What is a handbook?
The handbook is an official publication and an essential guide for every student who studies at the University of Sydney. It is an important source of enrolment information. It can also help you with more than just planning your course of study.

As a student at the University of Sydney you need to be aware of course structures and content, who your lecturers are, as well as examination procedures.

You should also become familiar with University policies and faculty rules and regulations. The handbook will supply a lot of this information.

It will also point you to places and people around the University who can help with enquiries about library loans, child care, fees, casual employment, places to eat and stay, support groups and much more.

What new students need to know
• terminology used for courses and programs of study
• semester dates and examination periods
• important contact details
• how to plan your study program
• rules and policies on assessment, satisfactory progression, honours, and so on
• what University services are available and where to find them
• how to get around campus.

At the beginning of many of these chapters there will be explanations to help you proceed further.

Where to find information

Course terminology
University terminology, such as ‘credit point’, ‘unit of study’, and ‘WAM’, can be found in the Abbreviations and Glossary chapters, at the back of this handbook.

Dates
The start and finish dates of semester can be found in the front section of the handbook. Summer and Winter School dates are in the General University section at the back of the handbook.

For Block Mode course dates please contact the Koori Centre directly.

Contents and index
The comprehensive Contents section at the front of the handbook explains the details you’ll find within each chapter.

You’ll find information like:
• how and where to contact faculty staff
• how to select your units of study and programs
• a list of degrees
• detailed information on all units of study, classified by unit identifiers (a four-alpha, four-digit code and a title)
• electives and streams
• scholarships and prizes
• information specific to faculties.

The Index lists units of study only. It allows you to check every reference which refers to your unit of study within the handbook. It is divided into two parts, and lists units of study alphabetically (by course name) and again by course code (alphanumeric).

Colour-coded sections
• Ivory – for undergraduate courses
• Blue – for postgraduate courses

Faculty rules and regulations
Faculty resolutions are the rules and regulations pertaining to a specific faculty. They can generally be found in their own chapter, or next to the relevant units of study.

These should be read along with the University’s own Coursework Rule 2000 (as amended) which can be found in the Essential information for students chapter near the end of this book. Together they outline the agreement between student and faculty, and student and University.

General University information
This is information about the University in general, rather than information specific to the faculty. This information is at the back of the book and includes, among other things:
• University terminology and abbreviations
• campus maps to help you find your way around
• Summer and Winter School information
• international student information
• student services.

Course planner
You might like to plot the course of your degree as you read about your units of study. Use the planner at the back of this handbook.

Timetables
For information about personal timetables, centrally timetabled units of study, and venue bookings, see: www.usyd.edu.au/studentcentre/timetabling.shtml

For the session calendar, see: http://web.timetable.usyd.edu.au/calendar.jsp

Students with a disability
For accessible (word, pdf and html) versions of this document, see: www.usyd.edu.au/handbooks/handbooks_disability

You can find information on Disability Services in the General University information section of the handbook. The service can provide information regarding assistance with enrolment and course requirement modifications where appropriate.

For details on registering with the service and online resources, see the Disability Services website: www.usyd.edu.au/disability

Handbook updates
The information in this handbook is current at the time of publication. Further information on University policies, such as plagiarism and special consideration, can be found on the University’s website, along with official handbook amendments.

Feedback regarding this handbook is welcome.

Vice-Chancellor's message

The University of Sydney has an outstanding international reputation for the quality of its teaching and research. It is a place that values its students, drawn as they are from across the country and across the world.

The Koori Centre on the Camperdown Campus, and Yooroong Garang on the Cumberland campus both provide outstanding support for students drawn from Australia’s first peoples. The staff of these units help students with everything from additional tutorial support, to advice on taking advantage of all the opportunities that the University has to offer.

More generally, the University has several scholarships for Indigenous students that can help you financially during your time at the University.

If you are thinking about a university course, do come and visit us, or make contact with either the Koori Centre or Yooroang Garang.

We are proud to count Charles Perkins, the first Indigenous Australian university graduate and an inspirational figure, amongst our alumni. Since his days at the University, our community of Indigenous students has continued to grow, and we are keen to welcome you to the University.

I hope that you will see how intellectually rewarding, and fun, time spent as a student at Sydney can be!

Dr Michael Spence
Vice-Chancellor and Principal
Welcome from the Director

On behalf of the academic and administrative staff I welcome you to the Koori Centre.

In welcoming you I’d like to acknowledge the traditional owners of the Country on which the University of Sydney and the Koori Centre stands: the Cadigal people of the Eora Nation.

The Koori Centre is fortunate to have many outstanding teachers, who have dedicated their careers to improving educational outcomes for Indigenous Australian people. They keep abreast of educational practices for Indigenous learners, and strive to inform non-Indigenous people of the practices and principles of attitudinal change that will contribute towards a more cohesive community of Australians.

The Centre prides itself on its research-intensive culture and the teaching staff are highly regarded as academics with specialised knowledge in Aboriginal education and affairs.

Along with their close relationships with Indigenous Australian communities, they are highly sought-after by local, state and federal committees for contributions to important policy development and practice.

Their involvement and commitment plays a significant role in providing opportunities for students to learn about new issues and developments.

The Koori Centre is blessed with friendly, helpful and committed administrative staff, who deal with the day to day operations of the Centre as well as providing support for staff and students. They are responsible for assisting prospective students and Indigenous and non-Indigenous students of the University.

Support includes administration of the Cadigal Special Entry Scheme; an Academic Skills Program; and the Indigenous Tutorial Assistance Scheme.

The Koori Centre is one of the largest Indigenous Australian centres in the country and has a long and distinguished history of promoting equity of access, improving participation and educational outcomes for students.

The Koori Centre provides policy advice, administrative services, and most importantly student support. In addition, our Indigenous Australian research library is accessible to all students.

The Koori Centre is a cultural haven for Indigenous Australian students, helping them find their place within the many faculties of the University. It also provides them with a computer lab and a common room where they can study, meet, or just relax and have a yarn.

I know you will enjoy studying at the University of Sydney and hope you utilise the abundant facilities, services and opportunities available to you. The Koori Centre is here to support Indigenous students and non-Indigenous students who are interested in Indigenous Australian Studies.

Enjoy your learning journey, as it will be one that you remember for the rest of your life. I wish you all the best with your study and in your future endeavours.

Janet Mooney
Director, Koori Centre
About the University

The University of Sydney is Australia’s oldest university. It was founded in 1850 on a hilltop in the land of the Cadigal people. Lake Northam, an important gathering place for the first people of the land, now forms the centrepiece of Victoria Park just outside the University gates.

Commencing studies with three professors and a little over 30 students in 1852, the University currently has more than 40,000 students and over 2200 teaching staff. University of Sydney graduates have distinguished themselves in all sectors of Australian society and throughout the world, and include several prominent Indigenous leaders and achievers.

The University of Sydney has a strong involvement in the history of Australia’s Indigenous peoples. From the scholarship of early anthropologists, through student activism in the Freedom Rides of the 1960s and on into the present, it has become a leading educator and trainer of Indigenous professions, establishing one of the first identified courses in an Australian university.

The University of Sydney has a clear commitment to its strategic plan for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, which features consultations with and participation by Indigenous Australians in all aspects of the University. Most importantly, the University is strongly dedicated to its goal of increasing the number of Indigenous Australian students studying at the University of Sydney.

Koori Centre

Our challenge is to continue to foster innovative educational activity. We will achieve our objectives by developing our teaching expertise through appropriate strategies and technological inputs, the expansion of our research activity, and increased student and community involvement and interaction.

Our Strategic Directions are designed to present our goals, related strategies and projected actions. In the pursuit of educational excellence we will continue to build partnerships, internally and externally to the University and with Aboriginal communities.

Our vision

To be a centre of excellence in Indigenous Australian higher education

Statement of commitment

To provide and promote high quality culturally appropriate and effective learning and teaching, research and support services for Indigenous Australians and the community at the University of Sydney.

Meet some of our students

Adam Ridgeway

Bachelor of Visual Arts

My name is Adam Ridgeway and I am at the Sydney College of the Arts studying my Bachelor of Visual Arts, Object Art and Design (Honours). After four years of study at Sydney, I have found that it’s really not just about getting a degree, it’s about finding out where you want to go and what you really enjoy in life.

Since I began my course in 2005, I have been able to engage with my Aboriginality and use my work as a means to express the concerns and issues that are effecting a new generation of Aboriginal people. I would never have thought that I would be exhibiting around Australia and internationally when I was at school, but I guess it wouldn’t have meant as much to me if I’d known exactly what I wanted to do then.

I have been on the ITAS tuition scheme and it has been crucial to reaching, maintaining and pushing the results I have received. My work has been exhibited in competitions such as the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Award in Darwin, the Gold Coast International Art Award and the 4th World International Ceramic Biennale in Korea to name a few.

The most important thing I have come to realise is that tutoring is not for people who are failing, but for people who want to achieve and perform beyond their current level.

Being able to live at International House (an international college on campus) has enriched my whole university experience. My studies have been able to help me understand that as a new generation of Indigenous students, we have to think whether a black or white approach is the way in which to catagorise ourselves.

We all come from so many different backgrounds and cultures, and programs such as AIME are crucial in that they acknowledge the complex cultural makeup of kids today and how important they are for the future understanding and interpretation of Aboriginal culture in Australia.

The most important thing about the Koori Centre is that they have been there at the University for me. It doesn’t matter who you are, what you are studying or what your aspirations are, there is always someone there to talk to and to help you achieve whatever it is that you set out to do.

Kia Brown

Bachelor of Veterinary Science

My name is Kia Brown and I am a descendent of the Garawa people of north-east Arnhem Land. When I was at school I never thought I had what it took to get into university, so I dropped out after finishing Year 10. After a few years working dead-end jobs, I realised that the only thing that was standing in my way was me.

So, I enrolled in TAFE and am proud to say that I received my HSC last year, aged 21. Not knowing anything about how to get into university and how the whole selection process worked, I went into the Koori Centre and the staff were extremely helpful, pointing me in the right direction.

I have always wanted to work with Australian native animals and I decided that the best way to achieve this is to become a vet. Thanks to the help of everyone at the Koori Centre, I am now in the first year of my Veterinary Science degree.

I found the first semester a bit overwhelming, as Vet Science is a full-time, five-day-a-week course, and I also travel an hour each way to uni everyday. But now that I have settled in to the workload, I am finding this semester a lot easier to cope with. Through the Koori Centre, I have also met many other Indigenous students in the same situation as me, starting uni a bit later than most. It’s great to be surrounded by people from a similar background who understand what you are going through.

My message to anyone who dreams of doing something that has always seemed out of reach, is that believing in yourself is half the battle. Once you believe you can do it, anything is possible.

Linden Allen

Diploma in Education (Aboriginal)

My name is Linden Allan, I am a Murrmerang woman from the South Coast of NSW in Ulladulla.

I have always enjoyed working with kids and being the Aboriginal Education Assistant at Ulladulla Public School is so rewarding. When I was offered the opportunity to become an Aboriginal Studies teacher it seemed like a dream.

I never finished high school because of personal issues, so I went straight into the workforce where my first job was working in a pre-school. Being given this second chance to attend university, while still being able to spend most of my time in my community and with my family, is a perfect way for me to pursue my educational goals and career.

The Koori Centre is so helpful in assisting you with all your needs. They are always there to help with any questions and support. University is not as scary when you have the Koori Centre helping, supporting and pushing you through.
Ryan Bulger

Bachelor of Education (Secondary: Human Movement and Health Education)

Hi my name is Ryan Bulger and I am a Koori man from the Wiradjuri country of NSW.

In 2006 I was approached by the University Sport Union to come to Sydney and play cricket for the University. I was living in Canberra at the time and was looking to improve my chances to play cricket as a professional. I took up the offer and later that year moved to Sydney and worked for the NSW Cricket association. During the summer, the sports union suggested I should study. Not having done well at school and not having done any study for around eight years, I was quite apprehensive to say the least, but with great support from the Koori Centre at the University, I was able to apply and get in.

Now in 2009, I am in my third year of a Bachelor of Human Movement degree, enjoying University life and looking forward to graduating next year and furthering myself as an educator - not only for Indigenous Australian students but also non-Indigenous students.

Caroline Bradshaw

Master of Indigenous Languages Education

Hi (Dhanggu nyuwayi Caroline Bradshaw), my name is Caroline Bradshaw (Ngaya Dhanggati), I am Dhanggati. Dhanggati country is one of the prettiest places on the North Coast and homes the Macleay Valley, Kempsey, South West Rocks, and Bellbrook areas.

I am the eldest daughter of seven children born to Ellis and Jacqueline Bradshaw. I was born at Macksville just off country as my mum and dad lived at Warrell Creek, but now live back home in Kempsey. I am a very proud mother of three boys and grandmother of four grandsons and almost three granddaughters.

My education started at Green Hill Public School at the age of five in 1965, while living with my mum’s sister’s family at Green Hill Aboriginal Reserve, a fringe dwelling just out of Kempsey. My family then moved into Kempsey town and I attended Kempsey West Public School. The move was a huge step for my family as we were moving away from the security of extended family and placed in a street with no other Aboriginal people. The new school was so scary, it was the first year Aboriginal children were allowed to attend with non-Aboriginal children in Kempsey and none of my cousins started with me. It was mainly all white people and I had to catch a bus as well. One good thing came from the move, I met my very best friend Lucy, a non-Aboriginal girl (blood sister for life). Lucy lived up the road and was in my class at school. She helped me deal with all the hardships of racism other people and kids inflicted upon me, including members of her own family.

My High School years saw me at Kempsey High and with the encouragement of one of my teachers, I went through to 1st term of year 11. I was aiming to finish year 12, but I was the only Aboriginal student in that year and I found the isolation too hard to continue, so I moved on to TAFE enrolling in an office training course. On completion of the course I worked for a little while with the Aboriginal Land Council and then travelled to Sydney with my partner and found myself working for The Department of Aboriginal Affairs (DAA) at North Sydney as a Clerical Assistant.

The birth of my eldest son and the fact that my mother took him and wouldn’t give him back, saw us return home to Kempsey. I started work as a Field Officer at DAA Port Macquarie Office. Two years later I was pregnant with my second son. It was after the birth of my baby (third son) and the fact that I wanted to be home when my sons were home that I started working for The Department of Education at Green Hill Public School as an Aboriginal Education Assistant (AEA). With my permanent appointment in 1990 came my enrollment at The University of Sydney, Koori Centre, AEA Certificate and Diploma Program. It’s with thanks to the staff at the Koori Centre, for enabling me to continue my studies at the Australian Catholic University, where I gained my Bachelor of Teaching in 1996.

Looking back on my own struggles and the struggles of our young people today, I feel there is a need, not only to revive our languages but revive to our people those values that once saw our people as a danger to the invaders. It is so important to our own identity and self esteem that respect, pride, language and culture is once again valued.

It is because of these reasons that I have enrolled in the Masters of Indigenous Languages Education. I believe so many of our adults and children are lost and find it hard to cope in today’s society. Our children’s inner strength, identity, pride and respect are the things that they need to survive in a world where they are so outcast within their own country.

This course provides me with the skills I need to decipher the written languages of linguists. It allows me the opportunity to investigate good teaching practices for teaching language. It also provides me with the opportunity to see how Aboriginal languages work (e.g. language phonetics, sentence structure etc.) and the advantages/disadvantages of technology.

I see myself as a tool for the people of the Dhanggati nation, using what I have learnt within this course to support my people in their struggle to revitalise our language.

Janette Saunders

Bachelor in Education (Secondary: Aboriginal Studies)

My name is Janette Saunders and I’m in my third year of a Bachelor of Education (Secondary: Aboriginal Studies) degree. I had always dreamed of furthering my career and have found that the flexibility offered by Block Mode has enabled this to happen.

The Koori Centre at Sydney University has given me the opportunity to fulfil family and work commitments, while remaining active in my community of Tweed Heads. As a mature age student, with a family still studying, I would recommend this path to anyone wishing to enhance their options.

Travelling to uni six times a year is a small price and inconvenience to pay for a life-changing experience. Time management skills are probably the best asset to have in order to be most effective in work and study.

Subjects studied at the Koori Centre are relevant to course detail and the content is of a high standard and up to date. Lecturers are amazingly supportive and have made me feel comfortable in a caring learning environment. It’s almost as if they’re travelling the journey with you, sharing in your triumphs and goals. Their understanding of the diversity of student backgrounds and lifestyles is what allows for success, as teaching is substantial and learning needs are met.

From the very beginning I have been encouraged and supported by all staff, which has enabled me to apply for and win scholarships, including having my HECS paid for. Tutoring is also available while at uni and home.

My time at the Koori Centre has seen me grow in many ways and I’m sure I will miss my ‘uni family’ when I graduate.
Kristy Kennedy

Bachelor of Laws

My name is Kristy Kennedy, I am 25 years old, and I am from the Barkinji (north-west NSW) and Ngarrendjeri (Coast of SA) Nations. I was born and raised in Bourke where I did most of my schooling, before attending boarding school at St Scholastica’s College in Glebe, where I completed my HSC.

My mother insisted that I return to Bourke for 12 months, and during this time I worked as an Aboriginal Teacher’s Aide at my old primary school. Upon entering university, I enrolled for a combined Bachelor of Arts/Law degree through the Koori Centre’s Cadigal Program.

I lived on campus at the Women’s College for the first few years, then I moved into private accommodation while I worked for the NSW Attorney General’s Department and studied part-time.

In 2006, I completed a Winter Clerkship with a large corporate law firm, Allens Arthur Robinson, and at the end of 2006, I commenced a cadetship with the firm under the National Indigenous Cadetship Program.

The cadetship involved me working full-time during my summer vacation (12 weeks) at Allens Arthur Robinson, and receiving a study allowance during Semester 1 and 2 of the University calendar.

I recently graduated from my Bachelor of Arts with a major in Aboriginal Studies, and I am now completing my Bachelor of Laws. I have returned to live at the Women’s College and am enjoying the opportunity to return to full-time study without financial pressure to engage in employment that is not essential to my study.

I’m very fortunate that during my study, I received tremendous support from family and friends, the Koori Centre, the Women’s College, the University of Sydney Law Faculty, and from legal professionals who act as my mentors.

University is a wonderful environment in which to be challenged academically, but it also provides you with essential life skills to cope with the wider experiences that all students face upon entering the workforce as graduates. I have struggled through my studies for personal and financial reasons, but due to the wonderful support that I received, I have been able to continue studying, with the goal of completing my Bachelor of Laws now in sight. On completion of my Bachelor of Laws, I will endeavour to enter the legal profession.

