ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the research for this thesis I have been assisted by many people, both in Australia and overseas. I must acknowledge the assistance of the following people. Where a title is given, it relates to the position which the person held at the time.

Perth:

Mrs H. Stocker, Librarian, Theosophical Society

Sydney:

The State Archivist of New South Wales

The Librarian and Staff of the Mitchell Library

Mr James Perkins, Head of The Manor

London:

Miss Lilian Storey, Librarian, Theosophical Society

The Rt Rev E J Burton, Regionary Bishop of the Liberal
Catholic Church

The Librarian and Staff of the British Library Reference
Division

The Librarian and Staff of the India Office Library and Archives

The Librarian and Staff of Lambeth Palace Library

Mr D. H. G. Bourke, British Library Department of Manuscripts

Mar Seraphim of the Orthodox Church of the British Isles
 Miss Marjorie Debenham of the Order of Ancient Free and Accepted Masonry for Men and Women

Dr and Mrs Peter Day

Mrs Elaine Baly

Mrs Brigit Köllerström

Adyar:

Mr John Coats, President of the Theosophical Society

Miss Joy Mills, Vice-President of the Theosophical Society

Dr Jean Raymond, Secretary of the Theosophical Society

Miss Helen George, Theosophical Society Archives

The Librarian and Staff, Advar Library and Research Centre

Mr Kirby van Mater, Secretary, Theosophical Society

International

Mr John van Mater, Librarian, Theosophical Society

International

San Diego:

Mr and Mrs <sup>W.</sup> Emmett Small, Point Loma Publications Inc

The following people have provided considerable assistance through correspondence:

Dr Arthur Nethercott

Mr Susunaga Weeraperuma

Mr Ted Davy

There are, in addition, several whose very special support and kindness requires acknowledgement.

Miss Mary Lutyens of London, author of the two volume biography of Krishnamurti, assisted and encouraged my research. Miss Lutyens not only gave me access to her own unique collection of material and specialist knowledge, but patiently read and commented on the manuscript of my published biography of Leadbeater, The Elder Brother.

Mr John Cooper in Sydney gave me access to his extensive collection of material on the history of Theosophy in general, and of the Theosophical Society in Sydney in particular, and read through the manuscripts of both the book and the thesis, making valuable corrections and annotations. He has also been an invaluable colleague in research, with whom I have been able to discuss the intricacies and complexities of Theosophical history.

Mr Rex Henry, both at Adyar and at Mijas, Spain, has given me very generous encouragement and assistance. There are people alive who have a greater knowledge of the history of the Theosophical Society during the time of Leadbeater's rise to dominance. Mr Henry, both in lengthy discussions and in an extensive correspondence over many years, has provided both information and an invaluable insight into the people and the events of Theosophical history. Mr Henry has read and commented on the manuscript of this thesis, providing invaluable criticisms and suggestions.

Dr W J Jobling, my supervisor in the Department of Religious Studies at the University of Sydney, has brought to me both his critical insight into such research, and his special interest in church history. His criticisms, suggestions and advice, no less than his friendly encouragement and support, have been of great assistance to me.
