My second semester project:
The city of New York is dense and exciting, with many buildings compressed together in the city centre. The population is numerous and there are many overwhelming and immense buildings. This understanding of the city helped me to develop my concept of a church and surrounding public park by the river. This idea of a quiet space is luxurious in the city of New York where the lifestyle is extremely busy and streets almost always crowded. As well as being an enjoyable place to relax, My site helps to produce a congregation of local office workers to decrease the anonymity on the streets of New York and make local workers feel comfortable and at home.