I encourage any student to consider opportunities that are presented to them, including tertiary study. Attending university was not something that I really thought about, but now that I reflect back on when I first enrolled, I can appreciate all of my experiences, and the opportunities that university has presented me – opportunities that I had never dreamed of.

Koori Centre – in conjunction with the Faculty of Arts

Indigenous Australian Studies is a multidisciplinary field aimed at providing students with an understanding of the major issues impacting Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

Units of study focus on: the writing of Indigenous histories; Indigenous cultures, economics, politics and health; the nature of European colonisation and the status of Indigenous Australians in contemporary Australian society; Indigenous writing; the relationship to the Australian justice system; religions; performing and visual arts; language and literature; archaeology and contemporary cultural heritage and ethnographic issues.

The Koori Centre coordinates the Indigenous Australian Studies major of the Bachelor of Arts and teaches core units of study within this program. The centre also teaches Indigenous Australian Studies subjects within other faculties as electives and compulsory subjects.

To enrol in Introduction to Indigenous Australia (KOCR2600), 18 junior credit points are required. This unit of study is also a prerequisite for most other (KOCR) units of study. Check the unit of study outlines for prerequisite and corequisite details.

For an Indigenous Australian Studies major, students must complete 36 credit points of Indigenous Australian Studies. This can include up to 18 credit points of cross-listed units of study.

Enrolment and registration

Students enrol in the Indigenous Australian Studies major through the Faculty of Arts. Students will be allocated tutorial sessions automatically as part of the enrolment procedure online.

Advice on units of study

The Koori Centre office is open for enquiries in September/October for enrolment information, and during the SWOT/ O-Week period. The Koori Centre can provide information regarding the Indigenous Australian Studies major, as well as specific information on the units offered through the Koori Centre.

For further information call +61 2 9351 6113 or check our website: www.koori.usyd.edu.au/studying/aborig_studies.shtml.

Student support

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students are enrolled in a variety of degrees at the University of Sydney including: Medicine, Music, Arts, Law, Education, Veterinary Science, Social Work, Science, Engineering, Visual Arts, and Rural Management.

The Koori Centre encourages increased enrolments, and supports current students in their studies by providing:

- The Cadigal Special Entry Program
- information and advice on enrolment and courses
- ITAS tutoring to suit particular needs
- study facilities for independent study, including access to computers and photocopiers
- an Indigenous Research Library
- common room, courtyard and kitchen for student use
- assistance with housing and financial matters
- scholarships.

Cadigal Special Entry Program

The Cadigal Program is a University-wide access and support program for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who want to study for their first degree at the University of Sydney. The program is open to:

- people aged under 21 who have completed the NSW Higher School Certificate or an equivalent examination (HSC applicants);
- people over 21 years of age (Mature Age applications).

Both HSC applicants and Mature Age applicants should submit a Cadigal Program application to the Koori Centre before the end of November. They must also submit an Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank (ATAR) application by the end of September showing their preferred course/s at the University of Sydney.

HSC applicants are considered for entry on the basis of their:

- Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) score
- individual subject results.

All Mature Age applicants are assessed by staff of the Koori Centre to assess their suitability for study at the University and to determine the particular course/s they wish to enter. The interview panel considers each application on the basis of three main areas:

- educational background
- life and employment experiences
- evidence of motivation and goals & interest in courses selected.

Students admitted through the Cadigal Program may be offered enrolment with a full-time course load or reduced load and Academic Skills support. Students with a reduced load may still be eligible for full-time Abstudy.
Courses for Indigenous Australian students

Block-mode programs (away from base)

Academic Coordinator:
Ms Lynette Riley
Koori Centre
Old Teachers College Building, A22
University of Sydney
NSW 2006 Australia
Phone: +61 2 9351 2046
Fax: +61 2 9351 6923

- Master of Indigenous Languages Education
- Diploma of Indigenous Languages Education
- Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education
- Bachelor of Education (Secondary: Aboriginal Studies)
- Diploma in Education (Aboriginal)

Please note: These courses are for Indigenous Australian students only. In block-mode (away-from-base) courses, students attend six week-long sessions each year on campus at the Koori Centre. The remainder of the course is completed independently at home. They are full-time courses.

Graduate Certificate/Diploma/Master of Indigenous Languages Education

These Indigenous Languages Education courses are designed to meet the need for qualified Indigenous Australian instructors to participate in the delivery of language-teaching programs in a range of educational settings.

The graduate certificate is completed in one semester, the graduate diploma in one and a half years, and the master’s degree a full year.

Entry to the Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education requires that candidates have successfully completed two years towards a teaching qualification, that is: the Diploma in Education (Aboriginal), or equivalent.

Entry to the Graduate Diploma of Indigenous Languages Education requires that candidates have successfully completed the Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education.

Entry to the Master of Indigenous Languages Education requires that candidates have completed either:

- a four-year teaching qualification, such as a Bachelor of Education, or a three year degree and a Diploma of Education, or
- the Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education with an average mark of 70 per cent or higher.

In some cases it may be possible for candidates with similar but different qualifications to be granted admission.

Bachelor of Education (Secondary: Aboriginal Studies)

Bachelor of Education (Secondary: Aboriginal Studies) is a four-year degree giving students a secondary teaching qualification majoring in Aboriginal Studies and History.

Diploma in Education (Aboriginal)

The Diploma in Education (Aboriginal) is a two-year course which offers students intensive education skills training.
3. Undergraduate study

Koori Centre role within the University

The Koori Centre is committed to furthering knowledge and understanding of Indigenous Australian issues across a wide range of disciplines including education, history, health, and literature. Our aim is to activate students’ interests in Indigenous Australia through our innovative and engaging teaching, which draws on the diversity of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander scholarship and cultural production. The Koori Centre strives to create an inclusive yet challenging space which encourages students to think deeply about Indigenous cultures, societies, and experiences in Australia’s past, present and future.

Indigenous Australian Studies is a dynamic field open to students from any discipline. After undertaking our compulsory unit of study, KOCR2600: Introduction to Indigenous Australia, students may enrol in a range of electives encompassing creative arts, gender studies, health, history, and politics. The Koori Centre is also committed to the enhancement of Indigenous Australian educational outcomes so offers a Diploma and Bachelor of Education to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students. We also offer a number of units of study on Indigenous Education to any student enrolled in a Bachelor of Education.

Previous students have asserted that undertaking Indigenous Australian Studies was a challenging and rewarding experience, raising their awareness of our society which has influenced their everyday lives and transformed their thinking about a range of issues, not exclusively limited to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

The knowledge and critical skills developed through undertaking Indigenous Australian Studies ensures that our graduates easily secure employment in a range of fields including policy-making, government, teaching and nursing.

The Koori Centre provides a broad range of academic and support services for the University of Sydney community, including teaching, research, marketing, administrative support and community outreach.

The Koori Centre’s core business encompasses:

• academically strong and innovative mixed-mode educational programs for Indigenous Australian students
• culturally appropriate and relevant academic and social support services for Indigenous Australian students
• teaching of Indigenous Australian Studies to a high level of academic excellence
• expertise in the area of community consultation and liaison and student recruitment
• culturally relevant, collaborative and ethical research
• providing cultural awareness workshops.

Policies and general information

Assignments

All assignments must have a Koori Centre cover sheet and a Plagiarism Declaration attached. These are available from outside the Administration Office (room U224), Old Teachers College and also online at: www.koori.usyd.edu.au/studying/aborig_studies.shtml (look on that page under Forms).

Assignments must be submitted at the Koori Centre in the appropriate Assignment Box. Assignment Boxes are allocated to specific Units of Study or degrees. Please ensure you place your assignment in the correct box. If unsure please ask a staff member.

It is your responsibility to keep a copy of your assignment. If your assignment is misplaced or lost, you will be expected to produce a copy of your assignment within a specified period.

Marked assignments can be collected from the Koori Centre via your unit of study coordinator. Collection details may vary from unit to unit so please check with your tutor. Emails notifying you of collections times will also be sent to your university email address, so make sure you check your emails.

Under University regulations, assignments not collected within three months can be disposed of. Students wanting their assignments posted to them must make arrangements with their tutor in advance and supply postage paid, self-addressed envelopes.

Format

Your assignment paper must be typed or word processed and printed on office standard plain paper in a 12 point font. Your text should be presented with 1.5 line spacing, numbered pages, and margins of 2.5cm (1 inch) on all sides for written comments from your marker. All assignments should be stapled in the top left corner. Do not place your assignment in a plastic cover of any kind.

Classes and attendance

Important: It is expected that you will attend all classes, and in keeping with University of Sydney policy, you are required to attend 90 per cent of your tutorials. Rolls will be taken in both lectures and tutorials. If possible you should supply documentary evidence explaining your absence, and notify your tutor in advance. Attendance below 50 per cent, regardless of the reasons for the absences, will result in the student being deemed not to have fulfilled the requirements of the Unit of Study.

Each week you will attend lecture/s, and a tutorial, for the Unit of Study.

Efforts are made to avoid timetabling clashes but it is not possible to eliminate them completely. Students who have clashes with classes should consult the relevant teaching staff in the departments concerned and acquaint themselves with the departmental policies regarding attendance before they make a decision about how to deal with such clashes. Students must be aware that ultimately they are responsible for the consequences of any decision they make.

Students who decide to continue with both Units of Study must check that the relevant teaching staff are made aware of their intention.
Furthermore, students should note that they may not use a timetable clash to gain, for instance, special consideration, negotiate due dates, or miss in-class testing.

Students should be advised that they need to keep in mind the final dates for changing or withdrawing from Units of Study so that they do not incur penalties or additional HECS.

Complaints and grievances

Students who believe they have been unfairly treated are encouraged to speak to their tutors or to the Academic Coordinator of the Koori Centre in the first instance. Students may, of course, also wish to seek advice and support from the Counselling Service or from student welfare officers. If the problem cannot be resolved at the departmental level, students may write to the Dean, care of the Faculty Office.

Timetables

Details of class times and locations are available from the department concerned, and are usually posted on the departmental noticeboard. All students will have access to their timetable via the Internet. Details about access will be provided at enrolment.

For advice about timetable clashes, see Classes and attendance

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the theft of intellectual property.

The Academic Board of the University of Sydney has defined plagiarism as "presenting another person's ideas, findings or work as your own by copying or reproducing it without due acknowledgement of the source".

Plagiarism includes presenting oral or written work that contains sentences, paragraphs or longer sections from published work, including internet articles, newspapers and magazines, without acknowledgement. Plagiarism also occurs when a student borrows, buys or obtains another person's work and submits it as their own work or re-submits a previously submitted assessment task in a different unit of study.

The Koori Centre is opposed to and will not tolerate plagiarism and will treat all cases of student plagiarism seriously. Assessment tasks suspected of plagiarism will be forwarded to the Koori Centre Academic Coordinator for judgement on the penalties to be imposed. Such penalties can include a Fail grade in a particular assessment task or unit of study or, in a worst-case scenario, expulsion from the University.

For more information on plagiarism in coursework, see the University's website: www.usyd.edu.au/senate/policies/Plagiarism.pdf

Special Consideration

The Koori Centre recognises that unforeseeable circumstances, such as serious ill-health or misadventure can negatively impact on a student's academic performance.

If you feel that circumstances outside of your control have affected your performance, please consult your Lecturer in Charge or see www.edsw.usyd.edu.au/current_students/assistance_forms where you will find further information on the University's Special Consideration policy and obtain the application form.

Appeals

If you are unhappy with the mark you received for an assessment you should first speak to your tutor or the marker of that assessment item. If you are still dissatisfied you may make an appeal to the unit of study coordinators who will arrange for your work to be re-marked by a different examiner. If further action is required, contact the Koori Centre’s Academic Coordinator. Note that to ensure fairness in marking, all assignments which receive either a fail or a high distinction grade are second-marked.

Appeals against results

A written request to the department or school should be made by the candidate. It is expected that appeals will be lodged within two months unless there is a good reason for delay. As examination scripts are destroyed six months after examination, no appeal can be made after that time. Such requests are considered by the Koori Centre in consultation with relevant members of the faculty and the Koori Centre. A report and recommendation is then submitted to the Director for consideration and final decision.

Extensions

Extensions can only be granted by the Lecturer in Charge of a unit of study. Requests for extensions must be submitted in writing on a ‘Request for Extension’ form before the due date. A copy of this form has been included in this handbook. It can also be obtained from the Administration Office (room U224), or from www.koori.usyd.edu.au. Completed forms must be given to the Lecturer in Charge for approval. A copy of the approved ‘Request for Extension’ must be attached to your assignment when it is handed in.

It is your responsibility to ensure your application has been approved. Simply writing a request does not guarantee that an extension will be granted. Extensions are normally for a few days. If an extension of over one week is required you must supply documentation (eg a medical certificate or counsellor's statement). Note that being in full-time work, or having several assignments due at the same time, does not constitute grounds for an extension.

Penalties for late submissions

Late submission of assignments without an extension will incur a penalty of two per cent of the total possible mark for each working day that they are late. Assignments submitted more than 10 working days after the due date without an extension will be further penalised and can only achieve a maximum Pass mark of 50 per cent. Any assignment submitted after the marked assignments have been returned will automatically receive a Fail mark of zero. It is the responsibility of the student to contact the Lecturer in Charge prior to late submission, to discuss the situation and apply for an extension.
Language and representation

The Koori Centre recognises and values cultural diversity, and is a strong advocate for the fair representation of different cultural groups in contemporary society.

The use of accurate and respectful language is a priority in our teaching and research. Students are asked to take serious note of the following guidelines, particularly when writing essays and presenting tutorial papers.

Fair representation of Indigenous nations and individuals

The Indigenous peoples of Australia come from a wide range of distinct cultural contexts. When writing on Indigenous Australian people or individuals, take the time to find out how they themselves wish to be named.

Acceptable names may be 'Koori' if a person is connected to New South Wales, 'Murri' for people from Queensland, or 'Noongah' for people from South Western Australia. There are many other specific groups such as 'Anangu' or 'Yolngu'.

Torres Strait Islanders have linguistic and cultural identities that are very different to mainland Indigenous Australian peoples. It is appropriate to use the term 'Torres Strait Islanders' when speaking generally, or to use the names of relevant groups where possible.

When writing more generally, use the terms 'Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples', 'Indigenous peoples' or 'Aboriginal peoples'. Terms such as 'Aborigines' or 'native(s)' objectify Aboriginal people and should not be used in any circumstances.

Be sure to capitalise the first letter of terms such as 'Aboriginal' or 'Torres Strait Islanders'. These words are proper nouns, like 'Australian' or 'American', and must be capitalised. It has also become a convention of academic writing in Australia to capitalise the word 'Indigenous' when it clearly refers to, or is used in place of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australians.

Never use terms such as, 'full-blood', 'half-caste', 'quarter-caste' or 'mixed blood' in an uncritical manner. These terms were used officially by governments and institutions for the purposes of discriminatory treatment and are regarded as inaccurate and insulting.

A good guide to language use in relation to Aboriginal cultures is Rhonda Craven's Using the right words in the Indigenous Australian studies classroom published by the School of Teacher Education, UNSW, Sydney, in association with CAR, in 1996.

Fair representation of all peoples

University of Sydney Senate policy states that the University community regards as offensive, under all circumstances, the use of written or spoken language which makes personal or irrelevant reference to race, sex, marital status, pregnancy, disability, sexual preference, transgender status, political or religious beliefs and age.

As a student of the University it is your responsibility to ensure that you always use non-sexist or gender-neutral language.

For suggested guidelines on inclusive and non-discriminatory language use, please read the Staff and Student Equal Opportunity Unit Language Guidelines, which can be found on the University's website: www.usyd.edu.au/eeo.
Indigenous Australian Studies

KOCR2600
Indigenous Australia: An Introduction
Credit points: 6 Session: Semester 1 Session 2 Classes: (2 lec x 1 hr & 1 x 1 hr tut) wk
Prerequisites: 18 Junior credit points Prohibitions: KOCR2100
Assessment: one 2000 word essay (40%); one tutorial presentation (10%); one 1000 word tutorial paper (20%); 2 x critical reviews (30%) Campus: Camperdown/Darlington

This unit of study explores the historical, social and political contexts of the survival and growth of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures and philosophies. The unit is structured around the themes of representation and identities; the colonisation of land and people; and resistance and agency. It will provide students with an introduction to Indigenous philosophies and theories by examining 'contact history' and resistance within a critical framework.

KOCR2601
Indigenous Australia: Land and Culture
Credit points: 6 Session: Semester 2 Classes: (1 x 1 hr lec & 1 x 2 hr tut) wk
Prerequisites: KOCR2100 or KOCR2600 Prohibitions: KOCR2101
Assessment: identity exercise (10%); tutorial presentation (20%); tutorial paper (20%) and essay (50%)
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington

This unit of study traces Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander relationships to country and place, and the continuities and dynamism of contemporary Indigenous Australian cultures. It will celebrate the fact that, despite the impact of colonisation, Indigenous Australian peoples have maintained unique identities and connections to land and sea. Through the themes of Indigenous Sydney, Connections to Place, and Cultural Continuities, we will examine Indigenous belief systems, art, language, performance, and film. This unit of study will include excursions to cultural sites around Sydney.

KOCR2602
Issues in Indigenous Rights
This unit of study is not available in 2010
Credit points: 6 Session: Semester 2 Classes: (1 x 1 hr lec and 1 x 2 hr tut) wk
Prerequisites: KOCR2100 or KOCR2600 Prohibitions: KOCR2102

In the second half of the 20th Century Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples began to culturally and politically recover from the effects of colonisation and assimilation. Having had fundamental human rights severely limited by state and federal legislation, and having experienced years of disempowerment, dislocation and social disruption, Indigenous peoples have sought to reclaim independent social and political power. This unit of study explores national and international developments in this history, addressing issues of political and social representation, and examining contemporary analyses of Indigenous rights to self-determination in legal, political and community spheres.

KOCR2603
Indigenous Health and Communities
Credit points: 6 Session: Semester 2 Classes: (1 x 1 hr lec and 1 x 2 hr tut) wk
Prerequisites: KOCR2100 or KOCR2600 Prohibitions: KOCR2101
Assessment: tutorial presentation (20%), critical review (30%) and essay (50%)
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington

The continuing poor health status of Indigenous people is well documented. However, attempts at improving Aboriginal health have often been met with inappropriate policy and practice. The challenge in improving Aboriginal health lies partly in improving the knowledge of non-Indigenous Australians of the historical, cultural and contemporary issues which impact on health. This unit of study will provide opportunities for meaningful contact with Indigenous Australians as a foundation for building partnerships with Indigenous people to improve Aboriginal health.

