Bike Shop and Green Roof

My site is located in the busy streets of Stockholm. The fine grains of my site become impossible for cars to travel through. My building is to encourage cycling as a mode of transport in response to the city’s narrow streets. As well as encouraging green transportation, I wanted to create a space for people to escape the busy streets of Stockholm. The green roof is an escapement for people to step aside from the excitement of the streets below. The green roof not only serves as an escapement but also benefit the environment as well.
