My building is a youth hub, where This building complex serves as a multipurpose youth hub that is centred at cultivating adolenscent culture. There is an open plaza which acts as a recreational space where people can come to and socialise. The program grew being originally from being a street art gallery in order to appeal to a wider range of individuals, so more purposes were added to the design. The functions of the various spaces include, art galleries, dance and music studios, a digital manga library and an art work shop. The solid building is a canvas in itself, covered in graffiti and its facade is constantly being changed and added to. The second half of the complex is in stark contrast as its form expresses a lightness and has a monochromatic facade.