KOCR2604
Colours of Identity: Indigenous Bodies
Credit points: 6 Session: Semester 1 Classes: (1 x 2 hr lec and 1 x 2 hr tut) wk
Prerequisites: KOCR2100 or KOCR2600 Prohibitions: KOCR2102
Assessment: Seminar participation; one seminar presentation and paper; one 1500 word research essay; one 2500 word research essay.
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington

This unit of study explores the history and formation of Indigenous Australian identity. Combining contemporary theoretical and historical approaches we will explore the ways in which Indigenous Australians were constructed by colonial discourses. We will identify and critically analyse sites of power and processes of cultural dissemination and transmission and consider how such identities were racialised, gendered and subordinated. We will explore the arena of cultural politics and investigate the ways in which Indigenous agency has manifested, for example, through innovative critical perspectives, political activism and withholding labour, and through creative re-presentations in a variety of media, in film, documentary, photography and prose.
KOCR2605
Speaking Gamilaraay 1
Credit points: 6 Session: Semester 1 Classes: (1 x 3hr seminar/week
Assessment: Homework sheets (35%), Oral performance (45%), Essay (20%)
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington

Gamilaraay is an Indigenous Australian language from the mid-northwest of NSW that is currently undergoing revitalisation. This unit of study will provide students with a basic competence in speaking, understanding, reading and writing Gamilaraay sufficient to recognize and construct simple utterances in the language, and to understand its relationships with other languages. Classes will take the form of three-hour intensive oral workshops that progressively develop each student's abilities in the language. Assessment will be by short written assignments based on lesson content and an appraisal of individual oral/aural performance together with a short essay on Gamilaraay culture or a related topic.

KOCR2606
Torres Strait Histories and Experiences
This unit of study is not available in 2010
Credit points: 6 Session: Semester 2 Classes: 1 x 1hr lec and 1 x 2hr tut) wk 1
Prerequisites: KCSE2100 or KOCR2600 Assessment: tutorial presentation(20%), critical review(30%) and essay (50%) Campus:
Camperdown/Darlington

Torres Strait Islanders are often talked about as Australia's other indigenous minority and many Australians know little about the region and its people. This Unit of Study will introduce students to Torres Strait societies through the themes of governance, migration and resource management. Students will learn about the diversity within Torres Strait communities and how Torres Strait Islander experiences of colonisation and responses to colonisation were and are as complex as those of Aboriginal people.

KOCR2607
Indigenous Creative Expression
Credit points: 6 Session: Semester 1 Classes: 1 x 3hr seminar
Prerequisites: 18 junior credit points Assessment: essay (40%), seminar presentation (25%) and creative exhibit (35%) Campus:
Camperdown/Darlington

This unit of study aims to give students the opportunity to critically engage with a variety of artistic and creative practices undertaken by Indigenous Australians. It's envisaged that students will be encouraged to critically examine and understand the role of Indigenous performance/theatre, writing, dance, film, visual arts and music in Indigenous Australian cultural maintenance.

Bachelor of Education (Secondary: Aboriginal Studies)

KCSE3101 Evaluation and Assessment in Schools

Credit points: 6  Session: S1 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

The focus of this unit of study is to develop an understanding of the importance and purposes of assessment and evaluation and their interconnected relationship to learning. An historical overview of assessment and evaluation is essential to the understanding of current contexts for assessment and student learning in schools.

KCSE3102 Aboriginal Studies: Stages 4, 5 & 6

Credit points: 6  Session: S1 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study introduces Stages 4, 5 and 6 Aboriginal Studies, which are Board of Studies approved electives in the secondary curriculum. These courses are based on standard Board of Studies designs and, as such, provide students with an excellent first hand experience of the syllabus continuum in the secondary school. Outcomes-based teaching and learning is a feature and students learn to translate this approach into practical teaching, planning and implementation. Students also consider an holistic approach to Aboriginal Studies where the needs of the students, school and community directly influence the nature of program development and content. Consultation, protocols, ethical research practices and a local community focus feature as they do in both syllabuses. Cross curriculum content and skills with a focus on literacy and ICT (Information and Communication Technology) is part of the ongoing development of students becoming multi-skilled, adaptable and pro-active educators in the field of Aboriginal Studies.

KCSE3103 Indigenous Land and Culture

Credit points: 6  Session: S1 Late Int Prerequisites: KCDE2104

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

The focus of the unit is to develop an understanding of land from an Indigenous perspective. Students will explore how land is represented and symbolised from an Indigenous cultural perspective. Through a broad, cross-disciplinary approach to inquiry, a range of Indigenous contemporary issues and questions relating to land and land use will be examined. These will include: cultural maintenance and transmission, ownership of land, identity and land, land and environment, religious/spiritual connection to land and place, health and education issues relating to concepts of land, visual and performing arts images from the land, Indigenous land use and management, and contemporary concepts of land and culture in selected urban, rural and isolated Australian communities.

KCSE3201 Human Society and Its Environment 3

Credit points: 6  Session: S2 Late Int Prerequisites: KCDE2204

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study aims to prepare History /HSIE students to teach the skills and understandings necessary to implement current Board of Studies stage 6 History and HSIE syllabuses. The unit focuses predominantly on the teaching and learning of Modern and Ancient History with an introduction to teaching Legal Studies, Geography, Society and Culture and Business Studies. Emphasis is placed on assessing teaching and learning at the senior level.

KCSE3104 Australia WW1 to Whitlam

Credit points: 6  Session: S2 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

The twentieth century saw major transformations in Australian society. From the aftermath of the Great War, this unit of study follows the traumas of Depression and World War II, into periods of less dramatic but still profound change: the post-war boom through the Menzies years; threats posed by the Cold War; the proliferation of nuclear weapons; the impact of immigration; the 1960s youth protest movement and the Vietnam War, and social changes brought about by the Whitlam government. Through a survey of these years and their aftermath, the unit seeks to frame and enhance historical understanding of issues and challenges which confront Australians today.

KCSE3202 Teaching Aboriginal Languages

Credit points: 6  Session: S2 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study will orient students within the second/foreign language acquisition literature, and present policy, implementation models, teaching methods/approaches and pedagogies, resource and materials design, as well as programming and planning methods with a particular focus on teaching Aboriginal languages.

KCSE3203 Reading Indigenous Writing

Credit points: 6  Session: S2 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study surveys contemporary literary production by Indigenous Australians and its social and historical contexts. It is designed to foster a critical appreciation of a variety of literary forms such as poetry, the novel and scripts for stage and screen performance, and to explore their relationships to traditional and modern approaches to story-telling and knowledge sharing. It will reflect on expressions of identity, social history and political autonomy, and the evolution of Indigenous literary production in the broader milieu of colonisation, resistance and self-determination. The unit will encourage generic skills in textual, theoretical and historical analysis, and will stimulate the development of students’ personal creative expression.

KCSE3204 Human Society and Its Environment 3

Credit points: 6  Session: S2 Late Int Prerequisites: KCDE2204

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study aims to prepare History /HSIE students to teach the skills and understandings necessary to implement current Board of Studies stage 6 History and HSIE syllabuses. The unit focuses predominantly on the teaching and learning of Modern and Ancient History with an introduction to teaching Legal Studies, Geography, Society and Culture and Business Studies. Emphasis is placed on assessing teaching and learning at the senior level.

KCSE4201 Professional Practices 3

Credit points: 6  Session: S1 Late Int Prerequisites: KCSE3201

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study will be integrated with in-school teaching experience, and explore different methods of expanding knowledge of professional practice through building professional alliances and mentor relationships. Using a selected case study methodology, the unit will provide opportunities for student teachers to gain insights into ways in which construction of individual teaching style can be analysed and understood in terms of contemporary educational theories and practices. The unit, overall, will extend reflective professional experience in schools and other teaching and learning contexts.

KCSE4102
Issues in Indigenous Rights

Credit points: 6
Session: S1 Late Int Prerequisites: KCDE2104

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study examines the social, political and legal history of the Indigenous Australian struggle for fundamental human rights, engaging particularly with self-determination and Indigenous rights to land, law, economy and culture. It will promote students' consideration of these issues in both national and international contexts by investigating case studies of key people, events and institutions, specifically those which have galvanised debate and stimulated change. The unit will build generic skills in social and historical research and theoretical analysis, encouraging students to develop an informed and independent assessment of contemporary Indigenous Australian actions toward self-determination in a range of social, legal and cultural spheres.

KCSE4103
20th Century Europe: Age of Catastrophe?

Credit points: 6
Session: S1 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study aims to provide an introduction to the central events of early twentieth-century European history, a period which historian Eric Hobsbawm described as 'an age of catastrophe'. This unit, which examines the tumultuous events that occurred during the early twentieth-century, takes World War One as its starting point, investigating the impact this war had on the changing politics, nations, culture and ideology of Europe. The unit then explores these themes in detail by focusing on individual national case studies, and, in particular, the leaders considered instrumental in enacting these changes. Students will also considers the lived history, that is, the social aspects of the changing politics in England, Russia and Germany. Finally, students will examine European history from a broader perspective by tracing the history of four examples of international conflict.

KCSE4104
Human Society and its Environment 4

Credit points: 6
Session: S1 Late Int Prerequisites: KCSE3204

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study aims to prepare students to teach the skills and understandings necessary to implement current Board of Studies stage 6 Society and Culture, and stage 5 Work Education syllabuses.

KCSE4101
Special Education: An Introduction

Credit points: 6
Session: S2 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This subject addresses issues relating to the education of students with special education needs. Issues addressed include the impact of current legislation, evidence based approaches to curriculum, teaching and learning practices for students with special education needs. A specific focus is given to managing challenging behaviours of students in a range of settings.

KCSE4202
Knowledge, Self and Education

Credit points: 6
Session: S2 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study takes a critical perspective on two concepts central to our understanding of education: the 'self', or individual and 'knowledge'. Assuming that in some significant ways both are socially constructed, the course presents a variety of theoretical and research resources for understanding recently developed ways of looking at educational phenomena as social and historical discursive practice.

KCSE4203
Colonising and Decolonising the Pacific

Credit points: 6
Session: S2 Late Int

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

Even before Europeans officially ‘discovered’ the New World they had imagined what it might be. Notwithstanding decolonisation, this world and its people have continued to be represented according to changing Western view points and priorities. Arguably categories like “race”, “blood” and “culture” continue to influence Western historical accounts, and colonised people are often still classified according to historical models determined by Western intellectual and political priorities. In this unit of study we examine this process of representation and Indigenous challenges to it, focusing on the islands of the Pacific. Three key themes will be investigated: (1) history and the representation of the Pacific; (2) Colonising the Indigenous peoples of the Pacific; and (3) the contemporary Pacific - decolonisation and environmental issues.

KCSE4204
Human Society and its Environment 5

Credit points: 6
Session: S2 Late Int Prerequisites: KCSE4104

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

This unit of study aims to prepare students to teach the knowledge, skills and understandings necessary to implement the current Board of Studies Legal Studies stage 6 syllabus. The unit of study focuses on current HSC Legal Studies assessment procedures and available resources to teach this subject to diverse student groups.

Diploma in Education (Aboriginal)

KCDE1101 Academic Literacies 1

Credit points: 6
Session: S1 Late Int
Classes: Block Mode
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available only to students enrolled in the Diploma of Education (Aboriginal)

This unit of study provides first year diploma students with the literacy skills necessary to commence university study and succeed. It employs an innovative scaffolded approach that students can adapt for their own teaching practice. The science component of this unit of study introduces students to some of the theoretical, practical and pedagogic issues relevant to the delivery of science in school settings.

KCDE1102 Teaching & Learning: Presentation Skills

Credit points: 6
Session: S1 Late Int
Classes: Block Mode
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available only to students enrolled in the Diploma of Education (Aboriginal)

Effective teachers must be successful communicators, requiring mastery of a range of oral and visual presentation skills to communicate well with students. This unit of study prepares teachers to confidently give oral presentations to an audience, to use computer mediated communication for teaching and to apply a range of computer-based skills and formats to present complex information.

KCDE1103 Indigenous Education and Society

Credit points: 6
Session: S1 Late Int
Classes: Block Mode
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington

Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available only to students enrolled in the Diploma of Education (Aboriginal)

This unit of study will trace the broad sociological history of education in Australia since the cultural invasion of 1788 and critically examine historical events and circumstances as they relate to limited Aboriginal participation in 'westernised' forms of education today. Social and political perceptions of Aboriginal people as a race 'doomed to extinction' were well-documented during the colonial era, and continue to impact negatively on equality of educational opportunity into the 19th century.

Session: S2
Int Classes: Block Mode
Prerequisites: 12 Junior credit points including KCDE1101
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington
Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available only to students enrolled in the Diploma of Education (Aboriginal)

This unit of study aims to provide students with a critical understanding of the differing notions of community with particular focus on Aboriginal communities as locations for research. It explores the history, diversity, characteristics and structures of Indigenous Australian communities and their historical and contemporary experiences of research. A range of library and computer-based research skills are also practised.

Students will be provided with an opportunity to synthesise these understandings and apply them in a practical setting through a major community-based research project.

Advanced literacy is an essential requirement for successful students and effective teachers. This unit of study further develops the skills and concepts taught in Academic Literacies 1 through a range of practical activities. The mathematics component of this unit of study introduces students to some basic arithmetic concepts and skills relevant to the performance of administrative duties in teaching contexts, and planning and delivery of mathematics curricula in school settings.

The aim of this unit of study is to introduce students to important concepts related to curriculum; the stakeholders who can influence curriculum and how curriculum is constructed. Teachers are constantly being introduced to new and innovative syllabi developed by education bodies with the intention that they will address the intended outcomes both at school and classroom level. An introduction to a wide variety of syllabi will allow students the opportunity to explore these documents and determine how they shape the development of school curriculum as a major role of the teacher. Aboriginal perspectives are also a major focus within this Unit of Study therefore syllabi will be examined for inclusion of and suggested implementation of Aboriginal perspectives across the curriculum.

Prerequisites: KCDE1101 and KCDE1103
Campus: Camperdown/Darlington
Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available only to students enrolled in the Diploma of Education (Aboriginal)

The systematic study of human development and learning requires careful observation, documentation and analysis of how people grow, change, adapt and acquire new knowledge over time. This unit of study examines the adolescent period of human growth and development. Both Indigenous and non-Indigenous adolescent physical, social, cognitive and emotional development patterns will be addressed, especially within the socio-cultural context of secondary schools. Particular emphasis will be placed upon relationships between the relatively rapid growth and development of the adolescent student and the opportunity for quality learning. This important transitional period from childhood to young adulthood raises significant issues and challenges related to maturation, identity formation, self esteem, propensity for risk taking and influences of both peers and family.

The purpose of this unit of study is to give students the opportunity to recognise, analyse and assess various theories related to teaching and learning, and to consider the implications and relevance these theories have for classroom practice. Students will also trace the history of teaching and learning theory that has its foundations in Aboriginal pedagogies and culturally inclusive education initiatives such "both-ways" education programs. Students are encouraged to think about their role as Indigenous educators, in developing teaching and learning theories.

Indigenous cultures have existed in this country for at least sixty thousand years, yet have been interpreted and represented to the world from predominantly non-Indigenous points of view. This unit of study responds to the lack of inclusion of Indigenous histories and knowledges in mainstream pedagogic practice since invasion. It provides an introduction to Indigenous philosophies and theories by critically examining "contact history" and resistance within a decolonising framework.

This unit of study aims to provide an introduction to the theory and practice of 'cineliteracy' as part of an integrated approach to enhancement of visual literacy skills at the tertiary level. The term 'cineliteracy' refers primarily to critical reading, understanding and response to the moving image; drama, film, documentary, television, video and various forms of computer based digital media. Learning opportunities offered by and through this unit will include direct experience, critical awareness, and applied understanding of concepts and vocabulary employed to analyse 'language' of the moving image.

The continuing poor health status of Indigenous people is well documented. However, attempts at improving Aboriginal health have often been met with inappropriate policy and practice. This unit of study aims to give an historical and contemporary understanding of a diverse range of issues impacting on Aboriginal Health. Students are given the opportunity to explore sociological and indigenous frameworks and knowledge's in order to identify a range of strategies which will work towards improving the health of Indigenous Australians. A focus of this unit will be in providing students with the opportunity to explore the ways in which they may work with Aboriginal communities to facilitate self-determination in Aboriginal health.

This unit of study aims to prepare History/HSIE students to teach the skills and understandings necessary to implement current Board of Studies stage 4 and 5 History and HSIE syllabuses. In addition the unit focuses specifically on developing literacy and numeracy strategies for teaching across a range of age and ability groups and takes an applied approach to the use of ICT in HSIE and History classrooms.
4. Postgraduate study

Please note these courses are for Indigenous Australian students only.

Introduction

The Koori Centre offers a suite of postgraduate qualifications designed to meet the need for qualified instructors to participate in the delivery of Indigenous Australian languages education programs in a range of educational settings.

The Graduate Certificate, Graduate Diploma and Master of Indigenous Languages Education equip Indigenous educators with the knowledge and skills necessary to implement the NSW Aboriginal Languages K-10 Syllabus and syllabi from other states. Course content is arranged into linguistics, theory and practice strands and is applicable to all Indigenous Australian languages. Students do not need to be fluent in an Indigenous Australian language to enter the courses and may undertake external study as part of the Graduate Diploma or Master.

The courses are offered on a full-time basis by mixed-mode ('block release') requiring attendance at three blocks each semester. Teaching staff are drawn from within the University and Indigenous Australian language programs from across the state.

Entry to the Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education requires that candidates have successfully completed two years towards a teaching qualification, that is: a Diploma in Education (Aboriginal), or equivalent. The Graduate Certificate is completed in one semester full-time and consists of four units of study:

- KCIL5610 Sounds & Writing in Indigenous Languages
- KCIL5611 Words & Meanings in Indigenous Languages
- KCIL5612 Sentences & Text in Indigenous Languages
- KCIL5613 Theories & Methods in Language Learning

Students who complete the requirements for the Graduate Certificate may extend their study and qualify for the Graduate Diploma of Indigenous Languages Education by undertaking a further two units of study in the second semester, chosen from the following:

- KCIL5622 Learning an Indigenous Language
- KCIL5623 Language Curriculum Development
- KCIL5624 Technology & Language Learning

Entry to the Master of Indigenous Languages Education requires that candidates have completed either:

- a four-year teaching qualification, that is: a Bachelor of Education, or a three year degree and a Diploma of Education
- the Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education with an average mark of 70 per cent or higher.

