the first half of the semester will be complemented by a week of workshops and individual and group meetings focussing on a small individual or group research project. This will enable students to understand something of the original performance context of Shakespeare's plays and its possible impact on the audience and their appreciation of what the plays were about.

Practical Work:
Workshops

PRFM 3005 Flexible Performance
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Fitzpatrick
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
May not be counted with: Exclusive of ITLN 3716 The Commedia dell'Arte
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

An examination of the performance processes of the 'Commedia dell'Arte' involving analysis of scenarios and other documents, practical exploration of masked performance, and theoretical consideration of acting techniques.

PRFM 3006 Performing Shakespeare
Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc. Prof. Gay
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

Taking as a premise that the meaning of a Shakespeare play is determined by the culture which performs it, this seminar will discuss the 'great tradition' of English performance of Shakespeare, American/Canadian appropriation and revision of this tradition, and the emergence of a recognisably Australian style in recent years.

PRFM 3007 Performances East/West
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Day
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

This unit of study examines a variety of Asian performance traditions and the role of Asian theatre in the new 'interculturalism'. Attention will be paid to questions of western theory and methodology in the study of non-western performance.

PRFM 3008 'Indonesia' as Performance
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Day
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

This unit of study examines a wide range of performance genres from the islands and cultures of what is now 'Indonesia'. We will be looking at constructions of culture and identity through performance before the formation of the Indonesian nation-state, as well as at the ways in which 'Indonesia' is both constructed and resisted through performance at the present time.

PRFM 3009 Embodiment
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Lewis
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

Theories which rethink the mind/body distinction, so long dominant in western academia, have abounded in many disciplines in the last 20 years. An initial interest in bodies and conceptions of bodies has given way, in many cases, to a focus on the process of human embodiment, seen as an existential problem. This unit of study will examine a spectrum of embodiment theories (especially European and American phenomenologies, but also poststructuralist and feminist ideas) which have been applied to performance practices, broadly conceived, in a range of sociocultural settings. A serious engagement with these approaches will lead to a problematic of the theory-practice dichotomy itself.
PRFM 3010 Ritual and Festivity in Brazil
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Lewis
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: 4 hours/week
Assessment: One 5000 word essay and examination

In this double unit of study we will try to get a feeling for Brazilian culture through an examination of aesthetic and spiritual practices of many types. The class will investigate a variety of religious traditions derived from African, European and native Amerindian sources, as well as games and sports, music and dance, parades and pilgrimages, and the famous pre-Lenten Carnival celebrations. In addition to ethnographies, we will see films and videos, listen to music, and consider why theories have often tended to distance scholars from these forms of embodied engagement.

PRFM 3011 Approaches to Acting
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Maxwell
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay; seminar presentation; participation

This unit of study is motivated by one simple question: what is acting? To find some answers, we will look at a range of approaches to, and theories of, acting, from various cultures and traditions: from Aristotle and Zeami to contemporary practice. Attention will focus upon the practical techniques as well as the texts of those traditions.

PRFM 3012 Sociology of Theatre
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Maxwell
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and 'fieldwork' presentation

How is theatre made? What factors, influences and institutions constitute the field of theatrical production in any given context? This unit will move beyond the rehearsal room and performance space to examine the contexts within which theatrical practice takes place.

Practical Work:
Fieldwork

PRFM 3013 Feminist Performance Theory
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Adams
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

In this unit of study we will examine the development of feminist performance theory in the '80s and '90s and explore the relationship between theory and practice in feminist stagings and restagings. Issues such as gender, race, class and sexuality in performance will be considered.

PRFM 3014 Translation for Performance
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Dwyer
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
Assumed Knowledge: Knowledge of a language other than English is useful but is definitely not a pre-requisite.
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and class presentation

What happens when we try to move a play from one language to another, from one culture to another? Like the director, the designer or the actor — but usually well beforehand — the translator must interrogate the text, making choices about how to make it mean something in performance. The unit of study examines the "task of the translator" as it relates to directing and acting but also, more broadly, in relation to current theories about text, performance and culture. (Knowledge of a language other than English is useful but is definitely not a pre-requisite.)

PRFM 3015 Performance and Politics
4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Arrow
Prerequisite: PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 2500 word essay and assignment

In this unit of study we will explore both the theatre and the theatre historiography of 20th century Australia through a detailed study of the radical New Theatre movement. We will examine and explode the myths and standards of Australian theatre history by looking at the conditions under which plays were performed and written, rather than merely examining finished texts. This will involve placing New Theatre within its political, social and cultural contexts. We will also be looking at the New Theatre archives, a collection which includes scripts, posters and photographs, and will be speaking with some members of the Theatre.

PRFM 3901 Special Entry Course — Rehearsal to Performance
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: to be announced
Prerequisite: Credit results in PRFM 2001 & PRFM 2002
Corequisite: 16 credit points from PRFM 3001, PRFM 3002, PRFM 3003, PRFM 3004, PRFM 3005, PRFM 3006, PRFM 3007, PRFM 3008, PRFM 3009, PRFM 3010, PRFM 3011, PRFM 3013, PRFM 3014, PRFM 3015
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week and project period
Assessment: One 3000 word essay; casebook; assignment

This unit of study is structured around a performance project involving professional actors and director. Students observe and analyse rehearsal process (2 weeks full time attendance is required), document rehearsals and performance, and analyse the final performance. The object throughout is to provide experience in practical analysis and the opportunity to reflect upon the theoretical and methodological bases of the discipline of Performance Studies.

Practical Work:
For 2 weeks full time attendance at performance project

PRFM 4001 Performance Studies IV Honours Introduction
48 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc.Prof. McAuley
When Offered: All year
Assessment: 5000 words in essays/seminar papers per option; written reports on workshops; written casebook of fieldwork experience; one long essay approximately 10,000 words

The Honours year attempts to bring theory and practice together in mutually illuminating ways, and students are encouraged to participate actively in the workshops and master classes arranged by the Centre for Performance Studies through the year.
Honours requirements are as follows:

- Critical Theory and Performance (see unit of study description PRFM 4001) together with 2 other units of study selected from the 3000 level units of study listed above (each of these units of study involves a 2 hour seminar per week);
- participation in workshops, led by practising theatre artists, exploring aspects of performance making;
- there will be a weekly meeting of all students in the group to discuss the nature of the writing tasks involved in both casebook and workshop report, and so that students can share their experiences with others in the group;
- a long essay (approximately 10,000 words) incorporating analysis of the performance practices observed and experienced.

Fieldwork placements will be arranged by the Projects Coordinator at the Centre for Performance Studies. Intending students should discuss their interests with the Honours Coordinator and with the Projects Coordinator as early as possible in the year.

Practical Work:
Workshops and fieldwork (a 3-4 week placement in a theatre company to observe a creative process in progress)

PRFM 4001 Critical Theory and Performance
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Maxwell
Prerequisite: Credit average in PRFM units to value of 40 credit points, including PRFM 3001
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours/week
Assessment: One 5000 word essay

Performance Studies, as an emerging discipline, has drawn upon a wide range of theoretical positions and resources, from semiotics to New Historicism, cultural studies, feminism, psychoanalysis, discourse theory, deconstruction, phenomenology and hermeneutics. In this unit, we will read some key theoretical texts, and look at how they have been applied to the analysis of performance.

Cross listed - Greek and Roman Theatre Production
Teacher/Coordinator: Prof J R Green, Ms F Muecke
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lectures, 1 seminar/week
Assessment: One 3 hour examination; one 3000 word essay and one 1050 word seminar paper

Cross listed units of study
Students may also take Greek and Roman Theatre Production (see CLCV 2302 under Classical Civilisation) in place of Performance Studies units of study to the value of 8 points.

Units not available in 1998

When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Units not available in 1998 but which will be offered in subsequent years include the following:

PRFM 3016 Text and Performance
PRFM 3017 Anthropology of Performance
PRFM 3018 Mask Performance
PRFM 3019 Performance Analysis
PRFM 3020 Audience and Performer
PRFM 3021 Criticism, Culture and Performance.

Philosophy

The School of Philosophy consists of two departments: General Philosophy (GP) and Traditional and Modern Philosophy (T&M). They are located in the south-east corner of the Main Quadrangle (by the jacaranda tree): General Philosophy is on the first floor, Traditional and Modern Philosophy is on the ground floor. Noticeboards adjoin the offices.

First, second and third year units of study are offered by the two departments jointly.

There is a separate IV (Honours) year for each department, but with the same pool of units. Intending Honours students should note the entry requirements mentioned in the fourth year section.

The General Philosophy office administers matters concerning first year. General inquiries about first year matters should be directed to the GP office Room S432, tel. 9351 2225. More particular inquiries can be directed to the first year coordinator.

The Traditional and Modern Philosophy office administers matters concerning second year and third year units of study. General inquiries about second or third year matters should be directed to the T&M office Room S241, tel. 9351 2465. More particular inquiries can be directed to the second/third year coordinator: Sem 1 - Dr Benitez, Room S502, tel. 9351 6658; Sem 2 - Dr McDermott, Room S503, tel. 9351 2370

Registration

First Year Philosophy
A first year guide and a registration form will be available during orientation week. Please complete the form and return it during your allotted registration time (see below).

First year Philosophy students are advised to register with the Department of General Philosophy in the south-east corner of the Main Quadrangle (behind the jacaranda tree) at the following times during Orientation Week:

- Wednesday 25 February
  Surnames A-H 10 am-12 noon
  Surnames I-R 10 am-4 pm
- Thursday 26 February
  Surnames I-R 10 am-4 pm
  All evening students 4.30-6.30 pm
- Friday 27 February
  Surnames S-Z 10 am-12 noon

Second and Third year Philosophy
A booklet containing details of units of study and other relevant information will be available from the department of Traditional and Modern Philosophy in January, and the last page of this booklet will comprise a registration form for intending majors in Philosophy which should be completed and handed in to the department during Orientation Week.

Junior Units of Study in Philosophy

Grades
Students should note that no individual results given by the School throughout the year can be regarded as definitive and that adjustments to grades may be made at the Board of Examiners' Meetings of the Faculty.

PHIL 1001 Epistemology 1
3 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Heathcote

Corequisite: PHIL 1002

When Offered: March

Classes: 1 lec/1 tut/wk

Assessment: 1 tut paper and one 2hr exam

An introduction to the theory of knowledge. What is knowledge and what can we know? What is the role of (a) observation, (b) reason, in the acquiring of knowledge and/or reasonable belief? Plato's defence of objective truth and Descartes' treatment of scepticism will be discussed.

Textbooks:
Notes available from the department of Traditional and Modern Philosophy.

Lecture tapes available from Fisher Library

PHIL 1002 Philosophy and Society
3 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: tba

Corequisite: PHIL 1001

When Offered: March

Classes: 1 lec 1 tut/wk

Assessment: 1 tutorial assignment, 1 essay
The unit of study will address questions of individual freedom, rights, and political authority through a study of the classic texts of social contract theory. It will consider the view that rights can be regarded as possessions, which can then be exchanged in return for benefits - in particular, the benefits of safety and security provided by systems of political authority. Thomas Hobbes employed this idea to argue that nearly all individual rights have to be given up in order to establish secure government. His very unattractive conclusions are resisted in the revised contract theories of John Locke and Jean-Jacques Rousseau. These theories take very different stances on the relation of the individual to society, and provide the underpinnings for, respectively, the modern liberal and socialist traditions.

Textbooks:
A book of readings will be available from the GP office.

PHIL 1003 Introduction to Metaphysics

3 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof Campbell
Prerequisite: PHIL 1001 and PHIL 1002
Corequisite: PHIL 1004, or PHIL 1005, or PHIL 1006
When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lec/1 tut/wk
Assessment: one tut paper and one 2 hr exam

An introduction to problems concerning the general character of reality, focussing on the content and problems of a reductive naturalism. Topics will include space and time, the nature of mind, the existence of freewill, the problem of God, and the foundations of morality.

Textbooks:
Notes available from the department of Traditional and Modern Philosophy. Lecture tapes will be available from Fisher Library

PHIL 1004 Aesthetics

3 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Redding
Prerequisite: PHIL 1001 and PHIL 1002
Corequisite: PHIL 1003 or PHIL 1201
When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lec/1 tut/wk
Assessment: one tut paper and one essay

This unit of study will examine some of the ways in which philosophers from Plato to Nietzsche have thought about issues to do with artistic representation and the value of beauty. These philosophical conceptions will be examined against the broader context of differing ideas about the role of the aesthetic in human existence.

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Benitez
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3001
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: one essay and one 2hr exam

An examination of the major philosophical themes to be found in the works of Plato and Aristotle, with close attention to a few central works. Emphasises understanding the ways these philosophers think rather than learning a body of doctrine. Main readings for Plato will be Meno, Symposium, Parmenides. For Aristotle: Categories, Metaphysics, On the Soul.

Textbooks:

When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: one 2hr exam & one essay

Descartes is generally regarded as the founder of modern philosophy, and in this unit we study both at his own contribution, and at his influence on the subsequent course of philosophical thought in the work of Malebranche, Spinoza, and Leibniz. Just over half the unit of study will be devoted to Descartes' own thought, and we will look at the various stages in the development of his ideas. In the second half, we will examine the ideas of his successors on selected metaphysical themes, above all on the mind/body question.

Textbooks:
R. Descartes Selected Philosophical Writings trans. J. Cottingham et al. (Cambridge U.P., paperback)
G. Leibniz Discourse on Metaphysics and other Essays (Hackett, paperback)

Teacher/Coordinator: tba
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3003
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: exam & essay

John Locke is the central figure in the development of a philosophical outlook which stresses the origins of knowledge in experience, and the limits of our rational powers. This unit will examine main themes in his epistemology and metaphysics, and assess how these relate to the views of the Cartesians, the Royal Society, and to his "official" successors, Berkeley and Hume. Attention will also be given to the significance of Locke's epistemology for the moral and religious views of the Enlightenment.

Textbooks:

PHIL 2007 Hume and the Enlightenment (ii) 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: to be advised
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3007
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: essay & take-home exam

Hume's philosophy is usually studied in fragments. This unit of study will concentrate on providing an overall picture of Hume's perspective, by showing the connections between his epistemology, psychology, and theories of morality, aesthetics and religion. His similarities to, and differences from, major figures of the French Enlightenment will be drawn out.

Textbooks:
D. Hume, Dialogues and Natural History of Religion ed. Gaskin (Oxford U.P. paperback)

PHIL 2008 History of Logic (ii) 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Bacon
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy, and PHIL 1201 or PHIL 2201

May not be counted with: PHIL 3205
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 lec/wk
Assessment: essay & take-home exam.
An introduction to modern theories of the nature of mind, and some important contemporary issues in the philosophy of mind. Topics will include the problem of mental representation (How can minds think about the world?), the relationship of minds to brains, and the problem of consciousness.
Textbooks:
Additional readings available from department of Traditional and Modern Philosophy.

PHIL 2206 Epistemology 2 (ii) 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Heathcote
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3206
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hr/wk.
Assessment: essay and take-home exam
Continues from where Epistemology 1 left off. It will begin by summarising the main arguments against the Rationalists and the Empiricists and following up some of the issues that would not be dealt with in the first year course. Foremost among these will be the dispute between Locke and Leibniz over the existence of innate ideas, the importance of probabilistic inference from the seventeenth century to the twentieth, and aspects of the post-Kantian tradition. The aim will be to provide students with an up to date survey of the most important ideas in epistemology, showing the main lines of development and the connections to other areas of philosophy.
Textbooks:
Readings to be made available from the department of Traditional and Modern Philosophy.

PHIL 2207 Philosophy and Psychoanalysis (ii) 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Winfield
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3207
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr/wk.
Assessment: essay and take home exam
An analysis and critique of the main ideas in Freudian psychoanalysis, their philosophical background, and influence in subsequent philosophy of mind.

PHIL 2401 Humanity and Animality (ii) 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Russell
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3401
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: assignment and essay
There have been many philosophical attempts to distinguish humans and non-human animals. Some of the key ones will be discussed in the first part of the unit of study. In the second section, the focus will be on ethical issues related to animals: investigating what a tenable ethical position could be, the ethics of vegetarianism, and scientific experimentation on animals.
Textbooks:
Readings will be available from the Department of General Philosophy
PHIL 2402 Husserl’s Phenomenology (II)

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Byers
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3402
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: 2 essays

An investigation of Edmund Husserl’s transcendental phenomenology, considering its fundamental problem and methodological response. The study of Husserl is conducted against the continual tension between openness and closure, and seeks to establish the extent to which these two fundamentally opposing impulses are reconciled. Also shows how the Heideggerian theme of the ‘end of metaphysics’ and the Derridean notion of difference emerge, and derive their meaning, from Husserl’s phenomenology.

Textbooks:
Edmund Husserl, Cartesian Meditations, trans. Dorian Cairns, Nijhoff, 1977

PHIL 2403 Knowledge and Interpretation (II)

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Redding
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3403
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hr/wk
Assessment: essay & take home exam

An introduction to ‘hermeneutic philosophy’ and its approach to human knowledge and understanding. We will examine questions such as: Is there a distinct form of knowledge which applies to the human realm? In what sense can we understand ‘what it is like’ to be another person or live in another culture? What is the role played by language in mental life? Does all knowledge, even science, involve ‘interpretation’.

Textbooks:
A compilation of readings will be available from the Department of General Philosophy

PHIL 2404 Self and other: Levinas (II)

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Byers
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3404
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: take-home exam plus essay

An investigation of the thought of Emmanuel Levinas, who presents ethics, rather than metaphysics, as ‘first philosophy’. Examines the central themes of Levinas’ philosophy as they unfold in his major work, Totality and Infinity, spelling out the implications of the ‘overcoming of metaphysics’ for traditional systems of ethics. In particular, it considers Levinas’ interpretation of Western metaphysics as a tradition which predetermines being as ‘presence’, thereby failing to deal adequately with the ‘absent’ being of the other, it then examines the meaning of Levinas’ claim that responsibility henceforth obliges thought to refer not to the ‘true’ but to the ‘good’. Also examines Levinas’ obligation to, and critique of, his teachers, Husserl and Heidegger, as well as his influence upon Derrida.

Textbooks:
Readings will be available from the Department of General Philosophy.

