CONTRIBUTORS

Alison Bartlett is Professor of Women’s Studies and also teaches English and cultural studies at the University of Western Australia. She publishes regularly in literary and feminist journals, is co-editor of Australian Literature and the Public Sphere (1999) and author of Jamming the Machinery: Contemporary Australian Women Writers (1998). In addition to literary studies her research has included postgraduate supervision and feminist pedagogy, fictocriticism, reading embodiment and more recently modes of activism (including writing). She edits the online journal Outskirts.

Mary Besemeres is a Research Associate at the Australian National University. A founding co-editor of the journal Life Writing, she is the author of Translating One’s Self: Language and Selfhood in Cross-Cultural Autobiography (2002) and co-editor of Translating Lives: Living with Two Languages and Cultures (2007).

Scott Brook is Assistant Professor of Writing at the University of Canberra. His research on Vietnamese-Australian cultural heritage and politics has been published in various Australian and international journals and magazines.
Konstandina Dounis lectured at RMIT for many years, during which time she convened a series of conferences on aspects of Greek-Australian literature and identity. Her publications include the anthology Retelling the Tale (1994) and From Sappho to Sappho (1994), both concerned with women writers. She is currently carrying out research for her Ph.D. at La Trobe University. She is also a literary translator and creative writer working on her own collections of poems and short stories.

Debra Dudek is a Lecturer of English Literatures at the University of Wollongong. She has published internationally on postcolonial studies, Canadian and Australian literature, and children's literature.

Nijmeh Hajjar is a Senior Lecturer and Chair of the Department of Arabic and Islamic Studies at the University of Sydney. Her research interests include gender issues in modern Arabic culture, literature and cinema. Her publications include The Politics and Poetics of Ameen Rihani: The Humanist Ideology of an Arab-American Intellectual and Activist (2010) and Living Arabic in Context (2005).

Dennis Haskell is the author of five collections of poetry and twelve volumes of literary scholarship and criticism. His All the Time in the World won the Western Australian Premier's Prize for Poetry in 2007 and is being translated into French and Italian. Haskell was co-editor of Westerly from 1985 until 2009 and is Professor of English and Cultural Studies at The University of Western Australia. He is also currently Chair of the Literature Board of the Australia Council. His Acts of Defiance: New and Selected Poems will be published by Salt in 2010.

Sissy Helff teaches English and postcolonial literature as well as media and gender studies at the Universities of Frankfurt and Paderborn. She studied German and English literature at the universities of Bristol and Frankfurt and was a research fellow at Leeds University in 2007–08. More recently she has been working on a postdoctoral project focusing on the representation of strangers in media and literature. Her publications

Igor Maver is Professor at University of Ljubljana, Slovenia where he holds a personal Chair in Literatures in English. His research and teaching interests include literature in English, postcolonial, diasporic literature, and American literature. He is the author of almost two hundred scholarly articles, two monographs in English on Australian literature (1997 and 1999) and co-author of two books of essays (2000 and 2005). In 2006 he published a book of essays Critics and Writers Speak: Revisioning Post-Colonial Studies.

Sonia Mycak is an Honorary Research Fellow in the School of Letters, Art and Media at the University of Sydney and an Adjunct Senior Research Fellow in the Centre for the Book in the School of English, Communications and Performance Studies at Monash University. Her early work was in Canadian literature and literary theory and she is author of In Search of the Split Subject: Psychoanalysis, Phenomenology, and the Novels of Margaret Atwood (1996). More recently Sonia's research has focused upon the multicultural literatures of Australia and Canada. She is author of *Canuke Literature: Critical Essays on Canadian Ukrainian Hoa Pham is an author, playwright and psychologist. She is completing a doctorate of creative arts at the University of Western Sydney. Her publications include Silence (2010), Vixen, 49 Ghosts, No one like me and Quicksilver. She is also the founder of Peril Magazine, an Asian arts and culture on-line magazine at www.peril.com.au.

Robert Pickering holds the Chair of Contemporary and Modern French Literature at Blaise Pascal University, Clermont-Ferrand (France). A specialist of symbolism and post-symbolism (Mallarmé-Valéry), his publications also cover a wide range of nineteenth- and twentieth-century French and European literature.

Gaetano Rando holds degrees from both Italian and Australian universities and is Associate Professor in the School of English Literatures, Philosophy, and Languages at the University of Wollongong. One of his major research interests is in the area of Italian-Australian studies, the latest volume length publication in this field being (Migration and Literature: The Italo-Australian Case), Emigrazione e letteratura: Il caso italoaustraliano (2004).

Amit Sarwal is Assistant Professor at the Department of English, Rajdhani College (University of Delhi), New Delhi, India. He was an Honorary Visiting Scholar (2006–07) at Monash University as an Endeavour Asia Award winner (2006). His areas of interest include South-Asian diaspora literature, Australian literature and popular fiction. He has co-edited English Studies, Indian Perspectives (2006) with Makarand Paranjape and Aneeta Rajendran; Australian Studies Now (2007) with Andrew Hassam; Fact & Fiction: Readings in Australian Literature (2008), Creative Nation: Australian Cinema and Cultural Christine Sun received her PhD from Monash University’s School of Languages, Cultures and Linguistics in 2004. She is the author of Voices under the Sun: English-Language Writings by Australian and Other Authors with Chinese Ancestry (Melbourne: Taiwan.com.au Portal, 2007). She is now an independent scholar and web manager of Taiwan.com.au portal.

Hariclea Zengos has been a Professor of English and American Literature at The American College of Greece since 1989. She received her PhD in English from Tufts University, Boston in 1989. Her research and publications focus on Greek writers of the diaspora (with a specific interest in Greek-Australian writers), travel writing about Greece, as well as colonial and postcolonial fiction. She is currently completing a book-length study on white colonial European women’s construction of Africa in their autobiographical fiction.