To qualify for the award of the Master of Indigenous Languages Education students must complete four units of study chosen from the following, in addition to completing all four offered in the first semester:

- KCIL5620 Research Methods in Languages Education
- KCIL5621 Research Project in Languages Education (elective)
- KCIL5622 Learning an Indigenous Language (elective)
- KCIL5623 Language Curriculum Development
- KCIL5624 Technology & Language Learning

In some cases it may be possible for candidates with similar but different qualifications to be granted admission.

Sentences and texts are the major units of human language. This unit of study provides students with the understanding and skills to describe these longer strings of language and make generalisations about them. It also considers the relationships between the many varieties of Australian languages that occur for different purposes, in different places and at different times.

KCIL5613 Theories & Methods in Language Learning

- Credit points: 6
- Session: S1 Late Int
- Classes: Block Mode
- Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

Teachers in the language classroom are often confronted with the dilemma of choosing the right method or approach to adequately develop the proficiency of their students. What many do not realise is that there is no one perfect method or approach; what might work in one language teaching situation might not necessarily work in another. Over the last two centuries, a number of methods and approaches have emerged each determined by the social, cultural, economic and political factors of the day. Given this scope, there are teaching situations that have demanded a focus on the development of written proficiency whilst others that of oracy.

The goal of this course is to introduce students to theories of languages education methodology and provide them with the foundations to successfully choose methods and/or approaches that will best cater the teaching of Indigenous languages in Australia. It will include significant methods used in the teaching of the macro (listening and responding, speaking, reading and responding, and writing) skills and the micro (lexico-grammatical) skills; determining teacher and learner roles; and effective language lesson planning.

Conducting research in the teaching of Australian languages requires an understanding of diverse issues, including: languages education research methods, the history of research on Indigenous people and languages, locating existing records, practical techniques for obtaining and managing data, project planning, Indigenous research ethics and community consultation. It is also important for students to understand the role of research in high-quality teaching and to gain experience in a range of research methodologies and their potential for application to likely teaching situations in this field. This unit of study allows students to explore these issues and develop practical skills that will allow them to become effective researchers in Indigenous languages education. Students will be expected to directly apply their learning in this unit of study to their activities in KCIL5621 Research Project in Indigenous Languages Education or KCIL5622 Learning an Indigenous Language.

Although some Indigenous Australian languages have undergone substantial documentation and are currently being taught, many are in great need of further research and all require more investigation. This unit of study provides students with an opportunity to exercise the skills and knowledge provided in the course to generate new knowledge about particular languages and their teaching.

In order to teach an Indigenous language it is essential that the teacher has greater fluency than their students. This unit of study provides an opportunity for students to undertake study outside the degree program to develop their ability to speak an Australian language.

Students may access courses offered by the University of Sydney, another tertiary institution, a TAFE college, school, community language centre, or similar. To obtain credit under this unit of study the external studies must be equivalent to 36 hours of face-to-face teaching and satisfy MILE staff regarding its standard and thoroughness. Students who are already fluent or cannot access an external unit in a language of their choosing should undertake KCIL5621 Research Project in Indigenous Languages as a means to enhance their skills.

KCIL5623
Language Curriculum Development
Credit points: 6
Session: S2 Late Int
Classes: Block Mode
Prerequisites: 18 credit points, including KCIL5613
Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

Preceding any successful formal teaching or learning situation is effective programming and planning determined by curriculum parameters. Language curriculum development involves more than just the content to be taught in any given teaching situation. It involves establishing goals and outcomes often defined by external organisations; performing ongoing needs analysis of learning and teaching situations; programming and planning against external and internal factors; designing programs that best address all factors; choosing and designing resources; and determining appropriate assessment and evaluation procedures. The goal of this unit is to examine these issues against authentic situations and apply knowledge gained towards developing effective language curriculum for quality teaching in Indigenous languages education contexts and across all key learning areas.

KCIL5624
Technology and Language Learning
Credit points: 6
Session: S2 Late Int
Classes: Block Mode
Prerequisites: KCIL5623
Note: Department permission required for enrolment. Note: Available to students enrolled in Koori Centre block-mode courses only.

Effective language teaching and learning can be enhanced by technology. This unit of study introduces students to the diverse technological aids that can enhance their teaching practices and their own language learning. It provides them with samples and models from which they can develop their own multimedia resources.

6. Resolutions

The resolutions for all coursework degrees, diplomas and certificates must be read in conjunction with the University of Sydney (Coursework) Rule 2000 (as amended), which sets out the requirements for all coursework courses, and with the relevant faculty resolutions.

Degrees, diplomas and other programs in Aboriginal and Indigenous Studies

1. The degrees, diplomas and other programs in the Koori Centre shall be:
   1.1 Diploma in Education (Aboriginal) (Dip Ed (Aboriginal))
   1.2 Cadigal Program – Academic Skills I and II
   1.3 Master of Indigenous Languages Education (M Indigenous Languages Ed)
   1.4 Graduate Diploma of Indigenous Languages Education
   1.5 Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education

Graduate Diploma of Indigenous Languages Education
Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education

1. Requirements for the Master of Indigenous Languages Education
   1.1 To qualify for the award of the Master of Indigenous Languages Education a student must:
      1.1.1 complete successfully units of study giving credit for a total of 48 credit points; and
      1.1.2 satisfy the requirements of all other relevant By-laws, Rules and Resolutions of the University.

2. Requirements for the Graduate Diploma of Indigenous Languages Education
   2.1 To qualify for the award of the Graduate Diploma of Indigenous Languages Education a student must:
      2.1.1 complete successfully units of study giving credit for a total of 36 credit points; and
      2.1.2 satisfy the requirements of all other relevant By-laws, Rules and Resolutions of the University.

3. Requirements for the Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education
   3.1 To qualify for the award of the Graduate Certificate of Indigenous Languages Education a student must:
      3.1.1 complete successfully units of study giving credit for a total of 24 credit points; and
      3.1.2 satisfy the requirements of all other relevant By-laws, Rules and Resolutions of the University.

4. Units of study
   Refer to table of units of study in Koori Centre Handbook

5. Time limits
   5.1 Except with the permission of the Board of Studies in Indigenous Studies, a candidate must complete the degree in not less than one year of enrolment and not more than three years of enrolment. Notwithstanding these provisions, the Board of Studies in Indigenous Studies may reduce the time limit for the completion of the degree based on previous experience and education.

5.2 Except with the permission of the Board of Studies in Indigenous Studies, a candidate must complete the graduate diploma in not less than one year of enrolment and not more than two years of enrolment. Notwithstanding the provisions above, the Board of Studies in Indigenous Studies may reduce the time limit for the completion of the graduate diploma based on previous experience and education.

5.3 Except with the permission of the Board of Studies in Indigenous Studies, a candidate must complete the graduate certificate in not less than one semester of enrolment and not more than two semesters of enrolment.

5.4 A candidate may undertake units of study other than those listed with the permission of the Board of Studies in Indigenous Studies, on the recommendation of staff involved in programs concerned that such units of study are equivalent in workload and academic standard, provided that the maximum credit that may be earned does not exceed one quarter of the award course requirements.

Diploma in Education (Aboriginal)

1. Admission to candidature for the diploma may be granted to an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person who:
   1.1 holds qualifications acceptable to the Board of Studies in Indigenous Studies; or
   1.2 satisfies enrolment requirements by successfully completing Koori Centre ‘Entrance Assessment’.

2. Units of study
   Refer to table of units of study in Koori Centre Handbook

3. Assessment Policy
   The assessment requirements for each unit of study are outlined in the Koori Centre Handbook, and detailed in the departmental information distributed to students enrolled in that unit.

4. Requirements for the Diploma Education (Aboriginal) 4.1 To qualify for the award of the Diploma in Education (Aboriginal) a student must:
      4.1.1 complete successfully units of study giving credit for a total of 96 credit points; and
      4.1.2 satisfy the requirements of all other relevant By-laws, Rules and Resolutions of the University.

5. Award of the diploma
   5.1 The Diploma in Education (Aboriginal) may be awarded in two grades: pass, and in the case of outstanding candidates, pass with merit.

6. Attendance
   6.1 Students who will be absent from all classes for more than one week should seek leave of absence from the Koori Centre.
   6.2 The Koori Centre regards a student who is absent without leave from more than 10 per cent of classes in any particular unit of study as having failed to satisfy attendance requirements, which may lead to the student being deemed not to have completed that unit of study.

7. Restrictions on enrolment
   7.1 A student who elects to graduate with the Diploma in Education (Aboriginal) may not enrol in the Bachelor in Education (Secondary: Aboriginal Studies).
   7.2 The Koori Centre reserves the right not to place a student in a school or other professional experience setting for practicum in any instance where the performance, personal or professional... conduct of the student does not meet the required professional standard, regardless of the fact that the student may be enrolled in any unit of study with a practicum requirement.

8. Time limits

8.1 Unless otherwise permitted by the Koori Centre a candidate shall complete all the requirements for award of the diploma in not less than two years of enrolment and within four calendar years of admission or re-admission to candidature.

8.2 Notwithstanding the provisions of 7.1 above, the Board of Studies may reduce the time limit for the completion of the diploma dependent on previous experience and education.

9. Credit

9.1 A candidate may be granted credit towards the diploma on the basis of a subject or subjects completed at another university or other tertiary institution, regarded by the Koori Centre, on the recommendation of staff involved in programs concerned, as equivalent in work load and academic standard;

9.2 provided that the maximum credit granted does not exceed the equivalent of two thirds of the degree or diploma requirements.

9.3 A student who has completed 96 credit points in the Diploma in Education (Aboriginal) may be granted credit for all of the units of study completed toward the award of Bachelor in Education (Secondary: Aboriginal Studies) if the award has not been conferred.

Cadigal Program – Academic Skills

1. The Cadigal Program is an access and support program for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders wishing to undertake undergraduate award level studies at the University of Sydney.

2. The academic support component is known as Academic Skills.

3. This course of study consists of a number of components including literacy, critical thinking and reading, analytical skills, research skills, oral communication, referencing, numeracy, exploration of epistemologies, specific content and/or discipline areas such as chemistry, biology, anthropology, psychology, etc.

4. Admission to Academic Skills is a requirement of some applicants admitted to an undergraduate award program through the Cadigal Program.

5. Individual programs of study are determined on the basis of:

5.1 assessment of literacy/language and study needs; and

5.2 preparatory and/or concurrent support needs in specific content areas.

6. The definition for completing this course is satisfactory completion of all components, requirements and assessments as agreed on a contract basis with individual students at the beginning of Semester 1 and Semester 2.

7.1 Academic Skills is offered on both a full-time and part-time basis.

7.2 Full-time Academic Skills students normally undertake a reduced award program load, whilst part-time students normally undertake a full- or part-time award program load.

The Summer School

The Summer School is a full fee-paying, intensive program offering high quality undergraduate and postgraduate subjects from nine faculties. These subjects are the same as those offered in Semesters One and Two, but are taught as an intensive program over summer.

Some classes commence in December; others commence in the first week of January; others in the third week and continue into February (including the exam week). Some subjects run for six weeks; others are shorter. Students can take a maximum of two subjects.

The Winter School

The Winter School is a smaller, more intensive program that runs for four weeks, including the exam week, during July.

Advantages

Attending classes at the University of Sydney during the summer and winter holidays offers many advantages. You can:

- accelerate your academic career and finish your degree sooner
- devote your full attention to a single area of study
- take subjects that are outside your normal degree
- reduce your workload throughout the rest of the year
- repeat subjects in which you may have been unsuccessful
- combine study with a field trip in Australia or a tour overseas.

High school graduates can sample a university subject, and get an early start on their degree.

How to apply

Applications are only accepted online (at www.summer.usyd.edu.au). Most subjects have limited places and fill very quickly. All places are filled strictly on a first-in, first-served basis so it is recommended that you apply early.

Applications open on:

- 1 October 2009 (Summer School)
- 24 May 2010 (Winter School)

Applications close:

- 27 November 2009 (Session 1, Summer December)
- 11 December 2009 (Session 2, Summer Main)
- 8 January 2010 (Session 3, Summer Late)
- 11 June 2010 (Winter School)

Late application fees may apply after these dates.

Census dates

Students can withdraw from their subject without academic penalty and receive a full refund until the census date (based on when the class commences). However, a late withdrawal fee may apply.

There is one census date for the Winter School, and three for the Summer School, as classes start between December and February.

ID  Session name     Classes begin  Census date

42*  Summer December  7 December 2009  4 January 2010
43   Summer Main      4 January 2010   11 January 2010
44 Summer Late     18 January 2010  29 January 2010
11   Winter School    28 June 2010    3 July 2010

* 42 Summer December: Allows for a unit to run for 3 to 9 weeks, provided that the 20 per cent criterion is met.
 44 Summer Late: Last exam must be held by 1 March.

Withdrawal and refund policy

- For Summer School classes starting in December 2010, students who withdraw from a subject between 28 November 2009 and the relevant census date will receive a refund of tuition fees but will be liable for a $500 late withdrawal fee.
- For Summer School classes starting in January 2010, students who withdraw from a subject between 12 December 2009 and the relevant census date will receive a refund of tuition fees but will be liable for a $500 late withdrawal fee.
- For Winter School classes starting on 28 June 2010, students who withdraw from a subject between 21 June 2010 and the relevant census date will receive a refund of their tuition fees but will be liable for a $500 late fee withdrawal.

Students may withdraw from their Summer or Winter School subject(s) up until 4pm on the last day of the teaching period for that particular subject. However, there may be an academic penalty (please refer to our website). The teaching period for purposes of this policy is defined in hours of published classes from the first day through to the last day of classes, excluding any final examination or assessment.

Students who withdraw from a subject after 4pm on the relevant census date will receive no refund of their tuition fee.

Transferring between subjects

Students on a waiting list can transfer between subjects at any time prior to the commencement of class. For all other students, transfers should be completed a week before classes commence. No transfers will be allowed after commencement of the class.

Summer and Winter School scholarships

Merit scholarships

Three undergraduate merit scholarships and one postgraduate merit scholarship are available. These are automatically awarded to the top four students in their respective faculty (Arts, Science, or Economics and Business) for their Summer School subject.

Educational/Financial Disadvantage scholarships

Full Summer School scholarships are available to local undergraduate students who have a good academic record. To be eligible for consideration you will need to provide evidence of long-term and serious educational disadvantage based on two or more criteria, one of which must be financial hardship. Please check our website for further details. Scholarship applications close on 30 October 2009 (Summer School), and 9 June 2010 (Winter School).

Academic progression

The University requires students to maintain a minimum rate of progression throughout their candidature. Any student who does not satisfy progression requirements for their degree will be placed on a monitored academic progression program. This program requires students to consult an academic adviser in their faculty, to attend a support services information session, and to fill in a survey. Students will be advised of program requirements by their faculty.

Students who do not sustain the minimum academic progression requirements may be asked to 'show cause' as to why they should not be excluded from their degree. For further information, please see www.usyd.edu.au/secretariat/students

Accommodation Service

The Accommodation Service helps students find off-campus accommodation. It maintains an extensive database of accommodation close to campus or with easy access to public transport. For more information visit the Accommodation page: www.usyd.edu.au/current_students

Admissions Office

The Admissions Office, located in the Student Centre, is responsible for overseeing the distribution of offers to undergraduate applicants through the Universities Admissions Centre (UAC). They can advise prospective local undergraduate students on admission requirements. Postgraduate students should contact the appropriate faculty.

- If you are an Australian citizen, or permanent resident with qualifications from a non-Australian institution, you can get more information by phoning +61 2 8627 8209.
- For enquiries regarding special admissions (including mature-age entry), phone +61 2 8627 8207.
- Applicants without Australian citizenship or permanent residency should contact the International Office.

Applying for a course

Domestic applicants for undergraduate courses and programs of study

For the purpose of admission and enrolment, 'domestic applicant' refers to citizens and permanent residents of Australia and citizens of New Zealand. If you are in this group and wish to apply for admission to an undergraduate course, you would generally apply through the Universities Admissions Centre (UAC).

The deadline for applications is the last working day in September in the year before enrolment. For more information see www.uac.edu.au

Some faculties have additional application procedures, such as the Conservatorium of Music, Sydney College of the Arts, Pharmacy and Dentistry (for the Bachelor of Oral Health).

Domestic applicants for postgraduate courses and programs of study

For the purpose of admission and enrolment, 'domestic applicant' refers to citizens and permanent residents of Australia and citizens of New Zealand. Application is direct to the faculty which offers the course that you are interested in. Application forms for postgraduate coursework, postgraduate research and the master's qualifying or preliminary program, and for non-award postgraduate study can be found at www.usyd.edu.au/future_students

Note: some faculties use their own specially tailored application forms. Check with the relevant faculty.

International applicants for all course types (undergraduate and postgraduate)

'International applicants' refers to all applicants other than Australian citizens, Australian permanent residents and citizens of New Zealand. In the majority of cases international applicants apply for admission through the University's International Office (IO). All the information international applicants need, including application forms, is available from the IO website (www.usyd.edu.au/internationaloffice).

Attendance

See 'Special Consideration'.

Bus service

A free bus service operates to, from and around the Camperdown and Darlington campuses each weekday that Fisher Library is open (except for public holidays). The service begins at 4.15pm and ends at Fisher Library closing time.

Two buses operate along the route, starting at Fisher Library and finishing at Redfern station. The buses leave at approximately 10 minute intervals during semester and in semester breaks.

The bus timetable/route guide can be collected from Security Administration or Campus Infrastructure Services reception.

Counselling Service
Counsellors are qualified professionals who aim to help people fulfill their academic, individual and social goals. The Counselling Service helps students develop effective and realistic coping strategies and master essential study and life management skills.

Students can make appointments for 50-minute sessions. Walk-in (25-minute) sessions are available for urgent problems every day from 11am to 3pm during semesters, and after-hours appointments are also available. In addition, the service offers workshops each semester on a wide range of student concerns. These are open to local and international, undergraduate and postgraduate students. There are specific workshops to help first-year students successfully adapt to university study.

Disability Services
Disability Services is the principal point of contact providing advice for students with disabilities. Disability Services staff work closely with academic and administrative staff to ensure that students receive reasonable adjustments in their study. The unit produces a number of publications explaining the disability support services available within the University.