PHIL 2501 Contemporary Political Philosophy (II)

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc Prof Gates
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3501
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr seminar/wk
Assessment: essay & take-home exam

A critical introduction to the major schools of thought in contemporary political philosophy. In the latter part of the unit of study, debates around the topic of cultural difference will be considered.

Textbooks:
Will Kymlicka, Contemporary Political Philosophy: An Introduction, (Clarendon Press) plus readings available from the department of General Philosophy

PHIL 2502 Philosophies of Progress 1 (II)

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof Markus
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3502
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: two essays

Discusses one of the central problems of philosophies of history: can history be conceived as human progress? In the first semester the unit of study will deal with some of the leading thinkers of the XVIIIth and XIXth century, primarily with Rousseau, Condorcet, Hegel and Marx.

Textbooks:
Readings available from General Philosophy

PHIL 2503 Philosophies of Progress 2 (II)

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Prof Markus
Prerequisite: PHIL 2502
May not be counted with: PHIL 3503
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hrs/wk
Assessment: two essays

The second semester will concentrate on the critique and defence of the idea of progress in contemporary philosophy. The philosophers discussed include Walter Benjamin, Theodor Adorno, Karl Lowith, Michel Foucault, Hans Jonas and Jurgen Habermas.

Textbooks:
Readings available from General Philosophy

PHIL 2504 Theories of Modernity 2 (II)

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Drumley
Prerequisite: 12 Junior credit points in Philosophy
May not be counted with: PHIL 3504
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hrs/wk
Assessment: take-home exam, one essay

Picks up the threads from Theories of modernity 1 but may be taken separately. Some themes established in the earlier unit of study will be pursued into the twentieth century while others emerge. Earlier themes included capitalism, bureaucracy, democracy, industrialisation and individualism, We will see how these themes are appropriated by new theoretical frameworks. Thinkers examined are Weber, the Frankfurt school, Foucault and Habermas through the prism of themes like rationalisation, the administered society and the end of the individual, the disciplinary society and the normalisation of subjectivity, communicative action and the colonisation of the lifeworld.

4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Mr Reinhardt
Prerequisite: 16 Senior credit points in Philosophy
When Offered: March
Classes: 2hrs/wk
Assessment: take home exam plus essay

What has come to be called analytic philosophy may be said to have originated in a shift of emphasis from epistemology (central since Descartes) to issues of meaning and representation. But this shift was partly provoked by concerns about the nature of a priori knowledge, concerns stemming from Kant's introduction of synthetic a priori knowledge, things knowable a priori but not merely relations of ideas (David Hume's expression for things knowable a priori). The grounds and nature of logical truth were crucial problems. Bertrand Russell introduced a distinction between grammatical form and logical form (akin to 'surface grammar' v. 'depth grammar) and a new style for the venerable philosophical task of penetrating the appearances to gain understanding of reality.

PHIL 3220 Conditionals 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr McDermott
Prerequisite: 16 Senior credit points in Philosophy
Corequisite: PHIL 3021 or PHIL 3022
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hr/wk
Assessment: essay & exam
Is the world iffy? A sentence like ‘If Hitler had invaded in 1940, Britain would have been defeated’ seems to be about non-actual events. But many philosophers hold that the only genuine facts are facts about the actual course of events. Must we acknowledge conditional facts as well? Is there a might-have-been reality, as well as actual reality? This unit of study looks at a variety of theories about the truth conditions of conditional sentences.

When Offered: March
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: take-home exam & essay
Matter, space and time have been conceived in very different ways since the 17th century. This unit of study — which assumes an interest in physical theory but does not presuppose a physics or maths background — begins with an examination of the principal methodological issue in the early development of modern physical science, namely the justification for the use of mathematics in posing and resolving physical questions, and then turns to the metaphysical questions of the nature of space, time, matter, motion, and force. We shall look at early attempts to construe matter as being completely inert, and at how Newton showed how this could not work. This led to the construal of matter in terms of force, and attempts to think in terms of a substance pervading space (the ‘ether’) which was distinct from matter yet physically active. We shall look at how this idea develops in the form of field theory (Faraday and Maxwell) and at how the failure of the Michelson/Morley experiment to detect an ether led Einstein to think of this physically active realm as space itself (or, more strictly speaking, space-time). Space and time came to be connected in a novel way in Einstein’s theory of Special Relativity, and dynamics and kinematics come to be connected in a novel way in General Relativity, and we shall examine just what is involved here. Finally, by looking at recent theories that some spatial dimensions ‘curled up’ in the very early history of the universe, we shall look at why General Relativity cannot be successful in the attempt to construe matter and force in terms of properties of 4-dimensional space-time.

PHIL 3223 Philosophy of Physics 2: Modern Physics 4 credit points
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Price
Prerequisite: 16 Senior credit points in Philosophy
Corequisite: PHIL 3021 or PHIL 3022
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hr/wk
Assessment: take-home exam & essay
A discussion of some of the main philosophical issues arising from developments in physics since the late nineteenth century. Topics include the philosophical foundations of special and general relativity, the interpretation of quantum mechanics, and problems of time asymmetry. As far as possible we will work with reading material written for non-physicists, which generally presupposes no more than average high school mathematics. However, third year students are encouraged to combine this unit of study with Philosophy of Physics I.

Agnes Heller is a leading representative of post-Marxist critical theory. This course will examine some major themes in her social and political philosophy. After a brief consideration of her relation to Lukacs and the tradition of western Marxism, the bulk of the course will focus on her humanist anthropology, theory of needs, dictatorship over needs, radical philosophy, history modernity, cultural exhaustion and critique of aspects of contemporary democracy. While focusing on the contemporary relevance of her vision of the post-modern condition, these themes will be treated against Heller's history as a political dissident form Eastern Europe.

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Price, Dr Redding
Prerequisite: 24 Senior credit points in Philosophy including PHIL 3021 OR PHIL 3022
When Offered: July
Classes: 2hrs/wk
Assessment: two essays
An examination of some recent approaches to the notion of truth from both the analytic (e.g., Quine and Davidson) and the continental European (e.g., Heidegger and Gadamer) philosophical traditions. Issues discussed will include: the limits of traditional conceptions of truth as correspondence or coherence; the role of truth within the interpretativist stance; the tension between naturalistic and normative approaches to truth. Will conclude by reflecting on the question of what exactly is required of a philosophical account of truth.

Second semester courses
Metaphilosophy
Dr Heathcoe

Classes Sem 1: 2hrs/wk
A critical examination of the methods of philosophy. We shall assess a number of argument-types for their underlying significance and strength, with a view to determining what philosophy can achieve and whether its methods are likely to help it reach those goals. In the process we shall look at a number of examples from the philosophical tradition to see whether the methods have been abused. The issue of whether philosophy is properly an extension of the sciences or whether it belongs to the humanities — in particular, literature — will be taken up, as will philosophy's traditional reluctance to examine its scope and limits.

Studies in Religion

The School of Studies in Religion is administered by the Faculty of Arts and located within the John Woolley Building. The School aims to provide an open, serious, scholarly and critical study of religion. It offers the widest possible range of courses and study and its methods of study on religion include history, philosophy, psychology, phenomenology, sociology, theology and biblical scholarship.

Religious Studies 1001, 1002 and 1003 are the Junior units of study offered by the School. Related Junior units of study in other departments and schools include: first year of Biblical Studies (BBCL1001 & BBCL1002 - School of Semitic Studies), first year of Arab and Islamic Culture (ARIS1001 & ARIS1002 - School of Semitic Studies), first year of Jewish Civilisation Thought and Culture (JCTC1001 & JCTC1002 - School of Semitic Studies). These units of study permit entry into Senior Religious Studies Units of study.

For entry to fourth year Religious Studies Honours (RLST4090), students must have completed requirements for the Pass degree, including Credit results in 24 senior units of Religious Studies including RLST2090 and RLST3090.

Classes: 3 lectures and 1 tutorial/week
Assessment: one 1 hour exam, one 2000w essay, one tutorial paper

Complements Religious Studies 1001 & 1002 and investigates the various ways in which the arts — music, dance, literature and visual arts — relate to religious life. Lectures and tutorials will introduce students to the world of religion and art in the traditions of China, Japan, India, the Middle East, the Mediterranean, Europe, and Aboriginal Australia. The interpretation will particularly focus upon the way in which a people's understanding of cosmic structure and sacred history can shape the religious significance of the arts.

RLST 2001 Myth and Religion of the Germans

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Carole Cusack
Prerequisite: RLST1002
May not be counted with: Students may take no more than 64 senior credit points in a subject area.
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hour lecture and 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: one 3,500w essay, one 1,500w text assignment, tutorial participation

Investigates the mythology and religious practices of the Germanic peoples. The time frame ranges from the prehistoric type site of Jastorf (350 BCE) to the writing of the Eddas in thirteenth century Iceland. A variety of sources will be used: archaeological material; texts (both by outside observers and written from within the tradition itself); folkloric survivals; and mythology from related Indo-European peoples. The course will consider deities and the supernatural; sacred times and places; the institutions of kingship and the priesthood; the role of the divine feminine; death and the afterlife; and the conversion of the Germanic peoples to Christianity.

Assessment: one 3,500w essay, one 1,500w text assignment, tutorial participation

Investigates the mythology and religious practices of the Celtic peoples. The time frame ranges from the great Celtic prehistoric sites of Hallstatt (750-500 BCE) and La Tene (500 BC) to the flowering of medieval Irish and Welsh Christianity. A variety of sources will be used: archaeological materials; texts (by Classical and Christian observers and from within the Celtic tradition itself); folkloric survivals; and mythology from related Indo-European peoples. The course will consider deities and the supernatural; sacred times and places; the institutions of kingship and the priesthood; the role of the divine feminine; death and the afterlife; and the conversion of the Celtic Peoples to Christianity.

RLST 2003 Classical Hinduism

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Peter Oldmeadow
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hour lecture and 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: 3,500w essay, 1,000w tutorial paper and participation, 1,500w take-home examination

This course examines the origins and development of Hindu traditions on the Indian subcontinent, from the time of the Indus Valley Civilisation until the medieval period. The course examines the Vedic period and then via the teachings of the Upanishads traces the emergence of theistic traditions centred on Shiva, Vishnu and the Goddess and non-theistic traditions centred on Brahma as the impersonal ground of reality. Traditions which stress engagement in the world and traditions focussed on renunciation and the development of ascetic techniques aimed at liberation from the world will be examined as will the epic and dramatic traditions which find expression in the Ramayana, the Mahabharata and the major Puranas. The synthesis of Epic and philosophy in the Bhagavad Gita will be an object of special study.

RLST 2004 Medieval and Modern Hinduism

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Peter Oldmeadow
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hour lecture and 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: 3,500w essay, 1,000w tutorial paper and participation, 1,500w take-home exam

Covers Hinduism from the medieval period to the present time. It begins with the triumph of devotionalism which finds expression in the medieval bhakti traditions before going on to explore the interaction of Hinduism and Islam in India. The poet saints of the Sant tradition and the emergence of the Sikh brotherhood will be examined in this context. It then moves to the modern period beginning with European colonisation of India in which Hinduism was subjected to widespread Western influence. The nature and extent of this influence will be considered as will the Hindu reaction and adaptation to it. Particular attention will be given to key figures and movements in this process. Leaders discussed will include Ram Mohan Roy, Dayanand Sarasvati, Ramakrishna, Vivekananda, Annie Besant and Mahatma Gandhi. The phenomenon of secularisation will be examined as will the recent emergence of nationalistic and militant Hinduism.

RLST 2012 The Zoroastrian and Gnostic Traditions

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Iain Gardner
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hour lecture & 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: One 2,000w tutorial paper and 3500w essay

Provides an overview of the Zoroastrian and Gnostic traditions, with particular emphasis on certain topics and themes. Such include: Zoroaster and the context of Indo-Iranian religion; Christian gnosticism; Hermeticism and alchemy; Manichaeanism; Sufism and Shi'i Islam; Kabbalah; dualism and the problem of evil; apocalyptic and eschatology.

RLST 2013 Philosophy of Religion (A): The Existence of God

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Victoria Barker
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hour lecture & 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: One 2,000w tutorial paper and 3500w essay

Examines a number of topics that are traditionally taken to demarcate the philosophy of religion. Primary among these are questions concerning the existence of God and questions concerning the nature of religious language and faith. We will ask: Can belief in God be rationally justified? Are words about God meaningful? What role does faith play in religion? What are the implications of religious pluralism for religious faith? Our analysis will focus upon arguments within Western philosophy, and hence upon the Christian tradition which underlies such discussion.

RLST 2014 Philosophy of Religion (B): Reason and Religious Belief

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Victoria Barker
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hour lecture & 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: One 2,000w tutorial paper and 3500w essay

Since the late 19th century, discussion within the philosophy of religion has shifted from the traditional arguments for God's existence to a broader set of themes concerning the relations of reason and faith. In this course, we will critically examine a range of philosophical approaches that are responsible for this shift, analysing how philosophers such as Kierkegaard, Nietzsche and Wittgenstein have understood these two concepts and the relations between them. We will ask: what is reason and what is its status? Is it sovereign or is faith autonomous from reason? Can they coexist or do they pose a threat to each other.
RLST 2015 Religion and Gender: an Introduction

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Victoria Barker and others
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours lectures & 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: 2,000w tutorial paper and 3,500w essay

Introduces students to a variety of theories of gender and discusses the importance of gender considerations to our understanding of religion. We will concentrate upon a range of feminist theories and consider how feminist scholars have come to view gender issues in relation to some of the major religious traditions: Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism and Buddhism. We will also discuss the spirituality of Aboriginal Australia and some popular new forms of woman-centred spirituality.

When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hour lecture & 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: 3500w essay, 1500w tutorial paper

Introduces students to a variety of theories of gender and discusses the importance of gender considerations to our understanding of religion. We will concentrate upon a range of feminist theories and consider how feminist scholars have come to view gender issues in relation to some of the major religious traditions: Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism and Buddhism. We will also discuss the spirituality of Aboriginal Australia and some popular new forms of woman-centred spirituality.

RLST 2019 Religious Experience and Change

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Kathileen O'Connor
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: July
Classes: 2 hour lecture & 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: 3000w essay, 1500w tutorial paper, 1500w tutorial exercises/tasks.

Aims at an increased familiarisation with, and a critical understanding of, religious experience and religious change in the lives of individuals, communities and religious systems. The approach is interdisciplinary and cross-cultural. It will draw on the relevant work of theorists and researchers in philosophy, theology and psychology, and will refer to the various religious traditions, as well as new religious movements, where the data is available. It will be of special interest to people interested in religious education and formation, spiritual direction and counselling, community development and psychotherapy. It will also provide an opportunity for students with pastoral and theological interests to explore important ways in which people and groups in society find and construct religious meaning.

RLST 2020 Religion and Contemporary Crisis

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Professor Garry Trompf
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hour lecture & 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: Two 2,500w assignment/essay or one 5000w essay

The twentieth century has faced an unprecedented range of near-global crises — wars, depression, communist-capitalist confrontation, ethnic conflict, epidemics, ecological disasters, extraordinary technological advance, sharpened north/south inequalities, the radical questioning of traditional values (along with secularisation) followed by reactive fundamentalisms, as well as serious tensions between modern science and religious conservatism. Considers how these crises (or rather a selection of them chosen for a semester’s work) have been addressed in religious thought and action. It will discuss popular modernities and new spiritualities together with responses in the thought and praxis of leading religious figures.

RLST 2021 The Big Picture

8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Professor Garry Trompf
Prerequisite: RLST1002
When Offered: Consult Dept
Philosophy and Phenomenology of Religion.
This course will not be offered in 1998.
RLST 2091 Religion and the Body 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Tony Swain
Prerequisite: Credit average results in all previous Religious Studies credit points.
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: 1.5 hours seminars
Assessment: one 2,500w essay and either a 1,000w tutorial paper or a take-home exam.

Religion and the Body is offered in conjunction with one other special entry 4 credit point unit of study to be determined according to staff availability. The two units of study will total 8 credit points and form one year of the special entry to Honours sequence.

Designed to introduce some contemporary methodological issues by looking at the place of the body in religious life. The first half looks at the relationship between the body and the cosmos as a whole; the second half turns to the body and individual religious life.

RLST 2092 Methodological Approaches 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Professor Garry Trompf
Prerequisite: Credit average results in all previous Religious Studies credit points.
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: 1.5 hours seminars
Assessment: one 2,500w essay and either a 1,000w tutorial paper or a take-home exam.

Methodological Approaches to the Study of Religion is offered in conjunction with one other special entry 4 credit point unit of study to be determined according to staff availability. The two units of study will total 8 credit points and form one year of the special entry to Honours sequence.

Introduces key theorists from the Enlightenment to the present, and demonstrates how their approaches to the phenomenon of religion were innovative in their time, and how these approaches have been modified and adapted by later scholars.

RLST 2093 Comparative Approaches to Mysticism 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Carole Cusack
Prerequisite: Credit average results in all previous Religious Studies credit points.
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: 1.5 hours seminars
Assessment: one 2,500w essay and either a 1,000w tutorial paper or a take-home exam.

Comparative Approaches to Mysticism is offered in conjunction with one other special entry 4 credit point unit of study to be determined according to staff availability. The two units of study will total 8 credit points and form one year of the special entry to Honours sequence.

Religious experience and mysticism have been central topics throughout the history of all religions. From the prehistoric shamans, through the medieval Christian mystics, to the ecstatic new religious movements of the twentieth century, experience has challenged the book and the establishment as an alternative source of knowledge of the divine. It examines philosophical issues such as how can one recover the mystical experience; contextual issues such as how does the religious context of the experiencer constitute the accounts of the experience; and the central question, are all mystical experiences the same.

RLST 2094 Pilgrimage in the Great Traditions 4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Carole Cusack
Prerequisite: Credit average results in all previous Religious Studies credit points.
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: 1.5 hours seminars
Assessment: one 2,500w essay and either a 1,000w tutorial paper or a take-home exam.

Pilgrimage in the Great Traditions is offered in conjunction with one other special entry 4 credit point unit of study to be determined according to staff availability. The two units will total 8 credit points and form one year of the special entry to Honours sequence.

