

1:200 Axonometric of Circulation

Venice has been a traditional hub of commerce, arts and culture in Southern Europe and the designs that I propose reflect this rich culture of sophistication and intrigue which runs through the city. Thus, the concept of a library, as a springwell and beacon of knowledge on the site of a grand piazza becomes extremely reflective of the Venetian ideals of learning and culture. It becomes a representation of the widespread accessibility of knowledge serving the public interests of the city.

1:200 Aerial View

Rooftop

Second Floor

First Floor

Ground Floor

1:200 Floor Plans