Students are encouraged to make contact with Disability Services prior to commencement or as early in their studies as possible. Available help includes assistive technology, note-taking, interpreters, and advocacy with academic staff to negotiate assessment and course requirement modifications where appropriate. Students must register with Disability Services to receive assistance.

Financial Assistance Office
The University has a number of loan funds and bursaries to help students who experience financial difficulties. Assistance is not intended to provide the principal means of support but to help in emergencies and supplement other income. Financial assistance is available for undergraduate and postgraduate students enrolled at the University of Sydney in degree and diploma programs. It is for essential living and study expenses.

Financial assistance consists of loans, which are usually repayable within one year, and bursaries, which may be awarded as part of a financial assistance package, depending on financial need and academic merit (average marks at credit level or higher). Advertised bursaries are also available and must be applied for separately by 30 April (see website for details). Bursaries are generally only available to local full-time undergraduate students.

Freedom of information
The University of Sydney falls within the jurisdiction of the NSW Freedom of Information Act 1989. The Act:

• requires information concerning documents held by the University to be made available to the public
• enables a member of the public to obtain access to documents held by the University
• enables a member of the public to ensure that records held by the University concerning his or her personal affairs are not incomplete, incorrect, out of date or misleading.

An 'member of the public' includes staff and students of the University.

It is a requirement of the Act that applications be processed and a determination made within a specified time period, generally 21 days. Determinations are made by the University's Deputy Registrar.

While an application may be made to access University documents, some may not be released in accordance with particular exemptions provided by the Act. There are review and appeal mechanisms which apply when access has been refused.

The University is required to report to the public on its freedom of information activities on a regular basis and to produce two documents: a Statement of Affairs (annually) and a Summary of Affairs (every six months).

The Statement of Affairs contains information about the University, its structure, function and the kinds of documents held. The Summary of Affairs identifies the University's policy documents and provides information on how to make an application for access to University documents. More information and copies of the reports can be found at www.usyd.edu.au/arms/info_freedom

Grievances and appeals
You may consider that a decision affecting your candidature for a degree or other activities at the University has not taken into account all relevant matters. In some cases the by-laws or resolutions of the Senate provide for a right of appeal against particular decisions. For example, there is provision for appeal against academic decisions, disciplinary decisions and exclusion after failure.

A document outlining the current procedures for appeals against academic decisions is available at the Student Centre, the Student Representative Council, and on the Policy Online website (www.usyd.edu.au/policy click on ‘Study at the University’, then ‘Appeals’ – see the Academic Board and Senate resolutions).

International Student Support Unit (ISSU)
The International Student Support Unit (ISSU) aims to help international students develop successful strategies for coping with the challenges of living and studying in an unfamiliar culture, to achieve success in their studies, and to make the experience of being an international student rewarding and enjoyable.

ISSU's student counsellors are qualified professionals with extensive experience in cross-cultural counselling. They provide an integrated service to international students and their families, which includes free and confidential counselling, welfare advice, information, and assistance with accessing other support services and resources on campus and in the community.

Other ISSU services include pre-departure information, on-arrival information sessions and an orientation program for new international students. There is also a program of social and cultural activities which runs throughout the year. International students also have access to all University student support services.

Koori Centre and Yooroang Garang

The Koori Centre and Yooroang Garang support Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in all aspects of tertiary education at The University of Sydney. The Cadigal Special Entry Program helps Indigenous Australians enter undergraduate study across all areas of the University.

As well as delivering block-mode courses for Indigenous Australian students, the Koori Centre teaches Indigenous Australian Studies in various faculties across mainstream courses. The Koori Centre also provides tutorial assistance, and student facilities including a computer lab, Indigenous research library and study rooms for the University's Indigenous Australian students.

In particular, the Koori Centre aims to increase the successful participation of Indigenous Australians in undergraduate and postgraduate degrees, develop the teaching of Aboriginal studies, conduct research in the field of Aboriginal education, and establish working ties with schools and communities.

The Koori Centre works in close collaboration with Yooroang Garang, Indigenous Student Support Unit in the Faculty of Health Sciences at the Cumberland Campus. Yooroang Garang provides assistance, advice and academic support for Indigenous students in the faculty, as well as preparatory undergraduate and postgraduate courses.

Learning Centre

The Learning Centre helps students develop the generic learning and communication skills that are necessary for university study and beyond. The centre is committed to helping students achieve their academic potential during their undergraduate and postgraduate studies.

Learning Centre staff can be found at the Camperdown and Cumberland campuses. The centre's program includes a wide range of workshops on study skills, academic reading and writing, oral communication skills and postgraduate writing and research skills. Other services include an individual learning program, a faculty-based program and access to online and print-based learning resources.

For details of programs, activities and online resources available from the Learning Centre, see its website.

Library

The University of Sydney Library provides services via a network of libraries on eight campuses, and online at www.library.usyd.edu.au

The location, opening hours and specific subject focus of each library is listed on the website. Over 5.5 million items are available via the library catalogue, including more than 67,000 online journals and 325,000 online books.

Enrolled students are entitled to borrow from any of the University libraries. Reading list books and articles are available via the reserve service either online or in print. Past examination papers are also available online.

Library facilities include individual and group study spaces, computers, printers, multimedia equipment, photocopiers and adaptive technologies. Refer to the 'Libraries' link on the University website to find out about services and facilities in specific libraries.

Library staff are available in every library to support students with their study and research. Faculty liaison librarians help students find great information on any topic and provide training in using a wide range of resources. For contact details of faculty liaison librarians, see www.library.usyd.edu.au/contacts/subjectcontacts.html

It is also possible to learn research and information skills online; see www.library.usyd.edu.au/skills

Mathematics Learning Centre

The Mathematics Learning Centre helps undergraduate students to develop the mathematical knowledge, skills and confidence that are needed for studying first-level mathematics or statistics units at university. The centre runs bridging courses in mathematics at the beginning of the academic year (fees apply). The centre also provides ongoing support to eligible students during the year through individual assistance and small group tutorials.

For details of activities and online resources provided by the centre see the centre's website.

Museums and galleries
The University of Sydney has one of the largest and finest university collections of antiquities, art, ethnography and natural history in Australia. While these collections are used for teaching, they also provide an opportunity for the University to contribute to the cultural life of the country.

University Art Gallery
Founded in the 1860s, the University of Sydney Art Collection now holds more than 7000 paintings, sculptures and works on paper by Australian, Asian and European artists, as well as more than 700 works from the University Union Art Collection. One of the most significant collections derives from the John Wardell Power Bequest. The gallery showcases changing exhibitions of works from the collection as well as high-quality exhibitions of both contemporary and historical works.

MyUni Student Portal
The MyUni student portal (http://myuni.usyd.edu.au) is the starting point and ‘one-stop’ environment for students to access all their web-based University information and services.

MyUni automatically tailors what a student sees based on their login and offers personalisation options.

MyUni enables students to access:
- student administration systems for obtaining examination results, enrolment and variations, timetabling, email services and links to courses and unit of study information
- the University’s e-learning tools
- library services
- important messages and student alerts
- information and communications technology and support services
- campus maps, with descriptions of cultural, sporting and campus facilities.

Orientation and O-Week
Orientation
Starting university study brings both opportunities and challenges. A successful transition is important in developing a sense of belonging and better academic adjustment and success. The University of Sydney seeks to facilitate students’ successful transition through a wide range of programs and activities.

Orientation activities for both undergraduate and postgraduate students are scheduled at the beginning of each semester. Transition support continues throughout the academic year within faculties, while student support services are available to help students throughout their study.

For more information visit www.usyd.edu.au/current_students/orientation

Undergraduate students
In the week before Semester One, the Sydney Welcome Orientation and Transition (SWOT) program offers all commencing undergraduate students an opportunity to learn more about the University of Sydney.

During this week you can get to know the University, develop key skills for success, discover other key resources for getting the most out of university life and develop a sense of belonging. All students are welcome to attend activities, which are based at the Camperdown and Darlington campuses. Faculties based on other campuses also provide orientation activities and programs.

SWOT 2010 will run from 24 to 26 February 2010.
For more information, see www.swot.usyd.edu.au

Postgraduate students
Postgraduate students are supported by their faculties in transitioning to postgraduate study at the University of Sydney.

For more information visit www.usyd.edu.au/current_students/orientation

O-Week
O-Week is the orientation event at the beginning of Semester One. Organised by the University of Sydney Union (USU) and other student organisations, it runs in parallel with the SWOT program. O-Week 2010 will run from 24 to 26 February 2010.
For more information visit www.usuonline.com
Part-time, full-time attendance

Undergraduate students
Undergraduate students are usually considered full-time if they have a student load of at least 0.375 each semester. Anything under this amount is considered a part-time study load.

Note that some faculties have minimum study load requirements for satisfactory progress.

Postgraduate students (coursework)
Part-time or full-time status for postgraduate coursework students is determined by credit-point load. Enrolment in units of study which total at least 18 credit points in a semester is classed as full time. Anything under this amount is a part-time study load.

Please note that classes for some coursework programs are held in the evenings (usually 6pm to 9pm).

Postgraduate students (research)
Full-time candidates for research degrees do not keep to the normal semester schedule. Instead they work continuously throughout the year with a period of four weeks recreation leave.

There is no strict definition of what constitutes full-time candidature but if you have employment or other commitments that would prevent you from devoting at least the equivalent of a 35-hour working week to your candidature (including attendance at the University for lectures, seminars, practical work and consultation with your supervisor) you should enrol as a part-time candidate. If in doubt, consult your faculty or supervisor.

International students
Student visa regulations require international students to undertake full-time study. International students on visas other than student visas may be permitted to study part-time.

Policy Online
In addition to the resolutions covering specific courses, there are a number of University policies that apply to students. These include:

- Code of Conduct for students
- Academic Honesty in Coursework
- Student Plagiarism: Coursework Assessment and Examination of Coursework
- Identifying and Supporting Students at Risk.

All of these policies can be accessed at the University's Policy website (www.usyd.edu.au/policy).

Printing service
The University Printing Service (UPS) provides printing and binding services including high-volume printing and copying, short run/low-volume printing, and four-colour process printing. It also offers finished artwork and design, including website design, document scanning, file conversion and CD burning.

UPS products range from stationery, books, brochures, handbooks, graduation certificates and examination papers through to invitations, flyers and banners.

UPS also offers a variety of finishing options plus collating, addressing and filling of envelopes, mail merge options and print-brokering services.

Privacy
The University is subject to the NSW Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 and the NSW Health Records and Information Privacy Act 2002. Central to both pieces of legislation are the sets of information protection principles (IPPs) and health privacy principles which regulate the collection, management, use and disclosure of personal and health information.

In compliance with the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act the University developed a Privacy Management Plan which includes the University Privacy Policy. The Privacy Management Plan sets out the IPPs and how they apply to functions and activities carried out by the University. Both the plan and the University Privacy Policy were endorsed by the Vice-Chancellor on 28 June 2000.

Further information and a copy of the plan may be found at www.usyd.edu.au/arms/privacy

Any questions regarding the Freedom of Information Act, the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act, the Health Records and Information Privacy Act or the Privacy Management Plan should be directed to Archives and Records Management Services. See www.usyd.edu.au/arms for contact details.

Research Office
The Research Office administers the major government-funded research scholarships to postgraduate research students. Details of these scholarships and many others may be obtained from www.usyd.edu.au/ro/training

The closing date for applications for Australian Postgraduate Awards (APA) and University of Sydney Postgraduate Awards (UPA) is October every year.

Applications for National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) Postgraduate Research Scholarships usually close in mid-July. It is wise to check in advance the exact closing date.

Security Service

Security staff patrol the University's Camperdown and Darlington campuses 24 hours a day, seven days a week and are easily identifiable by their blue uniforms and distinguishing badges.

Security Escort Service

The University's Security Escort Service may be booked by phoning 9351 3487. This service provides transportation around the Camperdown and Darlington campuses as well as to the nearest transport point at its edge (it generally operates after the security bus has ceased). The service is for security situations and is not designed for convenience use. Requests for this service will be prioritised against other security demands.

Service Management, Information and Communications Technology (ICT)

ICT is responsible for the delivery of many of the computing services provided to students. Students can contact ICT by phoning the helpdesk on (02) 9351 6000, through the IT Assist website (www.usyd.edu.au/ict/switch) or by visiting the staff at one of the University Access Labs. The location details of Access Labs can be found at www.usyd.edu.au/ict/switch/locations

The labs provide students free access to computers, including office productivity and desktop publishing software. Some services are available on a fee-for-service basis, such as internet access, printing facilities, and the opportunity for students to host their own non-commercial website.

Each student is supplied with an account, called a 'UniKey' account, which allows access to a number of services including:

- free email
- WebCT/elearning online resources
- access to the Internet from home or residential colleges
- facilities, such as exam results, enrolment variations and timetabling
- free courses in basic computing (such as MS Office, basic html and Excel), run by Access Lab staff in the week following orientation week. To register contact the Access Lab Supervisor on +61 2 9351 6870.

Special Consideration

In cases of illness or misadventure, students should complete an Application for Special Consideration form, accompanied by relevant documentation, such as medical certificates, and submit it to the relevant faculty office. The forms are available at faculty offices, the Student Centre, and online at www.usyd.edu.au/current_students/student_administration/forms

Exemption from re-attendance

Although you may have attended certain lectures or practical classes before, exemption from re-attendance is granted only in exceptional circumstances. In any case, you are required to enrol in all units of study in which you propose to take examinations, whether or not you have been granted leave of absence (or exemption) from re-attendance at lectures and/or practical work. To obtain exemption from re-attendance, apply at your faculty office.

Staff and Student Equal Opportunity Unit (SSEOU)

The Staff and Student Equal Opportunity Unit works with the University community to promote equal opportunity in education and employment, to create opportunities for staff and students who have traditionally been disadvantaged by mainstream practices and policies, and to create an environment that is free from discrimination and harassment.

The Staff and Student Equal Opportunity Unit is responsible for:

- providing policy advice to staff on harassment and discrimination
- providing equal opportunity policy development, promotion and training for staff and students
- coordinating and monitoring equity programs and initiatives
- providing information and advice to staff and students on equal opportunity matters
- resolving individual staff and student concerns about harassment and discrimination
- overseeing the University's Harassment and Discrimination Resolution procedure
- monitoring and reporting to external bodies on the University's progress in the equal opportunity area.

Every student and staff member at the University of Sydney has the right to expect that their fellow students and colleagues behave in a way that reflects these key values, irrespective of background, beliefs or culture.

In addition, every student and employee has a right to expect from the University equitable practices that preserve and promote equal opportunity to access, participate, and excel in their chosen field.

Sydney Summer School
Nine faculties at the University offer subjects from undergraduate and postgraduate degree programs during a Summer School program. As the University uses its entire quota of Commonwealth-supported places in Semesters One and Two, these units are full fee-paying for both local and international students and enrolment is entirely voluntary.

Summer School enables students to accelerate their degree progress, make up for a failed subject or fit in a subject which otherwise would not suit their timetables. New students may also gain an early start by completing subjects before they commence their degrees.

Three sessions are offered during the semester break (commencing in mid-December, the first week of January, and the third week of January) and normally run for up to six weeks (followed by an examination week). Details of the available subjects are on the Summer School website.

A smaller Winter School is also offered. It will commence on 28 June 2010 and run for three weeks (followed by an examination week). The Winter School offers both postgraduate and undergraduate subjects.

To find out information about subjects offered and to enrol, see the Summer School website: www.summer.usyd.edu.au

SydneyTalent
SydneyTalent is a University initiative that offers course-related employment at market leading rates and with flexible hours. It connects students with meaningful roles in their chosen field of study, allowing them to develop vital professional skills and graduate with marketable career experience. With SydneyTalent, students are able to successfully manage the work-study balance while building for future success.

University Health Service (UHS)

The University Health Service provides a full experienced general practitioner service and emergency medical care to all members of the University community. You can consult a doctor either by appointment or on a walk-in basis (for more urgent matters only). The UHS bills Medicare or your overseas student health care provider (Worldcare or Medibank Private) directly for the full cost of most consultations.

Student organisations

Students' Representative Council (SRC)
The Students’ Representative Council represents, campaigns and advocates for undergraduate students throughout the University.

SRC caseworkers advise students on a range of issues, including academic appeals, Centrelink and Austudy, tenancy, harassment and discrimination. The solicitor (from Redfern Legal Centre) provides legal assistance and court representation. These services are free and confidential. The SRC also offers financial support in the form of emergency loans of up to $50.

In addition, the SRC runs a second-hand bookshop that specialises in the purchase and sale of coursework textbooks. Among the publications produced by the SRC are the weekly student newspaper Honi Soit, the Counter-Course Handbook and the O-Week Handbook.

The SRC, which recently celebrated its 80th anniversary, is one of the oldest student organisations in Australia, and is run by and for students. It's a great way to get involved in student life. Officers elected to the student council campaign on issues that directly affect students, such as course cuts and assessments, fee increases, discrimination and welfare rights. They also advocate on social justice matters both within the University and throughout the wider community.

Sydney University Postgraduate Representative Association (SUPRA)
SUPRA is an independent association which provides advice, advocacy and support services to postgraduate students. SUPRA is both the voice and safety net of these students, and represents their interests by:

- ensuring the representation of postgraduate views within the University and wider community
- providing free, confidential assistance and advocacy for postgraduates through the employment of Student Advice and Advocacy Officers (SAAOs)
- providing free legal advice for postgraduate students, in association with the Redfern Legal Centre
- representing postgraduates on University policymaking bodies such as the Academic Board, its committees and working parties
- meeting with members of the Senate on the Senate/Student Organisations Liaison Committee
- regularly consulting with the Vice-Chancellor, Registrar and other senior University officers
- drawing postgraduates together at all levels of University life.

SUPRA Council, committees and networks
The SUPRA Council is elected annually by and from the postgraduate student community. Council meetings are held monthly and postgraduate students are encouraged to attend. SUPRA committees and networks help to coordinate activities and run campaigns, and are a great way to get involved. All postgraduates can stand for the council or attend any SUPRA events provided they are a SUPRA subscriber (see below).

Advice and advocacy
SUPRA employs professional student advice and advocacy officers (SAAOs) to help postgraduate students with any academic or personal problems that may affect their study, such as:

- fee payment and administrative issues
- academic appeals and exclusions
- supervision problems
- tenancy issues
- Centrelink and financial assistance concerns
- harassment and discrimination.