Religion is as much a matter of what people do as of what people think. Pilgrimage, justified from texts by the authorities of world religions, has always been a popular religious expression, and this unit explores the meanings and merits of pilgrimages in Hinduism, Christianity, Buddhism, Islam, Judaism and selected smaller traditions.

RLST 4090 Religious Studies Honours IV 8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Professor Garry Trompf
Prerequisite: Credit results in RLST 2091 & RLST 2092 & RLST 2093 & RLST 2094
When Offered: Consult Dept
Classes: 2 hour seminar
Assessment: one 3 hour exam, one 5000w essay

Problems of method in the study of religion
(a) Recent history of the non-confessional approach to the study of religion, with particular reference to the rise and fall of evolutionary theory and to the methods and approaches of the phenomenology of religion.
(b) Alternative methodological approaches to the study of religion.

Semiotics - Interdisciplinary Structure

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr R Huisman

Semiotics can be broadly defined as the study or analysis of signs and systems, including both linguistic and extra- or non-linguistic sign systems. While semiotics may include the study of media, the visual and performance arts, literature and communication systems, it is also of general relevance to the academic disciplines based on the analysis of texts of all kinds. More recent approaches to Semiotics also place particular emphasis on signifying practices, that is on the production and interpretation of signs in specific historical and social contexts.

Semiotics is an interdisciplinary subject area. It aims to integrate Senior units of study already available in different departments by providing a core unit of study which all students must complete and a series of options from which they may select. Units of study taken as part of a major in the subject area Semiotics may not also be counted as units of study in other subject areas.

Semiotics requirements
The pre-requisite for acceptance into Semiotics is the completion of 24 Junior credit points.

All students should consult with the Semiotics Co-ordinator about their programme of study.

Students must enrol in the Semiotics Core (8 credit points). They may also enrol in one or more units of study from the list of units of study available through Semiotics, up to a maximum of 32 credit points. Certain units of study are available only to those students who have already received a Credit or above in two Junior or two Senior units of study.

To major in Semiotics, students must complete units of study with a minimum value of 24 credit points. Students intending to major in Semiotics are strongly advised to study at least one foreign language.

Students who wish to enter Semiotics IV Honours must have majored in Semiotics and have received a Credit or above in at least three Senior units of study taken within the Semiotics subject area.

Semiotics Core
As Core study in Semiotics, students must enrol in the following unit of study taught through the Department of English:

ENGL 2019 Semiotics, Narrative and the Subject (8 credit points, Dr Huisman)
Semiotics Major
To major in Semiotics (that is complete a minimum of 24 credit points) students must, in addition to the Semiotics Core above, also complete a unit of study in Functional Grammar (8 credit points).
This may be taken through the Linguistics Department (LING 2003 Functional Grammar and Discourse), or through the English Department (ENGL 2010 Grammar and Discourse).
With permission from the Semiotics Co-ordinator, students may enrol in a Functional Grammar unit of study as a Semiotics student before attempting the Semiotics Core. To major in Semiotics it is still necessary to complete both the Core and a Functional Grammar unit of study, plus an additional 6 credit points chosen from a list available from the co-ordinator of Semiotics.

Additional Units of Study available in Semiotics
At the time of going to press, detailed descriptions of departmental units of study were not available to the Semiotics Co-ordinator. The list of units of study is available from the co-ordinator. Most units of study are worth 8 credit points but some will have a value of 4 credit points.

Semiotics IV Honours
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. R. Huisman
Prerequisite: Refer to Coordinator
When Offered: All year
To be awarded an Honours degree in Semiotics, students must complete three components: a research project/long essay and two semester-length units of study chosen from a list of options (consult coordinator). Intending Semiotics IV students should contact the Semiotics Coordinator in November of the preceding year.

Semitic Studies

Arabic

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr. Samar Attar
The Department of Semitic Studies offers units of study in Arabic at all levels. There are two main strands of Arabic (Language and Literature) units of study:

(1) Arabic A units of study focus on strengthening the student’s mastery of Arabic for written and spoken communication, in addition to the study of main genres of Arabic literature and representatives of Arab thought.

(2) Arabic B units of study (for beginners) aim to build and develop proficiency in Modern Standard Arabic with due emphasis on the four skills of reading, writing, comprehension and speech. These units of study are expected to enable the student to read material in modern literary Arabic, including the press, comprehend educated speech and write in Arabic on a range of familiar topics.

There is also some emphasis on translation skills from and into Arabic, particularly in the A strand.

Biblical Studies

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr I. Young; Dr A. Collins

This introduction to the history, literature and religion of the Bible touches on questions concerning archaeology, geography, the relationship between Ancient Israel and surrounding peoples and cultures, and the formation of the Biblical text. Provides a background to the study of the Judaico-Christian traditions.

In BBCL 2003 & BBCL 2004, the literature, thought and religion of the Bible, Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha are studied in depth with regard to selected books. Starts with the prophetic movement and the currents generated in the post-exilic period. Events and movements are examined in detail to their culmination in the first Christian century.

Students intending to read the Classical stream leading to Hebrew honours are advised to take BBCL 2003 & BBCL 2004.

Jewish Civilisation, Thought and Culture

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr S. Rutland
A fascinating and in-depth study of two millennia of Jewish Civilisation. It explores the development of the Jewish people from the time of Alexander the Great through their history, philosophy, literature and ethics. The focus is on the historical evolution of Judaism, and the way in which Jewish identity has been moulded by key Jewish thinkers and the Jewish historical experience. It traces this experience over five continents which include Asia, Africa, Europe, the Americas and Australia, looking at communities as far flung as the Jews in Kaifeng in China, Spanish Jewry and the history of the Jews in Australia. Highly recommended to students with an interest in history or religion. Students can undertake specific individual units of study of interest to them within the four-year program. The Co-ordinator for this course is Dr Suzanne Rutland, Department of Semitic Studies, Room 5408, Main Quadrangle, tel: 9351 6662, fax: 9351 6684; email: suzanne.rutland@semitic.usyd.edu.au.

JCTC 1001 Palestine: Roman Rule to Islam 6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Suzanne Rutland
When Offered: March
Classes: 3 hours lectures, 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: One 2 hour exam 50%, one essay 20%, one tutorial paper 20%, class participation 10%

This year deals with the post-biblical period. It also covers Jewish beliefs and practices and deals with Jewish philosophy, including such questions as free will and the problem of evil. It is divided into two semesters which together comprise the Classical Period, as follows:

- Socio-historical and cultural topics: This section traces the period of Jewish history from the beginnings of the Hellenistic influence on Jewish life in Palestine to the destruction of the second Temple and the type of Jewish life which emerged there after the two major Jewish revolts against the Romans.

- Philosophical, literary and ethical topics: This section traces the development of Jewish writings in this period, including the late Greco-Jewish works; the canonisation of the Hebrew scriptures; the 'outside' literature; the emergence and development of rabbinic literature; and deals with the background to basic Jewish belief and practice.

JCTC 1002 Jewish Settlement Outside Palestine 6 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Suzanne Rutland
Prerequisite: JCTC 1001
When Offered: July
Classes: 3 hours lectures, 1 tutorial per week
Assessment: One 2-hour exam 30%, one essay 20%, tutorial paper 20%, class participation 10%

Socio-historical and cultural topics: This section looks at the gradual dispersion of Jews from Palestine, the deterioration of Jewish life there under Christianity; Muhammed and the rise of Islam; the place of the Jew under Islamic law; and the rapid Islamic conquest of much of the known world. It also looks at Babylonian Jewry and the completion of the Talmud, Jewish and Samaritan responses to Islam, the Karaitic movement and the Gaonic responses to Karaitism, the Jewish Diaspora under Islam, the Jewish community in India and China, and Jewish Mediterranean society as shown in the Geniza documents.

- Philosophical, literary and ethical topics: The writings to be studied include the Gaonic literature, the Karaitic texts and the Massoretes and their work. Other key issues in the Jewish experience which will also be dealt with include the existence and nature of God, prophecy, the Messiah, Torah and the commandments, conversion to Judaism and Jewish attitudes to other faiths.

Aims to examine the Arab-Israeli conflict, analysing its origins and course up to the present day. It is intended that this course will provide a deeper analysis of the issues relating to the conflict as raised in Israel in the Modern Middle East (JCTC 2007). Topics to be studied include: a general introduction to 'conflict' study, the origins of the Arab-Israeli conflict, the British Mandate, the Arab-Israeli wars from 1948 to 1973, the peace process from Camp David to Oslo and beyond, prospects for peace.

Jewish Civilisation, Thought & Culture IV
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Suzanne Rutland
Prerequisite: Jewish Civilisation, Thought & Culture major with credit results + 12 units of study in Hebrew (Modern or Classical) or Yiddish; or prerequisites as offered through the School of Studies in Religion.
Classes: 4 2-hour sessions per week
Assessment: Assignment work for each course + thesis.

In addition to the compulsory core unit of study, Jewish Civilisation: Methodology and Tools (JCTC 4009), students will choose three IV Honours options, each of which will involve two hours a week of classes per semester. Students can choose to specialise in either the Classical or Modern period, in which case they must do a minimum of two options in their speciality, and their dissertation also must be in their area of speciality.

Each student in IV Honours will write a thesis of a minimum of 15,000 words on a subject related to their designated area. The topic will be chosen in consultation with the Department's staff and individual guidance will be provided.

JCTC 4009 Jewish Civilisation: Methodology & Tools
credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Suzanne Rutland
Prerequisite: Jewish Civilisation, Thought & Culture major with credit results + 12 units of study in Hebrew (Modern or Classical) or Yiddish; or prerequisites as offered through the School of Studies in Religion.
When Offered: March
Classes: 2 hours per week
Assessment: One essay of 3000 words and one tutorial paper of 2000 words.

This unit of study explores the key elements of Jewish civilisation, looking at the unique features of the Jewish experience. These include the complexity of the concept of Jewish identity, the Jewish experience within Israel and the ways in which Jewish life in the Diaspora is moulded by events in the majority host community. The reasons for the richness of Jewish literature, including the evolution of many different languages such as Classical and Modern Hebrew, Aramaic, Yiddish and Ladino will also be investigated. While students will not be expected to know these languages, they do need to understand the role they have played within Jewish civilisation. Questions will also be raised regarding both biblical and post-biblical texts in terms of authorship, date of sources and the 'original' intentions, all of which present specific methodological problems.

JCTC 4010 Literature of the Biblical Period
credit points

Yiddish Language, Literature and Culture

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Jennifer Dowling
May not be counted with:

For a millennium, Yiddish has been the spoken and literary language of Ashkenazic/European Jewry. As a language it entails the fusion of three major components – German, Hebrew/Aramaic and a Slavic component. There is a vast corpus of Yiddish literature published from the fourteenth century until the present day.

Since 1997, Yiddish has been available at the tertiary level for those beginning the language. The Junior units of study do not require a previous knowledge of the language, but are intended to give a firm grounding in the skills on which all Senior studies will be based.

YDDH 1101 Yiddish B1

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Jennifer Dowling
When Offered: March
Classes: 6 hours per week
Assessment: Two 1.5 hour exams 60%; continuous assessment 30%; essay 10%

Yiddish B1 has three components: Yiddish language, Yiddish literature, and an introduction to the history of Yiddish and Yiddish culture. In the language component, students will be introduced to Yiddish through a study of its grammar, as well as exercises in conversation and reading. The culture and literature components will include discussions of the development and diffusion of the Yiddish language, as well as the culture of Ashkenazic Jewry until the Emancipation of Western European Jewry. This unit of study could also be available to students in second year Jewish Civilisation.

Sociology

Sociology is the study of human societies. The subject matter of sociology includes human behaviour in various social contexts, social interaction, social institutions, social organisation, social change and development. A major focus of sociological research has been the emergence, characteristics and consequences of industrial societies. The sociology taught at the University of Sydney emphasises both a historical and a comparative approach to the discipline and its subject matter.

The study of sociology is a rewarding and stimulating enterprise, both intellectually and in terms of future career prospects in a variety of professional fields. It is also an important addition to related disciplines such as Government, Economics, Philosophy, Education, Psychology, Anthropology and History, and it usefully complements studies in English, Fine Arts, languages, Law and Science.

Quota
There will be a quota on enrolment in Sociology 101.

Overlap
Students are not permitted to take a course which overlaps significantly with previously completed courses, or with courses being taken concurrently. Students should consult the Department in cases where there is a possibility of overlap.

Minimum and maximum enrolment
Generally there is a minimum enrolment of 15 for all courses, with the exception of the Special Entry courses, and a maximum of 25.

Major in Sociology
The major in Sociology consists of 40 Senior Sociology units, including Sociological Theory and Social Inquiry. Please note that some of the Senior Units may have particular prerequisites.

Honours
Students intending to proceed to Sociology IV (Honours) must complete 56 Senior units of Sociology including the Special Entry units Classical Sociological Theory, Contemporary Sociological Theory, and Empirical Methods of Sociological Investigations, and obtain results of credit or above in each of their Senior sociology units.

Cross-listing
Students wishing to enrol in units from other Departments as part of their Sociology major should consult the Department about the units available for cross-listing.

This unit of study is designed to introduce students to the study of sociology by critically analysing contemporary Australian society. A range of sociological concepts will be presented which challenge the way in which society is organised and understood. Students will be encouraged to critique existing social phenomena based on sociological concepts and perspectives including social structure, commodification, rationalization, power and class.

Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002

When Offered: March
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 2 hour exam

In this core unit of study we will examine the main strands of sociological thought, identifying the key concepts, debates and issues in the development of sociological theory while situating the production and interpretation of that theory in its social and political context. It will focus on the writing of leading social theorists and sociologists, their contribution to the development of a distinctly sociological theory, and their continuing impact on current theoretical debates in sociology. Topics covered will include: the origins of sociology; industrialism and the beginnings of a science of society; evolutionary social theory; classic theorists: Marx, Durkheim, Simmel, Weber; sociology of urban society; early feminist critiques of industrial society; interactionism and everyday life; functionalism and systems theory; critiques of functionalism; psychoanalysis and socialisation; sociology of knowledge and culture; feminist challenges to sociological paradigms.

SCLG 2002 Social Inquiry: Research Methods in Sociology

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Pemberton, Dr Bourke
Prerequisite: SCLG 2001
When Offered: July
Classes: one 1 hour lecture & one 1 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: One exam, one workbook

In this core unit we introduce students to some of the methodological issues and debates in contemporary sociology and their impact on the range and types of research methods that sociologists commonly use. Emphasis is placed on developing a critical ability to read sociological texts with an eye to their methodological adequacy as well as an appreciation of their theoretical contribution. Examples will be drawn from a range of sociological research monographs, both classical and contemporary, to show the ways in which theory and method have been used to produce sociological knowledge. The major types of research technique employed by sociologists will be described along with problems of interpretation that arise from their use in particular studies.

SCLG 2003 Sociology of Childhood and Youth

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr van Krieken
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
When Offered: March and July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

The main sociological theories concerning childhood and youth in modern industrial societies will be examined, as well as the ways in which a particular perspective on childhood is central to all social theory. It will examine the debates surrounding historical development of childhood as a separate stage of life, and the various approaches to the impact of state intervention and social policies on both the experiences of childhood and youth and the transition to adulthood. This unit of study will explore the ways in which a particular kind of childhood experience might be typical of modern societies, and how it is currently changing in response to surrounding social developments. We will also discuss the social construction of issues such as child abuse and youth homelessness as social problems, possibly engaging in a research project on these topics, and the sociological understanding of the current concern with the integration of young people into society.

SCLG 2004 Sociology of Deviance

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr van Krieken
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
Corequisite: SCLG 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

Students will begin by looking at the problematic nature of the term 'deviance' in sociology, at the contested nature of a concept used both as a lay evaluation of conduct, persons or social settings, as well as a term used by sociologists adopting the perspective of those involved in policing and correction to characterise those transgressing moral and legal boundaries. The confusion that this has engendered in the analysis of rule breaking conduct has led to a commonsense content for the sociology of deviance and a correctional focus that leaves rules largely unexamined. Instead, this unit of study has a wider interest than traditional criminology or corrections, and takes as its subject matter a diverse range of social settings and personal conduct in order to encourage students to identify the historical origins of the rules that govern them, the way in which some settings become officially designated as deviant along with the persons and conduct that are found in them, and at the origin and types of social control that are exerted to maintain conformity with rules. The consequences of these attempts at control are also analysed. Theories of deviance will be examined, and particular forms of deviance will be analysed, e.g. alcohol abuse, hygiene, food disorders, sexual conduct.

SCLG 2005 Sociology of Health and Illness

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Crowe, Ms Goodwin, Dr Schofield
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
When Offered: March and July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

Students will be familiarised with the application of sociological theory to the distribution and experience of health and illness in populations of different kinds, places and times, the organisation of health care in comparative and historical perspective, the types of specialised occupations and professions that develop knowledge about health and illness, and the practices they employ. Australian health care, patterns of illness and their management will be discussed.

SCLG 2006 Sociology of Mental Illness

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Pemberton
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
Corequisite: SCLG 2001
When Offered: March
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

This unit of study will introduce students to core themes and issues in the sociological study of mental illness, with a historical and critical emphasis. Issues will be placed in their historical context wherever possible to indicate the development of particular debates in their social, cultural and political setting. The unit of study will compare and evaluate rival or alternative approaches and perspectives to mental illness, as well as utilising the empirical evidence on mental illness to guide students through the issues, debates and controversies. Topics covered will include sociological studies of the causes of mental illness, cross-cultural studies, social factors in depression, labelling theory and its assessment, mental illness as myth, anti-psychiatry, feminist critiques of psychiatry, the sociology of psychiatry and psychiatric practice, the sociology of the mental hospital, and de-institutionalisation.

Corequisite: SCLG 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

This unit of study will provide an introduction to the central sociological debates and issues in the study of religion in modern society, with an emphasis on religion in Western industrialised societies. The following topics will be covered: the classic theorists (Weber, the Protestant ethic and the rise of capitalism; Marx and religion as ideology; Durkheim and religion as moral and social cohesion); later sociological approaches to the definition of religion (typologies of cults and sects); issues of method and interpretation (is believing in a religion incompatible with studying it?; can we make sense of a religion if we do not share its central dogmas?); secularisation and the role of religion in contemporary Australian society; New Age movements and conceptions of spirituality; social inequality, religion and society (feminist critiques of religion, Marx and Christianity).

