The intention of this project is to create an intimate Health Spa in the Centre of New York City. The building has been designed to gracefully come over the edge of the site and onto the water with a floating walkway and self-contained treatment pods. This connection with the water and the sun exposure provides the building with a floating appearance which makes it feel more serene and peaceful. The building also expresses its horizontality to reveal the exclusivity of the Health Spa. The building's design ensures privacy while also maximizing sun exposure and views.