This is a free and confidential service for all postgraduates at the University of Sydney. To access the SAAO service, you must be a SUPRA subscriber. It's free to subscribe and you can do it online, in the office, or when you see an SAAO. To find out more about the SAAO service, email help@supra.usyd.edu.au

Publications
SUPRA places the highest priority upon communication, being responsive to postgraduates and encouraging maximum participation in SUPRA through the following publications:

- eGrad, a regular email bulletin
- The Postgraduate Survival Manual
- Thesis Guide
- our weekly double-page spread in Honi Soit, the student newspaper
- a range of handbooks, fact sheets and brochures.

Electronic versions are available at www.supra.usyd.edu.au

All of SUPRA's services, activities and publications are free to SUPRA subscribers. By subscribing, you also show your support for all the work that SUPRA does on your behalf. It's free to subscribe and you can sign up online or drop into the SUPRA offices and fill out a form.

University of Sydney Union (USU)
As the largest university union in Australia, the USU is a major provider of exciting cultural, social, political, and charitable activities, as well as quality on-campus food and retail services, entertainment, events and programs that service the entire university community.

The USU offers an array of programs to its members to promote cultural life on campus, including awards, grants and prizes in leadership, literature, debating, photography, film, drama, philanthropy, music and art. The USU Debating Team is a formidable force, currently ranked first in the world, and the USU also funds the oldest continuing theatre group in Australia, the Sydney University Dramatic Society.

The USU keeps the campus alive with big-name gigs and exhilarating events held throughout the year at its bars Manning and Hermann’s. Each year the USU holds major festivals and events such as O-Week, Beachball and the Verge Arts Festival.

For more information on USU, see www.usuonline.com

Access Card Benefits Program
The USU offers membership to its award-winning Access Benefits Program, your gateway to benefits and discounts at more than 55 selected food, retail and entertainment partners on and off campus, as well as access to USU’s programs including internships, student positions and volunteering opportunities.

For more information, see www.accessbenefits.com.au

Clubs and societies
The USU funds, accommodates, trains and supports more than 200 clubs and societies – groups that USU members can join and operate to meet others with shared interests. Clubs and societies organise their own activities and events with funding from the USU. Being part of a club or society is the best way to connect, socialise, network and gain valuable skills, training and experience.

There are clubs and societies focused on politics, culture, the arts, the environment, religion, volunteerism, fundraising, games, hobbies and passions. If there isn’t a club or society that suits your interests, the USU will help you start your own.

For more information, see the clubs and societies section of the USU website www.usuonline.com

The following information is for international students studying onshore on an Australian student visa.

Completion within the expected duration
Education providers are required to ensure that international students complete their studies within the duration specified on the electronic Confirmation of Enrolment (eCoE). Extensions to a student’s course duration are allowed only in limited circumstances (for example, for compassionate or compelling reasons, where an intervention strategy has been implemented or where there has been an approved leave of absence or suspension).

It is important students ensure they are on track to complete their studies within the expected duration, or that they have permission from their faculty to extend their duration.

Satisfactory academic progress
Maintaining satisfactory course progress is a mandatory student visa condition. Education providers are required to monitor course progress, intervene where students are at risk of failing to achieve satisfactory course progress, notify students who fail to achieve satisfactory course progress, and report students who fail to achieve satisfactory course progress to the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (DIAC).

It is important that every student is aware of the progress rules for their course and participates in the intervention strategies implemented by their faculty. Exclusion from a course due to unsatisfactory progress can have serious implications for student visa holders including visa cancellation and restrictions on returning to Australia.

The University provides many avenues of support for students who are struggling academically. International students who experience any difficulties with their academic progress should consult their faculty, the international student advisers in the International Office or the counsellors in the International Student Support Unit (ISSU).

Distance/web-based study
International students may undertake no more than 25 per cent of their total course by distance and/or online learning. Students must not enrol in exclusively distance or online study in any compulsory study period.

Students who are supported by United States Financial Aid are not permitted to undertake distance and/or online learning at any time during their course of study.

Work permits
International students with a work permit are permitted to work for up to 20 hours per week during semester and full-time during the University's official holiday periods. Contact the international student advisers in the International Office for more information.

Change of address
International students must notify the University of their residential address within seven days of arrival and notify any subsequent change of address within seven days. This should be done online via the University’s MyUni student portal (http://myuni.usyd.edu.au).

Sponsored students
Sponsored students need permission from their sponsors before transferring courses, suspending their studies or varying their study load. Students sponsored by the Australian Government (AusAID, Endeavour), or Asia Development Bank (ADB) should contact the International Office in the early stages of considering a change to their program.

Suspension/discontinuation
The University is required to report to DIAC any international students who discontinue or suspend their studies. Students who suspend their studies for medical or compassionate reasons should contact the international student advisers in the International Office urgently.

Health cover
The Australian Government requires that all international students and their families pay for health insurance in Australia through the Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC) scheme. The University-preferred provider is OSHC Worldcare. The International Office will, on receipt of the student’s first payment of tuition fees and the OSHC premium, pay the compulsory amount to OSHC Worldcare on their behalf.

OSHC provides free access to the University health service and public hospitals. Higher-level coverage (eg access to private hospitals coverage for spouse and family) is the student's responsibility. Alternatively, international students may arrange their own OSHC through an approved provider. You can find a list of approved OSHC providers by searching for ‘OSHC’ on the federal government’s Department of Health and Aeging website: www.health.gov.au

The University of Sydney Foundation Program (USFP)
The University of Sydney offers its foundation program to international students as a preparation for undergraduate degrees at several Australian universities.

International Office

The International Office provides advice and assistance with application, admission and enrolment procedures for international students. The International Office also includes units responsible for international marketing, government and student relations, international scholarships, including AusAID scholarships and administrative support for international financial aid programs, and compliance with government regulations related to international students.

The International Office also coordinates student exchange and study abroad programs, and other inter-institutional links. The Study Abroad and Exchange unit helps domestic and international students who wish to enrol in such programs.

International Student Support Unit

The International Student Support Unit (ISSU) provides support to international students through the provision of information, orientation programs, welfare advice and counselling.

The ISSU provides advice to international students on:
- preparations before leaving their home country
- what to expect upon arrival in Sydney
- emotional changes that can take place when moving to a different country
- academic concerns, including understanding the University system and liaising with staff members
- organising letters for family visits
- preparing to return to their home country.

Calendar
The annual University of Sydney Calendar and its online updates are the University of Sydney’s central source of official information.

The Calendar provides general and historical information about the University of Sydney, the statutes and regulations under which it operates and the resolutions of the Senate relating to constitutions of and courses in each faculty. The statutes and regulations, as well as some resolutions of the Senate, are also available on Policy Online (www.usyd.edu.au/policy).

Along with the University of Sydney handbooks, the Calendar forms the official legal source of information relating to study at the University of Sydney.

The latest Calendar is available in hard copy from the Student Centre. It is also available online (at www.usyd.edu.au/calendar). The PDF and Word document files can be downloaded and printed if required.

Coursework Rule
It is very important that students are aware of the University of Sydney (Coursework) Rule 2000, which governs all coursework award courses in the University.

The Coursework Rule relates to:
- award course requirements
- credit points and assessment
- enrolment
- credit
- cross-institutional study and its upper limits
- progression
- discontinuation of enrolment and suspension of candidature
- unsatisfactory progress and exclusion
- exceptional circumstances
- award of degrees
- diplomas and certificates
- transitional provisions.

It should be read in conjunction with two other documents:
- The University of Sydney (Amendment Act) Rule 1999
- Senate resolutions and faculty resolutions relating to each award course (found in the relevant faculty handbook).

The Coursework Rule can be found in the following places:
- The University of Sydney Calendar (print or online version): www.usyd.edu.au/calendar
- Policy Online: www.usyd.edu.au/policy
- Handbooks Online: www.usyd.edu.au/handbooks/university_information/01_uni_coursework_rule

PhD Rule
The University of Sydney (Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)) Rule 2004 deals with matters relating to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, including admission, probation, supervision and submission of theses.

It should be read in conjunction with two other documents:
- The University of Sydney (Amendment Act) Rule 1999
- Senate and faculty resolutions relating to each award course (found in the relevant faculty handbook).

The PhD Rule can be found in the following locations:
- The University of Sydney Calendar (print or online version): www.usyd.edu.au/calendar
- Policy Online: www.usyd.edu.au/policy
- Handbooks Online: www.usyd.edu.au/handbooks/postgrad_hb/ap04_phd_rule.shtml

Plagiarism
The University of Sydney is opposed to and will not tolerate plagiarism. It is the responsibility of all students to:
- ensure that they do not commit or collude with another person to commit plagiarism
- report possible instances of plagiarism
- comply with the University’s policy and procedure on plagiarism.

The policy and procedure on plagiarism can be found at the Policy Online website (www.usyd.edu.au/policy).

The Policy Online website also lists related policies and procedures, including:
- Academic Honesty in Coursework (plagiarism) policy
- Code of Conduct for Responsible Research Practice and Guidelines for Dealing with Allegations of Research Misconduct

The University will treat all identified cases of student plagiarism seriously, in accordance with this policy and procedure, and with Chapter 8 of the University of Sydney By-Law 1999 (as amended), which deals with student discipline.

Students at Risk Policy
The Students at Risk Policy enables early detection of students who are making poor or unsatisfactory progress and are therefore at risk of exclusion from their degree.

The policy outlines procedures and processes to support students in their ongoing studies, including:
- timely intervention and the provision of advice and assistance
- regularly and effectively advising students of progress requirements
- identifying students at risk
- alerting students that they are at risk
- providing assistance to address the risk
- tracking the progress of students after they are identified as being at risk.

For more information on this policy, please see the Secretariat website (www.usyd.edu.au/secretariat/students/riskstudents).

Grievance Procedure
The University’s policy and procedures document on student grievances, appeals and applications for review is available on the Policy Online website (www.usyd.edu.au/policy).

The Grievance Procedure document is a statement of the University’s processes for handling student grievances, appeals and applications for review regarding academic and non-academic matters.

Study at the University presents opportunities for interacting with other members of the University community. The University recognises and values the diversity of student experiences and expectations, and is committed to treating students, both academically and administratively, in a fair and transparent manner.

Glossary

For a table of commonly used acronyms and abbreviations that appear in University documents and publications, see Abbreviations.

This glossary describes terminology in use at the University of Sydney.

A B C D E F G H I J K L M N O P Q R S T U V W X Y Z

Academic Board
The senior academic body within the University. The Academic Board has, as principal responsibility, to maintain the highest standards in teaching, scholarship and research at the University and advises Senate and the Vice-Chancellor in that regard. In conjunction with faculties, the Academic Board has responsibility for approving new or amended courses and endorsing faculty development of units of study. The Board is also responsible for the formulation and review of policies, guidelines and procedures in relation to academic matters. For further information, see the University of Sydney (Academic Governance) Rule 2003 (as amended).

Academic Consortium 21 (AC21)
An international network, of which the University is a member, which comprises educational, research and industrial organisations throughout the world with the objective of encouraging the further advancement of global cooperation to the benefit of higher education and to contribute to world and regional society.

Academic cycle
The program of teaching sessions offered over a year. Currently the cycle runs from the enrolment period for Semester One to the completion of the processing of results at the end of Semester Two. See also 'Academic year', 'Stage'.

Academic dishonesty
Academic dishonesty occurs when one person presents another person's ideas, findings or written work as his or her own by copying or reproducing them without due acknowledgement of the source and with intent to deceive. Academic dishonesty also covers recycling, fabrication of data, engaging another person to complete an assessment or cheating in exams. See also 'Plagiarism'.

Academic record
The complete academic history of a student at the University. It includes, among other things: personal details; all units of study and courses taken; assessment results (marks and grades); awards and prizes obtained; infringements of progression rules; approvals for variation in course requirements and course leave; thesis and supervision details.

Access to a student's academic record is restricted to authorised University staff and is not released to a third party without the written authorisation of the student. See also 'Academic transcript'.

Academic transcript
A printed statement setting out a student's academic record at the University. There are two forms of academic transcript: external and internal. See also 'Academic record', 'External transcript', 'Internal transcript'.

Academic year
The current calendar year in which a student is enrolled. See also 'Academic cycle', 'Stage'.

Ad eundem gradum
Long-standing full-time members of the University's academic and general staff who are not graduates of the University may be considered by Senate, upon their retirement, for admission Ad eundem gradum ('to the same degree') to an appropriate degree of the University.

Admission
Governed by the University's admission policy, this is the process for identifying applicants eligible to receive an initial offer of enrolment in a course at the University. Admission to most undergraduate courses is based on performance in the HSC, with applicants ranked on the basis of their Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank (ATAR).

Other criteria such as a portfolio, interview, audition, or results in standard tests may also be taken into account for certain courses. Admission to postgraduate courses is normally on the basis of performance in a prior undergraduate degree and other criteria as specified in the relevant degree resolutions.

Admission basis
The main criterion used by a faculty in assessing an application for admission to a course. The criteria used include, among other things, previous secondary, TAFE or tertiary studies, work experience, special admission, and the Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank (ATAR).

Admission (Deferment)
An applicant who receives an offer of admission to a course may apply to defer enrolment in that course for one semester or one academic cycle. (Note: this policy is currently under review.)

Admission mode
A classification based on how a student was admitted to a course, for example 'UAC' or 'direct'.

Admission period
The period during which applications for admission to courses are considered.

Admission year
The year the student expects to begin the course. See also 'Commencement date'.

Advanced diplomas
See 'Course'.

Advanced standing
See 'Credit'.

Aegrotat
In exceptional circumstances involving serious illness or death of a student prior to completion of their course, the award of an aegrotat, or posthumous degree or diploma, may be conferred.

Alumni
See 'Graduate'.

Alumni sidneiensis
A searchable database of graduates of the University from 1857 to approximately 30 years prior to the current year.
Annual average mark (AAM)
The average mark over all units of study attempted in a given academic year (equivalent to the calendar year). The formula for this calculation is:

$$AAM = \frac{\sum (\text{marks} \times \text{credit point value})}{\sum \text{(credit point value)}}$$

(Sums over all units of study completed in the selected period.)

The mark is the actual mark obtained by the student for the unit of study, or in the case of a failing grade with no mark – 0. Pass/fail assessed subjects and credit transfer subjects (from another institution) are excluded from these calculations. However, the marks from all attempts at a unit of study are included.

Annual progress report
A form used to monitor a research student's progress each year. The form provides for comments by the student, the supervisor, the head of the department and the dean (or their nominee). The completed form is attached to the student's official file.

Annual Report
The University’s yearly financial and audit report, submitted to the NSW Parliament. It also includes a broad range of the University's activities and the strength of their performance in relation to the University's stated roles, values and goals.

Appeals
Students may lodge an appeal against academic or disciplinary decisions. See also 'Student Appeals Body', 'Student Disciplinary Appeals Committee'.

Appeals against an academic decision
A student may appeal to the Student Disciplinary Appeals Board against a decision by the University that affects the academic assessment or progress of a student within his or her award course, including a decision:

(a) to exclude a student in accordance with the University of Sydney (Coursework) Rule 2000 (as amended)
(b) not to readmit or re-enrol a student following exclusion in accordance with the University of Sydney (Coursework) Rule 2000 (as amended)
(c) to terminate a student's candidature for a postgraduate award.

Appeal against a disciplinary decision
A student may appeal to the Student Disciplinary Appeals Committee against a determination being:

(a) a finding by the Vice-Chancellor or the Student Proctorial Board that the student is guilty of misconduct
(b) the imposition of a penalty upon the student by the Vice-Chancellor or the Student Proctorial Board
(c) an order made by the Vice-Chancellor or the Student Proctorial Board.

Assessment
The process of measuring the performance of students in units of study and courses. Performance may be assessed by examinations, essays, laboratory projects, assignments, theses, treatises or dissertations. See also 'Result processing'.

Formative assessment
Used principally to provide students with feedback on their progress in learning. It reinforces successful learning, and is an opportunity for students to expose the limits in their knowledge and understanding.

Summative assessment
Summative assessment is used to certify competence, or to rank students by order of merit. It certifies the attainment of a standard, and is used as the basis for progression to the next part of a program, or to graduation.

Associate supervisor
A person who is appointed in addition to the supervisor of a research student to provide particular expertise or additional experience in supervision. See also 'Instrumental supervisor/teacher', 'Research supervisor', 'Supervision'.

Association of Pacific Rim Universities (APRU)
A consortium of leading research universities in the Pacific Rim, of which the University is a member. APRU aims to foster education, research and enterprise, thereby contributing to economic, scientific and cultural advancement in the Pacific Rim.

Assumed knowledge
For some units of study, a student is assumed to have passed a relevant subject in the HSC – this is called assumed knowledge. While students are generally advised against taking a unit of study for which they do not have the assumed knowledge, they are not prevented from enrolling in that unit of study. See also 'Prerequisite'.

Attendance mode or attendance pattern
The attendance pattern for a course is full-time, part-time or external, depending on the student attendance requirements and student load.

Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF)
The framework for recognition and endorsement of qualifications established by the Ministerial Council on Education, Employment, Training and Youth Affairs (MCEETYA).

Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank (ATAR)
A measure of overall academic achievement in the HSC that helps universities rank applicants for university selection. The ATAR is a rank of any student's performance relative to other students. It is calculated from the aggregate of scaled marks in 10 units of the HSC (two best English units plus eight other units, including only two category B units) and is presented as a number between 0.00 and 99.95 with increments of 0.05. The ATAR replaced the Universities Admissions Index (UAI) in June 2009.

Austudy
Provides financial help to students who are 25 years old or over who meet the required criteria, and are undertaking an approved full-time course at an approved institution. See also 'Youth allowance'.

Automated Results Transfer System (ARTS)
This system was developed by the Australasian Conference of Tertiary Admissions Centres (ACTAC) to allow access to a student's electronic academic record, via an admission centre or tertiary institution.

B

Bachelor’s degree
The highest undergraduate award offered at the University. A bachelor’s degree course normally requires three or four years of full-time study or the part-time equivalent. See also 'Course'.

Board of studies
An academic body that supervises a course or courses, and is similar to a faculty except that it is headed by a chair rather than a dean.

Bursaries
Financial award made to a student, based primarily on need. See also 'Scholarships'.

Glossary

Cadigal program
A program, named in recognition of the Aboriginal people of the land on which the University is located, designed to increase the successful participation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in degree courses in all faculties at the University of Sydney.

Calendar
See 'University Calendar'.