When Offered: Not offered in 1998
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

This unit of study will introduce students to sociological studies and theories of development and will question the problematic residual location of social development relative to political and economic development. The relationship between state, family and social development will be explored with respect to: the cultural, political, economic and historical contexts of social development; social change, social mobility and issues of class, race and gender; the role and efficacy of international aid programs in social development. The unit of study will draw primarily on examples from the Asia-Pacific region, focusing on policies of health, education and social welfare.

SCLG 2009 Sociology of the Family

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr van Krieken
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
Corequisite: SCLG 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

The family is widely understood as a basic social institution and a primary agent of socialisation, making it important that its nature and dynamics be critically examined and sociologically evaluated.

This unit of study will examine sociological studies of family life written from a variety of theoretical positions, including feminist, positivist, structuralist, functionalist and Marxist perspectives.

Issues addressed in this unit of study will include: gender inequality and the division of labour within the modern family, patterns of childcare and the ideology of motherhood, the family and the welfare state, continuity and change in family forms, conflict and instability within the family, and alternatives to the nuclear family.

SCLG 2010 Social Inequality in Australia

4 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Crowe, Dr Larbalestier
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
When Offered: March
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

This unit of study explores patterns of social differentiation and their consolidation into patterns of social inequality which structure both objective social positions and subjective experiences. The main dimensions of social differentiation to be considered are class, gender, race and ethnicity. Students will examine the various bases of social inequality, its construction and maintenance, the social settings (welfare, school, family, work, organisations, etc.) in which it is manifested, and the organised struggles to overcome inequality. As well as dealing with the main sociological perspectives on social differentiation and inequality, the course will move between those general discussions and an examination of the ways in which the different dimensions of inequality interact with each other in Australian society.

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Goodwin
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
Corequisite: SCLG 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

This unit of study will introduce students to the major theoretical debates and sociological research relating to work, employment and welfare in advanced industrial societies. They will become familiar with the major concepts and theoretical approaches to the study of work and welfare, and be introduced to the social, economic and political contexts of these debates from the development of industrial capitalism in Western countries through to the present.

Issues to be covered will include: the history of work; the division between paid and unpaid labour; the development of the capitalist labour market; theories of the labour market; technology and the labour process; work, and social citizenship; causes, distribution and social effects of unemployment; social security and labour market programs; debates about the ‘future of work’: conservative, liberal, social democratic, feminist, and environmental ‘futures’ compared.

SCLG 2012 Sociology of the Body
Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Crowe, Ms Falahry, Dr Larbalestier
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
Corequisite: SCLG 2001
When Offered: March and July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

The unit of study explores sociological perspectives on the body and embodiment. We will briefly examine what Shilling refers to as the 'absent presence' of the body in the work of such classical theorists as Marx, Weber and Simmel. Current perspectives on the body build on the limited scope of classical approaches in constituting social actors as embodied subjects. More recent authors attempt to overcome the mind/body, nature/culture dualisms of classical theory (e.g. Bourdieu, Elias). The main focus of this unit of study is on contemporary debate and discussion which sees the body as a central area of investigation and stresses the importance of the body and embodiment, both in relation to self-identity (e.g. Butler, Connell, Goffman) and as a site of increasing control, care, discipline and self-transformation (e.g. Foucault, Turner).

Theories of the body and embodiment are explored in relation to social constructionist (e.g. Foucault, Goffman), foundationalist (e.g. Turner) and materialist/constructionalist (e.g. Bourdieu, Martin, Schilling, D.E. Smith) assumptions. Recent approaches to the body and embodiment are examined in relation to current issues of aesthetics, class, consumption, contouring of bodies, death, gender, medical and scientific procedures, pain, pornography, race, self-identity and post-modernity, and the social elaboration of body senses.

SCLG 2013 State, Power and Society
Teacher/Coordinator: Dr von Krieken, Ms Crowe
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
Corequisite: SCLG 2001
When Offered: March
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

This unit of study will provide students with a detailed understanding of the major sociological approaches to the history, structure and dynamics of liberal-democratic states and their relationships to society and relations of power. We will examine the main sociological models of power and the main sociological theories of the state. These approaches are then used to analyse the construction of social, economic and political issues as well as how these relate to power and control, citizenship and modes of individual and collective action. This discussion will include an examination of the management of the modern state and crises in that management, the welfare state and citizenship, the importance of culture and discourse in constituting particular relations between the state and both individual and collective actors, and postmodernist analyses of power and culture. Finally, more recent theories of globalisation, contemporary nation-states, power, culture and identity are outlined and critically examined.

Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

This unit of study addresses social movements within contemporary society. The composition of the unit of study considers institutional, sociocultural and organisational factors associated with social movements. The principle objectives of this unit of study include critical assessment of the ways in which social movements operate at both micro and macro levels. These components are synthesised by reference to the New Politics Party (NPP), New Social Movements (NSM) and Resource Mobilisation (RM) theories. These issues of concern are used to frame addressing different forms of social movements including Aboriginal land rights, women's, green and peace movements.

Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
Corequisite: SCLG 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One take-home examination 1500 words, one 1500 word essay

This unit of study examines sociological approaches to social justice in the context of Australia's legal justice system.
A particular focus is the interaction of social justice and legal justice. Sociological approaches to social justice and law raise questions about ways in which law serves to reproduce and maintain existing relations of power and patterns of inequality, contribute to social order and control, define the moral order of society, protect and guarantee individual and group rights, and act as a site of struggle for social justice and social reform. In considering these issues attention will be given to the work of classical sociological theorists such as Durkheim and Weber on law and society, and the work of more recent writers on social justice and society such as Barry Hindess, John Rawls, Iris Marion Young and Michael Walzer. These approaches to law, justice and society will be explored in the context of specific areas of current concern including: juvenile justice, child protection and children’s rights, families, violence, sexuality, disability, indigenous rights and euthanasia.

When Offered: July

Classes: one 2 hour seminar/week

Assessment: One 3000 word essay, plus any additional work as assigned by the course coordinator

This unit of study will examine the role of media in contemporary society. It will provide students with an understanding of media forms and their position in relation to the ideological construction of culture, their symbolic functioning as well as the processes involved in mass communication both at the point of creation and at the point of impact. This unit of study will cover a range of sociological perspectives and methodological approaches, including positivist, structuralist, feminist, functionalist, marxist and post modern frameworks. The unit of study will begin with a discussion of the sociological debates about media forms and their reception within western industrial society. This will be followed by a discussion of what constitutes a ‘mass’ audience. The media forms which will be the central focus in this course include radio, television, newspapers, magazines and film. These analytical debates and media forms will then be related to a range of issues and topics — the part played in social life by media, media and the commodification of desire, the role of information technology within communication industries, legal aspects involved in media production and reception, advertising and media, sport and media, news reporting and the portrayal of women and family life in media.

This unit of study introduces students to the major ways in which debates about the environment have been reflected in the discipline of sociology about industrial societies, and how the discipline has responded to the identification of environmental issues with theory and research. It overviews the role of nature in the works of the classical sociologists (the Enlightenment theorists, Marx, Durkheim, Weber, Spencer) and in evolutionary and sociobiological theories. The modern theorists will also be covered briefly (Parsons, Burtainffy, Frankfurt School) along with the reflexive modernisation theories of Beck and Giddens. The postwar developments that have led to critiques of modern society (limits to growth, resource depletion, population technology, pollution, global production, economic development, scale) and the new discourse that emerged to conceptualise them (radical ecology, deep ecology, eco-feminism, eco-anarchism, eco-socialism, spiritual ecology, critiques of androcentrism) will be outlined. Key concepts will be isolated for further study (‘conservation’, ‘balanced versus unstable systems’, ‘global management’, ‘Gaia’, ‘evolutionary ecology’, ‘co-evolution’, ‘environmental protection’) to show the diversity within environmental discourses. The social conditions that led to the emergence of the conservation and ecology movements, their structures, activities and memberships will be looked at nationally and globally. Case studies will be provided for the students to analyse sociologically by linking theory and research on local and national social structures, social movements, and social action in areas such as energy generation, population and fertility control, sustainable development, waste management, pollution control, women and technology.

Corequisite: SCLG 2001
When Offered: March
Classes: one 3 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, one 1500 word tutorial paper

Students will examine the major sociological theories concerning science and technology, and relate these theories to the issue of social change. It will examine the effects of scientific and technological innovation on society as well as the shaping of science and technology by cultural, economic, political and organisational considerations. The unit of study will explore the social process of invention to provide students with an appreciation of the dynamics of the science-technology relationship. Past and present responses to technology, including Luddism, alternative technology debates, and feminist critiques of reproductive technology will be explored to illustrate some of the major tenets concerning the relationship of technology to social change. Theoretical frameworks will include feminist, Marxist, liberal, critical theorist and post modernist perspectives. These positions will be related to current social issues such as reproductive technologies, genetic engineering, paid employment, domestic technology, state sponsorship of scientific and technological innovation, the 'industrialisation' of scientific research, the environment and alternative technologies.

Classes: one 3 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, one 1500 word tutorial paper

Students will examine sexuality as a social phenomenon. It will familiarise students with both (1) the major sociological perspectives and (2) the central areas of substantive sociological research and debate on sexuality. We will begin with a discussion of the sociological arguments against approaching sexuality as a biological construct, the history of both expressions of sexual behaviour and attitudes towards sexuality, and the examinations of sexuality as culturally variable and socially constructed. This will be followed by the main theoretical perspectives on sexuality — psychoanalysis, Marxism, symbolic interactionism, feminism, and the work of Foucault and his successors. These theoretical debates will then be related to a number of substantive themes and issues — the social construction of masculinity, femininity, and hetero- and homosexuality, the representation of sexuality in pornography, the media, art and literature, prostitution, sexuality and violence, work, sport, and the social movements surrounding the politics of sexual identity.

SCLG 2509 Comparative Sociology of Welfare States

Teacher/Coordinator: Ms Goodwin
Prerequisite: SCLG 1001 and SCLG 1002
Corequisite: SCLG 2002
When Offered: July
Classes: one 3 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3000 word essay, one 1500 word tutorial paper

This unit of study examines the central areas of sociological theory and comparative research concerned with the development of social relations and policy contests within and outcomes of modern welfare states in capitalist societies. Neo-Marxist, Neo-Weberian, feminist, liberal democratic, social democratic and postmodernist theories of the social, political and economic determinants and outcomes of welfare states are compared and analysed. While examining the overarching frameworks of the relationships between markets, community organisations and social movements of civil society, domestic life and gender relations in families and households on the one hand, and welfare state formations in industrial societies on the other hand, the unit of study also emphasises the heterogeneity of welfare state responses which are products of contested national histories. The contemporary theoretical focus is on the concepts of 'welfare state regime', 'social citizenship', 'social rights' and 'redistributive justice', drawing attention to the interactions between the structures and processes of class, gender and ethnic differences, the representation of 'interests' in welfare state politics, and the development of various welfare systems, using case studies from Australia, the U.K., U.S.A., Western Europe and Scandinavia. These comparative case studies will focus on welfare state policies in respect of employment and unemployment (defining and regulating paid and unpaid work); the policy responses to family and gender relations, childhood and caring work; ageing and disability; contested definitions and the regulation of welfare 'rights' and 'needs' through the life course in contemporary industrial societies, in the context of restructured labour markets, redefined gender relations and family structures, and the growth of welfare rights social movements.

SCLG 3002 Contemporary Sociological Theory
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Van Krieken
When Offered: March
Classes: one 3 hour seminar/week
Assessment: Two 3000 word essays, one tutorial paper
In this unit of study we shall examine the central strands of sociological thought since the work of the classical theorists. As well as studying the essential features of the differing theoretical developments in twentieth-century sociology, we shall also look at the ways in which seemingly different traditions of theorising about society often have common origins, if not always common concerns and outcomes. The unit of study will cover the following topics: functionalist theory in post-war American sociology, its critics and alternatives such as symbolic interactionism, exchange theory and ethnomethodology; systems theory; Goffman — the sociology of everyday life, the presentation of self and micro-sociology; structuralism — its origins and effects in French social theory, linguistics and anthropology; trends in Marxist social thought, including Louis Althusser and structuralist Marxism; psychoanalysis and social theory; feminist social theory since the 1960s and 70s, the critique of male reason; Foucault and after — discourse theory and post-structuralism; Giddens and the action/structure debate.

SCLG 3003 Empirical Sociological Methods
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Bourke
Prerequisite: SCLG 3002
When Offered: July
Classes: one 3 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 3500 word essay/research design, one exam
This unit will enable students to develop (a) an understanding of a variety of empirical techniques used in sociological research; (b) a critical appreciation of the strengths and weaknesses of these various methods; (c) an understanding of how to deploy empirical techniques in a variety of research designs; and (d) the ability to evaluate the adequacy of the research that employs such techniques. The sessions dealing with specific techniques will use exercises and will be conducted on a workshop basis. Students will be expected to complete a weekly workbook that will be handed in and assessed at the end of the course. The unit will also cover a number of substantive issues, including the relationship between theory and method, contemporary critiques of empirical research, the quantitative/qualitative debate in sociological research, the uses of official data sets and problems in meta-analysis.

SCLG 4001 Sociology IV Honours

Prerequisite: Results of credit or above in 56 Senior units of Sociology including the Special Entry units Classical Sociological Theory, Contemporary Sociological Theory, and Empirical Methods of Sociological Investigations

When Offered: Consult Dept

Sociology IV students are required to undertake the three units of study listed below and write a thesis of between 15 000 and 20 000 words, depending on the research method. Arrangements concerning dissertation topics and supervision will be made late in the preceding year. The thesis will be worth 60% of the final Sociology IV mark, and the courses will be worth 40%. The Department will also consider the possibility of incorporating a research placement into the supervisory arrangements of those students and thesis topics which are considered suitable.

Contemporary Issues in Sociological Thought
Classes: March; one 2 hour seminar / week
Assessment: One 3,500 word essay, one tutorial paper
This unit of study will examine current debates in sociological thought and the ways in which they are stimulating and informing recent, and especially Australian, social research. Topics covered will include the reconceptualisation of class, economy and society in the modern state; feminist critiques of and contributions to sociological analysis; the contributions made by sociologists to contemporary economic and social policy debates; the relationship between micro and macro sociology, the implications of neo-Parsonian and neo-Weberian sociological theories for contemporary social analysis; recent work on social action and social movements; theories of power and empowerment, current debates in historical sociology; and conceptualisations of "post-modernity."
SCPL 3101 Australian Social Policy

Classes: March: one 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: Two 1,500 word essays

This unit of study considers key features of understanding and explanation in sociology. It explicates activities of "understanding" and "explanation" from the point of view of the practising sociologist, in contrast to considering issues from the perspective of the philosophy of the social sciences.

The unit of study has two main components. The first considers dominant areas of sociological investigation, value relevance inherent in sociological research and processes involved in theory construction. The second component addresses issues, debates and controversies within sociology by way of exemplars. Evolutionary theories, structural functionalism, theories of ideology, exchange theory, deconstructionist and dramaturgical perspectives will be considered. These theoretical approaches will be explored in relation to contemporary research projects concerning class and social mobility, crime, technological changes and issues of agency.

Research Seminar

Classes: March and July: One 2 hour seminar/week
Assessment: One 2,000 word exercise, one 3,500 word essay, progress reports on dissertation

The unit of study will examine issues concerning methods and perspectives in sociological research emerging from students' dissertation projects, as well as research design and organisation. Students will also be required to present reports on the progress of their research throughout the year.

SCPL 3102 Principles in Social Policy

Classes: March 3102 and 4 hour tutorial/week
Assessment: One tutorial paper, one essay

In this unit of study the Australian experience of universal themes in social policy is explored: the legal and administrative framework; relationships between family and the state; employment, unemployment, unpaid work and welfare; the public/private mix; and the formulation and delivery of social welfare services in Australia.

Women's Studies

Teacher/Coordinator:
Women's Studies is an interdepartmental course designed to enable students to undertake a broad study of feminist scholarship and gender and cultural studies. Core courses and options examine the constructions and representations of gender. Some of the areas that are looked at include: economic and social inequities; sex and sexuality; media and subcultures, historical constructions of what it means to be a woman or a man; the intersection of gender and other key social factors such as race and class; the body and technology; sexual cultures; the gendered nature of violence.

Women's Studies is available at second year, third year and fourth year honours levels.

WMST 2001 and 2002 are the core courses of eight units each. WMST 2003 and 2004, each eight units, consist of either one double or two single options taken in a semester.

WMST 2001 Gender and Popular Culture (Core unit of study)

Courses:

Enrolment: 8 credit points
Pre-requisite: 18 Junior credit points
When Offered: March

Classes: 3 hours per week
Assessment: 1) Mid semester exam: 2000 words
2) Final paper on a set topic: 3000 words
3) participation and presentations in tutorials: 1000 words

This unit of study will introduce students to the study of popular culture, and more particularly to the major feminist analyses of gender, sexuality, race and popular culture. The unit of study will draw on a range of interdisciplinary theories (textual, discourse and ethnographic audience analysis, psychoanalysis and semiotics, postcolonial and queer theories) in order to analyse constructions of gender in popular culture genres: magazines, advertising, cinema and televisial genres, popular music and videos.

WMST 2002 Thinking Gender (Core unit of study)

Courses:

Enrolment: 8 credit points
Pre-requisite: WMST 2001
When Offered: July

Classes: 3 hours per week
Assessment: Four 500 word article summaries, one 3000 word essay

In this unit of study, the social movements and theories which make up feminism will be introduced. By the end of the unit of study, students will have a clear grounding in the fundamental concepts which feminist social, political and cultural theorists have developed, and the central debates of the last few decades. The course is divided into four blocks.

First we explore debates about equality and difference, between men and women, and between women themselves according to their class, race or ethnicity. Second, debate about the distinction between 'sex' and 'gender' is introduced — what makes a 'man' and a 'woman', 'masculinity' and 'femininity'? Psychoanalytic theories about this are included. A third block is on sexual politics, including queer theory. Finally, in a block on gender, knowledge and power, we look at the intellectual critiques which feminist theory poses: the question of postmodernism and feminism; feminist critiques of 'universal' knowledges and theories of power and resistance.
WMST 2090 Cultural Inquiry: Cases of Violence and Sex
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Gail Mason
When Offered: July
Classes: 1 lecture 1 tutorial

Assessment: A range from 6000 words in assignments/essays and no exam to 3000 words and 3 hours of formal exams.

