

One life, two stories

Nancy de Vries' journey home

Nancy de Vries
Gaynor Macdonald
Jane Mears
Anna Nettheim

Published 2012 by Darlington Press
Darlington Press is an imprint of Sydney University Press
sydney.edu.au/sup

© Nancy de Vries, Gaynor Macdonald, Jane Mears and Anna
Nettheim 2012
© Darlington Press 2012

Reproduction and Communication for other purposes

Except as permitted under the Act, no part of this edition may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or communicated in any form or by any means without prior written permission. All requests for reproduction or communication should be made to Darlington Press at the address below:

Darlington Press
Fisher Library F03
University of Sydney NSW 2006 AUSTRALIA
Email: sup.info@sydney.edu.au

ISBN 978-1-921364-25-9

Cover images

Front: Nancy de Vries addresses the NSW Parliament, representing the stolen generation after NSW Premier Bob Carr led the parliament in apologising to the Aboriginal people for the treatment of them throughout Australia's history, 18 June 1997. Photo by Nick Moir, Sydney Morning Herald.

Back: The high wall of Parramatta Girls Home could be scaled to provide access to the creek and park beyond. Photo by Gaynor Macdonald (2000).

Cover design by Evan Shapiro, University Publishing Service.
Printed in Australia

We dedicate this publication to the children and grandchildren of Nancy de Vries and to the thousands of other Indigenous Australians who continue to suffer the intergenerational trauma stemming from the removal of children from their families.

They are all in need of witnesses.

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Foreword	ix
The Apology	1
The historical context for the Apology	13
'Too loud not to hear': responding to stories of removal	33
My story begins ... can you possibly comprehend?	45
Another story ... the written record	79
Reflections on living with difference	115
Life was pretty scary	125
They said I wouldn't be good enough	133
Finding Ruby	153
The pain persists	175
References	193

Acknowledgements

Our thanks to the many people who have supported our work and this publication:

To Sydney University Press for responsive and supportive advice and publication

To the University of Western Sydney for providing a commemorative edition that Nancy could enjoy.

For editing, proofreading, friendship and inspiration, we thank Katie Mears, Pat Bazeley of the Research Farm, Lisa Studach, Rebecca Macken, Daniela Heil, Margot Nettheim, Fiona Nicholl and Charlie Eldridge.

For their stories, Lynette Sheather and Judith Townsend; for their own writing, Val Wenberg and Siena Perry.

For tangible support at critical moments,
Prof. Peter Read (The University of Sydney)

To the Australian Institute of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Studies for a research grant.

For permission to use photos, as credited in the text:

Mervyn Bishop's photos taken for the Liverpool Regional Museum's Aunty Nance Exhibition, 2001; the Sydney Morning Herald; Fiona Nicholl and David Marshall, University of Western Sydney – photos taken at the launch in 2005.

Extracts have been edited from the following publications and we are grateful to the authors for permission to use them in this way:

Read, Peter and Coral Edwards (eds). 1989. The lost children. Sydney: Doubleday.

Townsend, Judith and Nancy de Vries. 1995. Aborigines, nursing, and education. In G. Gray and R. Pratt (eds). Issues in Australian Nursing 4. Melbourne: Churchill Livingstone.