Campus
The grounds on which the University is situated. There are 10 campuses of the University of Sydney:

- Burren Street (Institute for International Health, Institute of Transport and Logistics Studies)
- Camperdown and Darlington (formerly known as Main Campus)
- Camden (Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources; and Veterinary Science)
- Conservatorium (Sydney Conservatorium of Music)
- Cumberland (Health Sciences)
- Mallett Street (Nursing and Midwifery)
- Rozelle (Sydney College of the Arts)
- St James (Law teaching spaces)
- Surry Hills (Dentistry).

Cancellation of enrolment
The University may cancel a student's enrolment for non-payment of fees.

Candidature
A person is 'admitted to candidature' on the date on which he or she accepts the University's offer of admission to an award course, in accordance with University and government requirements as amended from time to time. There are maximum periods and in some cases minimum periods of candidature depending on the award course and whether the candidate is a full-time or part-time student.

Census date
The date at which a student's enrolment, load and HECS liability are finalised before this information is reported to DEEWR. See also 'Commonwealth Supported Place', 'HECS-HELP'.

Ceremony
See 'Graduation ceremony'.

Chancellor
The non-executive head of the University. An honorary position, the Chancellor presides over meetings of the University's governing body, the Senate, and important ceremonial occasions such as graduations.

Clinical experience
Students undertake clinical placements in a professional environment as part of their course requirements. Many require University-approved supervision. In order to undertake clinical placements a student may be required to fulfil additional requirements.

Combined degree
A single program with a single set of course resolutions leading to the award of two degrees (unless otherwise specified in the resolutions). See also 'Double degree'.

Commencement date
The date a student commences their candidature.

Commonwealth Supported Place (CSP)
(Previously known as a HECS Place.) A student in a Commonwealth Supported Place makes a contribution towards the cost of their education (known as the student contribution) while the Australian Government contributes the majority of the cost.

Confirmation of enrolment notice (COE)
This notice is issued to each student after enrolment, showing the course and the units of study in which the student is enrolled, together with the credit point value of the units of study and the student-contribution weights. Until all fees are paid, it is issued provisionally. A new confirmation of enrolment notice is produced every time a student's enrolment is varied.

Conjoint ventures
This is when two or more institutions cooperate to provide a unit or course of study to postgraduate coursework students. In these arrangements, students enrolled for a degree at one institution complete one or more units of study at the other institution to count towards the award program at their 'home' institution.

Continuing professional education
A process which provides a number of programs of continuing education courses for professionals as they move through their career. These programs are currently administered by the Centre for Continuing Education (CCE) and a number of departments and foundations across the University. This process supports the whole of life learning concept and involves the maintenance of a long-term relationship between the student and the University.

Convocation
A body that comprises: the Fellows and former Fellows of the Senate of the University of Sydney; members of the former governing bodies of the institutions with which the University has amalgamated or their predecessors; the graduates of the University of Sydney, including graduates of the institutions with which the University has amalgamated or their predecessors; professors and other full-time members of the academic staff of the University; and principals of the incorporated colleges.

Core unit of study
A unit of study that is compulsory for a particular course or subject area. See also 'Unit of study'.

Corequisite
A unit of study that must be taken in the same semester or year as a given unit of study (unless it has already been completed). These are determined by the faculty or board of studies concerned, published in the faculty handbook and shown in FlexSIS. See also 'Prerequisite', 'Waiver'.

Cotutelle Scheme
Agreement between the University and any overseas university for joint supervision and examination of a PhD student as part of an ongoing cooperative research collaboration. If successful, the student receives a doctorate from both universities with each testamur acknowledging the circumstances under which the award was made.

Course
A program of study at the University of Sydney. The main types of course are:

Award course
A formal course of study that will see attainment of a recognised award. Award courses are approved by Academic Board and endorsed by Senate. The University broadly classifies courses as undergraduate, postgraduate coursework or postgraduate research. See also 'Bachelor's degree', 'Course rules', 'Diploma', 'Doctorate', 'Major', 'Master's degree', 'Minor', PhD, 'Stream'.

Non-award course
Studies undertaken by students that do not lead to an award from the University. Non-award courses include professional development programs. See also 'Cross-institutional enrolment'.

Coursework
An award course not designated as a research award course. While the program of study in a coursework award course may include a component of original work, other forms of instruction and learning will normally be dominant.
Course rules
Rules that govern the allowable enrolment of a student in a course. Course rules may be expressed in terms of types of units of study taken, length of study, and credit points accumulated. For example, a candidate may not enrol in units of study that have a total value of more than 32 credit points per semester.

Course rules also govern the requirements for the award of the course. For example, in many cases a candidate must complete a minimum of 144 credit points. See also 'Course', 'Corequisite', 'Prerequisite'.

Course transfer
Applies to students transferring between courses, either within the University of Sydney or between institutions. In some circumstances a student may be eligible to transfer to a course directly, ie without reapplying for admission.

Credit
The recognition of previous studies successfully completed at the University of Sydney (or another university or tertiary institution recognised by the University of Sydney), as contributing to the requirements of the course to which the applicant requesting such recognition has been admitted. It may be granted as specified credit or non-specified credit.

Specified credit
The recognition of previously completed studies as directly equivalent to units of study.

Non-specified credit
A 'block credit' for a specified number of credit points at a particular level. These credit points may be in a particular subject area but are not linked to a specific unit of study. See also 'Annual average mark (AAM)', 'Waiver', 'Weighted average mark (WAM)'.

Credit points
The value of the contribution each unit of study provides towards meeting course completion requirements. Each unit of study normally has a six credit point value assigned to it. The total number of credit points required for completion of award courses will be specified in the Senate resolutions relevant to the award course.

Cross-institutional enrolment
Enrolment in units of study to count towards an award course at another university. See also 'Course (Non-award course)'.

Data Audit Committee (DAC)
The Data Audit Committee's role is to oversee the integrity and accuracy of the course and unit of study data as strategic University data. It also advises the Academic Board on suggested policy changes related to course and unit of study data. A subcommittee of the VCAC Enrolment Working Party, it is chaired by the Registrar, with membership including the deans, the Student Centre, FlexSIS and Planning and Statistics.

Deadlines (Enrolment variations)
See 'Enrolment variation'.

Deadlines (Fees)
The University has deadlines for the payment of course and other fees. Students who do not pay fees by these deadlines may have their enrolment cancelled or they may have a barrier placed on the release of their record. See also 'Cancellation of enrolment'.

Dean
The head of a faculty, or the principal/director of a college, such as the Sydney Conservatorium of Music, or Sydney College of the Arts.

Dean's Certificate
A statement from a faculty dean certifying that all requirements, including fieldwork and practical work, have been met and that the student is eligible to graduate. Not all faculties use Dean's Certificates. In faculties that do, qualified students have 'Dean's Certificate' noted on their academic record.

Deferral (Deferral)
See also 'Admission (Deferral)', 'Course leave'.

Degree
See also 'Bachelor's degree', 'Course'.

Delivery mode
Indicates how students receive the instruction for a unit of study. The delivery mode must be recorded for each unit as distinct from the attendance mode of the student. For example, an internal student may take one or more units by distance mode and an external student may attend campus for one or more units.

Distance education
Where subject matter is delivered in a more flexible manner, such as correspondence notes, a student may only attend campus if required. See also 'Distance education', 'Extended semester', 'International student (Offshore studies)'.

Intensive on-campus
Core content is delivered with support learning in an intensive (one or more days) format on campus. Participation is usually compulsory. Previously this may have been called residential, block mode, or weekend workshop.

On-campus (normal)
Attendance of scheduled lectures, tutorials etc at a campus of the University.

Department
A department is the academic unit responsible for teaching and examining a unit of study. It may be called a school, a department, a centre or a unit within the University. See 'School'.

Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations (DEEWR)
The federal government department responsible for higher education.

Department of Education, Science and Training (DEST)
Previous name of the federal government department now known as DEEWR.
Diploma
The award granted following successful completion of diploma course requirements. A diploma course usually requires less study than a degree course. See also ‘Course’.

Direct admissions
For some courses, applications may be made directly to the University. Applications are received by faculties or the International Office, and considered by the relevant department or faculty body. Decisions are recorded and letters are forwarded to applicants advising them of the outcome. See also ‘Admission’, “Universities Admissions Centre”.

Disability information
Students may inform the University of any temporary or permanent disability which affects their life as a student. Disability information is recorded but is only available to authorised users because of its sensitive nature. Students will be informed about how it is used.

Disciplinary action
Undertaken as the result of academic or other misconduct, for example plagiarism, cheating, security infringement, criminal activity.

Discipline
A defined area of study, such as chemistry, physics or economics.

Discipline group
A DEEWR code used to classify units of study in terms of the subject matter being taught or being researched.

Discontinuation (course)
See ‘Enrolment variation’.

Discontinuation (unit of study)
See ‘Enrolment variation’.

Dissertation
A written exposition of a topic which may include original argument substantiated by reference to acknowledged authorities. It is a required unit of study for some postgraduate award courses in the faculties of Law, and Architecture, Design and Planning.

Distance education
Where a student does not attend campus on a daily basis for a given course or unit of study. See also ‘Delivery mode’, ‘Extended semester’.

Doctorate
A high-level postgraduate award. A doctorate course may involve research only or a mixture of research and coursework; the candidate submits a thesis that is an original contribution to the field of study. See also ‘Course’, ‘PhD’.

Domestic student
A student who is not an international student. See also ‘Local student’.

Double degree
A double degree is a program where students are permitted by participating faculties (and/or by specific resolutions within a single award) to transfer between courses in order to complete two awards.

Downgrade
In some circumstances a student enrolled in a PhD may transfer to a master’s by research, either on the recommendation of the University on the basis that the research they are undertaking is not at an appropriate level for a PhD, or at the student’s own request for personal or academic reasons.

Elective
A unit of study within a degree, usually an option within a course. Electives allow more detailed study of a particular subject.

Embedded courses
Award courses in the graduate certificate, graduate diploma and master’s degree by coursework sequence which allow unit of study credit points to count in more than one of the awards, for example the Graduate Certificate in Information Technology, Graduate Diploma in Information Technology, and Master of Information Technology.

Enrolled student
A person enrolled in an award course of the University.

Enrolment
Refers to a period of time in a student's candidature. This period:

(a) commences at the time the student has complied with all government and University requirements for enrolment

(b) unless the student re-enrols, ceases at the date on which:

i. the University cancels, or the student withdraws from or discontinues enrolment; or

ii. the next new enrolment period commences.

A student enrols in a course by registering with the supervising faculty in the units of study or program of research to be taken in the coming year, semester or session.

Commencing
An enrolment is classified as commencing if a student has enrolled in a particular degree or diploma for the first time.

Continuing
Students already in a course at the University re-enrol each year or semester. Most continuing students are required to pre-enrol. See also ‘Pre-enrolment’.

Enrolment list
A list of all currently enrolled students in a particular unit of study. See also ‘Unit of study’.

Enrolment variation
Students may vary their enrolment at the start of each semester. Each faculty determines its deadlines for variations, but student-contribution liability depends on the Commonwealth census date. See also ‘Commonwealth Supported Place’.

Equivalent full-time student load (EFTSL)
The equivalent full-time student load for a year. It represents the annual study load of a student undertaking a particular course of study on a full-time basis.

Equivalent full-time student unit (EFTSU)
See ‘Equivalent full-time student load’

Examination
A set of questions or exercises evaluating on a given subject given by a department or faculty. See also ‘Assessment’, ‘Examination period’.

Examination period
The time set each semester for the conduct of formal examinations.

Examiner (Coursework)
The person assessing a student or group of students, for example through oral or written examinations, coursework assignments, and presentations.

Exchange student
Either a University of Sydney student participating in a formally agreed program involving study at an overseas university, or an overseas student studying here on the same basis. The International Office provides administrative support for some exchanges.
Exclusion
A faculty may ask a student whose academic progress is considered to be unsatisfactory to 'show good cause' why the student should be allowed to re-enrol. If the faculty deems the student's explanation unsatisfactory, or if the student does not provide an explanation, the student may be excluded either from a unit of study or from a course or faculty.

An excluded student may apply to the faculty for permission to re-enrol. Normally, at least two years must have elapsed before such an application would be considered. University policy relating to exclusions is set out in the Calendar. See also 'Appeal', 'Progression'.

Exemption
A decision made at a sub-unit of study level to allow a student to complete a unit of study without also completing all the prescribed components of coursework and/or assessment. See also 'Credit', 'Waiver'.

Expulsion
The ultimate penalty of disciplinary action is to expel the student from the University. The effect of expulsion is:

- the student is not allowed to be admitted or to re-enrol in any course at the University
- the student does not receive their results
- the student is not allowed to graduate
- the student does not receive a transcript or testamur.

Extended semester
A distance-learning student may be allowed more time to complete a module or program if circumstances beyond the student's control, such as illness, affect the student's ability to complete the module or program in the specified time. See also 'Distance education'.

External
See 'Attendance mode or attendance pattern', 'Distance education'.

External transcript
A certified statement of a student's academic record printed on official University security paper. It includes the student's name, any credit granted, all courses the student was enrolled in, the final course result, and all units of study attempted within each course. It also acknowledges prizes the student has received. Marks can be included or omitted, as required. See also 'Academic transcript', 'Internal transcript'.

F
Faculty
A formal part of the University's academic governance structure, consisting mainly of academic staff members and headed by a dean, which is responsible for all matters concerning the award courses that it supervises. Usually, a faculty office administers the faculty and student or staff enquiries related to its courses. The University Calendar sets out the constitution of each of the University's faculties. See also 'Board of studies', 'Supervising faculty'.

Faculty handbook
An annual University publication for each faculty, that provides detailed information about the faculty, its courses and resolutions.

FEE-HELP
An interest-free loan facility available to fee-paying postgraduate students who are undertaking coursework programs.

Fee-paying students
Students who pay tuition fees to the University and are not liable for student contributions to a Commonwealth Supported Place. The Commonwealth does not contribute towards the cost of the education of fee-paying students. Annual fees vary between the faculties. Students pay a per-semester fee.

Fellows of Senate
Members of the governing body of the University who are either elected, appointed or ex-officio.

Flexible learning
See 'Delivery mode', 'Distance education'.

Flexible start date
Full fee-paying distance students are not restricted to the same enrolment time frames as campus-based or Commonwealth-supported students.

Flexible Student Information System (FlexSIS)
The computer-based Flexible Student Information System at the University of Sydney. FlexSIS holds details of courses and units of study being offered by the University and the complete academic records of all students enrolled at the University.

Formative assessment
See also 'Assessment'.

Full-time student
See 'Attendance mode', 'Equivalent full-time student load'.

G
Grade
The outcome for a unit of study linked with a mark range. For example, a mark in the range 85 to 100 attracts the grade 'high distinction' (HD). See also 'Mark'.

Graduand
A student who has completed all the requirements for an award course but has not yet graduated. See also 'Graduation', 'Potential graduand'.

Graduate
A person who holds an award from a recognised tertiary institution. See also 'Graduand', 'Graduation'.

Graduate certificate/graduate diploma
See 'Course'.

Graduate-entry degree
A bachelor's degree (or other undergraduate degree), that requires another undergraduate degree as a prerequisite of entry. Examples of graduate-entry degrees at the University of Sydney include the Medical Program, Graduate Law and the Bachelor of Dentistry.

Graduation
The formal conferring of awards either at a ceremony or in absentia. See also 'In absentia', 'Potential graduand'.

Graduation ceremony
A ceremony where the Chancellor confers awards upon graduands.

Group of Eight (Go8)
The Group of Eight represents Australia's major research-intensive universities. Its membership comprises the vice-chancellors (presidents) of the Australian National University, Monash University, the University of Adelaide, the University of Melbourne, the University of New South Wales, the University of Queensland, the University of Sydney and the University of Western Australia. The Go8 works to ensure a consistent and sustainable policy environment which maximises the wide-ranging economic, social and cultural benefits to the Australian community of higher education and ensures Australian universities are recognised as among the best in the world.

Group work
A formally established project to be carried out by a number of students working together, resulting in a single piece (or assorted pieces) of assessment. See also 'Legitimate cooperation'.

honours causa is conferred on a person whom the University honours causa. It derives from the Latin translation of 'for the honours. Some degrees may be completed 'with honours'. This may involve Honours
the completion of a separate honours year or additional work in the years of the later course. Honours are awarded in a class (Class I, Class II, which may have two divisions, or Class III).

NSW Higher School Certificate (HSC)
The NSW Higher School Certificate (HSC), which is normally completed at the end of year 12 of secondary school. The Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank (ATAR) is computed from a student's performance in the HSC and gives a maximum rank of 99.95.

In absentia
Latin for 'in the absence of'. Awards are conferred in absentia when graduands do not, or cannot, attend the graduation ceremony scheduled for them. Those who have graduated in absentia may later request that they be presented to the Chancellor at a graduation ceremony. See also 'Graduation'.

Instrumental supervisor/teacher
All students at the Sydney Conservatorium of Music have an instrumental teacher appointed. See also 'Associate supervisor',
'Research supervisor', 'Supervision'.

Internal mode
See 'Attendance mode or attendance pattern'.

Internal transcript
A record of a student’s academic record for the University's own internal use. It includes the student's name, student identifier (SID), address, all courses in which the student was enrolled and the final course result, and all units of study attempted within each course, together with the unit of study result. See also ‘Academic transcript’,
'External transcript'.

International student
Any student who is not an Australian or New Zealand citizen or a permanent resident of Australia. An international student is required to hold a visa that allows study in Australia and may be liable for international tuition fees.

Fee-paying
A private international student who is liable to pay tuition fees for their studies with the University.

Fee-paying – outgoing exchange
An international fee-paying student undertaking short-term study at a recognised overseas institution with which the University has a student exchange agreement. Exchange study counts towards the student’s University of Sydney award, and students remain enrolled in their University of Sydney course during the period of exchange.

International – non-award or cross-institutional
An international fee-paying student undertaking non-award study at the University on a cross-institutional basis. They are liable to pay fees for the study they undertake at the University, but there is no compliance reporting requirement – this rests with their 'home' institution.

International – sponsored
A private international student who is fully sponsored for their tuition.
Their sponsorship may also include overseas health cover and compulsory subscriptions.

Offshore studies
International offshore students undertake their program of study at one of the University’s offshore campuses and do not enter Australia.
Therefore they do not require a visa. They are distinct from international students who are on outbound exchange programs as they never enter Australia during their program of study.

Short course
An international fee-paying student undertaking a short course with the University of Sydney such as international development programs, executive training or study visits. The study undertaken by these students is non-award and generally a student visa is not required.