Students with Credit results in twelve Junior credit points in one subject area may also take Women's Studies 2090. Women's Studies 2090 must be taken by any students wishing to proceed to Women's Studies IV Honours. It can be taken in third year simultaneously with Women's Studies 3090.

(13) Cultural Inquiry: Cases of Violence and Sex (2090)
This unit of study will introduce students to methods of cultural inquiry. The emphasis will be on techniques for conducting qualitative research 'outside the library'. The unit of study will first examine the debates around feminist methodology, then consider the connections between theory and method, before moving on to explain a selection of empirical research techniques. These techniques will include: participant observation, interviews, ethnography, and co-operative inquiry.

Feminist methodologies are used in a broad range of disciplines and to demonstrate how these methods are used to gain knowledge about the world in which we live, examples of the interaction between violence, sex and culture in Australia will be used each week to ground the debates and the methods. Such examples will include: paedophilia; hate crime; sexual assault; mass murder; and serial killing.

WMST 3001 Postcolonialism, Gender and Sexuality (Core Course)
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Dr Alison Bashford
Prerequisite: WMST 2001 & WMST 2002
When Offered: March
Assessment: A range from 6000 words in assignments/essays and no exam to 3000 words and 3 hours of formal exams.

14) Postcolonialism, Gender and Sexuality (Core Course)

This course introduces students to postcolonial studies with specific reference to questions of gender and sexuality. We begin with a historical study of imperialism, orientalism and the western construction of and fascination with the exotic. Feminism's own complicity with colonialism is examined here. We then critically examine key concepts and concerns within postcolonial cultural studies: difference; hybridity; location; the nation; the subaltern voice.

The gendered and sexualised implications and meanings of these are scrutinised. Students will be asked to interrogate a current issue within Australian culture with respect to postcolonial feminist studies.

WMST 3090 Feminism and Knowledge (Hons Core)
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Gail Mason
Prerequisite: Credit in two of WMST 2001, WMST 2002, WMST 2090, WMST 3001.
Corequisite: WMST 2090
When Offered: July
Classes: One two hour seminar per week

Assessment: 5000w essay

Students with Credit results in sixteen Senior units of Women's Studies, who are currently pursuing or have previously completed Women's Studies 2090, may also study the Women's Studies 3090 core course. Women's Studies 3090 must be taken by any students wishing to proceed to Women's Studies IV Honours.

(15) Feminism and knowledge (Hons Core)

The objectives of this seminar are two-fold: the students will be expected to engage with recent theoretical debates in feminist theory and knowledge, and they are to work towards integrating the epistemological insights and questions stemming from the readings into individual research projects.

WMST 4090 Ficto-criticism and the Writing of Theory (Core Course)
8 credit points

Teacher/Coordinator: Assoc Prof Elspeth Probyn
Prerequisite: Credits in WMST 2001, WMST 2002, WMST 2090, WMST 3090, WMST 3001
When Offered: March
Classes: One two hour seminar per week

1) Ficto-criticism and the writing of theory (Core Course)

In this course we will study the relations of fiction to theory-building through the close study of generations of feminist theory. For instance, we will examine how the early feminist slogan 'the personal is political' translated into both ways of constructing theoretical problematics and the strategies of writing that carried them: eg autobiography, polemic, the use of metaphor, etc. Texts from differing disciplines will be studied for the writing strategies employed (for instance, what types of writing have feminists employed in empirical research, ethnography, etc). Students will also be encouraged to practice different modes of theoretical writing.

Women's Studies 2003, 2004

Teacher/Coordinator: As indicated
When Offered: Consult Dept
Assessment: Varies with options Dept information

Each course comprises one double option or two single options from the following list. Students should check the relevant Department's handbook entry to find out in which semester the options are offered.

Options

(1) Contemporary American prose
Dr Melissa Hardie (English)

For course description see the English entry

(2) Cultures after Colonialism - Indigenous Australians
Prof Austin-Broos (Anthropology)

For course description see the Anthropology entry

(3) Cultural Inquiry: Cases of Violence and Sex
Dr Gail Mason (Women's Studies)

Second Semester
8 units

This course will introduce students to methods of cultural inquiry. The emphasis will be on techniques for conducting qualitative research 'outside the library'. The course will first examine the debates around feminist methodology, then consider the connections between theory and method, before moving on to explain a selection of empirical research techniques. These techniques will include: participant observation, interviews, ethnography, and co-operative inquiry.

(7) Gender Sexuality and Technology
Anna Munster (Women's Studies)

275
Second semester
(8 units)
This course will examine current developments in biotechnologies and digital technologies from the standpoint of how these affect and produce our notions and analyses of gender and sexuality. It will question sociological, medical and psychological models of these in the light of problems raised by genetic engineering, gender assignment surgery, the disembodiment of cyberspace, for example. It will examine resources from popular and digital cultures including the Internet, video and CDROMs opening up both technologies and feminism to critical analysis.

(8) The political economy of women
Dr Gabrielle Meagher (Economics)
For course description see the Economics entry

(9) Queer Sexualities
Assoc Prof Elspeth Probyn and Dr Gail Mason (Women's Studies)

First Semester
(8 units)
In this unit we will consider all sexualities as fundamentally queer. Students will consider a range of different approaches to sexuality (sociological, anthropological, historical, economic, legal and cultural). From this basis we will engage with the recent articulation of interdisciplinary research, notably gay and lesbian studies, and queer theory.

(10) Religion and gender: an introduction
Victoria Barker (Studies in Religion)
For course description see the School of Studies in Religion entry

(11) Sociology of Gender
Dr Jan Larbalestier (Social Work and Social Policy)
For course description see the Social Work and Social Policy entry

(12) Technologies of Print Media 1600-2000
Dr Hardie, Dr Lilley (English)
For course description see the English entry.

Resolutions of Senate

Units of Study
1. The units of study which may be taken for the degree are set out in the Table of Units of Study. They are listed in two parts:
   (a) Part A: Units of Study offered by departments and schools in the Faculty of Arts which may be taken for a major;
   (b) Part B: other Units of Study which may be taken for the degree.
2. The Units of Study:
   (a) are divided into Junior and Senior; and
   (b) are semester length; and
   (c) have the following credit point values:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Type</th>
<th>Length of study</th>
<th>Credit Point value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Junior</td>
<td>One semester</td>
<td>3 or 6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Senior</td>
<td>One semester</td>
<td>4, 6, 8, or 12</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

   (The credit point value for individual units of study is shown in the Table of Units of Study.)

Junior units of study
3. Departments and schools may exclude from any Junior level introductory units of study, students who have taken the relevant subject for the HSC or to an equivalent standard.

Senior units of study
4. The entry requirements for Senior units of study are set out in the Table of Units of Study. They are listed in two parts:
   (a) are divided into Junior and Senior; and
   (b) are semester length; and
   (c) have the following credit point values:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Type</th>
<th>Length of study</th>
<th>Credit Point value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Junior</td>
<td>One semester</td>
<td>3 or 6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Senior</td>
<td>One semester</td>
<td>4, 6, 8, or 12</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

5. If a corequisite for a unit of study is not satisfied, it then becomes a prerequisite for any further unit of study in the subject area.

6. Senior units of study normally have a value of either 4 or 8 credit points except that departments and schools in the Faculty of Science may offer 300 level units of study with a value of 6 or 12 credit points.

7. The requirement for final year honours must not be more than 64 Senior credit points.

Variation of entry requirements for units of study
8. The Faculty may vary the entry requirements for units of study for particular candidates in special circumstances.

Grades of degrees
9. The degree is awarded in two grades: pass and honours.
10. In the honours grade there are:
    (a) three classes: I, II and III; and
    (b) two divisions within class II: (i) and (ii).
11. A candidate who qualifies for the award of Honours Class I and whose work is of outstanding merit in the opinion of the Faculty qualifies for a University medal.

Requirements for pass degree
12. To qualify for the pass degree, candidates other than those proceeding concurrently to the degree of Bachelor of Laws, must complete units of study to the value of 144 credit points which include:
   (a) a major from one of the subject areas listed in Part A of the Table of Units of Study; and
   (b) at least 96 Senior credit points
   (c) no more than 18 junior credit points from the same subject area; and
   (d) no more than 64 senior credit points from the same subject area.

The major
13. (a) A major is at least 32 Senior credit points in one of the subject areas listed in the Table of Units of Study including any units of study specified in the Table as compulsory for that major, except that:
    (i) a major in Social Policy and Administration consists of at least 16 Senior credit points; and
    (ii) a major in Semiotics consists of at least 24 Senior credit points.
   (b) in accordance with section 12(a), at least one major must be taken from Part A of the Table of Units of Study. Majors will be shown on the testamur.

Requirements for honours degree
14. A candidate who has qualified for the pass degree qualifies for the award of the degree with honours by completing a final year honours course at an appropriate standard.
15. A candidate may not:
    (a) enrol in final year honours without first qualifying for the award of the pass degree; or
    (b) be awarded the pass degree while enrolled in final year honours; or
    (c) enrol concurrently in any other course or unit of study.
16. On the recommendation of the head of the department or school concerned, the Faculty may permit a candidate who has been awarded the pass degree of Bachelor of Arts at the University of Sydney or at another recognised institution to take final year honours.
17. With the approval of the Faculty a candidate who is eligible to enter final year honours in two subject areas may:
    (a) complete both in separate years and qualify for the award of honours in each subject area; or
    (b) complete a joint final year honours consisting of those parts of the final year honours in each subject area that are determined jointly by the heads of departments or schools concerned. The candidate qualifies for the award of joint honours in a form which recognises the subject areas in the joint program.
18. On the recommendation of the head of the department or school concerned, the Faculty may permit a candidate to undertake final year honours over two consecutive years. This permission will be granted only if the Faculty is satisfied that the candidate is unable to attempt it on a full-time basis.
19. Candidates who fail or discontinue final year honours may not re-enrol in it.
Satisfactory progress
20. (a) The Senate authorises the Faculty of Arts to require students to show good cause why they should be allowed to re-enrol in the Faculty of Arts if, in the opinion of the Faculty, they have not made satisfactory progress towards fulfilling the requirements for the degree.

(b) Satisfactory progress cannot be defined in all cases in advance but a student who does not pass at least 16 credit points in any year of enrolment shall normally be deemed not to have made satisfactory progress. Therefore, students must remain enrolled in at least 16 credit points each year, except when they need less than 16 credit points to qualify for the award of the degree.

(c) Notwithstanding (b), a student who qualifies for the award of the degree shall be deemed to have made satisfactory progress.

(d) For the purpose of these resolutions, where students ‘Discontinue with Permission’, ‘Discontinue’ or ‘Fail’ their total enrolment for an academic year, that year is to be regarded as a year of enrolment.

(e) In cases where the Faculty permits the re-enrolment of a student whose progress has been deemed unsatisfactory, the Faculty may require the completion of a specified number of credit points in a specified time. If the student does not comply with these conditions the student may again be deemed not to have made satisfactory progress.

BA (Asian Studies)
21. To qualify for the Bachelor of Arts (Asian Studies) pass degree candidates must complete the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts degree, including at least 64 Senior credit points from the following Asian Studies subject areas: Arabic, Arab World, Islam and the Middle East, Asian Studies, Chinese, Indian Studies, Indonesian and Malayan Studies, Japanese, Korean and Thai. At least 32 Senior credit points must be in one of the Asian languages.

22. A candidate qualifies for the Bachelor of Arts (Asian Studies) honours degree by qualifying for the Bachelor of Arts (Asian Studies) pass degree and completing a final year honours course in one or two of the Asian Studies subject areas.

Combined degrees: BA/LLB, BA/BSW, BA/BSc, BA/BCom, BA/BTh, BA/BMus
23. If a candidate is proceeding concurrently to the degree of:

(a) Bachelor of Laws; or

(b) Bachelor of Social Work,

the candidate may count towards the degree those units of study in the other degree which the resolutions of Senate specify as having to be taken while the candidate is enrolled in the Bachelor of Arts.

24. A candidate who is proceeding concurrently to the degree of Bachelor of Laws qualifies for the degree by completing a total of 144 credit points from the Table of Units of Study for the Bachelor of Arts, including:

(i) at least 48 Senior credit points from Part A or Part B, including a major in a subject area listed in Part A;

(ii) 48 credit points from the Law units of study listed in Part B in the sequence prescribed;

(iii) no more than 48 Junior credit points

(iv) no more than 18 Junior credit points from the same subject area; and

(v) no more than 64 Senior credit points from the same subject area.

25. A candidate qualifies for the combined degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science by completing 240 credit points in the manner prescribed by the joint resolutions of the Faculties of Arts and Science.

26. A candidate qualifies for the combined degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Commerce by completing 240 credit points in the manner prescribed by the joint resolutions of the Faculties of Arts and Economics.

27. A candidate qualifies for the combined degrees of Bachelor of Arts at the University of Sydney and Bachelor of Theology at the Sydney College of Divinity by completing the requirements prescribed in the joint resolutions of the Faculty of Arts and the Sydney College of Divinity.

28. A candidate qualifies for the combined degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Music by completing 240 credit points in the manner prescribed by the joint resolutions of the Faculty of Arts and the Board of Studies in Music.

29. Bachelor of Liberal Studies

A candidate qualifies for the Bachelor of Liberal Studies by completing 192 credit points in the manner prescribed by the joint resolutions of the Faculties of Arts and Science.

Credit for previous courses
30. A candidate who is a graduate with a completed Bachelor’s degree from an Australian university (or equivalent):

(a) may be granted credit for up to 48 credit points for units of study completed within that degree and specifically related to units of study in the Table of Units of Study; and

(b) of these 48 credit points, up to 24 credit points may be granted for Senior units of study.

31. (a) A candidate who has not completed the requirements for the award of a Bachelor’s degree may be granted credit for up to 96 credit points for units of study completed during a previous candidature at the University of Sydney or at another recognised institution.

(b) Of these 96 credit points, non-specific credit may be granted for up to 48 credit points for units of study not specifically related to units of study in the Table of Units of Study. In this case, the Faculty will specify the deemed credit point value and academic level of the units of study.

(c) In the case of combined degrees, of these 96 credit points non specific credit may be granted for up to 48 credit points for units of study not specifically related to units of study in the Table of Units of Study for the two degrees. In this case, the Faculty will specify the deemed credit point value and academic level of the units of study.

32. A candidate will not be granted credit towards the degree for any units of study:

(a) for which the result is Terminating Pass or equivalent; or

(b) which were completed more than nine years before admission or re-admission to candidature; or

(c) upon which the candidate has relied, or intends to rely, to qualify for an undergraduate Certificate, Diploma, Associate Diploma, or a postgraduate qualification.

Credit for units of study taken concurrently at other institutions
33. The Faculty may permit a candidate to complete a unit of study or units of study at another university or recognised institution for the purpose of obtaining credit to a maximum of 48 credit points if:

(a) the unit of study or units of study are in a subject area in the humanities or social sciences not available at the University of Sydney; or

(b) the Faculty is satisfied that the candidate is unable for good reason to attend classes at the University of Sydney.
Restrictions
34. (a) Candidates may not enrol in any Senior unit of study until they have passed at least 18 Junior credit points.
(b) In the first year of candidature, candidates (other than those in designated combined degree programs or those granted credit or advanced standing) must enrol in a minimum of 18 Junior credit points and a maximum of 48 Junior credit points.
(c) In the first year of candidature, combined degree candidates must enrol in a minimum of 18 Junior credit points over the year and a maximum of 32 credit points each semester.
(d) The Faculty may permit candidates who have completed 48 Junior credit points in their first year of candidature to count a further 12 Junior credit points taken in the second or third year of candidature.
35. A candidate may not count a particular unit of study more than once towards the degree or count two units of study which overlap substantially in content.
36. A candidate may not enrol in units of study which are additional to the degree requirements unless the Faculty approves the enrolment.
37. A candidate may not enrol in units of study having a total value of more than 32 credit points in a semester.

Time limits
38. A candidate must complete all the requirements for the award of the degree within ten calendar years of admission to candidature or readmission without credit. If a candidate is readmitted with credit, the Faculty will determine a reduced time limit for completion of the degree.

Suspension
39. A candidate must re-enrol each calendar year unless the Faculty has approved suspension of candidature. Candidature lapses if a candidate has not obtained approval for a suspension and does not re-enrol.
40. Suspensions are not approved for more than two consecutive years.
41. Candidates who have been asked to show cause why they should be permitted to re-enrol in a particular year may not suspend their candidature in that year.
42. Candidates whose candidature has lapsed must be selected for admission again before they can re-enrol.
43. Candidates who re-enrol after a period of suspension must proceed under the by-laws and resolutions in force at the time of re-enrolment.
44. Candidates who have completed the requirements for the pass degree may not suspend their candidature and must be awarded the degree unless they are enrolled in the honours year.

Variation of requirements for degree
45. The Dean may vary these resolutions for a particular candidate in exceptional circumstances.

Transitional provisions
46. These resolutions apply from 1 January 1994.
(a) Candidates who first enrolled for the degree before 1994 and have not had a period of suspension or exclusion (that is, have been enrolled in every year since 1994) may qualify for the award of the degree by completing 128 credit points, of which at least 80 must be Senior credit points.
(b) Candidates who first enrolled for the combined Arts/Medicine degree before 1994 may qualify for the award of the degree by qualifying for the award of the degrees of Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery or Bachelor of Science (Medical) and, before that, completing 96 credit points, of which at least 48 must be Senior credit points. These candidates must obtain written approval from the Faculty of Arts for the courses to be counted to the Bachelor of Arts degree.

