Venice is a place where the ground, the sky and the water are unified in almost a magical way. Venice is a city in which the imagination may be let loose. The fusion of the historical sites and cultural elements inspire's one's mind to reveal itself through pen and paper.

Since Venice is free from the chaos and disturbance that modern transport brings, it allows one to contemplate the world in a peaceful manner. I have embraced this notion through the Writers' Resort. It consists of wide open spaces for discussions and pods that allow a more private exploration of one's ideas.
