The city of Amsterdam is known for its vibrant and walkable lifestyle, but what about the daytimes? The daytime is a time of relaxation, and what better way to relax than at a yoga lounge? Here, the yoga lounge is not simply limited to yoga but also contains a café for dance lessons. People of all ages are welcome to participate in a variety of activities, such as yoga, dance, and meditation. The building is designed to promote interaction and community, as people can relax and enjoy each other and get to know their neighbors. The roof allows the sunlight to filter through while keeping the rain out, making it a perfect place to chill at all times of the year. Why not invite some friends out, have a dance or yoga class, and enjoy the view of the canal from the balcony.