Joint resolutions of the Faculties of Arts and Science (BA/BSc)
Students may complete a combined BA/BSc program in five full-time years obtaining both degrees in five years instead of the normal six. These resolutions should be read in conjunction with the resolutions of Senate governing candidature for the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science.
1. Candidature for the combined program is full-time.
2. Candidates qualify for the combined degrees by completing 240 credit points including:
   (i) at least 12 Junior credit points from the Science Discipline Areas of Mathematics and Statistics
   (ii) 24 further Junior credit points in Science Discipline areas;
   (iii) (a) at least 72 Senior credit points from Part A of the Table of Units of Study for the BA including a major; and
   (b) at least 72 credit points from Senior and Intermediate units of study in the Science Discipline areas taken in accordance with the resolutions of the BSc.
3. Candidates will be under the general supervision of one of the Faculties until they complete 140 credit points (normally the first three years) and then they will complete the combined program under the general supervision of the other Faculty. General supervision covers all areas of policy and procedure affecting candidates such as degree rules, course nomenclature, enrolment procedures and the Dean to whom reference is to be made at any given time.
4. Candidates who are qualified for one or both of the degrees and otherwise qualified to do so may complete an Honours year. In cases where the Honours year may be completed in either Faculty, it shall be completed in the Faculty in which the candidate has completed the final qualifying unit of study for the Honours year.
5. Candidates may abandon the combined program and elect to complete either a BSc or a BA in accordance with the resolutions of the Senate governing those degrees.
6. The Deans of Arts and Science shall jointly exercise authority in any matter concerning the combined degree program not otherwise dealt with in the Resolutions of the Senate or these resolutions.

Joint resolutions of the Faculties of Arts and Science (BLibStuds)
General requirements for the award of the degree
1. (a) Candidates qualify for the degree of Bachelor of Liberal Studies by completing units of study during 8 semesters.
   (b) To qualify for the degree candidates must complete 192 credit points from the Tables of Units of Study for the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science including:
      (i) At least 120 Intermediate or Senior credit points;
      (ii) At least one Arts major and one Science major;
      (iii) At least 28 credit points, including 16 Intermediate or Senior credit points, from units of study in one language subject-area other than English from Part A of the Table of Units of Study for the degree of Bachelor of Arts;
      (iv) A 6 credit point unit of study in communication and analytical skills or in other academic skills as may be prescribed from time to time;
      (v) A minimum of 6 credit points from units of study in Mathematics or Statistics.
   (c) The credit point value of a unit of study shall be that designated by the Faculty which offers the unit.

These candidates must qualify for the award of the degree by 31 March 2002.
The major
2. (a) Unless otherwise defined, a major shall consist of units of study taken in a single subject-area from Part A of the Table of Units of Study for the degree of Bachelor of Arts or from Table 1 of the Table of Units of Study for the degree of Bachelor of Science. (b) The number and level of the credit points constituting an Arts major is as defined in the Resolutions for the Bachelor of Arts. (c) A Science major consists of at least 32 credit points from a single Science Discipline Area, including a minimum of 8 credit points from Intermediate units of study and 24 credit points from Senior units of study. (d) Candidates shall nominate their choice of majors no later than the beginning of the fifth semester of candidature, but with the permission of the Deans of Arts or Science as appropriate, may change the majors during the candidature. (e) The majors successfully completed shall be named on the transcript.

Transfer to candidature for the Bachelor of Arts or the Bachelor of Science
3. (a) Candidates who at the end of at least four semesters of candidature have completed at least 96 credit points in total, and who intend to satisfy the requirements for entry to a Fourth Year Honours unit of study or joint Honours unit of study for the bachelor's degree in Arts or Science, may apply to transfer to candidature for one of these degrees. (b) Candidates who at the end of at least six semesters of candidature have completed units of study which correspond to the entry requirements for Fourth Year Honours for the bachelor's degree in Arts or Science may apply to transfer to candidature for one of these degrees. (c) Candidates for the degree may, with the permission of the Faculty concerned, transfer to candidature for the pass degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science no later than the end of the fourth semester of candidature. (d) If a candidate for the degree has completed the normal requirements for the pass degree of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Arts (Asian Studies) or Bachelor of Science, he or she may apply to take one of these degrees provided that candidature for the Bachelor of Liberal Studies is abandoned.

Other conditions of candidature
4. (a) Unless otherwise specified, the regulations regarding definitions and entry requirements for units of study taken from the Table of Units of Study for the degree of Bachelor of Arts shall be those applying to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and the regulations regarding definitions and entry requirements for units of study taken from Table 1 of Units of Study for the degree of Bachelor of Science shall be those applying to the degree of Bachelor of Science. (b) Unless otherwise specified, the regulations regarding examination rules, variations of entry requirements, grades of degree, satisfactory progress, credit for previous courses, credit for courses taken concurrently at other institutions, restrictions, time limits, suspension and variation of requirements for the degree shall be those applying to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Authority of the Deans
5. The Deans of Arts and Science shall jointly exercise authority in any matter concerning the Bachelor of Liberal Studies degree not otherwise dealt with in the Resolutions of Senate or these resolutions.

Units of study from other programs
6. With the permission of the Deans of Arts and Science, candidates may count towards the degree a maximum of 28 credit points from units of study (other than those listed in the Tables of Units of Study for the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts) offered by the Faculties of Architecture, Economics and Education, the Boards of Study in Music and Social Work, the Sydney College of the Arts and the Conservatorium of Music.

Award of the degree with High Distinction or Distinction
7. (a) A Weighted Average Mark (WAM) will be calculated for each candidate as an overall measure of performance in the degree; the WAM is calculated by summing the products of the marks achieved and the weighted credit point values of the units of study taken in the degree and then dividing by the sum of the weighted credit point values, with all attempts at units of study being included in the calculation, except where units of study are discontinued with permission; the formula used is as follows: \[ WAM = \frac{\sum WcMc}{\sum Wc} \]
where Wc is the weighted credit point value i.e. the product of the credit point value and level of weighting of 1 for 1000-1999 units of study or 2 for 2000-2999 units of study and 3000-3999 units of study; and Mc is the greater of 45 or the mark out of 100 for the unit of study. (b) The degree will be awarded with the following grades, as determined by the Deans of Arts and Science on the basis of the WAM: (i) High Distinction (ii) Distinction (iii) Pass

Joint resolutions of the Faculties of Arts and Economics (BA/BCom)
1. Candidature for the combined program is full-time. 2. Candidates qualify for the combined degrees by completing 240 credit points including: (i) 12 Junior credit points in each of Accounting, Econometrics and Economics; (ii) at least 72 Senior credit points from Part A of the Table of Units of Study for the BA including a major; (iii) at least 72 Senior credit points from the subject areas specified in the BCom regulations including two majors. 3. Candidates may not enrol in any unit of study which is substantially the same as one they have already passed. 4. Candidates will be under the general supervision of the Faculty of Arts until the end of the year in which they complete 144 credit points. After that they will be under the general supervision of the Faculty of Economics. General supervision covers all areas of policy and procedure affecting candidates such as degree rules, course nomenclature, enrolment procedures and the Dean to whom reference is to be made at any given time. 5. Candidates who are qualified to do so may complete an Honours Year. 6. Candidates may abandon the combined program and elect to complete either a BCom or a BA in accordance with the regulations governing these degrees. 7. The Deans of Economics and Arts shall jointly exercise authority in any matter concerning the combined degree program not otherwise dealt with in the Resolutions of the Senate or these resolutions.

Joint resolutions of the Faculty of Arts and Sydney College of Divinity (BA/BTh)
1. Applications are made through UAC and are considered in terms of the Admission Policies of the Faculty of Arts at the University of Sydney and of the Sydney College of Divinity. 2. Candidates admitted to the combined BA/BTh program complete units of study in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Sydney and at the Sydney College of Divinity.
3. Candidates qualify for the combined degrees by completing:
   (i) 120 credit points from Part A of the Table of Units of Study for the BA at the University of Sydney including at least 72 Senior credit points (including a major);
   (ii) at least 36 credit points in:
      • Biblical Studies,
      • Theology and
      • one of the following subject areas: Christian Ethics, Christian Spirituality, Liturgical Studies, Missiology, or Pastoral Theology and Practice.
4. Credit for previous studies may be given:
   • by the Sydney College of Divinity for Theology studies to a maximum of 60 credit points; and
   • by the Faculty of Arts in the terms of the regulations for the BA for units of study not already credited by the Sydney College of Divinity.
5. Candidates may not enrol in any unit of study which is substantially the same as one they have already passed nor may they count what is effectively the same unit of study twice.
6. Candidature will be subject to the regulations governing the BA until the BA component is completed; candidates will be subject to the regulations governing the BTh as determined by the Sydney College of Divinity.
7. Candidature must be completed within ten years.
8. Candidates who have completed the requirements for the combined degree and who are otherwise qualified to do so may complete an Honours year.
9. Candidates may abandon the combined program and elect to complete either a BA at the University of Sydney or a BTh at the Sydney College of Divinity in accordance with the regulations governing these degrees.

Joint resolutions of the Faculty of Arts and the Board of Studies in Music
1. Candidature for the combined program is full-time.
2. Candidates qualify for the combined degree by completing 240 credit points including:
   (i) MUSC 1000, MUSC 1001, MUSC 1002, MUSC 1003, MUSC 2000, MUSC 2001, MUSC 3000, MUSC 3001
   (ii) the 60 professional Music credit points prescribed for the B Mus, as set out in the Table of Units of Study for the B Mus; and
   (iii) at least 72 Senior credit points from Part A of the Table of Units of Study for the BA, including a major.
3. Candidates may not enrol in any unit of study which is substantially the same as one they have already passed.
4. Candidates will be under the general supervision of the Board of Studies in Music until the end of the year in which they complete 144 credit points. After that, they will be under the general supervision of the Faculty of Arts. General supervision covers all areas of policy and procedure affecting candidates such as degree rules, course nomenclature, enrolment procedures and the Dean, or Chair of the Board of Studies, to whom reference is to be made at any given time.
5. Candidates who are qualified to do so may complete an Honours Year.
6. Candidates may abandon the combined program and elect to complete either a BMus or a BA in accordance with the regulations governing these degrees.
7. The Chair of the Board of Studies in Music and the Dean of the Faculty of Arts shall jointly exercise authority in any matter concerning the combined degree program not otherwise dealt with in the Resolutions of the Senate or these resolutions.

(B) Diploma regulations

The Diploma regulations are subject to ratification by the Academic Board and Senate.

Diploma of Language Studies

Grades of Diploma
1. The Diploma is awarded in three grades: Pass, Pass with Merit and Honours.

Eligibility for admission
2. An applicant must either:
   • have a TER or equivalent (determined by the Faculty) of at least 80.00 and must be enrolled for a degree at the University of Sydney other than the Bachelor of Arts or at another university, or
   • be a graduate of the University of Sydney (or equivalent)

Admission may be limited by quota. If there is a quota, the Faculty will give preference to undergraduate applicants with higher TERs and then to graduate applicants with a higher average mark in their undergraduate units of study.

Requirements for the Diploma
3. To qualify for the pass Diploma, candidates must complete at least 44 credit points, including at least 32 Senior credit points, in one of the following language study areas:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Language Area</th>
<th>Diploma Grade</th>

<tr>
<td>German</td>
<td>Indonesian and Malayan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Greek (Classical)</td>
<td>Italian</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Greek (Modern)</td>
<td>Japanese</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The language study area will be shown in brackets on the testamur.

4. To qualify for the Diploma (with Merit) candidates must obtain an average mark of at least 75 in all of their units of study and have no Fail or Disc results.

5. To qualify for the Diploma (Honours), candidates must complete final year honours in one of the listed subject areas and obtain a mark of at least 60.

6. In the honours grade there are:
   (a) three classes: I, II and III; and
   (b) two divisions within class II: (i) and (ii)

7. Candidates may be awarded undergraduate prizes for units of study taken as part of the diploma, but are not eligible for the award of a University Medal.

Time limits
8. The requirements for the Diploma must be completed within five calendar years of commencement.

Credit and Advanced standing
9. (a) a candidate may be granted credit for up to 12 Junior credit points or 8 Senior credit points for a unit of study completed at the University of Sydney or at another recognised institution before admission to candidature, subject to the following restrictions:
   (i) the unit of study must be in the subject area being taken for the Diploma. Non-specific credit will not be approved;
   (ii) a candidate will not be granted credit toward the Diploma for any units of study:
      - for which the result is a Terminating Pass or equivalent; or
      - which were completed more than nine years before admission or re-admission to candidature; or
      - upon which the candidate has relied, or intends to rely, to qualify for another degree or academic qualification; or
      - taken at other institutions after admission to candidature.
   (b) a candidate may be granted advanced standing on the basis of previous studies.
Admission
Students who are currently enrolled at the University should apply to the Faculty Office by the end of October. New students, enrolling with their UAC offer card, should apply to the Faculty of Arts when they enrol.

Further Information
Students who are interested in the Diploma should discuss their interest with staff in the departments (their own and the language school or department) and advisers in the Arts Faculty Office.

Application forms are available from the Faculty Office until the end of October for re-enrolling students and until the end of the first week of February for new students coming in through UAC.

Advanced standing

9. No credit will be granted for previous studies. Candidates may be granted advanced standing on the basis of previous studies.

Admission
Students who are currently enrolled at the University should apply to the Faculty Office by the end of October. New students, enrolling with their UAC offer card, should apply to the Faculty of Arts when they enrol.

Further Information
Students who are interested in the Diploma should discuss their interest with staff in the departments (their own and the language school or department) and advisers in the Arts Faculty Office.

Application forms are available from the Faculty Office until the end of October for re-enrolling students and until the end of the first week of February for new students coming in through UAC.
The University of Sydney has joined a consortium of Australian universities of February for new students coming in through UAC. of October for re-enrolling students and until the end of the first week. Application forms are available from the Faculty Office until the end of the first week. Students who are interested in the Diploma should discuss their interest with staff in the departments and advisers in the Arts Faculty Office. The content of the units of study taken by each candidate will be subject to approval by the Faculty on the recommendation of the School of Indonesian and Malaysian Studies. At present three kinds of full-time semester length units of study are offered:

1. Language instruction at three levels (beginners, intermediate and advanced). They are intensive units of study and at all three levels a high standard of language proficiency is achieved.
2. Immersion units of study. Students will attend a set number of undergraduate units of study normally offered by the Indonesian/Malaysian host university.
3. Fieldwork training. This will be offered to students who need to do fieldwork research for theses.

Regulations

Grades of Diploma

1. The Diploma is awarded in two grades: Pass and Pass with Merit.

Eligibility for admission

2. An applicant must either:
   - have a TER or equivalent (determined by the Faculty) of at least 80.00 and must be enrolled for a degree at the University of Sydney or at another university, or
   - be a graduate of the University of Sydney.

Admission requires the approval of the Head of the School of Asian Studies and may be limited by quota. If there is a quota, the Faculty will give preference to undergraduate applicants with higher TERs and to graduate applicants with a higher average mark in their undergraduate courses.

Requirements for the Diploma

3. To qualify for the pass Diploma candidates must complete an approved year-long intensive course of study at a tertiary institution or tertiary institutions in Indonesia or Malaysia.

4. To qualify for the Diploma (with Merit) candidates must obtain an average mark of at least 75 in all of their units of study and have no Fail or Disc results.

Time limits

5. The requirements for the Diploma must be completed within one calendar year of commencement.

Credit

6. No credit will be granted for previous studies. No part of the diploma course may be credited to the Bachelor of Arts.

---

(C) Faculty policy relating to BA degree candidature and Diploma candidature (to be read in conjunction with the BA degree resolutions and the Diploma resolutions)

Examination and assessment

Units of study are assessed in a variety of ways including:
- seen, unseen and take-home examinations
- essays, assignments and projects
- oral tests
- visual tests
- practical work.

The assessment criteria for each unit of study are indicated in an abbreviated form as part of the unit’s description in Chapter 6. The abbreviations are explained in the Appendix. More detailed information is available from each department.

Examinations

There is a formal examination period at the end of each semester following a one-week ‘study vacation’.

Draft examination timetables are issued well in advance. Candidates should make an effort to check the draft timetable as soon as it is released and immediately report any clashes to the Examinations Office. Draft examination timetables usually become final after 7 days. Information as to the time of particular exams is never available before the draft timetable is released.

Candidates are expected to be available throughout the examination periods; Faculty will not approve leave of absence for these times. (It may be possible to make special arrangements with individual departments and schools on an informal basis; but only if such arrangements are acceptable to the examiners and do not involve the university in additional expense.) Candidates should not make overseas travel arrangements before the final dates of their examination are known.

Examination rules

The general rules which apply in examinations are reproduced with each timetable.

One of these rules is that, unless specifically authorised in advance by the examiner, no paper or written or printed material of any kind can be taken into or out of an examination room.

Candidates whose native language is not English may apply to the Student Centre for permission to take an English dictionary into certain examinations.
Special consideration
Candidates who have or have had medical or other serious problems which could impair their performance in examinations should lodge a request for special consideration at the Student Centre.

Where special consideration is being claimed on medical grounds, an original medical certificate must be attached which shows:
(a) the date(s) on which treatment was sought;
(b) the nature of the illness or disability and the period concerned; and
(c) the doctor’s professional opinion as to the effect of the illness or disability on examination performance.

Where special consideration is sought on non-medical grounds the application must include a full statement of the circumstances and any supporting evidence should be attached. Examiners may respond to a request for special consideration in one or more ways:
(1) When the candidate is on the ‘borderline’ between grades the examiners may elect to give the higher grade;
(2) The candidate may be given a further test usually before the meeting of the Board of Examiners;
(3) An extension for missing or unsatisfactory assignments may be approved, or new assignments arranged;
(4) If in the judgement of the examiners the candidate is not capable of achieving a pass even with extensions of time and/or further tests, no action will be taken. The approval of such special arrangements is entirely at the discretion of the examiners. It should be noted that no extensions or further tests can be given, in any circumstances, after the beginning of the following academic year. If the requirements for a unit of study have not been completed by then, the candidate has failed it. (In some cases, a department or school may be willing to grant exemptions for work completed if the student re-enrols in the unit of study in a later year, but the candidate must re-enrol in the whole unit of study).

Requests for special consideration are sympathetically treated, but candidates must appreciate that in some cases Faculty cannot make the concession requested, even when strong evidence is presented.

Further tests
All requirements for the unit of study (essays, assignments, examinations and any further tests) must be completed and assessed before the meeting of the Board of Examiners. Supplementary examinations are not awarded to candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Where there is doubt about a candidate’s performance, Departments and Schools may arrange further tests after the examination period but before the Faculty examiners’ meeting.

