Spanning 67m in length, La Scatola di Vetro is served by two access lifts either side of the Grand Canal - one revealing itself through the central courtyard of the Procuratie Nuove; the other, a hidden mystery amongst a forest of trees on the Giardini Landscaped Reserve.

What is special, is that this creation articulates a unique existence through its containment within the strong axial lines of the masterplan. As a result, the building perfectly captures 360 degree views of the city of Venice, but more importantly, it frames two historically significant pieces of architecture - the Basilica San Marco and Santa Maria Della Salute.

THE BUILDING IS BUILT WITH MORE REASON IN HEART THAN TO SATISFY FUNCTION - IT CAPTURES THE ELEMENT OF SPACE: USING IT TO UNLEASH THE ESSENTIAL MAGIC OF FLOATING IN FREEDOM!