Sponsored award
An international student sponsored by the Australian Government, undertaking a program of study at the University. Currently, holders of Australian Development Scholarships funded by AusAID are the only students in this category. These students are fully sponsored for their tuition and other costs such as travel and health cover, and are paid a stipend.

Study Abroad
An international student who is undertaking short-term study at the University under the Study Abroad scheme. Study Abroad students must have completed at least one year of study towards a degree at a recognised institution in their home country and must be continuing towards the degree of their home institution. See also 'Local student',
'Student type'.

Learning entitlement
See 'Student learning entitlement'.

Leave
See 'Course leave'.

Legitimate cooperation
Any constructive educational and intellectual practice that aims to facilitate optimal learning outcomes through student interaction. See also 'Group work'.

Load
The sum of the weights of all the units of study in which a student is enrolled. The weight is determined by the proportion of a full year's work represented by the unit of study in the degree or diploma for which the student is a candidate. Student load is measured in terms of Equivalent Full-Time Student Load (EFTSL). See also 'Equivalent full-time student load'.

Local student
Local students are defined as an Australian or New Zealand citizen or an Australian permanent resident. See also 'Commonwealth Supported Place', 'Domestic student', 'International student'.

Glossary
M

Major
A field of study, chosen by a student to represent their principal interest. This is comprised of specified units of study from later stages of the award course. Students select and transfer between majors by virtue of their selection of units of study. One or more majors may be awarded upon the graduand's assessment of study. See also 'Course', 'Minor', 'Stream'.

Major timetable clash
The term used when a student attempts to enrol in units of study that have so much overlap in the teaching times that it is decided they may not enrol in the units simultaneously.

Mark
An integer (rounded if necessary) from 0 to 100 indicating a student's performance in a unit of study. See also 'Grade'.

Master's degree
A postgraduate award. Master's degree courses may be offered by coursework, research only or a combination of coursework and research. Entry to the course often requires completion of an honours year at an undergraduate level. See also 'Course'.

Mature-age student
A student who is 21 years or older on 1 March of the year in which they commence studies, and who has not completed the high school qualifications normally needed to gain entry.

Method of candidature
A course is either a research course or a coursework course and so the methods of candidature are 'research' and 'coursework'. See also 'Course (Coursework)', 'Course (Research)'.

Mid-year intake
Admission to degree programs for Semester Two.

Minor
Studies undertaken to support a major. Minor studies require smaller number of credit points than a major. Students select and transfer between minors (and majors) by virtue of their selection of units of study. One or more minors may be awarded upon the graduand's assessment of study. See also 'Course', 'Major', 'Stream'.

Mixed mode
See 'Attendance mode or attendance pattern'.

MPhip
The Master of Philosophy (MPhil) is a master's by research degree offered by some (but not all) of the University's faculties. See also 'Course', 'Master's degree'.

Mutually exclusive units of study
See 'Prohibited combinations of units of study'.

MyUni
The University of Sydney's student portal system. It provides access to email, library services, student self-administration, support services, e-learning software such as Blackboard and WebCT, as well as information about the University and its courses.

O

Orientation Week
Orientation Week, or 'O Week', takes place in the week before lectures begin in Semester One. During O Week students can join various clubs, societies and organisations, register for courses with departments and take part in activities provided by the University of Sydney Union.

P

Part-time student
See also 'Attendance mode or attendance pattern', 'Equivalent full-time student load'.

Permanent home address
The address used for all official University correspondence with a student, both inside and outside of semester time (eg during semester breaks), unless the student provides a different address for use during the semester. See also 'Semester address'.

PhD
The Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) and other doctorate awards are the highest awards available at the University. A PhD course is normally purely research-based; the candidate submits a thesis that is an original contribution to the field of study. See also 'Course', 'Doctorate'.

Plagiarism
Presenting another person's ideas, findings or work as one's own by copying or reproducing them without acknowledging the source. See also 'Academic dishonesty'.

Policy Online
The website which provides access to the University's current policies, procedures and guidelines.

Postgraduate
A term used to describe a course leading to an award such as a graduate diploma, a master's degree or a PhD, which usually requires prior completion of a relevant undergraduate degree (or diploma) course. A 'postgraduate' is a student enrolled in such a course. See also 'Course (Coursework)', 'Course (Research)'.

Postgraduate Education Loans Scheme (PELS)
See 'FEE-HELP'.

Potential graduand
A student who has been identified as being eligible to graduate on the satisfactory completion of their current studies. See also 'Graduand', 'Graduation'.

Pre-enrolment
Pre-enrolment – also known as provisional re-enrolment – takes place in October, when students indicate their choice of unit of study enrolment for the following year. After results are approved, pre-enrolment students are regarded as enrolled in those units of study for which they are qualified. Their status is 'enrolled' and remains so provided they pay any money owing and comply with other requirements by the due date.

Students who do not successfully pre-enrol in their units of study for the next regular session are required to attend the University on set dates during the January/February enrolment period. See also 'Enrolment'.

Prerequisite
A unit of study that is required to be successfully completed before another unit of study can be attempted. Prerequisites can be mandatory (compulsory) or advisory. See also 'Assumed knowledge', 'Corequisite', 'Qualifier', 'Waiver'.

Prizes
Awarded in recognition of outstanding performance, academic achievement or service to the community or University.
Probationary candidature
A student who is enrolled in a postgraduate course on probation for a period of time up to one year. The head of department/school is required to consider the candidate’s progress during the period of probation and make a recommendation for normal candidature or otherwise to the faculty.

Professional practice
Some students undertake placement in a professional practice as part of their course requirements. This may require University-approved supervision. Professional placements are located in a wide range of professional practice environments, and may not require additional criteria to be fulfilled.

Program
Each degree is composed of various units of study. The way the units are put together for a degree is referred to as a student’s 'program'.

Progression
Satisfactory progression is satisfying all course and faculty rules (normally assessed on an annual basis) to enable the completion of the chosen award within the (maximum) completion time allowed. See also 'Exclusion'.

Prohibited combinations of units of study
When two or more units of study contain a sufficient overlap of content, enrolment in any one such unit prohibits enrolment in any other identified unit. See also 'Unit of study'.

Provisional re-enrolment
See 'Pre-enrolment'.

Q
Qualification
An academic attainment recognised by the University.

Qualifier
A mandatory (compulsory) prerequisite unit of study which must have a grade of pass or better. See also 'Assumed knowledge', 'Corequisite', 'Prerequisite', 'Waiver'.

R
Recycling
The submission for assessment of one's own work, or of work which is substantially the same, that has previously been counted towards the satisfactory completion of another unit of study, and credited towards a university degree, and where the examiner has not been informed that the student has already received credit for that work.

Registration
In addition to enrolling with the faculty in units of study, students must register with the department responsible for teaching each unit. This is normally done during Orientation Week. Note that unlike enrolment, registration is not a formal record of units attempted by the student.

Research course
See 'Course (Research)'.

Research supervisor
A supervisor is appointed to each student undertaking a research postgraduate degree. The supervisor will be a full-time member of the academic staff or a person external to the University recognised for their association with the clinical teaching or the research work of the University. See also 'Associate supervisor', 'Instrumental supervisor/teacher', 'Supervision'.

Research Training Scheme (RTS)
The RTS provides Commonwealth-funded higher degree by research (HDR) students with an 'entitlement' to a HECS exemption for the duration of an accredited HDR course, up to a maximum period of four years full-time equivalent study for a doctorate by research and two years full-time equivalent study for a master's by research.

Result
The official statement of a student's performance in each unit of study attempted as recorded on the academic transcript, usually expressed as a mark and grade. See also 'Grade', 'Mark'.

Result processing
Refers to the processing of assessment results for units of study. For each unit of study, departments/schools tabulate results for all assessment activities and assign preliminary results. See also 'Assessment', 'Examination period', 'Formative assessment'.

Result processing schedule
The result processing schedule will be determined for each academic cycle. All schools and faculties are expected to comply with this schedule. See also 'Assessment', 'Examination period'.

S
Scholarships
Financial or other form of support made available to enable students to further their studies. See also 'Bursaries'.

School
A school or academic unit that encourages and facilitates teaching, scholarship and research, and coordinates the teaching and examining duties of members of staff in their subjects or courses of study.

Semester
A half-yearly teaching session, the dates for which are determined by the Academic Board. Normally all undergraduate sessions will conform to the semesters approved by the Academic Board. Any offering of an undergraduate unit not conforming to the semester dates (non-standard session) must be given special permission by the Academic Board. See also 'Non-standard session', 'Session'.

Semester address
The address to which all official University correspondence is sent during semester time, if different to the permanent address.

Senate
The governing body of the University. See the University Calendar (www.usyd.edu.au/calendar) for more details of its charter and powers.

Session
Any period of time during which a unit of study is taught. A session differs from a semester in that it need not be a six-month teaching period, but it cannot be longer than six months. Each session maps to either Semester One or Two for DEEWR reporting purposes. Session offerings are approved by the relevant dean, taking into account all the necessary resources, including teaching space and staffing. The Academic Board must approve variation to the normal session pattern. See also 'Non-standard session', 'Semester'.

Session address
See 'Semester address'.

Short course
A fee-paying student undertaking a short course with the University of Sydney such as professional development or executive training. The study undertaken by these students is a non-award course.

Show cause
See 'Exclusion', 'Progression'.

Special consideration
Candidates who suffer serious illness or misadventure which may affect performance in any assessment may request that they be given special consideration in relation to the determination of their results.

Special Studies Program (SSP)
A period of release from normal duties to allow academic staff to undertake a planned program of academic activity and development.

Sponsorship
Financial support of a student by a company or government body.
A normal full-time course of study taken in a year. See also ‘Course rules’, ‘Equivalent full-time student load’, ‘Progression’.

Strategic Directions
See also ‘University Strategic Directions’.

Stream
A defined award course, which requires the completion of set units of study as specified by the course rules for the particular stream, in addition to the core program specified by the course rules. A stream will appear with the award course name on testamurs, eg Bachelor of Engineering in Civil Engineering (Construction Management). See also ‘Course’, ‘Major’, ‘Minor’.

Student
A person enrolled as a candidate for an award course or unit of study.

Student Appeals Body
Any student may appeal to the Student Appeals Body against an academic decision on the ground that due academic process has not been observed by the relevant faculty in relation to the academic decision. Refer to the University of Sydney (Student Appeals against Academic Decisions) Rule 2006 for more details. See also ‘Appeals’.

Student Disciplinary Appeals Committee
Any student may appeal to the Student Disciplinary Appeals Committee against a misconduct determination by the Vice-Chancellor or a Student Proctorial Board. See also ‘Appeals’.

Student identifier (SID)
A nine-digit number that uniquely identifies a student at the University.

Student ID Card
All full-time or part-time students who successfully enrol at the University of Sydney will receive a Student Card. New students will have their card issued in person at the time of enrolment. Successful re-enrolling students will receive their card by mail.

The Student Card includes the student’s name, student identification number (SID), a digitised photo and the library borrower’s number and barcode. Where applicable, it will also display a travel concession logo from the Ministry of Transport (if student eligibility requirements are met).

The card has a number of interoperable uses, such as the ability to purchase printing and photocopying services at the University’s libraries and gain access to certain secure buildings. The card identifies the student as eligible to attend classes and must be displayed at formal examinations. It must also be presented to secure student concessions and to borrow books from all sections of the University Library.

For more information about Student ID Cards please visit the Card Centre (or see the website: www.usyd.edu.au/card_centre).

Student learning entitlement
All Australian citizens, New Zealand citizens and holders of a permanent visa are allocated a Student Learning Entitlement (SLE) of up to seven years equivalent full-time study. This is measured in equivalent full-time student load (EFTSL), which is the proportion of a full-time load that a unit of study represents. The University sets an EFTSL value for each unit of study it offers. To be Commonwealth-supported for a unit, a student must have enough SLE to cover the EFTSL value of that unit.

Student progress rate (SPR)
A calculation that measures the rate at which the load undertaken is passed annually in each award program.

Student type
Student type identifies whether a student is local or international and the type of study the student is undertaking. See also ‘Domestic student’, ‘Exchange student’, ‘International student’.

Study Abroad program
A scheme administered by the International Office that allows international students who are not part of an exchange program to take units of study at the University of Sydney, but not towards an award program. In most cases the units of study taken here are credited towards an award at the student’s home institution. See also ‘Exchange student’.

Subject area
A unit of study may be associated with one or more subject areas. The subject area can be used to define prerequisite and course rules, for example the unit of study ‘History of Momoyama and Edo Art’ may count towards the requirements for the subject areas ‘Art History and Theory’ and ‘Asian Studies’.

Summative assessment
See ‘Assessment’.

Summer School
See ‘Sydney Summer School’.

Supervising faculty
The faculty which has the responsibility for managing the academic administration of a particular course, such as the interpretation and administration of course rules, approving students’ enrolments and variations to enrolments.

Normally the supervising faculty is the faculty offering the course. However, in the case of combined courses, one of the two faculties involved will usually be designated the supervising faculty. In the case where one course is jointly offered by two or more faculties (eg the Liberal Studies course), a joint committee may make academic decisions about candidature and the student may be assigned a supervising faculty for administration.

Supervision
Refers to a one-to-one relationship between a student and a nominated member of the academic staff or a person specifically appointed to the role. See also ‘Associate supervisor’, ‘Instrumental supervisor/teacher’, ‘Research supervisor’.

Suspension of candidature
See also ‘Course leave’.

Suppression of results
Results for a particular student can be suppressed by the University when the student has an outstanding debt to the University (this particularly applies to international students who have not paid their tuition fees), or when the student is facing disciplinary action. A student may also request a suppression for personal reasons.

Sydney Summer School
A program of accelerated, intensive study running for approximately six weeks during January and February each year. Both undergraduate and postgraduate units are offered. Sydney Summer School provides an opportunity for students at Sydney and other universities to catch up on required units of study, to accelerate completion of a course or to undertake a unit that is outside their award course. All units attract full fees, but some scholarships are available.

Sydney Winter School
An intensive session offered by the University in July during the mid-year break. See ‘Sydney Summer School’.

T

Teaching department
See ‘School’.

Teaching end date
Official finish date of formal timetabled classes.

Teaching start date
Official commencement date of formal timetabled classes.

Terminated
Term used when a student's candidature has been officially closed because they are not able to complete the course requirements. See also ‘Candidature’.

Testamur
A certificate of award provided to a graduand, usually at a graduation ceremony. The University award conferred is displayed along with other appropriate details.

Thesis
A major work that is the product of an extended period of supervised independent research. See also ‘Course (Research)’.

Timetable
The schedule of lectures, tutorials, laboratories and other academic activities that a student must attend.

Transcript
See ‘Academic transcript’.

Transfer
See ‘Course transfer’.

Tuition fees
Tuition fees may be charged to students in designated tuition fee-paying courses. Students who pay fees are not liable for HECS.

U

Universities Admissions Centre (UAC)
The UAC receives and processes applications for admission to undergraduate courses at recognised universities in NSW and the ACT. Most local undergraduate students at the University of Sydney apply through the UAC.

Universities Admission Index (UAI)
A measure of overall academic achievement in the HSC that helps universities rank applicants for university selection. The UAI is a rank of any student's performance relative to other students. It is calculated from the aggregate of scaled marks in 10 units of the HSC (two best English units plus eight other units, including only two category B units) and is presented as a number between 0.00 and 99.95 with increments of 0.05.

In June 2009 the UAI was replaced by the Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank (ATAR). See ‘Australian Tertiary Admissions Rank’.

Undergraduate
A term used to describe both a course leading to a diploma or bachelor’s degree and a student enrolled in such a course.

Unit of study
Unit of study or unit means a stand-alone component of an award course. Each unit of study is the responsibility of a department. See also ‘Prohibited combinations of unit of study’.

Unit of study enrolment status
This indicates whether the student is still actively attending the unit of study (currently enrolled) or is no longer enrolled. See also ‘Cancellation of enrolment’, ‘Discontinuation’.

Unit of study level
Units of study are divided into junior, intermediate, senior, honours, Year 5, and Year 6. Most majors consist of 32 senior credit points in a subject area (either 3000 level units of study or a mix of 2000 and 3000 level units of study).

University
Unless otherwise indicated, the term ‘University’ in this document refers to the University of Sydney.

University Calendar
The annual University publication available in print and online that provides general and historical information about the University of Sydney, the statutes and regulations under which it operates and the Senate resolutions relating to constitutions and courses in each faculty.

University Medal
A faculty may recommend the award of a University Medal to a student qualified for the award of an undergraduate honours degree whose academic performance is judged to be outstanding.

University Strategic Directions
This refers to the University of Sydney Strategic Plan 2007–2010. A new plan is currently in development.

Upgrade
Where a student enrolled in a master's by research course is undertaking research at such a standard that either the University recommends that the student upgrade their degree to a PhD, or the student seeks to upgrade to a PhD and this is supported by the University.

V

Variation of enrolment
See ‘Enrolment variation’.

Vice-Chancellor and Principal
The chief executive officer of the University, responsible for its leadership and management. The Vice-Chancellor and Principal is head of both academic and administrative divisions.

W

Waiver
In a prescribed course, a faculty may waive the prerequisite or corequisite requirement for a unit of study or the course rules for a particular student. Unlike credit, waivers do not involve a reduction in the number of credit points required for a course. See also ‘Credit’, ‘Exemption’.
Glossary

WAM weight
A weight assigned to each unit of study to assist in the calculation of WAMs.

Weighted average mark (WAM)
This mark uses the unit of study credit point value in conjunction with an agreed 'weight'. The formula for this calculation is:

\[ WAM = \frac{\sum (W_c \times M_c)}{\sum W_c} \]

(Sums over all units of study completed in the selected period.)

The mark is the actual mark obtained by the student for the unit of study, or in the case of a failing grade with no mark – 0. Pass/Fail assessed subjects and credit transfer subjects (from another institution) are excluded from these calculations. However, the marks from all attempts at a unit of study are included. (Effective from 1 January 2004.)

In addition, faculties may adopt other average mark formulae for specific progression or entry requirements. If such a formula is not specified in the faculty resolutions, the formula outlined above is used. See also 'WAM weight'.

Winter School
See 'Sydney Winter School'.

Y

Year of first enrolment (YFE)
The year in which a student first enrols at the University. See also 'Commencement date'.

Youth allowance
Youth allowance is payable to a full-time student or trainee aged 16 to 24 years of age who is enrolled at an approved institution such as a school, college, TAFE or university, and who is undertaking at least 15 hours a week face-to-face contact.