Where a candidate has been prevented by sufficient and duly certified illness or misadventure from completing a unit of study, examiners (at their discretion) may award further tests or additional assignments either before or after the Faculty examiners’ meeting. The date for such further tests, and the deadline for assignments, are at the discretion of the department concerned (normally no later than January for Semester 2 units of study). No further tests can be taken, and no late work submitted, in the following academic year in any circumstances.

No further tests will be granted for law units of study.

Student appeals against results
A written request to the head of department or school should be made by the candidate. It is expected that appeals would be lodged within two months unless there is a good reason for delay. As examination scripts are destroyed three months after the examination, no appeal can be made after that. Such requests are considered by the head of department in consultation with relevant members of the department. A report and recommendation is then submitted to the Dean for consideration and final decision.

The Board of Examiners
The results recommended by departments are considered by the Faculty Board of Examiners which meets at the end of each semester. It is the Board of Examiners which determines the final results. Students should be aware that informal advice of results by departments has still to be confirmed by the Board of Examiners which may, for example, alter marks to ensure conformity with Faculty and Academic Board regulations on the distribution of Credits, Distinctions and High Distinctions. Students can obtain advice about these regulations from their teachers or Departmental Offices. A student’s final results are those on the formal result notice provided by the Registrar’s Office.

Results
For all units of study other than Fourth Year Honours units, the following grades apply within the Faculty of Arts:

- High Distinction — 85% and above
- Distinction — 75-84%
- Credit — 65-74%
- Pass — 50-64%
- Fail — Anything below 50%

Terminating passes are not available to BA candidates and cannot be counted towards the BA degree if obtained elsewhere. For Final Year Honours units of study the following Honours grades apply:

- First Class — 85% and above
- Second Class (Division I) — 75-84%
- Second Class (Division II) — 65-74%
- Third Class — 60-64%

Honours candidates who obtain a mark between 50 and 59% are not eligible for the award of the Honours degree, but are recorded as having passed the units. Honours candidates who obtain a mark of less than 50% fail the units.

The Weighted Average Mark (WAM)
A WAM may be calculated for students who have attempted senior units of study. The WAM for students in the Faculty of Arts is the average mark per unit of study of all Senior units attempted. Results of W (Withdrawn) and DP (Discontinued with Permission) are ignored in the WAM calculation. However, students should note that results of XX (Fail), AXX (Absent Fail) and DISC (Discontinuation) are included and count as 45 in the calculation.

A document providing more information about the WAM and the ways in which it is used is available from the Faculty Office on request. Students are encouraged to read it and to raise any concerns they have with members of the academic staff or with the Undergraduate Adviser in the Faculty Office.

Talented student program
The Faculty of Science offers a talented student program in many of its subject areas. Arts students taking units of study in Mathematics or other Science areas may also apply to enter the talented student program. Further information is available in the departments.

Credit for previous units of study
The Faculty has the following policy in addition to that outlined in sections 30-33 of the BA degree regulations.

1. Open Learning units of study and Access to University units of study (offered by the Centre for Continuing Education).

Credit may be given for these units of study subject to the following conditions:
- they were taken after 1993;
- units of study for which there is no prerequisite are regarded as Junior units of study;
- no more than 48 credit points will be credited in total;
- credit will normally be non-specific.
2. Non-specific credit is limited to subject areas in the humanities and social sciences and is not granted for units of study of a purely professional or technical nature.

3. The time limits for completing the degree are reduced according to the amount of credit received.

4. When applying for credit candidates from universities other than the University of Sydney will be asked to provide a certified academic transcript and full unit of study descriptions from the relevant handbook(s).

5. Units of study for which credit is given must be taken at University level. No credit is given for units of study taken while a person is still at school. However, a person who has taken additional units of study while at school may be eligible for advanced standing (see below).

Credit for units of study taken concurrently at other institutions (cross-institutional enrolment)

1. Candidates must remain enrolled in at least 16 credit points at the University of Sydney while they are taking a unit of study elsewhere.

2. Where permission is granted, the unit of study nominated must be completed strictly in accordance with the terms of the approval.

3. Units of study must be completed with a clear pass. A 'terminating pass' or its equivalent is not acceptable.

4. Correspondence courses, Open Learning courses and Access to University courses will not normally be approved for cross-institutional study.

5. Normally no more than 16 credit points may be taken in a calendar year at another university in the Sydney area.

Advanced standing
Candidates may be granted advanced standing on the basis of units of study which are not eligible for credit or on the basis of previously acquired skills (such as a foreign language skill, knowledge acquired by non-academic experience or units of study completed while the candidate was at school).

Advanced standing means that the candidate has satisfied the entry requirement for a unit of study, but does not reduce the number of credit points required to complete the degree.

Re-enrolment procedure
Persons who wish to re-enrol after an approved period of suspension of candidature or as Honours conversion candidates need to complete an application to re-enrol after an absence. Application forms are available from the Arts Faculty Office and must be lodged there by the end of October for the following year.

All currently enrolled candidates will receive re-enrolment advice in October. Failure to re-enrol results intermination of candidature.

HECS (Higher Education Contribution Scheme)
HECS (the Higher Education Contribution scheme, which may either be paid in full with a discount or deferred) is determined on a semester basis from the ‘weight’ of the units of study the student is enrolled in. This means that workload determines HECS liability. An enrolment in 24 credit points in a semester is the standard full-time load and costs approximately $4.5 HECS.

Full-time, part-time status
To be considered ‘full-time’ a student must have a HECS liability of at least 375 in a semester. In terms of the BA, this means a student must be enrolled in at least 18 credit points in the semester if all credit points are Junior units, or in at least 20 credit points in the semester if any Senior credit points are being taken. Students with enrolments below these levels are part-time.

Repeating a unit of study
A student repeating a unit of study may be exempted by the department from some sections of the unit of study. Nevertheless, the student must enrol in the unit of study and is liable for the full HECS weight for the unit of study.

Units of study surplus to degree requirements

BA degree regulations

36. A candidate may not enrol in units of study which are additional to the degree requirements unless the Faculty approves the enrolment.

Students may not take units of study which do not count towards the degree. Units of study paid for through HECS must be part of an award course. Excess credit points are non-award units of study. Any Junior credit points beyond the normal maximum of 48 for the ordinary BA degree, and any units of study a student wishes to take after completing the degree requirements (for example, units of study required for entry to the final year Honours units of study) must be taken through the ‘Access to University’ (AU) program of the Centre for Continuing Education which charges up-front fees at about HECS level. For information, call 9351 2907. Alternatively, a student could enrol as a non-award student and pay full-fees.

From 1998, Legal Institutions I and II, which are only available for the combined degree of BA.LLB, will no longer count as junior units.

Students should check carefully the statements of enrolment posted to the semester address registered with the University. All variations of enrolment must be made through the Faculty Office by the due date.

Advising the lecturer or the department is not sufficient. Students have sometimes found themselves with an unwelcome result of Absent Fail or with an unnecessary HECS liability because they either did not check their enrolment carefully or forgot to advise the University of a new semester address. Students are encouraged to check with the Faculty Office without delay if they believe their formal enrolment may not be correct.

Variation of enrolment
Students wishing to withdraw from a unit of study in which they have enrolled and enrol in a new unit of study must do so at the Faculty of Arts Office by:

• the end of the second week of first semester (first semester units of study)
• the end of the second week of second semester (second semester units of study)

Candidates who do not complete units of study in which they enrol receive one of four results — ‘withdrawn’, ‘discontinued with permission’, ‘discontinued’ or ‘absent fail’. Except in cases of serious illness or misadventure the result is determined by the date on which notification is received by the Faculty of Arts Office.

Withdrawn: This is the same as if the candidate had not enrolled in the unit of study concerned. Although the University has a record of the withdrawal, the unit of study and result will not appear on the official transcript of academic record. There is no HECS liability either.

In order to have a unit of study enrolment recorded as ‘withdrawn’, notice must be given by the candidate to the Arts Faculty Office on or before the deadline. For first semester units of study the deadline is Friday 27 March 1998.

Discontinuation with permission: This does not count as an attempt at the particular unit of study but does appear on the candidate’s academic record.

A candidate may have enrolment recorded as ‘discontinued with permission’ where:

1. notice is given to the Arts Faculty Office on or before the deadline, or
2. after the deadline, evidence is produced of serious illness or misadventure.
The deadlines for discontinuation with permission are:

For first semester units of study Friday 17 April.

For second semester units of study Friday 4 September.

Students should note, however, regulations concerning satisfactory progress. Discontinuation with permission in a unit or units of study does not mean that the student's progress is considered to be satisfactory.

Discontinued: This counts as an unsuccessful attempt at the unit of study concerned and appears on the candidate's academic record. Where notice is given after the deadline for 'discontinued with permission' but before the last day of lectures for the unit of study, the result is 'Disc'.

For first semester units of study the last day of lectures is Friday 12 June 1998.

For second semester units of study the last day of lectures is Friday 6 November 1998.

If a candidate misses the deadline and does not sit the final exam, the result is 'absent fail'.

Deferment for UAC applicants

Special provisions apply to persons who receive an offer of a place and wish to defer taking up the offer.

Persons who have not previously attended a recognised tertiary institution are normally able to defer commencement of their candidature for one year. Applications are handled by the Admissions Office of the University, must be made during the UAC enrolment and be accompanied by the 'offer of enrolment' card.

Withdrawal and discontinuation — First Year students

First Year students who withdraw totally must reapply for admission through UAC.

First Year students who discontinue totally (either with permission or not) will be asked to show cause why they would be permitted to re-enrol (see the BA regulations under Satisfactory Progress).

Complaints and grievances

Copies of the Faculty's policy are available in the Faculty Office. Students who believe they have been unfairly treated are encouraged to speak to their teachers or to the head of the department in the first instance. Students may, of course, also wish to seek advice and support from the Counselling Service or from student welfare officers. If the problem cannot be resolved at the departmental level, students may write to the Dean of the Faculty. If the Dean considers it necessary to interview the student on the basis of the student's letter, she or he will arrange to do this.
Values in teaching and learning in the Faculty of Arts

The Faculty is committed to:

• the basic importance of the liberal arts and social sciences for the enrichment of social, cultural and individual life
• critical and open enquiry
• intellectual freedom and academic autonomy together with social responsibility
• provision for cooperative and collegial relationships in teaching and learning
• fairness, honesty and concern for truth, tolerance and mutual respect between teachers and students in all aspects of teaching and learning.

Outcomes of a BA course

Study in the Faculty should lead to the development of:

• an ability to communicate orally and in writing
• an analytical and critical competence in the knowledge, language and forms of argument of several fields of enquiry, and an understanding of the connections between them
• a knowledge of the major theoretical approaches in the relevant fields
• an awareness of cross-cultural issues, involving if possible the study of another language
• an ability to live within a complex intellectual domain, using that domain to criticise familiar contexts and assumptions
• an understanding of ethical issues associated with the acquisition of knowledge
• the capacity to extend the acquired knowledge and skills beyond the university
• Honours graduates are expected to be more knowledgeable in their field, to possess more highly developed conceptual, critical and analytical abilities, and to have more advanced research skills.

Careers for arts graduates

Arts graduates are to be found in all walks of life. Some are administrators, school teachers, psychologists, economists, archaeologists, historians, statisticians, anthropologists, actuaries, geographers, journalists, artists, computer programmers, musicians or librarians; others are chancellors, vice-chancellors and registrars of universities; others, again, are taxi drivers, scuba divers, ambassadors, heads of government departments, or managing directors of major companies. The list is endless. Arts graduates are generally very successful in finding fulfilling employment.

Yet Arts is not a ‘vocational’ faculty. The primary purpose of an arts course is to develop the general powers of the mind, not to equip a graduate with a specific vocational skill.

In practice, most arts graduates need to spend an additional year or more acquiring a vocational qualification that will equip them for their first job. An obvious example of this is the arts graduate who spends time acquiring teacher training before becoming a school teacher. But this requirement is not unique to arts. The aspiring actuary, for example, whether the student be an economics, science, engineering or arts graduate, must obtain practical experience in the field of actuarial work and pass a number of examinations prescribed by the relevant professional association before being permitted to practise in the profession — a process that usually takes several years. Indeed, when one looks at the spectrum of occupations entered by university graduates of all faculties it will be found that relatively few obtain or are qualified to obtain jobs without having to undergo some form of training or further study.

With some exceptions (e.g. medicine) the term ‘career’, as it is customarily used, is misleading. A career is not something one plans for but rather something one looks back on — usually a lifetime of different jobs. One can, of course, plan for one’s first job after graduation — and it is usually advisable to do so — but, beyond that, it is not possible to predict what the future holds in terms of job opportunities and job changes.

Personality, luck and a whole host of other factors determine a graduate’s future but one quality that will enable a graduate to capitalise on an opportunity when it presents itself is an informed and trained mind — the main quality that an arts course is designed to develop in those who take it. An arts course provides the student with the opportunity of acquiring both breadth of knowledge in a number of disciplines and depth of knowledge in one or two.

It is not surprising then to find that arts graduates are well equipped to cope with change and to meet the challenges that different types of jobs and promotion bring. The higher one’s position in any organisation — and a change of job usually involves a shift to a higher position — the more complex the problems one has to deal with become. There may be technical elements in these problems — economic, scientific, engineering — but there will also be other and more important elements — human relations, historical perspective, semantic difficulties, social implications, etc.

People with a liberal arts education are potentially more capable than most other graduates of seeing to the heart of a complex problem and propounding a solution that will encompass, harmoniously, its many facets. Additionally, and most importantly, if they have taken full advantage of their university studies, they will be able to propagate their solutions clearly and simply — both orally and in writing. It is fashionable these days to emphasise the importance of numeracy — and, of course, it is important — but literacy is also important, especially in higher administrative and managerial positions.

Choosing units of study

Arts students have more than fifty subject areas from which to choose the 144 credit points they must complete to qualify for their degree. This cornucopia of units of study can be bewildering to a student, yet it is the student who must make the choice. However, help is available to those who feel they need it — from the Arts Faculty Office in the Western Tower, from members of the academic staff and from the Careers and Appointments Service.

There is no single, simple guide to choosing units of study. This is understandable when one reflects on the diversity of the Faculty and on the diversity of intellectual, cultural and vocational reasons why students choose Arts.
Once the choice has been made the Faculty Office can help with structuring a program of study that will satisfy degree requirements. Some students may plan to become school teachers, in which case they will specialise in what subjects they plan to teach, for example, history, English, Asian and European languages. Others may have a non-teaching profession in mind, for example anthropology, in which case they will specialise in the related subject and perhaps go on to take an honours degree, a higher degree or a postgraduate diploma in the specialisation of their choice. Students combining the BA degree with a degree in law, science, music, social work, commerce or theology might choose units of study which widen their educational horizons and develop their ability to understand and communicate with other people — such as foreign languages, classical and modern literature, units of study in social anthropology, sociology, history, politics and philosophy. Those planning to apply for the graduate medical program would seek advice about the requirements and tailor their BA accordingly. Students who have no immediate vocational objectives might choose to specialise in cultural subjects (for example, fine arts), or in mind-stretching subjects (for example, philosophy) while others again might choose only subjects that interest them (say, archaeology, anthropology), try to excel in them and let the future look after itself.

In almost all Arts units of study controversial matters will be discussed at some stage, and views may be expressed which conflict with widely-held values and beliefs — especially in relation to sex-roles, ethnicity and religion. Students must accept that open and uninhibited debate on important issues is essential in a Faculty of Arts. These ideas about choice are offered with diffidence, partly because they are quite inadequate as a guide to the subject but mainly because the Faculty of Arts does not see its role as that of a training school for students aspiring to particular vocations in life. Rather it sees its role as one of producing educated men and women who, if they wish, can succeed in most fields of work.

Other information relevant to degree candidature

Admission
Admission to all undergraduate degree programs is through UAC, Locked Bag 500, Auburn, N.S.W. 2144, Telephone: 9330 7200. Application forms for non-school-leavers and a telephone application service for school-leavers are available in August; applications close at the end of September. School-leavers are admitted on the basis of the TER. Students with a tertiary record are admitted on the basis of academic merit. Admission to the Diplomas is through the Arts Faculty Office.

Timetable
Details of class times and details of the location of classes are available from the department concerned, and are usually posted on the departmental noticeboard. Students in Junior units of study can collect a computer-produced individual timetable during the Orientation period.

Degree structure: some examples

1. Bachelor of Arts Pass degree
The flexibility of the degree makes it possible either to diversify or specialise in the upper years. The following examples of full-time programs give some indication of this.

Combined degrees

New students undertaking combined degree programs are encouraged to discuss their subject choices with members of the academic staff and student advisers prior to enrolment. Leaflets are available from the Arts Faculty Office setting out further examples of programs.

Prizes and scholarships

The Faculty of Arts awards a large number of prizes and scholarships on the basis of academic merit. For information enquire at the Faculty Office.

Information and advice

Any candidate who wishes to make an application relevant to a degree, or who needs advice as to degree or unit of study requirements should contact the Undergraduate Adviser for the Faculty of Arts. The adviser is located in the Arts Faculty Office in the Western Tower, opposite the Clock Tower in the Main Quadrangle. The Office is normally open for enquiries 10 am to 4pm.

The telephone number is 9351 7111; fax 9351 2045.
Written enquiries should be directed to:
The Undergraduate Adviser
Arts Faculty Office
The University of Sydney
New South Wales 2006

Letters may be placed in the Faculty Mail Box just inside the Arts Faculty Office.

Arts Information Technology Unit
The Arts Information Technology Unit does not provide undergraduate courses but supports lecturers and postgraduate students in their use of technology in teaching and research. It manages the Faculty’s computer network, information technology infrastructure and maintains the three Faculty computer laboratories located in the Language Centre. A number of departments in the Faculty have integrated the use of computers in their courses and regularly use the computer laboratories for teaching, self-study and assessment. The Arts IT Unit conducts research in computer-aided learning and is developing software for major projects such as the Faculty-wide Information Technology in Teaching project and the Computer-assisted Language Learning project. Other projects involve research on the computer-assisted learning process, the use of Email and the Internet in teaching and learning, and the design and administration of a professional Bulletin Board for Humanities and Social Sciences.

Language Centre
The Language Centre is located on Levels 1, 2 and 3 of the Christopher Brennan Building and Level 3 of the Griffith-Taylor Building. It provides language laboratories and audiovisual teaching facilities for language teaching, and in conjunction with the Arts Information Technology Unit, computer laboratories for all departments in the Faculty. There are also facilities for all students and staff of the University to instruct themselves in over 100 languages. The collection is particularly strong in lesser-taught languages including Australian languages, native American languages, African languages and languages of the former Soviet Union. A fee is payable by non-Arts Faculty Staff and students for using these self-instruction facilities.

The Centre is also responsible for running courses in languages which are not covered by other departments. Languages taught through the Language Centre in recent times include Thai, Catalan, Dutch and the modern Celtic languages, and the largest programme currently taught through the Language Centre is Spanish.

The Language Centre also offers, on a fee-paying basis, a two-hour per week German Reading Course in two semester-long units for staff and students needing to learn to read German for research purposes. The reading course is also available to members of the public for a fee.

Access to computers for wordprocessing is available free to Arts students, and to other students for a small fee.

Inquiries about the use of the facilities or about the language courses available in the Centre can be made at the Circulation Desk on Level 2 of the Brennan Building, telephone 9351 2371.

General University Information
For further details about the University — its organisation, examinations, assistance for disabled students, child care facilities, housing, health, counselling, financial assistance, careers advice and a range of other matters — see the separate publication University of Sydney Diary, available free from the Student Centre or from University of Sydney Union outlets.

Enrolment and pre-enrolment
Students entering first year
Details of the enrolment procedures will be sent with the UAC Offer of Enrolment. Enrolment takes place at a specific time and date, depending on your surname and the Faculty in which you are enrolling, but is usually within the last two weeks of January. You must attend the University in person or else nominate, in writing, somebody to act on your behalf. On the enrolment day, you pay the compulsory fees for joining the student Union, the Students' Representative Council and sporting bodies. You also choose your first-year units of study, so it's important to consult the Handbook before enrolling.

All other students
The Student Information Bulletin is sent to all enrolled students in early to mid-October, and contains instructions on the procedure for pre-enrolment.

(Grievances) Appeals
Many decisions about academic and non-academic matters are made each year and you may consider that a particular decision affecting your candidature for a degree or other activities at the University may not have taken into account all the relevant matters. In some cases the by-laws or resolutions of the Senate (see Calendar Volume 1) specifically provide for a right of appeal against particular decisions; for example, there is provision for appeal against academic decisions, disciplinary decisions and exclusion after failure.

Normally a matter should be resolved by discussing it with the academic staff member concerned, or with a senior member of staff within the department. However, a situation could arise where you might wish to have a decision reviewed or to draw attention to additional relevant information. In this case you should put your case in writing to the head of department and if you’re still not satisfied with the result you should contact your Dean. Only after following these steps can you appeal to the Senate. In the case of examination results the appeal may be made to the department. Parking appeals should be addressed to the Manager, Campus Services. You may wish to seek assistance or advice from the SRC regarding an appeal; if so, contact the

Part-time, full-time
A student is normally considered as full-time if they have a HECS weighting of at least .375 per semester. Anything under this amount is considered a part-time study load. Note that some faculties have minimum study load requirements for satisfactory progress.

Privacy and Freedom of Information
The NSW Freedom of Information (FOI) Act 1989 provides the public with a legally enforceable right of access to University documents, subject to particular exemptions. In addition, the Act enables individuals to ensure that information held about them is accurate, up-to-date and complete. The University has a number of policies permitting access by individuals to information about themselves without recourse to the Freedom of Information Act.

The University necessarily accumulates a great deal of information on individuals; within the University, access to this is restricted to staff who need the information to carry out their duties. As regards external requests for personal information, it is policy that the University will disclose information to a third party if the subject of the information has consented in writing to the disclosure, or if the University has a legal obligation to respond to a request, including a subpoena, and the request is in the appropriate written form. Enquiries should be directed to the:

8. Glossary of Terms

Applying for a course
Admissions
The Admissions Office is responsible for overseeing the distribution of offers of enrolment and can advise prospective students regarding admission requirements.

Application
Prospective (intending) students must lodge an application form with the Universities Admissions Centre (UAC) by the last working day of September of the year before enrolment. Note that some faculties, such as Dentistry and Sydney College of the Arts, have additional application procedures.

Mature age
A category of Special Admission applicants who are 21 years or older on 1 March of the year in which they want to study and who do not have the high school qualifications normally required for entry into a course.

Special Admission
Certain categories of applicants, such as mature-age applicants, students who have experienced educational disadvantage or Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander applicants, may apply for admission to the University under one of several Special Admission schemes. Contact the Special Admissions office for further information.

TER
The Tertiary Entrance Rank (TER) is the numerical expression of a student's performance in the NSW Higher School Certificate (HSC), which takes into account both assessment and examination results.

TER cut-off
The TER of the last student admitted to a course. Some courses have a minimum TER.

Universities Admissions Centre (UAC)
The organisation that processes applications for most NSW undergraduate university and TAFE courses.

Enrolment and general terms
Academic year
The period during which teaching takes place, from February to November. The academic year is divided into two semesters.

Advanced standing
(See also: Credit) Recognition of previous experience or studies, meaning that the candidate has satisfied the entry requirements for a unit. Advanced standing does not reduce the number of credit points required to complete the degree course.

Associate Diploma
The undergraduate award granted following successful completion of Associate Diploma course requirements. An Associate Diploma course usually requires less study than a Diploma course.

Assumed knowledge
The level of knowledge expected for entry to a Unit of Study. Unlike prerequisites, levels of assumed knowledge are not compulsory for entry to a Unit. Students who do not have the assumed knowledge may, however, be at a considerable disadvantage and may consider completing a bridging course prior to enrolment. Contact the Learning Assistance Centre, Mathematics Learning Centre, Language Centre or Centre for Continuing Education for further information.

Bachelor's degree
The highest undergraduate award offered at the University of Sydney (other undergraduate awards are Associate Diploma and Diploma). A Bachelor's degree course normally requires three or four years of full-time study (or the part-time equivalent).

Campus
The grounds on which the University is situated. There are eleven campuses of the University of Sydney: Burren Street (Graduate School of Business), Camperdown and Darlington ("Main campus"), Camden (Agriculture and Veterinary Science), Conservatorium (Conservatorium of Music), Camberwell (Health Sciences and Nursing), Mullett Street (Nursing), Orange Agricultural College, Rozelle (Sydney College of the Arts), St James (Law) and Surry Hills (Dentistry).

Chancellor
(See also: Vice-Chancellor) The non-resident head of the University.

Combined degree course
A program consisting of two degree courses taken together, which usually requires less time than if the courses were taken separately.

Core
(See also: Elective/Option) A Unit of Study that is compulsory for the course or subject area.

Corequisite
A Unit of Study that must be taken with a given Unit. If a corequisite is not successfully completed, it becomes a prerequisite for further study in that subject area.

Course
A complete degree or diploma program.

credit
(See also: Advanced standing) Recognition of previous studies or studies completed at another institution. If credit is granted then the number of credit points required for completion of the degree course is reduced.

Credit point
A measure of value indicating the contribution each Unit of Study provides towards meeting course completion requirements stated as total credit point value.

Dean
The head of a faculty.

Deferment of enrolment
Persons who have not previously attended a recognised tertiary institution are normally able to defer commencement of their candidature for one year. Applications are handled by the Admissions Office of the University. Application for deferment must be made during the UAC enrolment week at the "Deferment" desk in MacLaurin Hall and be accompanied by the "offer of enrolment" card.

Degree
The award conferred following successful completion of a degree course (for example Bachelor's degree or Master's degree).

Department/School
The academic unit responsible for teaching in a given subject area.

Diploma
The award granted following successful completion of Diploma course requirements. A Diploma course usually requires less study than a degree course. Graduate Diploma courses are for graduates only.

Doctorate
(See also: PhD) The Doctorate awards and the PhD are the highest awards available at the University of Sydney. A Doctorate course normally involves research and coursework; the candidate submits a thesis that is an original contribution to the field of study. Entry to a Doctorate course often requires completion of a Master's degree course. Note that the Doctorate course is not available in all Departments of the University of Sydney.

Elective/Option
(See also: Core) A Unit of Study that may be taken towards, but is not compulsory for, a course or subject area.

Enrolment
The process whereby an applicant officially accepts the offer of a place in a particular course. If UAC application is successful, an "offer of enrolment" card is mailed to the applicant, along with instructions for enrolment. In most cases, the applicant must attend the University on a particular enrolment day or, if unable to attend, must appoint somebody to enrol on their behalf. Units of Study [for February Semester or whole of First Year?] must be nominated on enrolment day. Academic records and HECS liability calculations are based on the enrolment details, so students must ensure that the Faculty holds correct enrolment information (see also: Variation of enrolment).

Entry requirement
The level of knowledge and/or experience required for entry to a particular Unit of Study.
Faculty
The administrative unit responsible for overseeing satisfactory progress during a degree or diploma course.

Full-time
A study load usually defined in terms of HECS weighting of at least \(0.375\) per semester.

Intermediate
Faculty of Science: Second-year level.

Junior
First-year level.

Laboratory practical
See: Practical.

Lecture
(See also: Tutorial) A class given to a large group of students, during which the lecturer speaks or presents audiovisual material and students take notes.

Major
The subject area(s) in which a student specialises at Senior level. Students usually specialise in one (single major) or two (double major) subject areas. The major is usually recorded on the transcript.

Master's degree
A postgraduate award. Master's degree courses may be offered by coursework, research only or a combination of coursework and research. Entry to the course often requires completion of an Honours year at undergraduate level.

Minor
Subject areas in which a student studies, but does not specialise at Senior level.

Orientation period
"O' Week" takes place during the week prior to lectures in February semester. During O' Week, students can join various clubs, societies and organisations, register for courses with Departments and take part in activities provided by the University of Sydney Union.

Part-time
A study load usually defined in terms of HECS weighting of less than \(0.375\) per semester.

PhD
(See also: Doctorate) The Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) and other Doctorate awards are the highest awards available at the University of Sydney. A PhD course is normally purely research-based; the candidate submits a thesis that is an original contribution to the field of study. Entry to a PhD course often requires completion of a Master's degree course. Note that the PhD course is available in most Departments of the University of Sydney.

Postgraduate
The term used to describe a course leading to an award such as Graduate Diploma, Master's degree or PhD, which usually requires prior completion of a relevant undergraduate degree (or diploma) course. A "postgraduate" is a student enrolled in such a course.

Practical
Similar to a tutorial, during which experiments or other relevant applied activities are carried out.

Prerequisite
A Unit of Study that must be taken prior to entry to a given Unit.

Recommended reading
Reading material that is suggested but not compulsory for a Unit of Study.

Registrar
The head of the administrative divisions of the University.

Registration
In addition to enrolling (with the Faculty) in Units of Study, students must register with the Department responsible for teaching each Unit. This is normally done during the Orientation period (O' Week). Note that unlike enrolment, registration is not a formal record of Units attempted by the student.

Resolutions of Senate
Regulations determined by the Senate of the University of Sydney that pertain to degree and diploma course requirements and other academic matters.

School
Similar to a large Department, otherwise a grouping of Departments.

Semester
A period of fourteen weeks during which teaching takes place. There are two semesters per year for most faculties.

Senior
Second-year level or higher. Faculty of Science: third-year level.

Subject area
One or more Units of Study that comprise a particular field of study (eg Japanese or Chemistry).

Textbook
Reading material that the student is expected to own.

Tutorial
(See also: Lecture) A small class consisting of a tutor and up to about 25 students, during which concepts raised in lectures are discussed in detail and may be supplemented with readings, demonstrations and presentations.

Undergraduate
The term used to describe a course leading to a diploma or Bachelor's degree. An "undergraduate" is a student enrolled in such a course.

Unit of Study
A stand-alone component of a degree or diploma course that is recordable on the academic transcript.

Variation of enrolment
The process whereby students officially notify the Faculty of changes regarding the Units of Study they are attending. This must be done by a certain deadline in each semester, to avoid penalties such as "discontinued" results on the academic transcript (see: Results) or unnecessary HECS charges.

Vice-Chancellor
(See also: Chancellor) The administrative head of the whole University, including academic and administrative divisions.

Costs
Bursary
A sum given to a student who has limited resources or is experiencing financial hardship, ranging from $100 to $1,000.

Fees (full-fee undergraduate/ postgraduate)
Tuition, examination or other fees payable to the University by an enrolled or enrolling student in connection with a course of study or attendance at the University and includes fees payable in respect of the granting of a degree, diploma, associate diploma or other award. It does not include annual subscription to organisations such as the Union or SRC or fees payable in respect of residential accommodation.

HECS
All Australian undergraduate students are currently required to contribute to the cost of tertiary education through the Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS) which is administered under the Higher Education Funding Act 1988. Under HECS students pay for part of the cost of their higher education and the Commonwealth pays the rest. The amount payable is determined by the units of study a student chooses to undertake in the case of coursework awards, or the attendance (full-time or part-time) in the case of research students.

Prize
Matriculation, undergraduate and postgraduate funding automatically awarded on academic results in courses, yearly examinations or on the recommendation of the Head of Department. There are also prizes for essay writing and composition by anonymous application. Prize values range from $100 to $6,250.

Scholarship
Matriculation and undergraduate funding by application awarded on TER results for students enrolling in the first year of a degree course. Postgraduate funding for full-time candidates enrolled in a research degree course with scholarship conditions and benefits varying according to specific awards. The intention is to encourage and support scholarship at the University in general or in targeted areas.
Assessment, Examination, Satisfactory Progress and Graduation

Academic transcript/record
The official record of results for each student (see: Results).

Appeals
The process whereby a student may raise objections regarding results, Faculty decisions or other academic matters.

Assessment
(See also: Examination) The appraisal of a student's ability throughout the semester, by various means such as essays, practical reports or presentations, which counts towards the final mark or grade.

Candidate
Someone studying for a degree or diploma. The term may also be used to describe someone sitting for an examination.

Examination
(See also: Assessment) The appraisal of a student's ability, usually at the end of the semester. Most examinations take place on campus under strictly supervised conditions but some Units make use of take-home or open-book examinations.

Exclusion
A ruling by the Faculty, which declares the student ineligible for further enrolment for reasons such as lack of satisfactory progress. Students who wish to re-enrol must show good cause why they should be allowed to re-enrol (see: Show cause and Satisfactory progress).

Grievances
see appeals

Grade
A category into which a student's final mark falls (see: Results).

Graduand
A person who has fulfilled the requirements of a degree but is yet to graduate.

Graduate
(See also: Postgraduate) A person who has graduated. Also a term used to describe a course leading to an award such as Master's degree or PhD or a student enrolled in such as course.

Graduation
The ceremony during which degrees are conferred and diplomas awarded.

Honours degree
A Bachelor's degree for which extra work (course work and/or thesis) has been completed, usually requiring an extra year of study.

Mark
(See also: Grade) The numerical result of assessments and/or examinations for a Unit of Study, which may be converted to a grade.

Pass degree
A Bachelor's degree.

Re-enrolment
The process by which continuing students enrol in Units of Study.

Results
The official statement of the student's performance in each Unit of Study attempted, as recorded on the academic transcript, usually expressed as a grade:

- High Distinction: a mark of 85% and above
- Distinction: a mark of 75-84%
- Credit: a mark of 65-74%
- Pass: a mark of 50-64%

Terminating Pass: whereby the student is deemed to have completed Unit requirements, but is not permitted to re-enrol in order to attempt to achieve a higher grade.

Fail: a mark of less than 50%

Withdrawn: This is the same as if the candidate had not enrolled in the course concerned. Although the University has a record of the withdrawal, the course and result will not appear on the official academic transcript. There is no HECS liability either. In order to have a course recorded as "withdrawn", notice must be given by the candidate to the Faculty office on or before the deadline. Refer to the section on degree regulations.

Discontinued with Permission: This does not count as an attempt at the particular course, but does appear on the candidate's academic record. A candidate may have enrolment recorded as "discontinued with permission" where: 1. notice is given to the faculty office on or before the deadline; or 2. after the deadline, evidence is produced of serious illness or misadventure. Refer to the section on degree regulations for deadlines. Discontinuation with permission does not mean that the student's progress is considered to be satisfactory.

Discontinued: This counts as an unsuccessful attempt at the course concerned and appears on the candidate's academic record. Where notice is given after the deadline for "discontinued with permission" but before the last day of lectures for the course, the result is "Disc.".

Refer to the section on degree regulations for deadlines.

Absent Fail: If the candidate misses the deadline for "discontinued" and does not sit the final exam, the result is "absent fail".

Satisfactory progress
A minimum standard of performance required for continuation of enrolment. Senate resolutions rule that if a student fails or discontinues a year of candidature or a Unit of Study more than once then he or she is ineligible for re-enrolment (see: Exclusion and Satisfactory progress). Note that some faculties may have alternative or additional requirements for satisfactory progress.

Show cause
The Faculty may require a student to show good cause why he or she may be allowed to continue in the degree or diploma course, where requirements for satisfactory progress have not been met (see: Exclusion and Satisfactory progress).

Special consideration
The process whereby enrolled students who have experienced significant educational disadvantage may have their assessment deadlines or grades revised.

Study Vacation (Stuvac)
The week prior to the examination period in each semester, during which no classes are held.

Supplementary examination
An extra or alternative examination taken by a student who has experienced significant educational disadvantage during semester or the examination period. Note that some faculties do not offer supplementary examinations (see also: Special consideration).

Suspension of candidature
A complete break in the studies of an enrolled student, usually for a period of one year. Applications are handled by the Faculty office. (Those wishing to postpone commencement of a course need to apply for deferment; see: Deferment of enrolment).

Testamur
The document given to the graduand at graduation.

Thesis
A piece of written work (sometimes called a dissertation) by a student, normally a candidate for an Honours degree or a higher award (such as Master's degree or PhD).

Weighted Average Mark (WAM)
A numerical expression of a student's performance throughout their degree program, usually assigning more "weight" to Senior or Honours years. Note that the WAM calculation may differ for purposes such as eligibility to various scholarships and will vary from faculty to faculty.
